Student Senate Will Investigate The Possibility Of Raising Student Fees

Student Body President Allyn Hart at this week's senate meeting appointed Senators Mike Saba, Sherry Badin, James Lamonet, and Wayne Hamann and himself to investigate the possibility of raising the activity fee to take care of the expenditures for the judging team, debate team, inter-collegiate council, and the construction of tennis courts.

Other senate action included:

- To keep the present form of representation.
- Allocated $2,500 to the Homecoming Committee for 1960 Homecoming.

SC Graduate Gets Position On Board

Ralph Christensen, a 1960 graduate of NDSC, has been appointed to the State Board of Higher Education by Governor John Davis.

He will fill out the remaining two years of this term. Mr. Christensen is a Minot businessman and farmer. He has received considerable support for the appointment from Fargo and NDSC alumni.

ROTC Commissions Military Students

Thirty-three army and ten air force advanced military students will receive commissions in the armed services at exercises today at 4 p.m. in Festival Hall, according to Capt. John Horner of the army ROTC department.

Major General Lawrence Dewey, Chief of the Army Audit Agency, Wash., D.C., will be the main speaker for the occasion.

The cadets will receive the commission of second lieutenant and will fulfill their military obligations as officers in the army and air force reserve. They will take an active tour of duty varying from six months to five years following graduation.

A reception and tea will be held in the main lounge of the Memorial Union following the commissioning exercises.

NAME-CHANGE received a publicity boost when this float appeared in the WDAY Band Day parade last Saturday. The parade was televised over a state-wide hook-up. Feeding the fact cards into the 'brain' are Laurie Hendrickson and Carol Mund.
Indignant Student Complains

"We're Becoming Flabby-Happy"

Very few people like being flabby and almost everybody tries not to get flabby. Some can stay thin provided they work hard and eat well. Those who become flabby are shoved to the bottom of the prestige ladder.

In ages past flabbiness was a sign of laziness. But today we value it for comfort, and in many cases flabby clothes are comfortable than ever before. Yet we are so unappreciative we refuse to show the benefits of our standard way of life.

Many refuse to eat certain foods for fear of getting flabby. Some even use exercise as a means of losing weight, and many of these exercises are designed to lose fat. Some radicals combine dieting and exercise. A trend is gaining momentum of being "fit" and "in shape." All the universities offer exercise classes and weight lifting to fulfill the trend.

The cold and dampness is starting to take its toll on me. I'm flab-happy. I'm sensitive to criticism and I'm afraid of what others think of me. I walk with my shoulders hunched and my head down. I'm no longer the girl I used to be. I don't even recognize myself in the mirror anymore. It's like a crusade for thinness is being carried on by the "in" crowd. I'm afraid of being left out.

In ages past flabbiness was a sign of laziness. You can have this brotherhood jazz, but I'm fed up with it. I've tried to lose weight through exercise. I've tried dieting. I've tried everything. But I'm still flab-happy.

Half-Baked Ideas

GO AHEAD! Complain! The wheel that squeaks gets the grease. That's what many of us think, but it is really true. Some people always have a complaint. Often one hour goes by and all you can say is that this school and invariably it's someone else's fault.

"I know I'm still hoping to get a job some- time, but you know, I know I should work. But I can't. I just can't. I have no time."

"Anything that is easy for me is too strenuous. I'm going to work out in the gymnasium. I used to weep in the back of my head with a snowball. Being a wilder-than-average leftie, I found no chances."

"I fell to my knees and he wedged another piece of ice in the back of my head. I sprawled face down on the sidewalk."

"I used to bathe the roof Mr. McLain served on with a direct hit."

"The next instant he picked up a chunk of solid ice and punched my forehead. I fell to my knees and he wedged another piece of ice in the back of my head."

"Then I got scared. Instead of crying or begging for mercy, he just turned and looked at me with a cruel smile. The next instant he pick- ed up a chunk of solid ice and punched my forehead. I fell to my knees and he wedged another piece of ice in the back of my head."

McLain Calls For Clean Name Change Campaign

Dear Editor:

Since leaving old State in December, 1958, I have followed the progress of the Name Change effort with a great deal of interest and anticipation. Part of this attention stems from the fact that I was instrumental in initiating the change recommendation during the spring of 1957 as Student Body President (1957-58). I believe that for the most part, however, my interest stems from the feeling I had then, and still have more strongly than ever, that NOW is the time when the name should be recognized as a State University.

As most of you probably already know, a great deal of effort was spent in the campaign to solicit favorable public reaction in November, 1958. As stated by Mr. Joe Knobens, Neil Bjornson, Jim Feeney and other individual speeches made in the spring of 1957, we had then, and still have more

To The Editor

Dear Editor:

What has happened to the quality of sports coverage by the Spectrum? The fall and winter quarters displayed very adequate stories of happenings in athletics at the AC.

Read the Forum and you have read the Spectrum this spring. What talent and effort does it take to copy material from the local daily? Should not student publications be pointed at personal aspects of the sports program to enlighten the student body and encourage the participants?

Intramural programs include the biggest share of the student body, but no mention is made of these activities. Is there an intramural program? You wouldn't know by reading the report. They each have team captains that no one knows about.

On Campus with Max Shipman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf", "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis", etc.)

TILL WE MEET AGAIN

Today I conclude my sixth year of writing columns for the makers of Marlboro and Philip Morris cigarettes. It has been my custom during these six years to make no attempt to be funny in this final column. (I have achieved this objective many times during the year also, but never on purpose.) The reasons for the lack of levity in this final column are: first, you are preparing for final exams and, short of holding you down and tucking you under the bed, there is no way in the world to make you laugh at this time; and, second, for many of us this is a leave-taking, and leave-takings, I think, ought not be flippant.

If I have brought you a moment or two of cheer during the past year, I am rewarded. If I have persuaded you to try Marlboro or Philip Morris cigarettes, you are rewarded.

Let me pause here to express my heartfelt gratitude to the makers of Marlboro and Philip Morris. They have given me complete freedom in the writing of these columns. There has not been the slightest hint of censorship. They have never changed so much as one comma in my copy. I wish to take this occasion to state publicly that I am forever grateful to these enlightened tobaccocon. I hereby serve notice that if they find it in their corporate heart to engage me for another year of columnist, I shall require a substantial increase in salary.

The money is not what matters—not as money, that is, but only as a token. I want to be assured that they love me as much as wh Marlboro and Philip Morris. And what, indeed, is not to love? Marlboro is a cigarette which proves beyond cavil that flavor did not go out when filters came in. Philip Morris is a cigarette that is pure mildness from lip-end to tip-end. Both of these estimable smokes come in soft-pack or flip-top box. Neither is ever sold in bulk.

The summer lies ahead. For underclassmen summer will be a hiatus, a breather in which to restore yourselves for next year's resumption of busy college life. For seniors there will be no more college. You must not, however, despair and abandon yourself to idleness. There are other things to do in the world besides going to school—basket weaving, for example, or building boats in bottles, or picking up tinfoil, or reading "War and Peace." Many graduates fall into the erroneous belief that their lives are over when they leave college. This is not so. It is possible to make some sort of life for yourself with a bit of ingenuity ... or, if that fails, dye your hair, change your name, and enroll at some other college.

Whatever the future holds for you, I am assured that the makers of Marlboro and Philip Morris join me in wishing you the best of everything. We have taken great pleasure—the makers and I—in bringing you this column each week throughout the school year. We hope a little pleasure has accrued to you too.

Weesner And Hertel To Conduct Tours

Wesner—Orient

Miss Kathryn Wesner, chairman of related art at NDSC, will conduct an Oriental Art tour which has been planned for this summer by the NDSC Summer Session and School of Home Economics.

The tour, which will take 22 days flying by Canadian Pacific Airlines, will leave Fargo June 20. Three credits, undergraduate or graduate, will be given for the tour.

"The contrast in Oriental culture and that from the rest of the world will be clearly seen as the tour travels throughout Japan," states Miss Wesner.

Highlights of the tour include the unique Japanese Puppet Play at the Bunrakuza Theatre; a tour of Hiroshima, visiting the Kjii· the Manila art exhibits; colorful flower markets; the bull fights; National Cathedral; Government Palace; and Chapultepec Castle.

The group will visit historical sites such as the Pyramids of the Sun, the Moon, and the Acoclan Temple in Mexico with its 16th Century Church and the Basilica de Qua· daycare, Mexico's most famous church.

After a three day tour into the Mexican country, the group will visit Guatemala where they will see the Romanoque Palace of the Captain's Generals; one of the largest open-air markets in the world; ceremonial rites performed by the Indians; and the ruins of the earthquake of 1778. Three credits, undergraduate or graduate, will be given for the tour through NDSC Summer Session. For further information contact Dr. Hale Aarnes, Minard Hall, NDSC, or the Reed Travel Agency, Fargo.

A Coulter electronic blood cell counter, which is more than 60 times faster than the manual method, has been purchased by the department of veterinary science at NDSC according to Dr. I. A. Schipper, associate professor.

The counter, which cost $4,600, will be used for research in diagnosing and interpreting blood changes in domestic livestock.

It is now being used to study the blood of cattle infected with a virus, which is more than 60 times faster than the manual method.

Statisticians have calculated the error of the manual method to be about 20 per cent. With the Coulter counter 90 per cent of the counts will deviate only one per cent.

There is only one other electronic counter of this type in the state of North Dakota.

The Name Change Campaign Moved Into High Gear

NAME CHANGE CAMPAIGN

Why Should NDAC Become NDSU?

Because it would mean greater prestige for “ag” students since they will no longer be mistaken for “trade school” students.

Because it would offer greater attraction for the best faculty and researchers who would rather work for a University than a college.

Because it would mean increased out-of-state funds and grants from foundations for agricultural research.

Because it would give NDAC equal status with sister land grant institutions in the nation which have already been recognized as universities for agricultural study.

Because it would mean increased status for the state’s No. 1 industry — Agriculture.

Because the new name will more accurately describe the many and varied functions performed by the school which make it a University in structure and capability at the present time.

The 1959-60 season may not have produced any team champions at North Dakota State but it certainly produced some outstanding athletes that have never displayed their efforts on this campus.

One of the most deserving honors was the naming of Marv Bachmeier to basketball's 1960 Little All-America. Along with this honor, Bachmeier was also named the athlete of the state of North Dakota for 1960.

As I have mentioned before Marv Bachmeier will likely be remembered as the greatest all-round ball players of the northern states.

Another outstanding athlete is Curt Quenette who must be recognized as one of the best football players that ever played in a NDSC uniform.

Quenette was named to the first all-star team in the North Central Conference and was the most valuable player in the NCC two years in succession.

One of the most underrated athletes on the NDSC campus is Oddvar Helgeson. Helgeson has never failed to at least place in any race that he has completed and up until this year was undefeated.

He is one of the most devoted athletes that has ever participated in any sports activities on this campus.

Helgeson has broken the school record for the two mile and has won the large fiery diamond . . . whichever you prefer.

It is such sportsmanship and ability as this that makes Helgeson as North Dakota State's greatest athletes that have ever worn the green and yellow colors.

A fitted wedding ring to match is available. Note the unusual setting of the large fiery diamond . . . in emerald-cut, oval, or round shape...whichever you prefer. A fitted wedding ring to match is available.

North Dakota State Football Team Ends Workouts With 12-0 Victory

The NDSC Varsity football team ended spring workout last Friday night with a 12-0 victory over the Alumni in the annual spring game at Dakotah Field.

Danielson felt that this year's spring practice is farther advanced than in past years but felt the loss of many seniors through graduation leaves the club with less experience.

The defense left something to be desired, but, perhaps this could be attributed to the little experience. Also, Danielson explained that no special effort was made to set up an effective defense as is needed in the fall. The coach also mentioned that the ineffectual passing attack of the varsity was due to the lack of attention to this type of work in the spring.

Freshmen backfielders Roger Villareal and John Elan surprised those who watched the game with some very fine offensive running.

The Bison coach was also pleased with ends Barry McBride and Tom Reynolds and felt that they may be better defensively than last year's ends.

The quarterbacking of Mike Gebhart and freshman Ron Ledman and Harold Hughes will give the Bison more depth than they have known in the past.

These previous few aspects of the Bison squad along with other known standouts like Mike KinSELLA at halfback, Tom Egan at center and Bob Kovich at tackle, may surprise a few Bison varisty fans next year.

Bison Golf Team, Led By McLeod, Wins Inter-City

The Bison golf team, led by freshman Ron McLeod, won the inter-city college golf meet Monday at the Fargo Country Club.

McLeod who won up with a 2 under par 70 led the Bison to the low total of 403. Moorhead State had 412 and Concordia 435.

Another outstanding athlete is Ledman whose efforts on this campus.

As I have mentioned before Marv Bachmeier will likely be remembered as the greatest all-round ball players of the northern states.

Yet, we salute Marv Bachmeier, Curt Quenette, and Oddvar Helgeson as North Dakota State's greatest athletes that have ever worn the green and yellow colors.

The coaching staff, including the new and different, this fabulous looking diamond ring is "Flight" reflects the excitement of modern tempo! Note the unusual setting of the large very diamond . . . in emerald-cut, oval, or round shape...whichever you prefer. A fitted wedding ring to match is available.

Encampment for Citizenship To Begin June 26
By Elnore Benton

Would you like to spend six weeks in New York City? This may sound like an impossibility to you. Well, last year at this time I would have said the same. However there is an opportunity for everyone of you to spend six memorable weeks in the city of New York or Berkeley, Calif. Each summer this experience is offered to college students between the ages of 18 and 23 years of age by the Encampment for citizenship.

The Encampment brings together a hundred people each summer at New York City and Berkeley to live together, play together, and study each other's problems. Faculty members from many well-known colleges provide the opportunity to study these problems and learn to think independently. Major areas of study include civil rights, civil liberties, international affairs, economics, and community action.

Field trips to government, labor, management, farm, industry and community organizations located in New York or San Francisco supplement the lectures, workshops, and discussion groups. There is also plenty of time allotted for recreation. I studied juvenile delinquency and actually went into the poorer sections of the city to do it.

The sessions this year will run from June 29 to August 6. The fee for tuition, room, and board is $360. Financial aid is available to those unable to meet costs.

Information and applications may be obtained by writing to: Encampment for Citizenship, 2 West 64 St., New York City 23, or contact Elnore Benton, Room 46, Dinan Hall.

900 Fulbright Scholarships Available
For Grad And Pre-Doctoral Research

About nine hundred Fulbright scholarships for graduate study or pre-doctoral research in 30 different countries will be available for the 1961-62 academic year. In addition to the Fulbright Awards, scholarships or study in Latin America under the Inter-American Cultural Convention are also being offered.

The Fulbright scholarships cover travel, tuition, books and maintenance for one academic year. Applications for Fulbright and IACC scholarships for 1961-62 will be accepted until November 1, 1960.

Election to Rhodes Scholarships will be held in all states in December, 1960. Scholars-elect will enter Oxford University, England, in October, 1961.

Appointment to a Rhodes Scholarship is made in the first year of the instance with a possible third year if the scholar's record at Oxford and plan of study warrant such an award. No restriction is placed upon a Rhodes scholar's choice of studies.

Applications must be in the hand of the secretary of the state committee not later than November 2, 1960. Interested students who are now enrolled at a college or university should consult Dr. Leo Hertel, Minard 227, for more information on these scholarships.
