

Greek-Week Features Dance, Clean-up, Songfest; Topped By Picnic Tonight

The 1957 edition of Greek Week officially opened Monday night as representatives of the six sororities and nine fraternities on campus gathered around for a candle lighting ceremony in the Union ballroom.

left as he lights the last candle in the group.

A member of each organization gave a brief talk on the purpose and objectives of his or her organization, and the members backed it up by singing one of the organization's songs.

Tuesday night was designated clean up night and the organizations exchanged members for the work. Despite the cold and rain a few of the Greeks managed to top the evening with a street dance by the AGR house.

The annual picnic at Lindenwood Park tonight will mark the close of the Greek Week activities.

Miss Dinan Honored At Annual Banquet

Miss Pearl Dinan, retiring Dean of Women was honored at the annual Blue Key Doctor of Service Banquet at the Fredrick Martin Hotel last Thursday evening.

Miss Dinan was recognized for her contributions to the student body and campus of NDSC during her 47 year service at the school.

During the program Miss Dinan was presented with a television set by Senior Staff, local women's honorary, for her service as an advisor to the organization. Sandra Haas, retiring Senior Staff president gave Miss Dinan a book which contained letters from Senior Staff members from past years.

Don Schwartz, retiring Blue Key president introduced Blue Key members and officers for the coming year.

Parking Meters Installed Near Union This Week

Good news for students who like to park in front of the Union!

With the installation of two parking meters in front of the Memorial Union it is now possible for any student or staff member to park in these spots for the allotted 12 minutes. Cost is one cent.

Arrangements for the installation of the meters were made by Student Senate, and a Buildings and Grounds crew completed the installation early this week.

Students are cautioned, however, that these are the only spots they may park. Parking elsewhere in the drive by the Union will net a ticket. Overstaying the limit in these positions will have the same result.

Radio Managers To Meet At Union Sat.

Don Grimm, commissioner of radio, announced recently that a meeting of radio station managers from Moorhead State College, Concordia, and NDSC will take place at the SC Student Union Saturday.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss preliminary plans for a proposed radio network between the three schools.

If such a plan is worked out it would go into effect next fall. This would offer the students of the three institutions a greater variety of programs than they now have available to them, and would give greater flexibility to the equipment available at the stations involved.

Grimm also announced staff appointments for the coming year. Included on the staff are: station manager, Joe Koebensky; program director, Joe Neuenschwaner; publicity director, Jim Lund; and continuity director, Frank Vyzralek. The appointment of a technical director is still pending.

Econ Students Plan Tour To Minneapolis

The agricultural economics 326 class will leave for Minneapolis Sunday afternoon where they will tour points of interest in the marketing field in the twin cities.

Mr. Don Anderson, instructor and guide for the group, said that about 48 students are expected to make the trip which will last for two days.

While in Minneapolis the group plans to visit the Grain Exchange, the Grain Terminal Association, Red Owl Stores, Cargill Port and other points of interest.

This tour is an integral part of the course, and is taken by every class in the course of the quarter.

State Quarterback Is Released From Hospital

Lynn Parkel, State quarterback, was released Monday from St. John's hospital where he underwent surgery last Friday.

An injury suffered in the intra-squad game May 9 necessitated removal of a cartilage from his knee.

Athletic director Les Luymes said Parkel will be on crutches for a while and that he expects Parkel to be ready for action next fall.

Shipmate Varieties Appear On Campus

Last Tuesday the U. S. Navy Recruiting Service presented its Shipmate Varieties at Festival Hall. This was their 15th performance of the current nation wide tour.

Featuring outstanding entertainers from the ranks of the Navy, the show consisted of 21 numbers which were rated by many as the best they had seen or heard.

The Navy Band, under the Baton of Rick Larson, a former Fargoan, led off the show. They were followed by a variety of vocalists, instrumentalists, dancers, and others.

Special attractions included The Malletmen, George Ward and Dale Barrett, as they performed "Tricks

With the Sticks" on the drums. Don Wyatt, Mike Driscoll, and Loni Mass were among the outstanding vocal soloists to appear with the troupe. The above four acts appeared on the Ed Sullivan Show recently as part of a special Armed Forces Day show.

This troupe, assembled and presented by the Navy Recruiting Service, is part of the Navy's current recruiting program. Members of the recruiting service have been on campus this week to outline the program offered by this service to those interested.

The present tour began in Commack, Long Island, New York, May 6 and will be completed in Washington, D. C. June 24. During that time the group will play in 45 cities in 51 days.

The show was presented twice here in Fargo. Once at a matinee performance Tuesday afternoon and again that evening.

Attention Veterans

Instead of signing at the end of May and again in the middle of June the Veterans Administration has again set just one sign up for the period from May 1 to June 14. The dates for this sign up are June 6 and 7.

All vets are reminded of the club's picnic which will be held tonight at Lindenwood Park. Tickets will be available at the picnic for those who have not obtained them as yet. A dance is scheduled at the Crystal Ballroom following the picnic.

ATO's And Kappas Take Spring Sing Honors

Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority walked off with top honors in the 1957 edition of Spring Sing. The annual event, held in conjunction with Greek Week, is sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega national service fraternity.

Following the theme of "Picnic," the ATO's sang "Surrey With The Fringe On Top," while the Kappas harmonized on "Allegheny Moon."

ATO was directed by Dale Jackson, while LaVonne Biel led the Kappa's. Gene Harrington served as master of ceremonies for the evening.

Spring Sing is directed by the graduating seniors of A Phi O each year, and this year Bruce Farnum and Vernon Johnson served as co-directors.

Judges for the evening were Mr. William Weiler, Dr. Earl Forman, and Mr. Paul Hanson.

The Gold Star Band, under the direction of Bill Euren presented a short concert before the contestants took over the spotlight.

Winners of last year's contest were Kappa Psi fraternity and Gamma Phi Beta.

Pharmics Attend Wisconsin Convention

Loretta Aipperspach and Robert Enger recently attended the national conclave of Kappa Epsilon, pharmacy honorary for women, at the University of Wisconsin. Miss La Hopkins, Fargo alumnae delegate, also attended the meetings which were held May 17 to 19.

Highlighting the conclave were discussions on careers in the field of pharmacy. Emphasis was placed on the opportunities for women in the profession.

The NDSC chapter retained permanent possession of a scholarship trophy which is presented annually to the chapter having the highest scholastic average. The chapter retaining the trophy the greatest number of times in ten years gets permanent possession of it.

The Wisconsin chapter of Kappa Epsilon held a party at their fraternity house for all delegates the close of the convention.

Local Fly Girls Wash Autos

The Air Deb Society will sponsor a car wash program from 1 to 3 p.m. at the College Pure Oil station. The station is on the corner of 13th street and 12th avenue just across from the campus.

The girls will wash any car for $1.00 and will sweep the inside for an additional 25 cents.

Scouting Around - - -

By Neal Bjornson

And with the advent of another week we find the SC Greeks in the midst of their annual Greek Week festivities. This is the fourth years the 15 organizations on campus have huddled to pull off the event, and it's been getting bigger each year.

Not to dampen the spirits of anyone, but I would like to re-emphasize what Bev Pfeifer said at the candle lighting ceremonies Monday night. We all realize that the enrollment of our colleges is increasing—faster than many of us can imagine, but do we see how that can affect our fraternity or sorority.

Most Greeks will admit that it is undesirable to follow a plan of increasing the chapter size as the enrollment of the institution grows. But if the number of fraternities and sororities remains the same and they do not increase their membership it is merely a problem of simple mathematics to realize that they are going to be in an ever decreasing minority.

This is not a problem unique to the SC campus. In fact we have yet to feel it to any great extent. On some campuses however, it has progressed to the point where the administration has taken action to have these organizations return to the local societies from which they originated.

I do not advocate a continual increase in the size of the chapters on campus. I realize that such a plan is relatively undesirable, but the day is approaching when Greek organizations on campuses across the nation will be forced to take action to preserve themselves.

An increase in the number of organizations on the campuses would be the most feasible answer to such a problem. I do not believe we will see such action on this campus within the immediate future, but it is coming.

I do not wish to dampen any Greek Week spirits with this rather depressing note, rather, I would like to make you aware of a problem which does affect all of us who are members of the organizations involved.

Just a note to those who wish to have news in the paper for next week. Due to the Memorial Day holiday on Thursday, the paper will go to press Wednesday morning. That means that the absolute latest deadline for copy will be Monday noon.

For those of you who enjoy a bit of culture in the form of paintings and sculpture, it will be well worth your while to wander toward the Library to see the student-faculty art exhibit on display in the lobby on the second floor. The exhibits show a great deal of talent that not many people are aware of.

I didn't get a chance to say it last week, so I'll take the opportunity now and extend my congratulations to everyone who received recognition at Honors Day Convo last week. A special congratulations to Miss Dinan for being selected as the recipient of the annual Doctor of Service Award.

NSA Neglect Reveals Senate Apathy

By Neal Bjornson

As the school year draws to a close and students pause to reflect on the events of the last three quarters they invariably think of the high spots of the year. Homecoming, the Military Ball, term parties, fraternity and sorority elections, student body elections, Bison Brevities and a host of other things head the lists.

How many students think of the work that has been carried on by the Student Senate? Let's put it another way. How many are aware of the projects that have been carried out by Senate in the past year.

For those of you who have already gotten the idea that I'm out to hit the age-old nemesis, student apathy, again, let me set you straight. This time it is a different form of apathy, Senate apathy.

Senate Apathy

Senate Apathy! That's a new twist isn't it? That's what I call it. I'm not referring to all, or even most of the programs carried on by the Senate, I believe they have set an enviable record of achievements this past year, but there is one segment of the program which they have neglected rather shamefully. I speak of the National Students Association.

An NSA Commissioner is appointed by the student body president each spring, and as yet, that is as far as most of the Senate activities concerning NSA goes. True, the commissioner has always been active in the various NSA undertakings, and members are sent to regional and national conclaves. But these people come back, report to the Senate, everyone present gives them a big round of applause and that ends it. Nothing more is done.

In the past month the debate squad and the livestock judging team have come to Senate to seek financial aid. Senate is now trying to find sources from which to draw these funds. Right now the Student Senate, and therefore, the student body, is paying dues to NSA. What are we getting for our money? The answer is that we are getting very little. At present a few people, those who attend the conventions and meetings, are getting the greatest share, if not all of the benefits.

This should not be. It appears to me that if the Student Senate is to invest money in an organization that they believe is beneficial the least they could do is provide some outlet to give the students some insight as to just what is going on.

I do not believe that all students are interested in NSA. But is it fair to those who are to keep this information shut up?

Of course it isn't good policy to take shots at someone or something unless you have some proposals which might help to correct the situation. Here are a few:

The present NSA commissioner Margaret Platt announced at the last Senate meeting that an NSA Bulletin Board would be set up in the Union. The latest NSA literature would be placed on this board and all interested students would have an opportunity to see it there.

NSA Clinics

What about the activities at the various conventions held by NSA and attended by SC students. These meetings bring to light problems which are existent in higher education today which students are aware of. They give the students attending an opportunity to become acquainted with the problems of other students both in this country and abroad. Students are able to sit down with faculty and administration representatives and discuss current developments in higher education.

Why couldn't we do this on our own campus? We hold leadership training meetings twice each year. Why not similar meetings for NSA?

These meetings could be drawn up on the same basis as the leadership clinics, with one exception, faculty members should be invited to sit in on the groups as a group member rather than a moderator.

It wouldn't take a great deal of work, and those attending would find it well worth their while. And maybe when we think about this year's activities at this time next year we will remember a Senate that has taken a step forward in making NSA a functional organization on this campus.

Suitcase Students Reminded Of Weekend Activities They Miss

By Dale White

Pack up your troubles (book) in your old kit bag—and head home!

This must be the theme-song of our "suitcase students". Five days at school and 2 at home.

Why? Why desert our beautiful green-grassed campus for the dusty fields on the farm or the dusty streets of your hometown?

It's spring—robins, golfballs and young men's fancies are all in the wing. Now is the best "weekend season" of the school year.

Think of what you can do here! Dorm girls can stay out until 12:30 or 1:00 A.M. (Don't bemoan the fact that there are only 5 girls here, get to the phone first—you only need one!) Girls like picnics. Fargo has several nice parks. Take it from there!

You can study easier here than at home. And you may have the fortune of being interrupted by some activity that's more fun than studying.

You're getting gyped if you go home. You pay $45 or $50 rent per quarter and you only get a little over half of it.

Your fees include use of campus facilities on weekends, too. And all your parties and dances are on weekends.

There are probably good reasons why many students go home some weekends. But they should just let it become an idle habit. They should try out what the campus offers sometimes.

Wives Club Picnic

Rho Chi, Kappa Psi, Kappa Epsilon, and the Pharmacy Wives Club will sponsor the annual pharmacy picnic at Lindenwood Park at 5 p.m. next Monday afternoon.

All pharmacy students, faculty members, wives, and guests are invited to the annual event.

E.I.T. Exam Required For Engineering Seniors

"On behalf of the State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers, I am pleased to inform you that you have passed the Engineer-in-Training Examination given by the Board of April 27, 1957. A certificate is being prepared and will be sent you within a few days."

That's how the letter began which made many NDSC engineering seniors happy this past week. Sixty-eight students took the examination. Engineering offices have no list of those passing, but it is believed that the percentage is high.

The E.I.T. examination was an eight-hour test recommended by the National Council of State Boards of Engineering Examiners. It included mathematics, chemistry, physics, solid and fluid mechanics, strength of materials, engineering economy, thermodynamics, electric circuits and machinery and heat power.

Passing of this examination is a pre-requisite to full registration as a professional engineer. Full registration may be obtained only after five years of work in the engineering field.

Change In Walking Habits Is Observed

By Beva Fegley

A casual observation has revealed some marked changes in the walking habits around campus. Keep up the good work.

There remains one misconception, however, that must be aired. Some students are inclined to think that a sidewalk will be laid where any path exists. In some cases, one could possibly draw that conclusion. But we are not striving for, nor can we afford, a "concrete campus."

The administration has turned down any further expansion for sidewalks, so it remains the student's responsibility to use and appreciate what we have.

The re-awakening has come—let's stay awake. Pride in our campus brings results that we and everyone else can see.

LANGUAGE MADE SIMPLE: No. 2

Exams loom closer and closer. The sands run out; the chips are down. This, you will agree, is no time for levity.

Accordingly, I have asked the makers of Philip Morris whether I might not dispense with jesting in today's column and instead devote it to a cram course in languages.

Their consent was cheerfully given, for they are fine, great-hearted men, the makers of Philip Morris, just as full of natural goodness as the cigarettes they turn out, just as friendly, just as jolly, just as regular, just as unfiltered, just as agreeable. "Why, bless you, child!" cried the makers. "Of course!" Then they rumbled my chestnut curls and somebody cried "Not it!" and before you could say flip-top box, a game of Squat Tag was on, and we played 'til the moon was over the yardarm, and then, pink and tousled, we all went inside and had flagons of temperance punch and Philip Morris cigarettes and fell into our trundle beds and slept the clock around!

But I digress. Today let us turn our attention to the study of languages.

Do you realize how important languages are? I must confess that, until recently, I did not. "What good will Spanish ever do me?" I kept asking.

Well sir, I found out. Recently I took a trip to Latin America, and every day I thanked my lucky stars for having learned Spanish in college. While my fellow tourists stumbled and bumbled, I was perfectly at home.

"Hasta la Vista, Señorita!"

I recall our first stop in Mexico City. I stepped from the airplane, walked over to the nearest colorful native, and said, "Hasta la vista, señorita. (Good morning, sir.) ¿Pero las lastimas y calimadades se agravaban mas y mas cada dia?" (Has thy footman finished sweeping out thy chamber?)

"No, sir," he replied in Spanish. "He is an idle rogue."

"How is thy footman called?" I asked.

"He is called Diego," replied my friend, "and the little daughter of his fat sister is called Juanita. She has two small books, one gray cat, three black dogs, 24 red chickens, one fat pig, eight pewter mugs, and a partridge in a pear tree."

"Wilt thou have a Philip Morris cigarette?" I asked.

"Gracious," he said thankfully.

We lit Philip Morrises and smoked contentedly the better part of the day.

"Perhaps by now my footman shall have finished sweeping my chamber," he said. "Wilt thou not come to my house?"

"Gracious," I said.

Arm in arm we walked to his house, but, alas, his footman had not yet swept out his chamber. So we each took a barrel stave and beat the impudent scamp until it was time for my airplane to take off.

Aloha, Mexico, brooding land of enchantment!

Farewell, Mexico . . . Hello, U.S.A., land of the long size and regular, the flip-top box, the fresh, natural, zestful smoke—Philip Morris, of corris!—whose makers bring you this column throughout the school year.

Did You Know? By Corky

It isn't that women talk too much, it's just that they never say anything worth while when they do talk.

I hid under a napkin one day down in the Bison Coffee Shoppe, and managed to catch a sample of typical "women talk". It was enough to make the darn dog die.

The characters, whose names I shall make up, are: Beth, Jane, Ann, Fay and Lou. Their conversation went something like this:

Beth: Ugh, this coffee is awful.
Ann: Got a match?
Fay: Have you seen Harvey Green?

And who do you suppose he's running around with? That terrible slinky blonde who was a junior when we were seniors in high school. You know who I mean.

Jane: She gave me the creeps.
Lou: Gosh, I've got to go to work tomorrow.

Ann: Got a match?
Beth: My brother was over in Europe and he said the women over there make much better wives. They are superior.

Fay: Nuts.
Beth: That's what I said. He said they cater to every man's wish.

Lou: Oh sure, but if any man thinks I'm going to clip his toenails he's nuts.
Ann: If I only had a match.

Jane: Have you ever played that game with numbers? You count up to ten and then add something. I don't remember how it goes.

Beth: Oh, your dress is pretty.
Fay: Who do you know in Minot?
Lou: Why?

Fay: No reason, just wondering. I may go there some time.
Jane: I know we played this game at a picnic once.

Lou: A school picnic? I like picnics in the late fall.
Ann: I had a match this morning.

Beth: Those women you were talking about. Did your brother marry one? I thought your brother was only 14.

Fay: We were talking about YOUR brother, Beth.
Beth: Oh, that's right, we were, weren't we?

Jane: What do you want a match for?
Ann: I've got something stuck in my teeth.

Lou: Here's a toothpick.
Ann: Too sharp, gal, too piercing.
Jane: I feel like swearing every time I think of it.

Fay: Think of what?
Jane: Harvey Green running around. I had a crush on him in high school.

Lou: You still do, don't you?
Jane: Drop dead.
Ann: (Burp)

Fay: Shame on you.
Ann: Excuse me.
Lou: My mother went to the cities last week. I wanted to have a party but Daddy said I couldn't.

Beth: The best part of my college education is getting together and talking with a bunch of girls like this.

Ann: I'd hate to see the worst part then.
Fay: Let's go.

All in unison: Check.
And there you are neighbor. I will make no comments on this bit of chatter, other than it got awfully hot under that napkin. How can anyone make a comment on such goop as that?

P. S. I assume no responsibility for anything.

ISA Will Hold Dance After Meet

Attention, all ISA members! Something different is on tap for the weekly meeting Monday night.

Old Card Game On Display In Library

By Dale White

Attention, card sharks! Did you ever wonder where your favorite pastime came from?

If you will go to the NDSC library you will find the game that is said to have been the grandpa of the modern card game.

This game is Mah-Jongg. It originated in China in the 19th century. It is seldom seen or played today and the sets are fast becoming collector's items. The game has been placed on display by Dean Stallings, librarian. He values it at more than $100.

The set consists of a wooden case with drawers, containing 144 small ivory and bamboo tiles, divided into 6 suits, and small ivory sticks used to keep score. It is played much like our gin-rummy, but is rather more complicated and the scoring combinations are higher. There is considerable skill to playing it.

The game received widespread popularity in the United States in the 1920's and 30's. In 1923, Mah-Jongg sets, mostly of Chinese manufacture outold radios in the United States.

The display is in the lower lobby of the library, to the right of the main entrance.

By Art Lies

The absence of this column the past few weeks was caused by various and sundry happenings, too boring to mention.

There still hasn't been one heck of a lot of new things happening up at KDSC, but a few special events were covered this week by our remote crew. The opening ceremonies for Greek Week were carried live over the 750 spot on Monday night. Tuesday night, our control arm swung to Festival Hall and the Navy talent show, which likewise was aired directly.

Plans for next fall are being formulated. They include the addition of a teletype, as well as a possible network of local college radio stations.

If you haven't yet bothered to apply for a job, don't. It is too late to break in any new staff members this year. If you are around next fall, you might try to beat out the scads of freshmen who will be after the jobs.

Until next week then, keep your good ear tuned to KDSC, the 750 spot on your radio dial.

Ridin' The Bench . . .

by Andy

By Clarence Anderson

Fifteen years ago Andrew Teschendorf came to NDSC as athletic equipment manager and athletic department janitor. Since then Andy, as he is commonly known, has become an established figure in the State athletic department.

His job has brought him into contact with hundreds of athletes who have represented State in the past decade and a half.

Andy has served under eight head football coaches, beginning with Bob Lowe on up to Bob Danielson, present coach.

Born on a farm near LeSueur, Minn. in 1908, Andy worked with the Menasha Wooden Ware Company for 12 years before coming to State.

Having accumulated a wealth of experiences in SC athletic circles, he singles out the 1946 football team as the top squad which he has seen. Some of the members of that powerhouse were the Vujovich brothers, Charlie Basch, Stan Coitch, Nick Soulis and Paul Moore.

As far as individual players are concerned Andy considers Charlie Basch as the top football performer of the past 15 years. Basch, a devastatingly rugged end, played for a year and a half before his collegiate athletic career was cut short by an injury.

Other football stars Andy rates as truly outstanding were Bob Lauf, Lavern Freeh and Bony Rothrock.

In basketball, Andy singled out Brostrum, Durant and Thorson as the best he has seen.

As the top all-around athlete since he came here, Andy named Bob Lauf of LaMoure, N. D. Lauf pitched for the baseball team in addition to earning all-conference honors at tackle and at center on the basketball squad.

Andy described next fall's football team as a better-than-average one in comparison to teams of previous years. He believes they will make up for a lack of reserves by team play and spirit.

Andy praises the present setup in his job in the athletic department. In his words, "This surely is an improvement from what it was in former years."

Andy is married and has seven children. The Teschendorf's make Andy's hobbies include deer and pheasant hunting and gardening.

Yearbook To Be Distributed Monday; Glossy Photos Available At Office

The 1957 edition of the Bison Annual will be distributed to State students starting next Monday, according to Reg Gorder, editor of the book.

The annual is scheduled to be delivered to the campus sometime this week, and distribution will begin Monday morning.

Students will be requested to present their Spring Quarter activity ticket to receive a book, and any student who has not attended all three quarters of school during the current year may get a book by paying the additional fee required.

Gorder also stated that Greeks and seniors may still pick up their glossy photos which were used for the book this afternoon and Friday. They are available at the publications office in the Union.

Other officers include: Don Gibson, vice president; Loretta Aipperspach, secretary-treasurer; and Ingrid Lemberg, historian.

Memorial Day Tomorrow; What Does It Mean To You?

No school tomorrow! That's what the administration says.

As college students we look to this as a blessing simply because it means we can sleep later tomorrow, no labs in the afternoon, and we will be able to take off for the lakes and a little fishing and absorption of sunshine.

This is mighty fine, but let us remember what the purpose behind Memorial Day is. It is a national holiday in the United States, designated for honoring dead members of the armed forces.

Let us keep in mind why these people were members of the armed services. They were men and women who protected our country from the threat of tyranny during the Spanish American War, the first and second World Wars and the more recent Korean conflict.

Tomorrow special services will be held by American Legion, VFW, and other veterans organizations all across the country. Let each of us, veterans and non-veterans alike, take stock of ourselves and the world once more. Let us, even though it is not the time for New Year's resolutions, make a vow to work, in our own small way, for a lasting world peace.

Oil, Mining Groups Sponsor Grants To Undergraduates

To stimulate research in the geology and mineral resources of the Northwestern United States, a group of oil and mining companies and other groups have sponsored a series of scholarships over the past eight years.

To date some 25 graduate and undergraduate students at NDSC have participated in this program.

Annual stipends under the program are dependent upon the scope of the project and may range in some instances to well over $1000. Between $25,000 and $50,000 is available for possible allocation in the current year.

The program is administered by Dr. W. D. Pye of the Fargo Geological Services, Box 2685, Fargo, North Dakota, an organization established several years ago to handle the scholarships.

Further information may be obtained by writing to this address or contacting Dr. Pye in Minard Hall.

Debate Members Get Awards At Banquet

Awards of merit for excellence in debate were presented at a banquet given for NDSC debaters May 18.

Students End Zoo Lab With Coffee And Cookie Break

The way to keep students happy is to, feed them. This is the opinion of the students in zoology lab. 262.

After an exceptionally long lab last week Richard Schnell, graduate assistant in zoology, along with the help of Janet Christopher and Joyce Idler, served coffee and cookies to the class.
