Florence Symphony Orchestra Appears At NDSC Fieldhouse November 1st

The huge 97-piece Symphony Orchestra of Florence, Italy, will open the 1957-58 Lyceum series at NDSC tonight with a concert at the fieldhouse at 8:15.

Three of Italy's leading conductors will appear with the orchestra. They are Franco Mannino, Franco Ferrara and Carlo Zecchi. One of the orchestra's featured selections will be Mannino's "Sinfonia Americana" which has themes from American folk music.

This will be the orchestra's first visit to the United States since 1920. The group was formed about 25 years ago.

It has grown steadily in size and popularity until it is now considered one of the world's top orchestras. It is the official orchestra of the "Maggio", a month-long musical festival held in Florence each May.

Other Lyceum attractions this season will include a French pianist, a quartet, a soprano soloist and a children's choir.

Student tickets may be picked up at Little Country Theatre. Others may buy tickets at Little Country Theater or the door for $3, $2.50, $2, $1.50 and $1.

Debate Team To Battle Concordia

The NDSC Debate team will meet the Concordia team in a meet in Concordia's Old Main Auditorium Thurs., Oct. 31, 7:30 p.m. The question to be debated is: Resolved: that religion should be taught in the public schools.

John Pancratz and Tom Farley will take the affirmative side of the question for NDSC. Jim Eichorst and John Serklund will compose the negative team for Concordia.

Delores Jendro, Connie Mills and Lois Bersac will represent NDSC in a tour with Montana State College in high school debate tour on Nov. 9. The barnstorming tour originally scheduled for Oct. 26 has been postponed because of the flu epidemic.

A crowd of 125 people saw the NDSC debate team put on a good battle against the Cambridge team last Monday evening. The witty and clever English team won the debate by an audience ballot of 55-24.

Meat Judgers Place In Contest

The NDSC Meat Judging team placed 12th in the Kansas City Contest, Oct. 22.

Seventeen college teams were in the American Royal meat grading and judging competition. NDSC team members who placed among the high individuals were: Bob Knudson 11, high individual in the entire contest, Gereld Gerntholz 5, in pork grading and Bob Knudson 5, in lamb judging.

The team members are Bob Knudson, Gereld Gerntholz, Frank Diebler and Bob Mountain. Dr. Verlin K. Johnson coached the team.

Concordia Professor To Lead Discussion

The Rev. Wallace Asper, religion professor from Concordia College, will lead a discussion on "Family Finances" at the Friday evening Lutheran Married Students Club which meets for a 5:30 potluck supper at the American Lutheran Church.

Mr. Asper came to Concordia's faculty this fall from a large church in Brooklyn, New York. He is currently teaching a course on Wednesday evenings at Trinity Lutheran Church, Moorhead, on Family Relations.

Married students may bring their children for the supper after which a nursery will be provided so that from 6:30 to 7:30 the adults can discuss the evening's topic.

Women To Meet

A mass meeting of all NDSC women students has been scheduled for Nov. 14, in the Union Ballroom at 4:30 p.m.

The Association of Women Students executive council is planning a program of introduction to AWS and to new Dean of Women, Miss Thompson.

Entertainment and lunch is on the agenda. Every woman student is urged to attend. Watch for further notices.

Outstanding Astronomer To Speak At Convo

A noted young astronomer who is also an amateur yachtsman will fit the earth into its position among the galaxies for NDSC students at convocation Monday.

He's Joseph Miles Chamberlain, chairman of New York's famed Hayden Planetarium of the American Museum, and he'll talk at the regular convocation hour of 9:40 in Festival Hall.

"It's our first chance to bring in a big-time astronomer," said F. G. Schoff of the Convocation Committee; "and the best thing is that he's young, he doesn't wear a beard, and from all we can find out he knows how to make his material come alive. You need that in a speaker."

The talk will tie in with the general interest in the International Geophysical Year now going on, Schoff pointed out, and should give interesting background for following it.

Besides belonging to English and American scientific organizations, Dr. Chamberlain has led astronomical expeditions to Ceylon and other parts of the world in the past three years. As a sportsman he has been coach of the U. S. Merchant Marine sailing team, and has taken part in many races. He is also active in the American Legion and the Boy Scouts of America.

His subject here will be "From Here to Infinity"; he plans to take his audience on an imaginary tour of our universe that will be as accurate as the knowledge of modern astronomy can make it.

Gamma Delta Meet

Thirty NDSC students are to attend the Northern District Gamma Delta Convention to be held at NDU Nov. 8-9-10. Ten colleges in the tri-state area will get together for business and fun.

Myrth Weiser and Kieth Wilkening are nominees for district officers.

Anyone interesting in going contact George Senechal or Jim Cook so reservations can be made and rides arranged.

Anybody know a perfect remedy for the flu? Half a bottle of medicine and six or seven large all purpose pills are supposed to cure everything. At least Vern Daeley, Jerry Horner, and Terry Lorenzen seem to think so. But even these medical advancements are not enough to stem the current flu epidemic, because from 300 to 400 students have been absent from classes every day this week. The Health Center doctor and nurse prescribe plenty of rest as the best remedy. Perhaps the lack of this is the thing that is keeping the ol' bug crawling around. For all the king's horses and all the king's men—can't keep a college student in bed.

NDSC Leads In U.S. Enrollment Increase

North Dakota State College leads all colleges and universities in the state in percentage increase in enrollment, according to the Midwest Association of Collegiate Registrars.

Enrollment at NDSC is up 13.1 percent, almost double the average increase of the other 11 senior and junior colleges with 6.35 percent.

NDSC's 13.1 per cent increase compares with 6.9 per cent at the University of North Dakota, 6.2 per cent at Jamestown College, 2.8 per cent average for the teachers colleges, and .2 per cent average for the junior colleges.

Total enrollment at NDSC for the fall quarter is 3,063, an all time high. Total for the same period last year was 2,708.

Dunbar Co-Author Of Science Article

Dr. Ralph E. Dunbar, dean of the school of chemical technology at NDSC, is the co-author of an article appearing in the first issue of the Microchemical Journal, a new science publication.

The article, "Amine Picrates in Qualitative Organic Analyses," tells of the use of a microscope in identifying certain organic materials.

It is based on research work done by Dean Dunbar and John Knuteson, former NDSC chemistry graduate student.

Other articles on Dean Dunbar's research work will appear in later copies of the Journal.

The Microchemical Journal is a new magazine devoted to the techniques of work with a microscope and its applications to all branches of science.

Ag Econ To Meet

The Ag Econ Club will hold its monthly meeting Nov. 7th at 7:30 p.m. in Morrill Hall room 309. Everyone is welcome and underclassmen are especially urged to come. Lunch will be served.

Local Students To Attend Student Union Conclave At St. Cloud College

Five SUAB members will attend the Region VII Association of College Unions Convention held Nov. 1 and 2 at St. Cloud State College.

Donna Barstad, SUAB chairman, and Gordon Kepner, SUAB vice-chairman, will act as leaders of two conference workshops. Summarizers will be Nancy Swayne, SUAB secretary, and Mary Anderson, chairman of SUAB House and Hospitality Committee. Curtis Stromstad, chairman of SUAB Recreation Committee, completes the list of conference representatives.

Dale Brostrom, director of NDSC Memorial Union, holds the Position of Region VII delegate to the Association of College Unions, which is the general governing body.

Esther Tarbell, program co-ordinator, will accompany the students to the Region VII convention which includes colleges of N. Dak., S. Dak., Minn., and central Canada.

Vet's Club Backs Legal Holiday Bid

The NDSC Vets Club has joined the other veteran's organizations in Fargo in asking the city council to proclaim Veteran's Day, November 11, a legal holiday.

In a letter submitted to Mayor Lashkowitz, the American Legion, VFW, DAV, Catholic War Veterans, and State College Vets Club requested that the city of Fargo set aside that day to give recognition to the thousands of veterans in Fargo.

SC Vets Club will be in charge of a Vets Day Convo featuring the Gold Star Band and speakers from the military services.

The club is looking for veterans to represent the college in a parade in downtown Fargo. Interested veterans are asked to contact Dick Herman, 38 Bison Court. (2-5573).

H. E. Teachers Assigned

Eight home economics seniors have been assigned to high school home economics departments for their student instruction for the next five weeks.

Included in the group are: Joan Lindbo and Sally Schroeder, Wahpeton; Marilyn Robinson, Litchville; Virginia Anderson, Casselton; Margaret Kukowski and Carmen Posey, Jamestown; Darlene Letnes and Doris Kirk, New Rockford.

Scouting Around

... Neal Bjornson

Before I say anything else, I want to express my appreciation to the Spectrum staff, our advisor, Mr. Nies, and Don Schwartz for doing the work on this issue. The flu bug caught up with me last weekend and I've been spending the week with the aspirins and other assorted medicants recommended by the medico at the local agency for the correction of minor aches, pains and bruises.

The Florence Symphony appears at the Fieldhouse tonight as the second Lyceum feature of the season. A bit of a contrast from Louie Armstrong, it should contribute to the well rounded program which has been set up for the Lyceum Series this year.

Corky, alias Clark Schenkenberger, managing editor, and all around handyman in this office, will be putting this paper out next week as yours truly takes to the road to attend the Associated Collegiate Press Convention in New York.

Wesley Foundation Plans Sojourn

Members of the Wesley Foundation will journey to Valley City this weekend to attend the annual meeting of the North Dakota Methodist Student Movement.

The conference opens tonight and closes Sunday morning.

Two members of the NDSC Foundation are members of the state council.

James Pomeroy is World Christian Community Chairman and Dick Teichmann is vice-president. D. D. Holt from Nashville, Tennessee, will be the conference speaker.

Next Wednesday, the NDSC group will discuss "Our Place In God's Creation". Dr. Leo Hertel will lead the discussion. The meeting starts at 6 p.m. in the Student Union.

An Editorial

Is the "hub" of our campus really the Memorial Union as promoters say? A glance shifted a little to the east will reveal the true "hub" of our college. Your eye will fall upon an insignificant symbol—the American flag.

Without the existence of democracy and independence associated with the Stars and the Stripes, our college could not be the institution of higher education that it is. Under another government its freedoms and privileges would surely be limited.

It is fitting that the structures of our campus radiate out from the flag. The area around it, unobstructed with man-made wonders, points up the majesty of the unfurled flag. It seems that wide open space, as well as silence, is golden.

Keeping this area clean and treating it with respect will remind us and our fellow students, whom we meet at the foot of the flag between classes, of its importance.

The Memorial Union may be the center of social life on campus, but the American flag is the "hub" of the educational aspects and opportunities at the North Dakota State College.

Letter To Editor

What is happening to Greek organizations on campus?

Is it true that they are becoming a minority group?

Greeks on our campus are relatively few in comparison to total enrollment.

Not only has this proposed problems for fraternity and sorority members but I think it also perplexes the whole student body.

Greek organizations are an asset to any college. They are a means to long-lasting friendships and offer benefits not only while in school but also after graduation.

Every year many students are unhappy over pledging.

The disappointing factor seems to be quotas. Under the present conditions only about one-third of our total enrollment may become Greek members. Yet, quotas are necessary to prevent the houses from becoming overcrowded.

One of the logical solutions to this problem would be to have more Greek organizations on campus. In order to have an effective Greek system, we need a larger percentage of the student body behind the system.

Out Of Town News Offers Diversity To Well Informed Readers

What do Southern leaders think about the integration issue in Little Rock?

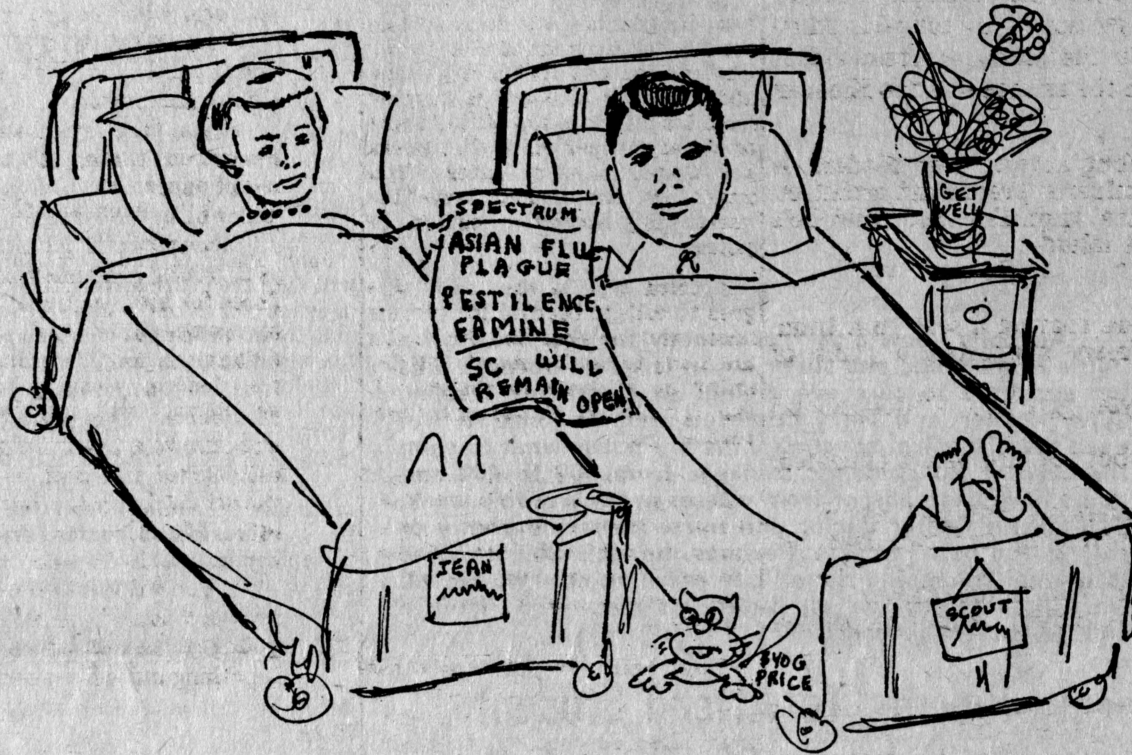

How do newspapers from other sections of the nation compare to those we read in Fargo and the Upper Midwest?

You can find out for yourself by examining copies of dozens of newspapers on display in the second floor reading room of the library.

Librarian H. Dean Stallings ordered sample copies of representative papers from all over the South. You can view such famous papers as the New Orleans Times-Picayune, The Arkansas Gazette which criticized Governor Faubus for his handling of the integration problem, the Jackson (Miss.) Daily News, and the Nashville Tennessean.

The library also has subscribed to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, the newspaper which Joseph Pulitzer built into one of the nation's top newspapers, a position it still holds.

"Every student should take a look at these papers," says LaVerne Nies, communications instructor. "You can never be truly well informed if you always read only one paper, or only those publications with which you agree."

Advancement Slow; Beauty Shop Operator Enrolls In Home Ec.

By Audrey Holte

"Beauty shops are largely a place for gathering and exchanging gossip. But a young lady wants more out of life than spending her days in a beauty shop."

These are the reasons Teloris Helle, a licensed hair dresser from Ashby, Minn., gave for leaving this vocation and enrolling in home economics education at NDSC.

Teloris quit her work as a hair dresser a year ago. "Financially," she says, "it was difficult to get ahead when pay averages $200 a month. One can, to some extent, make advancements in a hair dresser shop. Additional schooling can be had where more of the basic styling steps are taught; but good styling is inborn, not learned to every degree."

A few weeks in a beauty shop would be good for every girl, so states Miss Helle. She feels she has gained from her experience as a hair dresser, for she has met and worked with many kinds of people.

A home economics teacher from Ames, Iowa was the turning point in her life; for it was this teacher, who presented such a fine impression on what a teacher should be.

Miss Helle's plans for the future include two or three years of teaching and then additional schooling at NDSC for her degree in retailing.

Grad Student Says Drug Trip Success

One of the rewards for being an upperclassman or graduate student in pharmacy is the occasional 'free' trip you get from a pharmaceutical company.

The company wants to hire qualified graduates, and the trip is one of the ways the firm "sells" young people on taking a job.

Barbara Duncan, graduate student in bacteriology, recently returned from a five day trip to Chicago and Kalamazoo as a guest of a large company. Miss Duncan said she enjoyed the trip and thought both pharmaceutical houses she visited had many things to offer graduates in pharmacy, particularly in the field of research.

Miss Duncan said most of the trip was spent touring plants, but she had an opportunity to do some sight seeing.

Miss Duncan was one of 70 students from NDSC campus who took this trip.

Man Of Experience Sees Changes

Alfred J. Lein, oldest janitor at NDSC has worked at many jobs in his 27 years as an employee of the college maintenance department. "Pappy," as he is better known to the men he works with, was 68 years old on October 3.

Hauling garbage with a team of horses and a wagon was "Pappy's" first job. When not busy hauling garbage "Pappy" cut the lawn on campus. In those days the lawn was cut with a horse and a three-section gang lawn mower, in contrast to the self-propelled power lawn mowers used on campus today.

The first janitor's job he held was in Dakota Hall. The livestock arena in the annex was cleaned out and made ready for housing army personnel. When Dinan Hall was opened in 1954 "Pappy" became janitor there.

Replacement of tile floors in the buildings which previously had wooden floors, and the paving of college streets are two of the biggest improvements on campus, according to the janitor.

With the flu bug came many changes to the schedule of KDSC, as some of you probably noticed; perhaps in a week or so things will return to normal and your favorite disc jockey will be on duty when he is supposed to be. At least, the surviving members of the Staff here at KDSC hope so; seems that some of the members of the staff have "enjoyed" putting in four or five hours at a stretch; the rest of us on the staff thank these individuals.

Concordia, MSC and the NDSC radio stations now have a working agreement between them; within a week or so you'll be able to tune 750 on your dial and get a wider variety of entertainment. The three college stations are combining their facilities and talent into a network of bring you the best in radio entertainment.

Joe K. and Bruce Kasson are doing the honors for KDSC on Friday and Saturday evening, respectively, from 11 to 1 a.m.; the big difference is that you'll hear them at 1280, KVOX. Concordia and MSC take to the air from 11 to 1 a.m. for KVOX on Monday thru Thursday.

Stockbridge and Churchill residents will soon be able to receive KDSC on their radios. A difficult technical detail, due to construction of the buildings themselves just about cuts out the KDSC signal. Satellite stations are believed to be the solution; they'll be installed by the end of the week.

So, till next week, remember 750 on your dial for the best in music, sports, and news.

Science Enthusiast To Give Lecture

Students, faculty members and friends will have an opportunity to hear and see one of North Dakota's most enthusiastic science teachers on November 1 at 2 p.m. in Room 207 of Ladd Hall.

Mr. Harald Bliss of Grafton has a collection of slides of extra special interest concerning North Dakota. His work in the interest of science has been felt throughout the state and has resulted in the many city science fairs.

This state-wide interest in science has just recently resulted in the formation of the North Dakota Science Teachers Association which is affiliated with the National Science Teachers Association. This final action was taken last week at a meeting in Minn

I TOLD you so. Last week I said that folks who worked on the Spec were bound to get the flu. Now Scout's down with it, and GUESS WHAT? I've got it again. How can some people be so lucky is what I'm wondering. Will have to admit that right now I feel just like a big-deal foreign correspondent with my vintage: yar one Royal perched upon my knees (or rather upon the seven blankets covering my knees). But most Staters are too worried about flunking out (me, for example) because of the flu, or too worried about getting it to concern themselves with love-life this week. So the foreign-correspondent idea has t go. Ho-hum. Just me and the aspirin and the Kleenex box.

HEAR A JOKE:
A student and a professor were sharing a seat on a train. Tiring of conversation, the professor suggested a game of riddles to pass the time.

"A riddle you can't guess, you give me a dollar and vice-versa."

"O. K." agreed the student, "but you are better educated. I'll only give you fifty cents."

"All right," consented the professor. "You go first."

"Well, what has four legs swimming and two legs flying?"

"I don't know. Here's a dollar. What's the answer?"

"I don't know either. Here's your fifty cents," responded the student.

MUCH AS Corky is agin' 'em, Pledge Presentations start Sunday. Maybe next year, C. E. (He's got to get used to people calling him by his initials, because he is a senior!) Always, Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity at the corner of 13th and 13th invites all over for a free cupacaw-lee and a hearty handshake, and Gamma Phi Beta sorority in the little pink house (with the brand new housemother's addition) on 13th Street proffers the same greeting. Hours are 24.

SINCE nothing is doing this week . . . whoops!! AGRs are having a big whoop-de-do of a term party Saturday night, but anyway, what I was leading up to was: let's turn literary. And getting more specific yet, how about Peyton Place?? Is that really good literature? I kinda doubt it. It's a proven fact that it was a best seller before it was published, thanks to advertising. And I will also bet many a Stater from just as small a town has read this racy little number that more than likely does not lift the lid off a small New England or any other town, because it is such a living untruth that hardly any educated reader could believe the hogwash Mrs. whatever-her-name-is wrote for the dough. Why else would anyone put such morbid sexuality on paper??? Reader's opinions welcomed.

TIME NOW to eat more aspirin, crawl 'neath the coverlets and try another 12 hours' sleep. Something has to work. Get well, Scout, and stay healthy, readers. Bye now.

Spinster Skip Offers A Golden Chance To Girls

NDSC girls will be pursuing fellows on campus with a little more than usual enthusiasm during the next couple weeks in efforts to get dates for the Spinsters Skip—the annual "girl-ask-boy" affair to be held Nov. 8.

Freshmen and transfer girls will welcome a classification of men here on campus so they know what they have to choose from. Here is one generally valid list, supplied by a co-ed.

First class of college men to be discussed is the "gift to women". This fellow knows many girls and believes in passing around his "charms" to all of them.

He has a date at least once a week but makes sure he doesn't take out the same girl more than twice a quarter.

Mr. "Ivy League" is another fellow. He goes all out dressing like the big college man he sees in the movies. You can spot him walking about campus with a pipe hanging from his mouth to top off his outfit of a crazy striped shirt, slim slacks and shapeless suede shoes. You might ask him if he'll leave the mirror long enough to answer the phone.

A third type is the one who goes to college because his parents insist and because he thinks it's the thing to do. He spends his day lining up students to answer roll call for him at classes and "eye-balling" girls.

If you like dating the intellectual type, there are plenty. The usual varieties around enjoys going to skip with you if he doesn't have to brush up for a test that he has to take week after next.

Then there's the fellow who has never taken out a girl while at college. In fact the only time he's ever taken one out is when his mother made a date for him for his high school prom.

Last, but not least, the ideal date. He's the fellow who is admired by other fellows, is dreamed about by girls, can dance like Arthur Murray and has manners and a personality that rates him "tops". He gets fairly good marks, takes an active part in school activities and looks like Tony Curtis. He's the one to call.

But don't be too discouraged when you find out about his girl friend back home.

THE PARTY WEEK END: ITS CAUSE AND CURE

With the season of party weekends almost upon us, my mail of late has been flooded with queries from young inmates of women's colleges wishing to know how one conducts one's self when one has invited a young gentleman for a weekend. This morning, for example, there were more than 30,000 letters, each containing a lock of hair. I gave the hair to a bombsight maker and the lanolin to a dry sheep of my acquaintance, and I turned instantly to the question: How should a young lady deport herself when she has asked a young gentleman to be her guest at a party weekend?

Well, my dear girls, the first thing to remember is that your young gentleman is far from home and frightened. Put him at his ease. You might, for instance, surprise him by having his mother sitting in a rocker on the station platform when he gets off the train.

Next, what kind of corsage should you send your young gentleman? Well, my beloved maidens, orchids are always acceptable.

If you find, my esteemed fillies, that your local florist has run out of stock, do not be dismayed. Make a corsage out of paper. But pick good, stiff, durable paper—twenty dollar bills, for example.

Remember at all times, my fond wenchies, to show your young gentleman courtesy and consideration. Open doors for him, walk on the traffic side of the path, assist him to the punch bowl, zip his parka, light his Marlboros. (What, you ask, if he doesn't smoke Marlboros? Ridiculous, my precious nymphs! Of course, he smokes Marlboros! Don't you? Don't I? Doesn't everybody who knows a hawk from a handsaw?? What other cigarette gives you such a lot to like? Such filter? Such flavor? Such flip-top box? No other, my sweet minxes, no other. Marlboro stands alone, and any man worthy of you, my estimable damsels, is bound to be a Marlboro man.)

If you will follow the simple instructions stated above, my good lasses, you will find that you have turned your young gentleman into a fast and fervent admirer. There is nothing quite like a party weekend to promote romance.

Serafina sat anxiously by the mailbox...

I am in mind of a party weekend some years ago at Miss Pomfritt's Seminary for Genteel Chicks in West Linotype, Ohio. Serafina Sigafos, a sophomore at this institution, majoring in napkin folding, sent an invitation to a young man named Fafnir Valve, a junior at the Joyce Kilmer School of Forestry, majoring in sap and boles.

Anyhow, Serafina sent an invitation to Fafnir, and he came, and she showered him with kindness and cuff links, and then he went away, and Serafina sat anxiously by the mailbox, wondering whether she would ever hear from him again. Sure enough, two weeks later she got a letter: "Dear Serafina, Can you let me have fifty bucks? Yours, Fafnir."

Whimpering with ecstasy, she ran to the bank and withdrew the money and mailed it to him. From then on, she got the same request every week, and as a result, she became very well acquainted with Ralph T. Involute, teller of the West Linotype Bank and Trust Co., and their friendship ripened into love, and today they are happily married and live in Stamen, Oregon, where Ralph is in the extruded molasses game and Serafina is a hydrant.

ASK FOR BOB

Did You Know? By Corky

Gee, I don't know if I should write a column this week or not. If I do write one, I'll write it with a minimum of care and effort. I need not concern myself with accuracy or truth. I have no incentive to be witty or sad, gay or glad. I just don't have to give a darn.

For all I know, there may not even be a Spectrum this week. If there isn't then why should I bother writing something that may not ever be seen print.

The editor is sick. How can you have a paper without an editor? Well, with the editor we got, that ain't hard. He never does much anyhow. So much for the editor.

The social editor has been sick. Course, she feels pretty good now, but then, you just never know. These relapses sneak up so sudden like. And having been sick and out of circulation, how in the world could she ever gather any news? Also, if I may say so myself, I did a fair job of handling her department the other week, ahem. Who needs her?

The news editor may be sick. I don't know for sure, but I haven't seen her for a few days. So, no news maybe. She gathers news items via the telephone anyway. Never do see that girl do a bit of leg work.

Ah yes, our proofreaders. They are sick, too. Not that it matters. The only reason they do any proof-reading is to get the chance to read the Spectrum before anyone else does.

Circulation manager is ill. With him on the sick wagon, how in the world could he distribute the papers, if there are any papers to distribute, which I don't think there will be any to distribute, papers, I mean.

And that Wednesday night contingent that does lay-out and headline writing, they are the sickest. Some of them have the flu too, probably. If so, well, without them we are nothing. Wonder what a Spectrum would look like without headlines.

Forgot someone. The advisor. He is always getting sick. You should hear him. He comes up here yelling and hollering about something all the time. "This paper makes me sick". "I get sick when I see how you handled that story". "I almost died when I saw the lay-out on that page". And so on and on. He is never satisfied, well, hardly ever.

I can't really say much about the business managers on the staff. They don't seem to be suffering from the flu bug. We never see them around the office, so they are hardly worth mentioning. With the exception of keeping the paper operating on a profitable basis, they don't do much else. Ho-hum.

There you have it. After thinking it over, I've decided to skip writing a column this week. Sayonara . . .

Bureau Chief Lists Functional Facts

The student news bureau is starting to serve NDSC students and their home town papers, according to Jim Harmon, director of the Student News Bureau.

But, Harmon says, there are still a few wrinkles to iron out to help make the organization function smoothly.

Organizations will get better publicity, Harmon says, if they send student news direct to the news bureau. The News Bureau, operating through the Communications Department can offer releases to all the hometown newspapers in the state. The average organization can contact only one or two papers.

Timeliness is important, too, Harmon points out. For example, a number of articles have been turned in concerning students who attend conventions AFTER they returned to NDSC. This news is clearly too late and is actually too old. If something of significance happens, or is going to happen, get the facts to the news bureau as soon as you can. The deadline for each week is Tuesday evening.

Senate Legislates On Five Points At Meet

Student Senate held its regular meeting Oct. 29 and discussed the following points:

- (1) McLain thanked everyone for held rendered during Homecoming. He also read a letter from Pres. Hultz thanking Senate for putting on a successful Homecoming.
- (2) Schnell reported that work has been started on a budget and everything is going well.

Dwellers Of New Men's Dorm Report Favorably On Living Conditions There

By Darrell Remsing

Fellows who live in Stockbridge Hall, the newest men's dormitory on campus, report "it's a swell place to stay".

Here are the comments of some of the men interviewed.

Herb Mittelstadt, a junior who roomed in Dakota Hall last year, said, "I especially like the interior decorating and the comfortable lounge. I can really sleep in the new beds and that makes some of my 8 o'clock classes shorter."

Grant Brown, a sophomore transfer student from Dickinson State Teachers College, stated, "About the only thing I don't like about it is the long walk to classes, especially on rainy days."

Gaynor Goth, a sophomore, said, "I like it but I wish they would fix up the parking lot so not so much mud is tracked in on rainy days".

Stanley Skarphol, a sophomore, said, "I like the color combinations and the system set up for receiving messages. It has a very good atmosphere for studying."

Orville Grosz, a sophomore, said, "I like it, especially the arrangement in the rooms. They are real roomy."

Maynard Terres, a junior transfer from Jamestown, said, "I don't like it. I want to go back to Jamestown."

Harold Rolfsrud, a senior, said, "It's nice but it is too far to walk. They should provide transportation over to the Student Union."

Almost all other students interviewed said it was a "swell" place to stay.

Construction on the 250-man dormitory began in the summer of 1956 and was completed last summer. The dorm is being used for the first time this quarter.

Elaine Jordan Tells Of Teaching Experiences

By Marcella Olsen

"It's a lot of fun getting to know the students and teachers," is the way Elaine Carbert Jordan described her experiences as a practice teacher.

Elaine, a senior in home economics, just completed five weeks of practice teaching at West Fargo High School.

The NDSC department of home economics education started a practice this year of sending two girls to each school. Elaine says this is a very good idea because the girls can confer about common problems and get ideas from each other.

Elaine's duties as a practice teacher brought varied experiences. With teaching two classes in the ninth and tenth grades, she also took over a study hall, helped with Future Homemakers of America, made home visits, and conducted adult classes.

Elaine explained, "Although there is a lot of work connected with practice teaching, the help you receive and the experience you gain are full worth every effort you put out."

NDSC To Host Theater Meeting

Edwin Booth Honor Society will act as hostess and hosts for the North Central Theatre Conference here November 15 and 16.

Teachers from North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota will participate in the conference.

A series of one act plays will be acted in the Circle Theatre at the Little Country Theatre by students from 4 surrounding high schools, creative drama will be demonstrated by students from Shanley High School and children's plays acted by adults and children's plays acted by children will also be presented.

Edwin Booth is an honor society for students interested in dramatics. Memberships are based on a point system. Each student interested may gain points by participating in different phases of the theatre such as, directing, acting, crew, house manager, stage manager, etc.

Service to the Little Country Theatre, selling season tickets and promoting all Little Country Theatre activities are some of the main functions of the organization.

Members for this year include, Jane Higgins, president, Carol Olsen, vice-president, Jan Bakken, secretary-treasurer Don Schraeder, Martha Connolly and Susan Wheeler.

Meetings are held twice a month in the Green Room at the Little Country Theatre.

Dr. Walsh acts as advisor of the group.

Newman Conclave

Daily Mass for all Catholic students and faculty members will be at 5:15 p.m. in room 319, Minard Hall. Sunday Mass is at 10 a.m. at the Circle T Theater, Old Main.

The Region 5 convention will be held at Valley City, November 9 and 10. All Newmanites interested in attending should be at the next meeting on Thursday, November 7 at 7 p.m. in Meinecke Lounge, Student Union. The convention fee is $5.00, which includes meals, room registration, and other activities.

SUAB Lists Billiard League, Card Contest, Movies As Coming Events

The Games and Recreation Committee of the SUAB will hold a billiards league which will have an organization meeting on Monday, November 4, in Conference Rooms 1, 2, and 3 in the union. You may sign up for the league at any time during game room hours in the game room office. John Fleck is the committee member in charge and he can be reached at 5-7997 if any questions arise.

The holiday season fast approaching, the SUAB announces that they will sponsor a second annual Christmas Card Contest. The contest will open November 4; all entries must be received by Dale Brostrom or Esther Tarbell in the union by November 25.

We hope that an entry will be submitted suitable for use as an official Memorial Union card. A prize will be awarded for the best entry. Any student on the campus is eligible to enter.

Free miscellaneous movies will be shown in the ballroom at 6:30 Wednesday evening. These will include films explaining the manufacture of turbo-jet engines, the making of modern automobiles, and the building of the Continental Mark II.

Bridge lessons are underway once more. Each Tuesday evening at 7:00 all experienced and non-experienced players are invited to participate in Meinecke Lounge.

CH And FFA To Meet Thurs.

A joint meeting of the college CH club and the college FFA chapter will be held Thursday, November 7, at 7:30 p.m. in conference rooms 1, 2 and 3 of the Student Union.

The program will include skits, demonstrations, and refreshments. Everyone is invited to attend.

Stallings Asks For Disc Suggestions

What records should the NDSC library order?

Librarian H. Dean Stallings is looking for suggestions.

The library uses funds from soft drink and candy machines to buy records, and will shortly order a few albums.

Shall they be hit parade, the classics or something in between?

Turn in your suggestions at the circulation desk.

Students may check out records to play in the lounge, Stallings says. The records are catalogued in the lounge.

Milk Dispensary Recently Installed In Dinan Hall

Dinan Hall residents can drink milk whenever they wish.

Dr. Christian Jensen, professor of dairy husbandry installed a milk dispensary in Dinan Hall on Oct. 23rd.

"Residents of Dinan Hall have asked for two years to have a milk dispenser installed," reported Mrs. Florence Piers, housemother of Dinan Hall. Dr. Jensen has arranged with the dairy department to install and service the machine.

The milk dispensary holds two five gallon tanks. Dr. C. Jensen has made the arrangements with the dairy department to have them serviced daily. The charge for the milk is 10c a glass.

Heltemes Wins 1st In Fischer Contest For Second Year

Jack Heltemes, mechanical engineering junior at NDSC, won the first place award of $150 in the 1957 model car competition sponsored by the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild of Detroit, Mich.

Jack walked off with first place in last year's competition, too.

President Fred S. Hultz presented the Fargo youth with the senior division trophy. The Guild also awarded NDSC a trophy in recognition of Jack's efforts.

Helteme's winning model was a 13-inch-long wooden car he designed and carved.

Jim Oster Gives Meaning, Purposes Of Lutheran Student Association

What is L. S. A.?

That question is best answered by James Oster, Junior at NDSC and stewardship chairman of the L. S. A. on campus.

"L. S. A. means Lutheran Students Association, and its main purpose is to continue Christian education of Lutheran students when they come to college," explains Jim.

When Lutheran students begin school at NDSC, Oster says, they are invited to attend and take part in the L. S. A. activities. Besides giving them Christian education, it also gives Lutheran students a chance to develop leadership and offers an opportunity to meet other students of their faith.

L. S. A. has long had a house at 1201 13th Ave. N. which contained a chapel, dining facilities and meeting rooms, but due to the increased number of Lutheran students enrolling at this college it has been necessary to sell this house and build a larger one.

Until the new house can be built, L. S. A. is holding its meetings in the upstairs lounge of the Memorial Union.

Pastor Arne Kvaalen, campus pastor for Lutheran students, and Miss Ruth Lerud, advisor for the Lutheran Students Association, have offices temporarily at the American Lutheran Church at 1011 12th Ave. N. until the new house is built.

As stewardship chairman, Jim works with the finances of the L. S. A. He says every Lutheran student on campus belongs, but only approximately 100 of them are carrying the burden of activities. The L. S. A. meets every Tuesday evening at 5:30 p.m. with a supper followed by a program and seminar. Social activities are also planned for Friday evenings of every school month.

Interested In Photography?

Do you want to be a shutter bug? Maybe you're interested in learning more about photography?

In either case, the YMCA Camera Club can help you.

First meeting will be Wednesday, Nov. 6 at 7 p.m. in K-4 and K-5 in the Churchill Hall basement. The club will meet every Wednesday thereafter.

The advanced group, for those who have had experience in photography, will meet the second Thursday of each month. The first meeting is scheduled Nov. 14.

Beginners meetings will be scheduled three times a week from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the basement of Churchill. These are apart from the club's main meetings.

Anyone interested in the club and furthering their knowledge of photography is asked to contact Dave Rude in Churchill Hall, Al Simms in Stockbridge or the YMCA office in the library.

Sports Of All Sorts

... by Clarence Anderson

The flu bug has extended its influence to this section of the Spectrum staff, too. Guess I just had to keep up with Corky, Jean and Scout.

The game between the Bison and Concordia frosh scheduled for Oct. 28 at Concordia was called off because of the flu. Neither team could field much more than a starting lineup.

After reading the scandal sheet from Upstate Normal, a person could easily gather the idea that the Bison were the top team in the conference. Comment in that paper possibly would indicate to an outside observer that the Sioux defense stopped one of the top offenses in the conference instead of the pitifully weak Bison offense. No mention was made of the fact that the Sioux were held to under 20 points for the first time this season.

The field goal booted by Ray Vanyo in the University encounter was the first he had attempted in college.

This could be another one of those indications of things to come. The Augustana Vikings' team this year is loaded with sophomores. Their freshman team has racked two victories this year. Both have been by identical scores, 26-0. The victims have been Morningside and South Dakota University.

An excerpt from a South Dakota State newsletter on the then forthcoming Bison football game. "One of the best defensive teams in the North Central Conference stands as the major obstacle to South Dakota State college gridders winning a share of the league title. With this in mind, the Jackrabbits have been concentrating on offense in drills for the final home game of the 1957 season." It appears from the score of the game that the Jacks were highly successful in their preparation last week.

I wonder what the score would have been Saturday at Brookings had the Jackrabbits been playing any team but one coached by Bob Danielson. The present Bison head coach was very popular as a line coach at South Dakota State.

The score was 26-0 at half-time and the second half was played almost completely by reserves.

The University Sioux ended their 1957 conference schedule with a mark of two wins, three losses and one tie. The Sioux finished in fifth place. This is the only position in the standings which has definitely been determined. First place will be laid on the line this weekend when South Dakota State (5-0) meets Morningside (4-0). Third and fourth place will be determined in the South Dakota U-Iowa State Teachers' contest. And there's the battle for the conference cellar between the Bison and Augustana.

Bob Herrick, NDU end, leads the NCC individual scoring race with a total of 43 points. However, Herrick has finished the league schedule and runnerup, Schamber of SDU and Roberts of ISTC each have one game remaining. Both have scored 42 points. Schamber led the conference last year with 43 points.

Jackrabbits Clinch Champ Berth

The South Dakota State Jackrabbits clinched at least a tie for the North Central Conference championship as they defeated the NDSC Bison 32-14. Morningside kept pace by trouncing Augustana 40-24. The conference game was won by ISTC as they edged the NDU Sioux 27-20.

In games this weekend, the Bison are at Augustana, SDU travels to Iowa State Teachers' and the Morningside Maroons play host to the South Dakota State Jackrabbits.

North Dakota University journeys to Montana State in the non-conference action. The Bobcats are 2-0 against North Central Conference competition, having defeated South Dakota State 13-7 and the Bison 27-6.

North Central Conference standings as of Nov. 1:

| | W | L | T | Pct. |
|------------------|---|---|---|-------|
| S. Dak. State | 5 | 0 | 0 | 1.000 |
| Morningside | 4 | 1 | 0 | .800 |
| S. Dak. Univ. | 3 | 1 | 1 | .700 |
| Iowa St. Teach. | 3 | 2 | 0 | .600 |
| North Dak. Univ. | 2 | 3 | 1 | .417 |
| North Dak. State | 0 | 5 | 0 | .000 |
| Augustana | 0 | 5 | 0 | .000 |

Bison Tipped By A Strong SDS Team; Share Cellar Spot

South Dakota State, top dog in the North Central Conference race, turned an intercepted pass and a Bison fumble into their first two touchdowns and carried on from there to defeat the Bison 32-14 at Brookings Oct. 26.

The Jackrabbits led 32-0 at the end of the third quarter. With the exception of a long pass play, the Jackrabbits scored on the short runs. Their attack was confined mainly to the ground, as they attempted only seven passes.

Ross Fortier scored both the Bison TD's on runs of 15 and one yard.

The Bison offense was limited by the absence of end, John Campagna, who did not make the trip because of illness. Prior to the game, Campagna was runnerup to Bob Herrick of NDU in pass receiving. The only Bison completion was a 12-yard pass to Dick Faught.

The Jackrabbits led in first downs, 19-14, and in total yardage, 342-231.

The victory assured the Jackrabbits of at least a tie for the NCC championship. The Bison remained deadlocked for the conference cellar with Augustana. Each team has a 0-5 record in conference action.

Flu Bug Hurts X-Country Team

The UND Sioux defeated a flu-weakened Bison squad 17-19 in a cross country meet held in near freezing weather at the El Zagal Bowl October 22.

Bison standouts were Bob Williams, who finished first, and Mel Werth. It was the first 3 mile meet run by the Bison this year.

A meet scheduled with Concordia October 29 was cancelled because of flu and will be run at a later date.

The Bison will meet South Dakota State at Brookings Nov. 7. Williams and Werth represented the Bison at the Northwest Open sponsored by the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis Nov. 1.

Wrestling

There will be a meeting of all men interested in wrestling on Tuesday, Nov. 5 at 7:30 p.m. in room 204 in the fieldhouse. Participants will be expected to work out on their own in preparation for organized workouts which will begin Nov. 13.

Icy Temperatures Cut Spectator Crowd Sharply As Cobbers Dump Bison Frosh

Approximately fifty spectators turned out in 40-degree temperatures to see the multi-offense Concordia freshman team defeat the NDSC frosh, 12-0, Oct. 23 at Dakota Field. The Cobber yearlings dominated the game in the first half but were unable to crack the stubborn Baby Bison defense in the second half. The offenses were restricted largely to running because of the gusty wind and near-freezing temperature.

Both Cobber touchdowns were scored in the second quarter. Bob Rosengren plunged the final yard early in the quarter to climax a 76-yard drive in 15 plays. Key play in the march was a 19-yard pass from Roland Johnson to Paul Lommen for a first down on the three.

The second Concordia TD came on a three-yard plunge off tackle by Dave Spong shortly before half-time. Rosengren set up the score with a 43-yard gallop to the three.

The Baby Bison proved equal to the Cobbers in the second half. They outgained the faster Concordia squad 145 to 98 and picked up eight downs to the Cobber's five. However, the 34-yard line was the deepest they could penetrate into Concordia territory.

The Cobbers picked up most of their yardage through the line. Bob Kovich, standout guard for the Baby Bison, did not see action because of illness. Injuries to Baby Bison's tackles further weakened the forward wall. This, plus weight disadvantage in the line limited the Baby Bison offense mainly end runs. Even in the weakened condition, the Baby son took over on downs four times.

Concordia displayed a fleet of backs headed by Rosengren, Spong, Sand and Roragen. Spong picked up good yardage on several carries before sustaining a knee injury late in the first quarter.

Standouts for the Baby Bison, defensively, included halfbacks Gary Petrek and Paul Koziy, fullback Paul Westbrook and quarterback Randy Patet and Dennis Morstad. Petrek raced 91 yards from scrimmage late in the third quarter but the referee ruled he stepped out of bounds on the 47.

Neither team could click passes. The Baby Bison hit three out of 13. Concordia connected for three out of twelve.

Fumbles were sprinkled liberally throughout the game. Concordia fumbled six times, the Baby Bison, five. The Cobbers lost the ball twice, the Baby Bison, five times.

Statistically, the Cobbers had the edge in total yards, 280-231, and in first downs, 15-10.

Coach Les Luymes praised the team for their spirit. He felt the team had played as well as could be expected, considering sickness and injuries.

Seeing action for the Baby son were Larry Dodge, Jon Engstrom, Barry MacBride, Herman Wick, Ken Hammernik, Gordon Jensen, Dick Stenberg, Howard Young, Wendrickson, Don Klostrich, Donald Mohrland, Arlan Prager, Arlan Wahl, Tom Egan, Ed Smith, Randy Patet, Gary Petrek, Paul Westbrook, Dennis Morstad, Paul Koziy, Jerry Erek, Ron Frazer, Dick Klimpel and Paul Schulz.

Student Managers Do Much Work, Get Little Glory In Game Of Football

Student managers play a more important role than you realize in NDSC football program. Two student managers, Marvin Werner and Tom Reinhill, perform the routine but unglamorous jobs no football team can get without. Marvin and Tom usually spend the time each day at their duties as the team spends practicing. At 3:30 they begin repairing equipment such as broken pads, helmets, and cleatless shoes. They clean out towels, socks, and other miscellaneous equipment to each player and take the kicking tees, cones and emergency items like medicine kit out to the field. The managers care for minor injuries and ailments suffered by players, handle emergency repair jobs and distribute practice equipment while practice is in session. When the team goes on the road, Marvin and Tom are responsible for packing and unpacking of equipment, seeing that it is loaded and checking whether the players are present.

At home games the field is maked with lime by the managers. They are responsible for having the warmup equipment out on the field and seeing that bench articles such as the capes are in place for substitute players. They see that the other team is supplied with drinking water and towels.

During the game one of the managers keeps track of the playing time of each player participating in the game. This is necessary because of rules of substitution, which require that no player can return to the game in the same quarter he was taken out. The other manager acts as the coach's right-hand man, and is continually at the coach's side.

Tom and Marvin hang up suits and put equipment away after the game. Their only reward for this work is an athletic letter and jacket. Because few people know of the jobs they do, little praise comes their way.

Betty Thompson Teaches Former Chem. Classmates

By Alita Dardis
Can you imagine what it would be like to teach a class in which nearly all of the students are older than yourself?

This is not the usual procedure, but then, Betty Thompson, a senior chemistry and math major is not a usual girl. She does just that.

She not only teaches Math 68, a 3-hour algebra course, but also has an assistantship in physical chemistry lab, a class in which many of her former classmates are now enrolled.

Betty is a straight "A" student and also a member of the Phi Kappa Phi honorary society, a society which elects each year into its ranks the freshman, sophomore and junior with the highest scholastic average.

Outside of her regular classwork, Betty sings in the chorus, plays piano, organ, and trombone, and is an avid reader of philosophy.

Johnson Overcomes YMCA Problems

How do you direct a 90 member organization from an office in the library?

Leo F. Johnson, general secretary of the NDSC YMCA faced this problem after the June 20 tornado destroyed the building on campus.

Johnson feels that his biggest problems are maintaining member interest, decentralization of activities and carrying out an effective program until a new building is available.

Johnson's well-rounded education is a great help in meeting these problems. He has a B.S. in accounting from the University of Denver, a B. D. from Garrett Biblical Institute and is working on his M. A. from Northwestern University.

Fulbright Scholarship Broadens Students' Outlook Says Stauffer

"A Fulbright scholarship trip broadens a student's outlook," says Clyde Stauffer, graduate student in chemistry at NDSC.

Clyde spent last school year in Graz, Austria. He was one of three students at SC to receive a Fulbright scholarship.

The trip, according to Clyde, enabled him to see the other side to many problems between the U. S. and Europe.

Graz is about 50 miles from communist Hungary. The government of Austria is half liberal and half conservative. Its liberal party is socialistic, but not necessarily communistic, said Clyde.

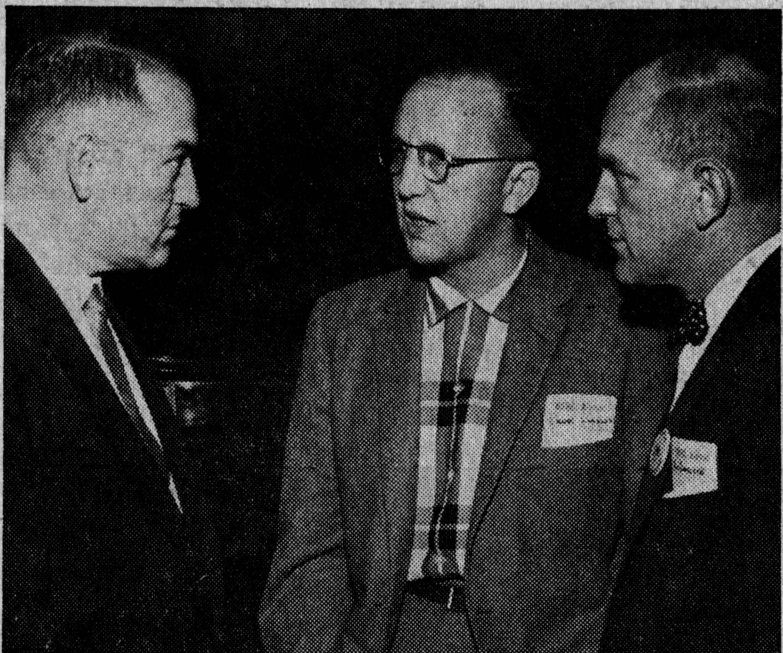

Leon And Augies To Battle For Bottom

The illness racked NDSC Bison meet an inexperienced August eleven at Sioux Falls tomorrow afternoon in a battle for sixth place in NCC standings. Both teams are 0 and 5 this season.

Head coach Bob Burns, in his second year in the NCC, has relied on sophomores to replace the 14 freshmen lost from the team that finished second in the NCC last year. Although the Augies have scored more than twice as many points as the Bison, they have allowed more than twice as many to be scored against them. Arlo Beck, a junior back, is the mainstay of the Augie team. The Augies are third in the conference in passing yardage, but are comparable to the Bison in nearly every other department.

Business has upset Bison coach Danielson's plans for the second consecutive week. Injurywise, the Bison are in good shape, with Charlie Hyde the only regular whose status is uncertain. Hyde has been handicapped with an ankle injury for some time.

Changes in the Bison backfield include Ross Fortier at quarterback and Gordon Friede at fullback in an effort to get more speed at that position. Fortier has quarterbacked the Bison to three of four touchdowns this season.

Want A Job? Go To Placement

The College placement service in the Union is the place to go. Gale Smith, director of the placement service, will find a job for you.

The office, a division of the department of labor, is supported by the North Dakota Employment Service and NDSC.

Three functions of the office are finding permanent and summer jobs to give students practical experience in their fields, part time work on campus to supplement student's incomes and off-campus work, part and full time.

Unofficially, the placement service, because of its connections with large industries, helps Concordia and Moorhead State Teachers College place their students.

Sticklers!

NO SORRIER WARRIOR exists than the one without Luckies. What's he missing? A smoke that's as light as they come! End to end, a Lucky is made of superbly light tobacco—golden rich, wonderfully good-tasting tobacco that's toasted to taste even better. That's a lot to miss out on—no wonder our chief has grief! Up North, you'd call him a Blue Sioux; back East, a Bleak Creek. But out in the land of the pueblo, he's just a mighty Mopey Hopi. (Smoke signal to you: Light up a Lucky. You'll agree a light smoke's the right smoke for you!)

Wanted

WANTED—Ideas for a Vets Club Flag from all Vets Club members. Just draw a sketch on a piece of paper of one or more suggested designs, and drop it at the Campus Publications office, or bring your sketches along to the next meeting November 14. Let's all submit some suggestions.
