

HART ELECTED SENATE PRESIDENT

"Congratulations, Allen. I hope you get a lot of cooperation in your term as president," says Forseth as he shakes the hand of the new student body president, Allen Hart. Hart defeated Forseth by 70 votes in a record turnout of 1321 votes.

"Being elected NDSC student body president is the biggest thrill and honor of my college career," commented Al Hart when he heard the final election results verifying his election.

Al defeated Dean Forseth by a margin of seventy votes during a record vote of 1321 in the race for student body president. Hart collected 694 votes to Forseth's 627. Hart will not officially take office until he is inaugurated at convocation at the beginning of spring quarter.

In the race for two year senate Wayne Hamann, Jim Lamont, Mike Saba, Carl Larsen, Robert Haugen, and George Duemeland secured the six positions.

Byron Berntson, Sherwood Bassin, Mike Stallings, Kay Ormiston, Carl Roesch, John Koucereck, and Bob Mann filled the seven one year positions.

Commenting on results to Hart,

Estenson said: "More than congratulations, I wish you good luck for your new full time occupation. Together with the other members, student senate is yours to become "Mickey Mouse" or an integral and functional part of our university."

Elections were held Tuesday and Monday in the Bison Lounge in the student union. This was the only poll for this year's election.

Spectrum Prints Class Schedules To Give Every Student A Copy

How many times have you wondered "Why aren't there enough class schedules to give one to each student?"

The main reason, of course, has been the expenses of mimeographing several thousand copies of the class schedule each quarter.

This spring, however, a class schedule has been printed for every student. The center spread section of this Spectrum is your copy of the spring class schedule. You are advised to save it and use it for both pre-programming and registration. It is your only copy.

Printing of the schedule by the Spectrum is another way your college newspaper seeks to serve you better.

The first printing is an experiment suggested to the Board of Student Publications by Dr. Wayland Gardner, assistant professor of economics.

Working in close cooperation with the office of admissions and records, the Spectrum staff was able to devise a way to print the entire schedule on a four page Spectrum section. This means that the type used in printing the schedule will be smaller than usual, but also that costs are kept down and the convenience of a single sheet "pullout" section is maintained.

Burton Brandrud, director of admissions and records said, "I think the new schedule will be fairly easy to use if students remember to look for their courses alphabetically, first under the schools where they are offered and then under departments."

He added that it may be helpful if students underline the courses they wish to register for so they can be easily located again.

If the printing in the Spectrum proves successful, efforts will be made to print all future class schedules this way. So, if you have comments, be sure to let us know.

Institute for Studies Offers Scholarships

The North Dakota Institute for Regional Studies offers an award of $100 to an undergraduate student in the school of AAS who will be in school for the year 1960-61, for research in any of the many phases of history, culture, or resources—biological or physical—of the Northern Great Plains.

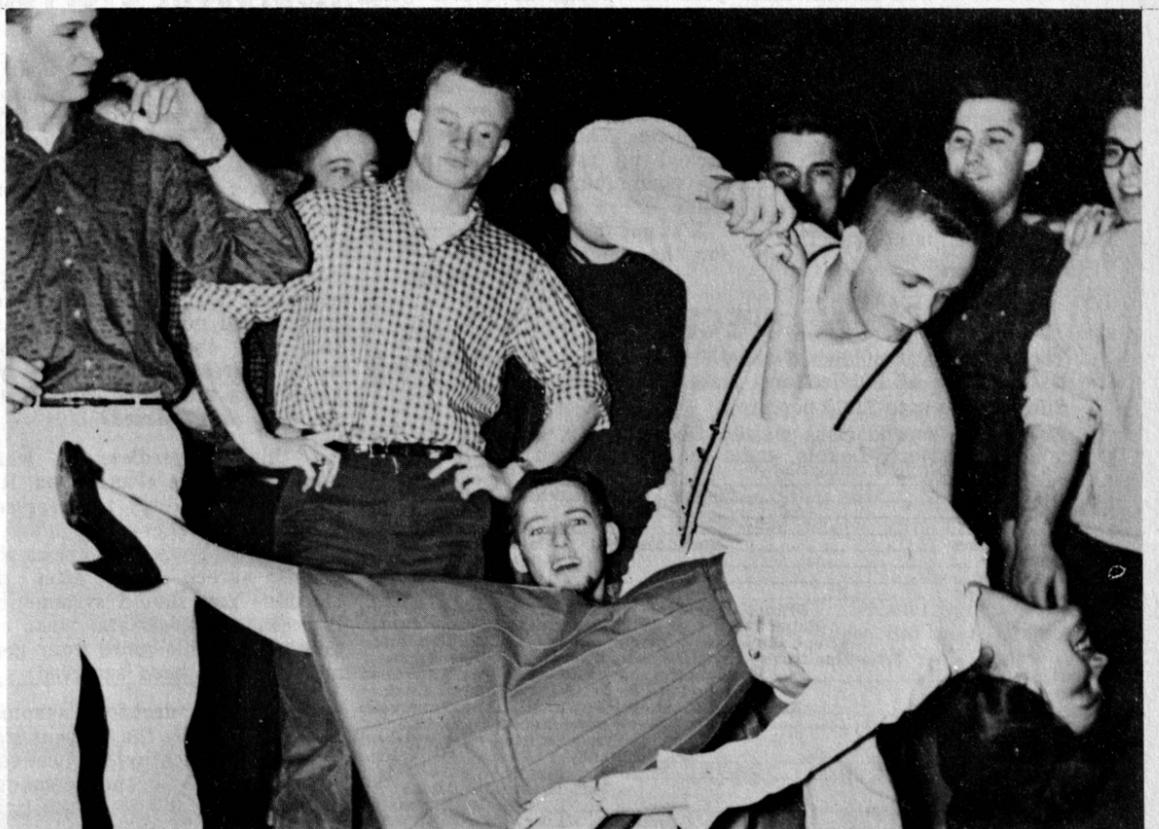

Students interested in the scholarships should talk to staff members, in the appropriate field, for advice and recommendations. Applications must be submitted before March 11, 1960, to the office of Dean Russell, school of Applied Arts and Sciences.

The North Dakota Institute for Regional Studies announces several scholarships for the academic year 1960-61.

The Young Memorial Award given by Mrs. Shorey Cameron in memory of her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. George M. Young, provides for the payment of $100 to an advanced undergraduate or a graduate student of any school at NDSC for an original investigation relating to the history or government of North Dakota.

Mrs. Jessamine Slaughter Burghum of Arthur, N. D., offers a $100 scholarship to an undergraduate or graduate student of any school at NDSC for research in any phase of the historical program of the Institute during 1960-61.

In a scene from the winning fifteen minute Bison Brevities act, Jack Burgen dips Karen Knudson. Paired with Kappa Kappa Gamma-Sigma Alpha Epsilon placed first with their act, "Collegiate Capers". From My Point of View The Spectrum Asked:

Elections and campaigning are over—nice to see so many people voting. But it seemed to me that not enough people were interested enough to run for office or concerned enough to hear the campaigning speeches.

DEMOCRACY! WHERE?

Democracy? I wonder how you label our student government. Incomplete ballots are invalid. Many students have never heard of seven out of the eleven candidates. How can they be expected to vote intelligently? This is called DEMOCRACY?

One central voting poll does the job better. National elections are conducted thus and no one disputes (usually) the validity of them. This is a change for the better.

HEY YOU!

What About Our Name Change?

To You:

Hey, YOU! Aren't you the one that was all fired up about the Name Change? What have you done to further the cause of the Name Change? Nothing! You haven't had the time or the opportunity to do anything, eh? Well, I've got just the deal for you.

Let's use the two fold plan of action. It won't take a lot of time if all students participate. By tak-

"Y" Sponsors Social Ed. Day

Students and adults alike participated in Social Education Day Saturday, Feb. 13. Students from Jamestown College, University of ND, and NDSC plus interested adults and workers in the area of juvenile delinquency attended.

But just what is Social Education day? Each year the North Dakota District of the Student YMCA-YWCA sponsors this program where they take one of the current social problems and study it in light of what the Christian faith says.

The initial question is "How does the church speak to our twentieth century and its specific problems?" Juvenile delinquency was the topic. The group tried to understand the problem and then decide what can I as an individual do?

You should have respect for the individual's human dignity. The church should provide the stimuli for the delinquent to choose. But the church must go to the delinquent, not wait for him to come to it. The ultimate choice is up to him—to decide whether he will lead a life that is constructive or delinquent!

ing this time during quarter break you will be helping to change our name.

Here is the first part of the plan; learn to speak intelligently for changing the name. Briefly, these five reasons (plus your own personal reasons) are why we want the Name Change.

1. It would improve the opportunity for North Dakota and the institution to get more federal and foundation grants for research and study.
2. It would improve the ability of our school to recruit and hold top quality staff members.
3. The term college no longer adequately describes our school as we actually have several different schools and offer degrees through the doctor level.
4. All but seven sister land-grant colleges have changed to a name that recognizes them as universities. Educational work in North Dakota and at our school will become seriously impaired through the failure to recognize the true nature of the institution.
5. As there will be no change in the aims and functions of our school as a land-grant institution, there can't be any additional costs to the taxpayer for the change.

Secondly, let's get hot on these petitions! Things have been going quite slow and quarter break would be an ideal time to get some petitions signed. If every student at NDSC came back with one full petition the work would be done. These petitions can be picked up at the union and in the communications office in Old Main.

It's not too early to "fire up for the name change!"

What did you think of this year's campus election?

Excellent. Just about same vote as second election last year when we had 8 polling places while this year we had only one. No trouble as far as hustling goes.

It was not as heated as last year—thank heavens. I think senate should put down some solid rules on what campaigning. I hope everybody voted.

I THINK

by Past Student Body President

We've heard another campaign on campus. Budget and reorganization have been the favorite improvement projects for senate. These are secondary.

Student Senate programs should involve student-faculty evaluation of the total educational program. Programs such as this will discover ways in which the educational goals of the institution could be met more effectively. This year a long range program of this nature was set up to answer questions such as "What should NDSC be offering its students?" "In what areas are we failing?" and "What corrective measures should be taken?"

Student Senate should also help in developing student attitudes toward learning in general. This will lead to better understanding of the purposes of college and therefore to a better utilization of campus resources. This can be brought about by student-faculty conferences, discussions, and informal get togethers on campus.

Lastly, I think Student Senate needs greater responsibility for the utilizing and increasing of educational resources. Senate could set up student tutor societies and student counseling services to supplement the present ones. These programs would also be helpful in that they could work in areas in which it is difficult for faculty and administration to work in.

Why Ineffective

I think Student Senate has failed in the past years because of the lack of intellectual merit and depth in the programs which it has undertaken. It has offered little challenge and much busy work to capable students.

Another reason for our relatively ineffective Student Senate is its continuance of meaningless programs. Student Senate has continually undertaken programs which could easily have been carried out by other groups on campus.

The last and most apparent reason for failure is Senate's preoccupation with structure, budget problems, and deliberation over trivial problems.

Alternatives

I see three possible alternatives for the future of NDSC Student Senate. It may be found functionless and wither away as some New York City student governments have already done and some Ivy League student councils threaten to do. Another possibility is to become useful administrative assistants to the dean's offices and departments, doing unpopular chores such as running parking lots, allocating football tickets and selling student health insurance as at some western major universities.

The alternative for which I'm hoping is to become concerned with higher education as such and become an integral part of the institution as the University of Wisconsin has. Last year the student government there appeared before the state legislature on the issue of compulsory ROTC and presented to the administration and faculty a petition signed by a large percentage of the student body in regards to possible corrective measures for the curriculum. As a result the University of Wisconsin no longer has compulsory ROTC and changes in the curriculum have been made.

Our Student Senate can become effective and gain the respect of its constituents, faculty and administration when student senators learn what the purpose is of the institution in which they're functioning as student leaders and learn what the dramatic potentialities of Student Senate are. However, little can be accomplished unless Student Senate, the Student Body President, and the Spectrum Editor are willing to work together for North Dakota State University.

Noel Estenson,
Student Body President

Senators Should Represent Everyone

To our new Senators:

I've been wondering what is really uppermost in your minds, now that you are in office. Are you sincerely going to legislate with the thought in mind of "How best can I serve all the students on campus?"

Just because 60% of the students are so indifferent to campus activities, that they remain neutral, should not give you the attitude that these students don't need representation. Are you keeping in mind that 20% of the students are married?

I think, regardless of which group may have elected you, it is your responsibility to represent them all. I believe you must be patient and persistent in achieving policies agreed upon after this election. You should systematically seek your goals and make certain all students know your goals and what has been achieved.

Your future decisions shouldn't be influenced by the present state of student apathy. Collectively, you should know the techniques of combatting it. Don't let it defeat the very basic purpose of a democracy.

Universal World Day Of Prayer Set; Lutheran Center Slates Services

The observance of Universal World Day of Prayer will be held on Sunday, Feb. 21, on the NDSC campus. This is the day set aside by the World Student Christian Federation and to be used by the students of all universities over the world to observe the fact that student prayer is just as important group-wise as it is individually.

Intellectual Turmoil and Social Revolution is the World Day of Prayer theme and students are asked to express themselves and give time to think of their fellow students on their own campus and those students far away.

The world day of prayer service will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Lutheran Student Center. Following the service, Miss Enighnaz Mnaabagaa, Concordia student who is from Tanganyika Territory Africa, will give a talk and show slides on the missions of her country as done by University students of her country and many others.

Everyone is welcome as this is an all denominational affiliation observance and under the sponsorship of all the campus religious organizations. All foreign students are especially invited to come.

THREE WHO PASSED IN THE NIGHT

Last year, as everyone knows, 1,210,614 undergraduates dropped out of college. 256,080 flunked; 309,656 got married; 375,621 ran out of money; and 309,254 found jobs. As you have, of course, observed, this accounts for only 1,210,611 out of 1,210,614. What happened to the other three?

Well sir, to find the answer, I recently completed a tour of American campuses where I interviewed 40 million students and sold several subscriptions to The Open Road for Boys, and it pleases me to report that I can now account for those three elusive undergraduates.

The first was an LSU junior named Fred Gaugin. He was extremely popular, always ready with a smile, fond of folk dancing and pralines, and last semester his Chi Psi brothers unanimously elected him treasurer of the fraternity. This proved an error. Gaugin, alas, promptly absconded with the money and went to Tahiti to paint. The fraternity is bending every effort to extradite Gaugin, but Tahiti, alas, is currently observing the feast of Dipthong, the Sun-God, a five-year ceremony during which all the islanders wear masks, so nobody, alas, can say for certain which one is Gaugin.

Nobody can say for certain which one is Gaugin.

The second missing undergraduate is William Cullen Sigafoos, Oregon State freshman, who went one day last fall to a disreputable vendor named A. M. Sashweight to buy a pack of Marlboros. Mr. Sashweight did not have any Marlboros because Marlboros are only sold by reputable vendors. However, he told Sigafoos that he had another brand which was just as good, and Sigafoos, being but an innocent freshman, believed him.

Well sir, you and I know there is no other brand as good as Marlboros. That fine filter, that flavorful flavor, that pleasure, that joy, that fulfillment—are Marlboro's and Marlboro's alone. All of this was quickly apparent to young Sigafoos and he flew into a terrible rage. "As good as Marlboros indeed!" he shrieked, kicking his roommate furiously. "I am going right back to that mendacious Mr. Sashweight and give him a thrashing he won't soon forget!" With that he seized his lacrosse bat and rushed out.

Mr. Sashweight heard him coming and started running. Now Mr. Sashweight, before he became a disreputable vendor, had taken numerous prizes as a cross-country runner, and he thought he would soon outdistance young Sigafoos. But he reckoned without Sigafoos's stick-to-itiveness. At last report the two of them had passed Cleveland. When they reach the Atlantic Seaboard, bad Mr. Sashweight will get his lumps from Sigafoos, you may be sure, and I, for one, am glad.

The third missing undergraduate, also named Sigafoos, is a Bennington sophomore named Celeste Sigafoos and, ironically, she never intended to leave college at all. She was merely going home for Christmas on the Natchez, Mobile, and Boise Railroad, and during the night, alas, her upper berth slammed shut on her. Being a Bennington girl, she naturally did not wish to make an unseemly outcry, so she just kept silent. The next morning, alas, the railroad went bankrupt, and Miss Sigafoos today is lying forgotten on a siding near Valparaiso, Indiana. Fortunately she has plenty of Marlboros with her.

© 1960 Max Shulman

And how about the rest of you? Do you have plenty of Marlboros? Or if you like mildness but you don't like filters, plenty of Philip Morris? Hmm? Do you?

Jan Dunbar Is NDSC Best Dressed Girl For Glamour

"I'm very thrilled and excited and I want to thank those who chose me," said Jan Dunbar, HE soph, after the announcement that she had been chosen the best dressed girl on NDSC campus.

The judges, who were four students and one faculty member, chose Jan on her beauty, personality, campus participation and wardrobe.

The selection of Jan is a result of a contest sponsored by Glamour Magazine in which they are looking for the ten best dressed college girls in the nation.

Each campus will send pictures of their winner modeling a formal, a campus outfit and an off campus daytime outfit. From these pictures Glamour will choose the ten best.

The winning ten will be sent on a two week all-expense paid trip to New York City. They will be flown to New York May 30 and will stay at the Biltmore Hotel until June 10 as guests of Glamour.

Modeling for fashion shows, giving interviews to magazines and newspapers, attending dinners and going to the theater will be on the agenda for the ten girls.

Jan is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, Guidon, Tryota, Choir, and was this year's Military Ball queen.

'Y' Shows French Movies Fri. and Sun. Home Economics Week Observed February 7-13

This week's Y films will be shown tonight at 8 p.m. and on Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in Minard Hall 319. The movies, both which will be shown each day are "Beauty and the Devil" and "Martin and Gaston."

"We are running the films on Friday night also so more students will have an opportunity to see these outstanding foreign and entertaining films," said Leo Johnson, director of the campus. The feature, "Beauty and the Devil" is the old story of Faustus and Mephistopheles but handled with a new treatment of fun and satire.

"Martin and Gaston" is a spontaneous and whimsical film which makes imaginative use of animation of cut-outs of drawings by French school children.

Both films are French movies.

The home economics department at NDSC sponsored a "morning coffee" on Feb. 9, in honor of the North Dakota Home Economics Week, Feb. 7-13.

Guests at the coffee were guidance and counseling personnel; local boards of education; school administrators in Fargo and Moorhead; health, welfare, and family service personnel; mayors of Fargo and Moorhead; members of the Fargo-Moorhead Home Economics Club and members of the administration at NDSC.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

Dick Petzold discusses time charges for a customer's telephone installation with an administrative assistant.

How to avoid a "dead end" career: read Dick Petzold's story

While a senior at the University of Maryland, accounting major Richard G. Petzold made some definite decisions about his future. "I wanted to work for an established company," he says, "but I didn't want to get lost in a 'dead end' job."

Dick joined the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company in Washington, D. C., right after graduating in June, 1956. Following three months of orientation, he became a supervisor in Revenue Accounting, where he continued training in a productive capacity, with 15 people reporting to him. Here, he suggested a number of methods improvements which were adopted.

Far from a "dead end" career, Dick's took him into many operating areas:

- to General Accounting, where he handled market research projects, including a Customer Opinion Survey for four Bell System companies . . .

- to Disbursements Accounting, for IBM-equipment training and, later on, the supervision of Payroll Deduction procedures . . .

- to Personnel Relations, where he coordinated a special, four-company "absentee" study and presented findings to an important, top-level conference . . .

- to Disbursements Accounting again, where he is now Supervisor, Labor and Material, with an administrative assistant and 10 clerks under his guidance.

"The telephone company brings out the best in you," says Dick. "I've developed new skills, acquired self-reliance, and learned how to supervise and work with people. What's the opposite of a 'dead end' career? Well, I've got it!"

Dick Petzold earned a B.S. degree in Accounting while in college. He's one of many young men with varied college backgrounds who are finding rewarding careers with the Bell Telephone Companies. Eisenhower Invites Dean Mirgain To Attend President's Conference President Eisenhower has invited Dean Frank Mirgain, of the School of Engineering, to attend the President's Conference on Occupational Safety, to be held in Washington, D. C., March 1-3, 1960.

The conference will bring together in the nation's capital more than 3,000 leaders from American industry, labor, agriculture, federal, state and local governments, insurance, education, health, and private safety organizations from all parts of the country.

Under the general chairmanship of Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, the Washington meeting will come to grips with the knotty problem of how to minimize the country's losses in manpower, in technical skill, human suffering, and financial waste that job accidents are causing.

Their purpose is to devise and then apply voluntary, cooperative means for reducing the 13,300 deaths and nearly 2 million disabling injuries occurring annually because of on-the-job accidents.

Geared to the period of rapid technological and social change upon which experts agree the country is launched, delegates to the conference will examine problems arising out of new and intensified safety and health hazards throughout the U. S. economy. This effort is summarized in the conference theme: "The Challenge of Safety in a Changing World."

Program emphasis is upon broad topics pointed toward new hazards during the decade of the 1960's, rather than the industry-by-industry approach used in many safety conferences.
