Black Flag Flies For Name Change Knifing

Board Of Higher Education Rejects Name Change Proposal

NDSC students lost temporarily in their bid to change the name of North Dakota Agricultural College to North Dakota State University. The State Board of Higher Education rejected the proposal by a 6 to 1 vote in a meeting at Williston, April 19.

On March 19, Eldon McLain, who was then student body president, submitted a petition signed by some 84% of the students, to NDSC President Fred S. Hultz. The petition was to be placed before the board who would be asked to submit the name change to the 1959 Legislature.

of the board members were not present.

The proposal was rejected by the board on the grounds that it might take a constitutional amendment to change the name. The board stated that it would suggest to the legislature that the student proposal not be accepted, however, it did recognize the right of the students to initiate the amendment to the state constitution.

Members of the State Board of Higher Education are: Fred R. Orth, Grand Forks; Mrs. Mildred Johnson, Wahpeton; Martin G. Kruse, Kindred; M. S. Byrne, Bowman; C. W. Baker, Minot; Elvira Jestrab, Williston; and Albert Haas, New Rockford.

A black flag at half mast flies daily over the mall of NDSC in response to the board's action.

Students Urged To Get Polio Shots

"Warm weather is starting and the polio season will soon be here. I urge all students to have polio shots as soon as possible." This is the advice of Miss Myrtle Johnson, nurse at the NDSC dispensary.

There is still time to get the necessary shots and be protected this summer. "The students are responding fairly well but there are still many that haven't begun the series of shots," Miss Johnson says.

These shots are in a series of three; the second is given one month after the first, and the last six months later.

There is a charge of $1.25 a shot, at the dispensary.

Nelson Contends For Cover Girl Contest Crown

Jean Ann is running for the crown of "Campus Cover Girl". This fourth annual contest gives the readers a chance to help Picture magazine name a "queen of queens" among the colleges and universities of the Upper Midwest.

Competing are 26 girls from 26 colleges and universities in Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, and western Wisconsin. Each girl was the choice of her fellow students for some campus crown.

From the Editor's Desk

By Loretta Struble

College students tend to be indifferent to politics, but chances are the recent rebuff the State Board of Higher Education gave NDSC students on their request that the name change be submitted to the Legislature ought to make them more interested in what goes on in North Dakota government.

That's about the only positive thing one can say about the board's action. But there were so many negative things about that action that a lot of people ought to ask questions about them.

The reasons given for refusing to forward the students' request, on the whole, seem pretty lame after the vast amount of pro and con discussion of the matter in the state press. What were the REAL reasons, we would like to ask?

We wonder truly, if the Legislators feel that the State Board of Higher Education is acting in the best public interest when it summarily decides what issues the legislature can decide upon, and which it cannot. The resolution the students presented sought only to get legislative decision and through channels.

Finally, we feel that democratic procedures would demand that the board at least invite one student representative to be present to supply information when this important matter was discussed.

This student could also have reported back to the student body what actually happened at the meeting. So far as we can learn, no student attended this government session.

A few of the students on campus may feel that "we have had it." Most of them, we feel, will recognize this as but a set back on the campaign, and an indication of the magnitude of the "educational" job ahead.

Fortunately, not all roads to the Legislature are through the State Board of Higher Education.

Looking at ???

By Don Schreder

I am sure the Board of Higher Education of the state of North Dakota would enjoy the ceremony that has been taking place here on campus ever since Sunday morning, the raising to half-mast on the mall flag-pole, the symbolic flag of black to the mournful notes of 'Taps'. I am sure they would also enjoy, with their morbid sense of humor, the black arm-bands that many Staters are sporting on their coat sleeves.

The Board has defeated our proposal for a name-change but has not and will not defeat the proposers.

They have acknowledged our right to bring this issue before the legislature and the voters of the state of North Dakota. This is what we most assuredly will attempt to do. Each and every reader of this paper should feel it his duty to inform others who are not in contact with our problem, of its nature, and encourage a move to erase the affrontery of the Board to the Legislature and the voters of North Dakota by overriding their decision.

This affrontery took a very 'not so subtle' approach. And yet it escaped notice by many of the citizens. In claiming that they would strongly recommend against changing the name to NDSU, they, in essence, attempt to dictate their whims to the Legislature. The board affronts the citizens of the state by assuming that they know what is wanted and what is best, better than do the citizens or their duly elected and authorized representatives in Bismarck.

Life, meanwhile, goes on full-blast here at State. Every Greek on campus is thinking primarily of the "Bison Brevities", the annual student variety show. The grapevine foretells a great show.

Studies, picnics, picnics and studies take up some room in the conversation overheard around campus, but eventually most conversations end up on a topic that some will wish had never come up. I speak again of the name change.

Last year our University at Fargo received nation-wide publicity by the Associated and United Press, and even Time magazine for the humorous 'leap to fame' of one of our students. Several years ago, North Dakota became the laughing-stock of the nation with its struggle over candy cigarettes, and now, now we stand the possibility of adverse publicity similar to the infamous 'anti-candy cigarette' issue.

North Dakota was not one of the first 'land-grant' colleges, nor was it the last, to be established. But we are about the only University in the nation to be known as Agricultural College. There is nothing wrong with agriculture, as it is not only the backbone of North Dakota, but of the nation. We are proud people, and justly so, for ours is a proud heritage. And it is because we are still proud that we wish to continue so, holding our heads erect. Regardless of the outcome of this battle over the name of this University (called college), we will still hold our heads erect, secure in the knowledge that we were right. We must continue to strive for a name change, lest 'the great high arching heaven looks and laughs upon US all'.

Did You

Know . . .

By Corky

Our college neighbors across the river, Concordia, have a problem. It's a problem of "segregation". It seems there is no intermingling of the sexes. All the male students pile up on one side of the lecture room, and the females on the other. They just won't sit amongst each other.

The problem extends to the coffee shops too. If a guy and gal are sitting together at a table, no one else will join them, the idea being they are going steady and don't want company.

This could develop into some perplexing situations. For instance; Homer and Cleo are going steady, likewise are Percy and Gert. Now it happens that Homer and Gert take Corn Plant Division 908 together, and Percy and Cleo are class mates in Calendar Construction 081. One day Homer and Gert are studying in the Coffee Shoppe. In walk Percy and Cleo from calendar class. They see Homer and Gert together, and CATASTROPHE!!

No, I don't have any answer to this problem, I really haven't the foggiest. Unless these people are the Greta Garbo type. You know, the "I want to be alone" kind.

I noticed an item in last week's Spectrum that got me to thinking. The item dealt with Greek Week, listing the activities, etc. One of the activities is Spring Sing. Who, I say, who will want to wash off Brevities grease paint and start practicing for this spring sing thing?

That's asking too much of the members of an organization. Coming right out of Brevities, and leaping into song practice, unh unh, it just don't set right. The weather is warming up now, spring is in the grab and a half grass stage, and watermelons

Have Comics Ceased To Be Entertaining?

By Warner Johnson

Comics are just good, plain entertainment aren't they? Or are they sometimes more than that?

A certain little orphan in one of the comics seems to have gotten herself in a situation now wherein the events as they unfold contain more than just the elements of a short story. She has been informed in her conversations with a young engineers that she is now in a "new republic" which according to the author has certain advantages over the country she just came from.

It seems that her daddy has taken it upon himself to use his millions to produce "all this marvelous war stuff" as she put it in a single-handed attempt on his part to prevent wars.

I wonder what the author's intention is? There seems to be a political philosophy being brought out in this comic strip which is entertaining in itself. Why has he seen fit to place his characters for this "pitch" in a country other than the United States which is really their nationality—isn't it?

What type of government is the author trying to portray? Or maybe he is satirizing the international relations situation of today?

According to the author, arguments are best won with argumentive points or with pistols — in either case you qualify as a diplomat. I can't quite agree.

will be coming in soon. Who wants to yodel in four parts? No this cookie, for one.

I'm not certain when Spring Sing is scheduled, but whenever it is I've got an important engagement out of town. I think the springing should be exterminated from the Greek Week itinerary, for the year anyhow. All due respect to the Greek Week committee, but you'll be better liked if you drop the vernal equinox melody contest. What say?

And a note to the girls of Dinan Hall. When you sign up for room for next year, stay away from the west end. That new addition of the Union is going to be a bowling alley, right? Okay, with all those bowling balls crashing and banging about, any one who calls the west end of Dinan their home, will suffer. Soundproofed you say? Sure it is.

Incidentally, the bowling ball noise will be nothing compared to the resounding ovation you'll hear at the Fieldhouse tonight and tomorrow night if each and every body drops in to see the Bison Brevities show. It's a good production, and satisfies many types of aesthetic values.

Another new program on KDS was originated this past week. It called Family Worship Hour and on the air every Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 8:15 to 8:30.

Many students on campus are not acquainted with campus radio so here are a few facts and figures to inform the student body of some of the equipment, personnel, etc. that KDSC possesses.

First of all, 22 students provide the backbone of the station. The jobs range from acting as disc jockeys to turning the right knob at the correct time.

The studios are located on the top floor of the Union. Four rooms provide operating space for the various forms of entertainment set over the ozone. The equipment in the control room alone is valued at over $8,000. Our most treasured piece of equipment is the United Press teletype which enables the staff to present the latest news as it happens. The makers of Luck Strike cigarettes enabled the station to obtain this.

'If It's A University Why Call It College?'

"In a Japanese system for computing points for determining your pay, the graduate of a University is granted five more points than a college graduate. I've tried explaining that NDSC is truly a University but their answer is, "Why don't they call it a University?"

This statement was received from Lt. Col. Robert D. Baer, U.S. Army Proc Agency, Japan, Fukuoka District Office. Baer is a 1947 NDSC mechanical engineering graduate.

Letter to the Editor

To The Editor:

We here at North Dakota Agricultural College have reason to rejoice. We have just been given an excellent idea as to how we might do a thing that is near and dear to the hearts of each one of us. We are all sons and daughters of North Dakota and that in a sense makes us sons and daughters of the soil. We have long desired to show in some small way our indebtedness to that industry which has in essence, made us what we are today.

Now it is clear to us, a simple and effective way in which we can recognize, honor and promote our friend agriculture. We have found out that we may do this by naming our universities for our beloved father industry. But sadly enough we are not doing a complete job. If we want to really express our feelings we must start to work immediately to accomplish this goal. We can start by initiating a drive to create the North Dakota Agricultural College, Grand Forks branch, formerly known as The University of North Dakota. We also have other possibilities such as Minot State Agricultural College, Wahpeton School of Agricultural Science and Ellendale Normal and Agricultural College, to mention only a few.

But our possible avenues of expression of affection have almost unlimited possibilities. We could conceivably rename a group of friends of ours with a more appropriate name such as the State Board of Higher Agricultural Education. And wouldn't we all thrill to hear our dear old North Dakota called something a little more appropriate like North Agrikota.

Well, these are things that we, as natives of this grand progressive state, should be thinking about. They deserve some of our most serious thought and our most concentrated efforts to become a reality and a standing tribute to our institution.

—An NDSU student interested in promoting agriculture.

Editor's Note: Customarily we do not print unsigned "letters", but two of our staff members have agreed to assume responsibility for this letter. They say "These are our sentiments, too."

Hurry Photographers! Only One Week Before Photo Salon Deadline

Socially Speaking ... By Janet Kippen

Greetings, friends, neighbors and fellow members of the Black Arm Band Tribe! Regardless of our period of mourning over the initial outcome of the name change, a few of you managed to continue life on the social level to a degree. I say a few, by the looks of my mailbox this week.

Well, here's what I found when I looked inside.

MOST REPRESENTATIVE fraternity at the Gamma Phi Beta-Kappa Delta term party was Sigma Alpha Epsilon. A trophy went with this honor.

SIGMA CHI has pledged James Halvorson, Paul Stokes, Vern Isaacson, and Gerald Zastrow. Robert Haase, Jerome Woods and Walter Trisko are now members of the pledge class of Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Mel Werth, IE senior, came forth with a sparkler for Carolyn Stein, a former Lake Bronson, Minnesota chick, who is now a nurse at St. Paul Fairview Hospital.

FarmHouse Fraternity pledged Glenn E. Johnson.

EX-COMMISSIONER of Campus Affairs George Schwartz, AGR, and KD Donna Barstad announced their engagement at the recent term party. Other matchmaking last weekend was evidenced by SAE Jim Huber. It seems his pin is now claimed by KD Virginia Bourgois, a former Stater now attending the University of Minnesota.

GAMMA PHI BETA Scholarship banquet was held last Monday. Receiving recognition for the most improved scholarship was Sonja Scott; for the highest freshman average, Joyce Larson; sophomore, Sue McCone; junior, Carolyn Callenbach; senior, Marjory Cobb.

Actives of Sigma Phi Delta now are Joe Neuenschwander, Bill Gul-and Jack Ketchell, Ada, Minnesota. DRIVE A CAR? You'll be interested in this note. Angel Flight is conducting a car wash at the College Pure Oil Station on May 2, from one to five p.m. No, it's not free! May as well let your car get good and dirty until then, and get your money's worth.

Don't forget Brevities! Only two more chances to see it—tonight and tomorrow. Come Saturday night and the Brevities party, all the work will almost seem worth it—right? Well, that's all there was in the little mailbox, so I'll close up shop for the week. See you 'round.

LA SALLE COLLEGE

IN THE TWENTIES, up-to-date college gals wore raccoon coats, danced the Charleston and smoked Luckies. What's the rage on campus today? Raccoon coats. The Charleston. And Luckies! The conclusions are obvious.

1. Luckies were tops for taste in the Twenties and still are. 2. Smart smokers knew it and still do. So any gal who takes Luckies to a Roaring 20's party is a Dapper Flapper! And by George, the boy friend who sports 'em, too, is a Couth Youth! Prediction: In the 1980's, raccoon coats, the Charleston and light, good-tasting tobacco will still be in style!

Sports Of All Sorts

By Roger Lutz

The spring sports season is well underway now, as the baseball, golf, and tennis teams have joined ranks with the track team to tackle opponents from other schools. The results of the past week's encounters resemble previous results of the week before and the week before that, but improvement is readily noticeable. The track team tried hard but was defeated while the baseball team gave us back a little prestige by splitting a doubleheader with Moorhead State.

The golf team will move into its first match today in Moorhead as they tangle with Concordia, Moorhead State College, North Dakota University, and Bemidji State, at the Moorhead Country Club. This team was selected as a result of tryouts last Wednesday.

Last Saturday marked the third straight defeat for the trackmen of SC as they again fell to the swift runners of North Dakota University in an outdoor triangular. For the second straight time the boys from the University managed to almost double the total points scored by the Bison as they rolled up 87 points. The Bison captured second place with 45½ points while Mayville TC could only manage 19½ points for last place. Bob Williams and Jerry Erck were the only SC runners who managed to collect firsts as Williams dominated both the one mile and two mile runs while Erck led the field in the 220 low hurdles. Although the team has dropped their first three matches, it must be noted that they have looked good in each match, and future contests should find more points for the team.

Tomorrow marks the date for the next squad meet which will be held in Jamestown in the Jamestown relays. The following week on May 2 and 3 will find the Bison Invitational in full swing. This will include high school events on Friday and college events on Saturday.

As far as the baseball games played last Saturday go, the most we can say is, "we finally won one". The first game went to MSC by the score of 4-2 in a close contest. Jerry Mehlisch, MSC pitcher allowed the Bison only two hits. The second contest, however, told a different story as the Herd managed to come out on top of a 13-7 score. The winning pitcher for SC was Clarence Niskanen who also added a home run in the fifth inning to help his own cause. Cy Puetz swung the heaviest bat for the Bison as he accounted for four runs batted in. The next game on schedule pits the herd against Bemidji College at Bemidji for two games.

In line with the sketch I put in this column two weeks ago about track coach Tom Neuberger, I would now like to say a few words about golf and tennis coach E. E. Kaiser.

This year will be the 17th season that he has coached golf and tennis teams at North Dakota State. In past years, Kaiser has also handled the track squad. Kaiser-coached teams have dominated Fargo-Moorhead golf rivalry, winning all of the Georgia Tainter trophies. Bison squads retired the first trophy in 1947, the second in 1952 and the third in 1956. The trophies are retired after one school has won them three times. Kaiser's 1955 golf squad went undefeated during the regular season and were conference champions. The 1956 tennis squad captured the conference championship. Kaiser was graduated from Southwestern Oklahoma Teachers College in 1928. He has done advanced degree work at the University of Iowa and will receive his master's degree from North Dakota University this spring. Prior to coming to NDSC in 1942, he was in the Fargo school system for thirteen years. He is chairman of the Department of Physical Education for Men at NDSC.

A week from last Tuesday the tennis team took on the Concordia tennis team in a match. The results were not in favor of SC. Representing State were: Larry Dodge, Jack Bergene, Errol Quick, Ross Fortier, and Andrejs Jurjans. Dodge won his match and combined with Bergene to win a doubles match, but the rest of the meet went to Concordia. This past Tuesday found the team journeying to Bemidji but as of this writing I cannot report the results. Last year the team managed to take second place in a triangular meet at North Dakota University, and also second place in the State Tennis Meet at Grand Forks. In the other three matches in Moorhead, Fargo, and Sioux Falls, South Dakota, the team took 3rd, 5th and 7th places, respectively.

Intramurals are running strong in all phases and the weather is cooperating nicely. Now I hope I haven't said too much. Otherwise there is not too much else to report. The football team is preparing to play a game against the alumni. Coach Danielson has about 37 boys working with him now, but he can't estimate his power for the coming season. Time will tell but this alumni game should be worth watching. I'll have a list of promising players for the next article.

'Academy Award' For 1958 Brevities

By Janet Kippen

Who will they be?

Each Brevities production act offers a variety of talent for the judges to pick the "Best Actor" and "Best Actress" awards from, according to the directors.

Here's who they report to be the top contenders for the honors to be presented Saturday evening.

"Picnic" presented by the Gamma Phi's and Kappa Psi's displays Dan Hanson singing "Country Boy" and Jean Erickson soloing on "Ricky Ticky Tin."

The title song of "In a Persian Market", the Kappa Delta-Alfa Gamma Rho act, is sung by Orian Fjested. He joins forces with Kathy Barrett later for a duo rendition of "The Desert Song".

In the Kappa Kappa Gamma-Theta Chi production, "Street of Dreams", judges will be watching Ann Ludwig in an interpretative ballet to the tune of "A Dream is a Wish Your Heart Makes" vocalized by Ruth Mortenson. Karen Knudson and Art Martinson take the spotlight in an Apache dance and Art Cervinka sings and narrates the act as a city bum.

Alpha Tau Omega's 15 minutes on stage features an Irish jig gone modern by Jim Linsky. Larry Van Sickle does the honors on the title song.

Dancing in "Der Feiertag" will be SAE Jerry Stockman and KAT Margaret Martin to "Do I Love You."

Art Martinson, Theta Chi, and Karen Knutson, Kappa Gamma, combine their dancing talents in the Theta Chi-Kappa 15 minute production act, "The Street of Broken Dreams," for Bison Brevities.

New SC Greenhouses Near Completion

Construction work on three new greenhouses at NDSC is nearing completion according to Dr. Edward Lana, chairman of the department of horticulture and forestry. Dr. Lana reports the greenhouses will be ready for occupancy early this summer.

The three greenhouses with a brick headhouse connecting the ends of the greenhouses will cost $150,000 when completed. Each greenhouse is called a range. Each range is divided into four or eight houses separated by glass partitions. The department of horticulture and forestry will occupy two and one half ranges, the botany department will get one fourth range and the department of agricultural entomology will get one fourth range.

The greenhouses will be used for research and instruction. The horticulture sections will be used for student laboratories, plant propagation, and variety development research on horticultural crops such as potatoes.

Each greenhouse is 33 feet by 110 feet in size. The greenhouses are of the latest type of aluminum frame construction rather than the usual wood or iron frames which eventually rot and rust away. The aluminum frames contain double strength glass.

High pressure steam from the college power plant will heat the greenhouses. Each house in each range will be controlled by a separate thermostat. This permits the researchers to grow many plants at optimum temperatures for each type of plant.

The greenhouses will have thermally controlled automatic ventilation. This system will automatically open and close ventilator sections in the roof and walls to keep the houses at the desired temperature on hot days.

A mist system will be installed in parts of the horticulture sections. This system sprays a fine water mist on plants being propagated. The mist will cause the plants to form new roots more rapidly. The plants in this section will be grown on benches constructed of transit which is a new material far superior to the usual concrete benches according to information from the horticulture department.

The headhouse will contain refrigeration units and cold storage rooms for horticultural crops. The headhouse also contains soil storage bins and office space.

The future occupants think the new greenhouses will be a valuable addition to research facilities at NDSC.

SC Army Rifle Team Completes Year With Impressive Achievement Record

The NDSC Army Rifle Team under the direction of Sgt. Charles Hurst has completed the year with a very impressive record, an accomplishment not achieved by very many sport teams at SC this year.

Throughout the season they won five out of six matches, losing only to the University of South Dakota. They defeated North Dakota University at the U, South Dakota State at South Dakota, South Dakota University here, St. Johns here and they also beat St. Johns at their own range.

At the Intercollegiate Sectional Meet, held at Creighton University, Omaha, Nebraska, the team captured second place, bowing only to Kansas State. In that tournament the University of Nebraska took third place, Creighton University took fourth place, the University of Kansas garnered fifth place, and the University of Omaha brought up the rear.

The rifle team also wound up in second place in the Fargo Indoor Rifle Club.

In the NRA sectional meet which was held at the field house last Saturday, Sophomore Gordon Franke captured first place in the marksman class. Freshman Robert Spit-zer along with Franke teamed to win the two man team honor. Franke also used his marksman talents to win second place in the twenty shot prone match. The SC four man team also captured first place. Representing this team from the Army ROTC were Gordon Franke and Robert Spitzer. From the Air Force ROTC were Gary Olson and Robert Krause.

Margaret Allen Comments On Brevities; Who Profits? Is It Worthwhile?

By Margaret Allen

Will the directors of the act please come forward. After this short statement all the efforts of the other casts, costume, and set workers, plus the directors will be over for another year.

How have the different organizations profited from producing Bison Brevities? The students in the winning acts don't need to profit knowledge-wise, for all they will have gained will be forgotten when they look at the trophy.

What happens to the groups not in the winning circle?

The greatest proportion of the cast is usually disgusted with the directors for forcing them to get to practices.

The directors probably have ulcers from worrying. Along with the ulcers they have gained enemies. Yes, they will forget, but was it worth it?

Now we have the costume and set chairmen who won't be rewarded except for the fact that they finally finished working on the material things at 6 a.m. last night. And usually it is the chairman that is "stuck" with all the last minute preparations.

Won't it be nice when everything is over tomorrow night and the vicious circle will start over again?

THE STUDENT COUNCIL AND HOW IT GREW

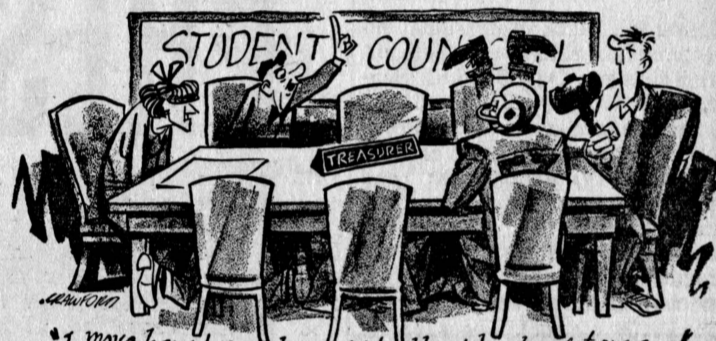

Today let us investigate a phenomenon of American college life laughingly called the student council.

What actually goes on at student council meetings? To answer this burning question, let us reproduce here the minutes of a typical meeting of a typical student council.

Meeting scheduled for 8:30 p.m. at Students Union. Called to order at 10:63 p.m. by Hunrath Sigafoos, presiding. Motion to adjourn made by Louis Bicuspid, freshman representative. Refreshments served—coffee, cake, Marlboro Cigarettes. The following resolution adopted by acclamation:

"WHEREAS Marlboro is milder, tastier, and more pleasing to smokers of all ages and conditions; and WHEREAS Marlboro is contained in the crushproof flip-top box which is the slickest, quickest, neatest container yet devised for cigarettes; and WHEREAS Marlboro, that most commendable of smokes in the most admirable of wrappings, is graced with the exclusive Selectrate filter; therefore BE IT RESOLVED that it is the sense of this meeting that Marlboro is far and away the best cigarette on this or any other campus."

Meeting adjourned with many a laugh and cheer at 11:74 p.m.

The makers of Marlboro, who bring you this column, herewith move that Marlboro is the finest cigarette ever. We know you'll second the motion.

Teen agers..

now you can open your very own.. Charge Account

Designed especially for and available only to high school and college students your honor is your credit

Because we have great faith in the responsibility and good judgment of Young Americans, we have devised a special way of permitting students to charge purchases to their own account.

Here's how it works . . . On his or her own signature, a TEEN-ACCOUNT customer may charge purchases up to $12.00, payable at $1.00 per week for 12 weeks. As payments are made and the balance owed declines, further charges may be made at any time, as long as the total balance outstanding does not exceed $12.00, the difference will be payable at the time of purchase.

Parents . . . Our Teen Accounts are really called Honor Teen Accounts. Parents are not asked to co-sign or be responsible in any way. Teens get their credit strictly on their honor.

This early credit experience will really help teens to a better understanding of the value of money and money-management, and at the same time encourage thrift and develop self-sufficiency.

AGR Mom Leads Full, Exciting Life; She Wouldn't Trade It For The World

Clang, bang, crash, splash, morning is here again. It's 7 a.m. and another rude awakening for Mrs. Ella Metcalf, housemother at the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

Click, click, clomp, clomp, here come the boys tearing down the stairs to get to their morning classes and suddenly it becomes quiet. But wait, some guys were not so prompt, "Hurry up Al, we're 10 minutes late already" echoes through the house.

By this time Mrs. Metcalf is wide awake and knows that her sleep is over. So she rises to face another day.

A typical morning is spent conversing with the cook and maid, seeing that everything is going according to schedule. She then visits with the boys about fraternity functions, schoolwork, or about the party that the boys were on the night before.

Noon is here and after lunch we find Mrs. Metcalf in her room sewing on buttons or mending tears in the members' clothes. At the last minute, a ROTC cadet comes running in her room needing stripes sewn on his jacket, because he heard there was to be an inspection today.

Her afternoons are spent attending a meeting of one of the numerous clubs she belongs to, or in placing flowers around the house to make it as comfortable as possible.

It's evening now and Mrs. Metcalf is in her room recalling the day gone by and despite the clangs, bangs, crashes and splashes, she wouldn't trade her job for all the diamonds in South Africa.
