

Students Plan Measure 3 Marathon

T.V. Show Marks N.C. Kickoff

NDSC will kick-off their name change campaign with a state wide television program on Monday evening, Oct. 3.

An historical film of NDSC's contribution to North Dakota and why it is necessary for us to change our name, will constitute the major part of the program.

At the end of the film there will be a talk directly to the supporters of the Name Change to go out and get voters to support this important undertaking.

The program can be seen at 8:30 p.m. on KXJB Channel 4 and KXGO Channel 11 and at 9 P.M. on WDAY Channel 6. Also at 9 p.m. the program can be seen statewide on local television stations.

The committee asks that the students write home and tell their parents about the program and when it can be seen.

"WON'T SOMEONE HELP me send out Name Change Information," says Suellen Ringsak, chairman of the Marathon on Wed., Oct. 5 in the Union Ballroom.

Committee Asks Help For Mailing Marathon

This Wednesday, Oct. 5, the students of the Agriculture College at Fargo will be able to prove whether they have any desire or initiative to change the name of this institution to North Dakota State University of Agriculture and Applied Science.

The reason Wednesday, Oct. 5 is a special day is because it has been designated "Measure 3 Marathon" on campus according to Chuck Bateman, student Name Change chairman.

This day is set aside for student workers for the name change. The student name change committee says, "Now is the time for the students to get behind the Name Change."

Chuck reports there are thousands of pieces of mail that the students can help address and prepare for the post office and therefore, this special day has been designated "Measure 3 Marathon." Like any marathon the idea is that students will work until every piece is finished.

Suellen Ringsak was named chairman of the event and she says the Greek organizations are backing the effort 100%. Other organizations are asked to volunteer their services by contacting Miss Ringsak and designating when they can help.

A special working space has been set up in the Union Ballroom. One hundred workers can be used at once. According to Suellen, work will continue all day and even into the night if it is necessary to do the job.

Students will be served coffee as they work, so breaks between classes, during the noon hour, after classes or any time during the day could be spent to good advantage for the Name Change. The work is not hard, though it is time-consuming.

"When we tested how long it might take," Suellen said, "we found that one person could address 15 pieces a minute, so one hour of work would mean 300 more can be mailed to help change the name."

Alumni will also be on hand to aid in the mailing marathon and everyone is asked to do their part. To start the ball rolling, Greek fraternities and sororities have been assigned certain hours so the work will continue throughout the day.

Others are asked to stop in at any hour of the day.

NDSC Board of Public Programs Schedules Six Lyceums In 1960-61 Series

The NDSC Board of Public Programs has scheduled another year of "top-notch" entertainment for the 1960-61 Lyceum Series. Marking their Golden Anniversary this year, the group plans to bring in six attractions.

Coming up first on the agenda will be the Icelandic Singers on October 19, known as one of the most famous of the great male choirs.

On November 12 the Societa Corelli will headline the program. So thoroughly have these gifted instrumentalists attained their objective that they are considered the world's leading exponents of the repertoire for chamber orchestra.

If you're interested in the dramatization of the deeply personal poetry of Edna St. Vincent Millay, you'll want to be at Festival Hall on December 3, when Dorothy Stickney will highlight the Lyceum Series program.

From the stages of the Metropolitan Opera, the San Francisco Opera and other companies, will come the famed tenor Jan Peerce to appear on January 13.

Pierre Luboshutz and Genia Nemennoff, two of the finest of the contemporary pianists, will highlight the program February 17.

The last attraction of the year, and possibly one of the most well-known, will come March 16 when Jose Greco and his company of Spanish Dancers will appear. Known as the world's finest male Spanish dancer, Greco can be characterized as "the best."

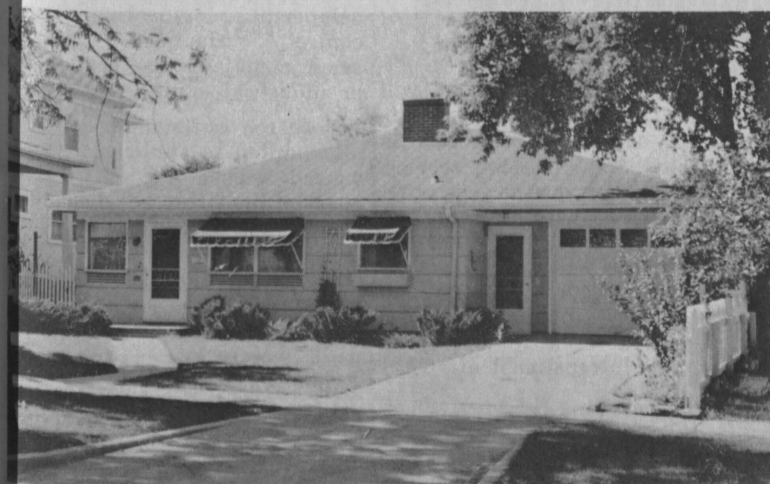

United Campus Christian Fellowship Purchases House For Use As Center

During the summer, the United Campus Christian Fellowship purchased a house located at 1130 College Street for use as a center for faculty, staff, and students.

Conveniently located half a block from the campus, the new center will serve as the official headquarters of the UCCF as well as a meeting place for its members.

The participating denominations within UCCF are: The United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., the United Church of Christ (Congregational Christian and Evangelical & Reformed), the Evangelical United Brethren, and The Disciples of Christ.

An invitation is extended by Rev. Robert Siberry, UCCF director, to anyone interested to drop in and look around.

THE NEWLY PURCHASED United Campus Christian Fellowship center is located at 1130 College Street.

LCT Works on "Of Thee I Sing"

By Nancy Flatt

All eyes in the nation are centered on the coming presidential elections, and the same will hold true when the Little Country Theater presents the first show of the season, the musical comedy "Of Thee I Sing." Scheduled to go on stage November 2-5, the play is a satire on presidential elections, characterizing the trials and tribulations of nominee John P. Wintergreen.

The facts behind Wintergreen's nomination are a bit obscure. During the convention a fellow in the back of the room started making noise and screaming "Wintergreen for President" at the top of his lungs. Partially in deference to the incessant din, the nomination went to Wintergreen in a landslide.

BUSILY SEWING COSTUMES for the musical "Of Thee I Sing" is Jim Billington and Claudia Gullickson.

However, it seems the noisemaker doing all the screaming was Wintergreen himself.

Headlining the cast are Claudia Gullickson, Rheinhold Schuster, Linda Flesland and Duane Maas. Dance leads went to Dan Wilhelm and Bobbi Nelson.

The story was written by George S. Kaufman and Morris Ryskind. Music and lyrics were done by the renowned George and Ira Gershwin. It is the only musical comedy ever to win a Pulitzer Prize, since its theme is one that is always popular.

Interest in the play has already manifested itself in the form of increased season ticket sales. Thus far they have exceeded last year's sale by about four times. Price for season tickets is $3.00. Regular box office prices will hold for all "Of Thee I Sing" performances.

Named as director for this year's opening performances is W. T. Chichester of the Speech Department. Assisting Chichester will be Art Cervinka, graduate speech and drama student, and Marilyn Nass of the physical education department.

Anyone interested is urged to try out in the Little Country Theater since all cast positions are by no means filled. Positions yet open include singers and dancers.

According to Chichester, "Whether you're a republican, a democrat, an NPL'er, a DFL'er or just plain old college 'eller, don't miss "Of Thee I Sing!"

This week I'm going to ask you some questions—questions I don't know the answers for but would like to find. They are concerning school pride. Now don't mistake this for school spirit—that is just a small portion of school pride.

Picture this scene—a group of students sitting in the Union drinking coffee. Someone brings in a new student. He tells the coffee drinkers he's just arrived from California to go to school here. Then comes the big question —“Why did you EVER come HERE?”

Why is this? We have a good school. Why aren't we proud of it and why shouldn't people from out of state want to come here? Have we got leprosy or something?

Why do students say we're a suitcase college because there's nothing to do on weekends. There's football games, dances at the Union—the religious centers have activities. Why aren't these places crowded? And do we have to be entertained all the time? Bull sessions and discussions in the dorm, apartments or wherever can be not only educational but fun.

Why can't we be trusted? Why do the people in the library feel they have to search us at the door to see if we swiped any books? Why can't we show them we won't steal $1000 worth of books if we aren't checked at the door as happened last year?

Why are so many students here for a degree and not an education? They'll do anything to get that piece of paper—even cheat. If they were really here for an education they would be too busy getting it. They wouldn't have time to cheat. Could the whole school be trusted enough, so we could be put on the honor system? Or would we fail?

Why do organizations on campus concern themselves solely with dances, trophies, queens instead of adding a few lectures and discussions to their yearly programs? Aren't we here first for an education? If there were more lectures would we students attend them?

Why do we come down to the freshman level? We should give them something to work up to. Instead we greet them with high school games—lipstick smearing, etc.

Could it be partly the faculty's fault? Are they proud of NDSC?

Then how about spirit? At football and basketball games the backing and spirit isn't there. Why? Even when the teams are winning it's not there.

There is a lack of spirit in other instances also. The only sure way to get groups to work is to offer a prize and then they'll work like crazy. Not for the school but for the prize.

Why? . . . maybe you know.

Phi Mu Chapter House Is Under Construction

Zeta Iota of Phi Mu sorority is building a chapter house estimated at $70,000. The house, which is expected to be completed on March 1, 1961, is located on 12th Street between the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority house and the Sigma Chi fraternity house. The new house is planned to accommodate twelve girls, a house-mother's apartment and guest room. The large living and dining rooms can also be used for entertaining. A chapter room is located in the basement.

The Phi Mu's have set up temporary residence at the LSA center until their new house is completed.

THIS IS AN ARCHITECTS DRAWING of the new Phi Mu sorority house which is now under construction. The balcony shown in the drawing will be used for fraternity serenading.

It's better to know what you are pledging and I think a person who has been on campus for awhile will know more of what he wants and will not rush into anything he doesn't know much about.

When they come to college they should be old enough to make decisions for themselves. I think it is up to each individual.

I think so after one quarter in school and having a "C" average. This way they know the organizations and the people in them.

I don't think first quarter freshmen should because they don't know enough about college organizations until they have been on campus at least one quarter.

In the long run our college and university life would be greatly enriched both culturally and intellectually by abolition of fraternal organizations and their replacement by more democratic and less segregated or mutually exclusive social organizations.

Letters to the Editor

Political Clubs Ask You To Join

Last year two political clubs were started on this campus, one Republican and one Democrat.

This fall these clubs are continuing their programs. There will be excellent speakers presented by each club, who will explain the purpose of belonging to a political party and the policies and beliefs of their respective parties.

Dear Editor
All Lettermen Aren't Alike

After reading your editorial last week it reminded me very much of when I was a freshman and was given the old treatment—lipstick, chains, the whole bit! Most people are under a pretty mistaken idea of what "lettermen" are. Unfortunately, these boys are all classified together as a bunch of animals or pit rats. This could not be further from wrong. Granted, there is a certain faction of these fellows who are nothing but a melee of glorified waterheads asserting their no-account power and incriminating boys who don't deserve the treatment they are rewarded with. These other lettermen are often above-average students. But these are the boys we never hear about. It's the poorer students who use their brawn to substitute for their lack of gray matter who give the lettermen their rotten reputation.

In regard to the beanie situation I think that this is only a small matter of dissention between the athletes and the rest of the campus. It isn't an exaggeration to say that the whole lettermen's club needs rejuvenation or at least re-evaluation. This club could be one of the most influential organizations on campus because the lettermen even now hold a certain kind of prestige.

In many cases it is the fault of the rest of the students for the attitude held toward the athletes as a group. We are in part responsible for discrediting the "jocks" for anything constructive they do. As I said earlier, there is a certain group who deserve the dirt they are rubbed in. But so are certain factions of other campus organizations.

My point is that the Lettermen's Club deserves to be evaluated individually. More boys deserve more credit than they are now getting and others would be likely to curb their attention getting activities if left alone.

philosophy. If you are undecided on a political party it will be much to your benefit to try to attend meetings held by both clubs.

The first meeting of the ND Young Republicans Club will be held on Oct. 5 at 8 p.m. in rooms 1, 2, and 3 in the Student Union. Mark Andrews, N. Dak. National Republican Committeeman will speak on "Why You Should Join a Political Party."

The first meeting of the ND Young Democrats Club will be held Oct. 5 at 8 p.m. in room 2 of Minard Hall. Curtis Olson, County Dem.-NPL Chairman, will speak on "The Importance of Belonging to a Youth Political Party."

It is hoped that anyone interested will attend these meetings as well as future meetings.

PLACEMENT OFFICE

Government and industrial recruiting representatives will begin visiting the campus for the purpose of conducting employment interviews with graduating students, beginning Wednesday, October 5, 1960. All students intending to participate in these employment interviews this year are reminded to complete registration in the Placement Office immediately.

Wednesday, October 5, 1960

Department of State: A representative of the department will visit the campus to inform students of career opportunities in the United States foreign service. The foreign service urgently requires officers with training in economics, public and business administration as well as those whose major course of study include history, political science, language and area studies, geography, and international affairs.

A group meeting has been scheduled at 4:00 p.m., Wednesday, October 5, in Conference Rooms 1, 2 and 3 of the Student Memorial Union Building. All interested students are invited to attend the meeting and visit with the gentlemen representing the state department.

Thursday, October 6, 1960

Minneapolis Honeywell Regulator Company will seek interviews with physics graduates, electrical, mechanical, and industrial engineers at all degree levels. They offer employment in design and development engineering, quality control, evaluation engineering, sales, manufacturing engineering or industrial engineering.

Research assignments are generally limited to applicants with advanced science degrees. Primary consideration will be given to December and March graduates, however spring graduates with a special interest in Honeywell are welcome.

THE PLEDGE YOU SAVE MAY BE YOUR OWN

Today's column is directed at those young female undergraduates who have recently pledged sororities and are worried, poor lambs, that they won't make good. Following is a list of simple instructions which, if faithfully observed, will positively guarantee that you will be a mad success as a sorority girl.

First, let us take up the matter of housemothers. The housemother is your friend, your guide, your mentor. You must treat her with respect. When you wish to speak to her, address her as "Mother Sigafoos" or "Ma'am." In no circumstances must you say, "Hey, fat lady."

Second, let us discuss laundry. Never hang your wash on the front porch of the sorority house. This is unsightly and shows a want of breeding. Use the Chapter Room.

Third, meals. Always remember that planning and preparing meals for a houseful of healthy girls is no simple task. Your cook goes to a great deal of trouble to make your menu varied and nourishing. The least you can do is show your appreciation. Don't just devour your food; praise it. Exclaim with delight, "What delicious pork jowls!" or "What a yummy soup bone!" or "What scrumptious fish heads!" or "What clear water!"

Fourth, clothing. Never forget that your appearance reflects not just on yourself but on the whole house. It was well enough before you joined a sorority to lounge around campus in your old middy blouse and gym bloomers, but now you must take great pains to dress in a manner which excites admiring comments from all who observe you. A few years ago, for example, there was a Chi Omega named Camille Ataturk at the University of Iowa who brought gobs of glory to all her sorors. Camille hit on the ingenious notion of suiting her garb to the class she was attending. For instance, to English Lit she wore a buskin and jerkin. To German she wore lederhosen and carried a stein of pilsener. To Econ she wore 120 yards of ticker tape. Her shiningest hour came one day when she dressed as a white mouse for Psych Lab. Not only her Chi Omega sisters, but the entire student body went into deep mourning when she was killed by the janitor's cat.

Finally, let us take up the most important topic of all. I refer, of course, to dating.

As we have seen, the way you dress reflects on your sorority, but the men you date reflect even more. Be absolutely certain that your date is an acceptable fellow. Don't beat about the bush; ask him point-blank, "Are you an acceptable fellow?" Unless he replies, "Yeah, hey," send him packing.

But don't just take his word that he is acceptable. Inspect him closely. Are his fingernails clean? Is his black leather jacket freshly oiled? Is his ukelele in tune? Does he carry public liability insurance? And, most significant of all, does he smoke Marlboros?

If he's a Marlboro man, you know he has taste and discernment, wit and wisdom, character and sapience, decency and warmth, presence and poise, talent and grit, filter and flavor, soft pack and flip-top box. You will be proud of him, your sorority will be proud of him, the makers of Marlboro will be proud of him, and I will be paid for this column.

USSR Drivers Tests Are Tough

If you can't tell a drive shaft from a distributor cap, you would never get a driver's license in the Soviet Union.

According to Dr. F. R. Noffsinger, of the Northwestern University Traffic Institute, Soviet citizens must become near-mechanics, and pass rigorous exams before being allowed to drive.

Other observers have noted that a major reason for the stringent tests and the need for mechanical knowledge is that in Russia, unlike the United States, "service" stations are usually 60 to 90 miles apart. They are all government-owned and rarely offer motor oil, water, repair facilities or indoor rest rooms.

Accordingly, and in contrast to the United States where 200,000 service stations and countless garage-fueling facilities compete to meet the needs of our 84 million drivers, Russian motorists must be able to handle highway breakdowns unassisted since they cannot depend on finding convenient service nearby.

Know Engine Construction

To pass the driving tests in Russia, Dr. Noffsinger says, "not only must the applicant know the laws and the meaning of signs and signals, he must know intimately the construction of the engine and the mechanical parts of the car and demonstrate how to make all but major repairs on the car at whatever point they may be needed."

Before applying for a license, Dr. Noffsinger says would-be Russian drivers must be at least 17½ years old and have completed 10 years of schooling.

In addition, each must have a passport (allowing him to travel in Russia itself), must pass a medical examination, present two photographs and show ability to pay for the government driving tests.

50 Hours of Instruction

Then he must undergo 50 hours of special driving instruction, including oral and written exercises, study of mechanics and road practice in a car, a light truck and a heavy truck. This instruction can be taken at a vocational school or from a qualified chauffeur, but a certificate of completion is necessary for the final test.

If he fails the test more than once, the applicant's school certificate is revoked and he must repeat the full 50-hour course again.—From "Oil Facts" pamphlet.

OXFORD AS I SEE IT

If I were founding a university I would found first a smoking room; then when I had a little more money in hand I would found a dormitory; then after that . . . a decent reading room and a library. After that, if I still had more money that I couldn't use, I would hire a professor and get some textbooks.

MSC Enrollment Reaches Over 1600

With over 1600 students taking college course work this fall, and an increase of 62.3% in full-time on-campus enrollment since Dr. John J. Neumaier became president in 1958, Moorhead State College lays claim to being "one of the fastest growing colleges in the upper Midwest."

According to MSC Registrar, Dr. Robert A. Hanson, the full time on-campus enrollment is 1310, compared to last year's record enrollment of 1165 students, with a few late registrations still coming in.

In addition, this year's freshman class, which has reached 500, surpasses last year's record of 458. By comparison, the enrollment in 1957-58 was 807 full-time, on-campus students, with a freshman class of 269.

TKE Fraternity Adds $36,000 Addition To House

Construction was started in early July on a $36,000 addition to the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity house.

The kitchen and dining room in the new building will be located in the basement of the new structure and is expected to be completed for use by the first of October.

The main floor of the structure includes dining room area and housemother's quarters, a huge glass entryway, closets and a storage area.

The new structure has a solid glass window in the back of the addition which will look out on a sunken Oriental garden patio.

Construction is expected to be completed by the first of January.

Deadline For Rhodes Scholarship Set

Candidate applications for Rhodes Scholarships must be filed with the secretary of the state committee not later than Nov. 2, 1960 for scholars-elect, who will enter Oxford University in Oct., 1961, according to NDSC Institutional representative Dr. Leo Hertel, chairman of Modern Languages.

The scholars-elect must be a male citizen of the United States with at least five years' residence and unmarried. The must be between the ages of eighteen and twenty-four on Oct. 1, 1960 and must have at least junior standing. Official endorsement must be made by the NDSC.

The value of Rhodes Scholarship is $750 per year. The scholarship appointment is made for two years, with a possible third year if the scholar's record at Oxford and plan of study warrant such an award. The Rhodes scholar's choice of studies has no restriction.

For more specific details and information interested NDSC students may contact Dr. Leo Hertel, Minard Hall 227.

250 HS Editors Attend Clinic

Over 250 yearbook editors and staff members from 40 North Dakota and Minnesota high schools attended a yearbook clinic last Saturday, Sept. 23 in the Union Ballroom.

Mrs. Agatha Campbell from Oklahoma City conducted the clinic. Topics presented included staff organization, theme, layout, copy and editorial content of the yearbook.

The clinic was sponsored by the NDSC Board of Publications.

BISON BITS

By Sherry Bassin

Tomorrow night the Morningside Maroon Chiefs from Sioux City, Iowa, will be at Dacotah Field to tangle with the winless North Dakota State Bison at 7:30 p.m.

Although Morningside won their first two exhibition games, both teams will be looking for their first win in the NCC.

The game should prove to be a thriller. Both teams seem to be evenly matched and are looking for a place in the NCC win column.

According to reports from Sioux City, the Chiefs are rated as all backfield and no line.

At the beginning of the season they had only one regular lineman; the other six spots were up for grabs. The question is, have the occupants that filled these positions gained adequate experience, or are they still looking for more game time?

In the visitors backfield the story is quite different. The Maroon Chiefs have four of last year's regulars back to supply their offensive power. Among them is Elmer Menage, who galloped 91 yards on a kick-off return last season against the Bison.

So, the Maroon and White Iowans will come to town with a strong, running backfield but with not much up in front. And like Jayne Mansfield, that's where it counts.

As for the Bison, the story is somewhat similar but perhaps brighter. Our offensive backfield, if not as strong as the Chiefs, is better, and our line play has been improving every day out.

Paul Koziey, the "Northern Canuck" may return to the line-up tomorrow night to add more offensive power to the Bison attack. Koziey, who showed early season promise, injured his ribs and has been unable to suit up as of yet.

Last Saturday night, the Bison suffered their third straight loss, 19-7, to Iowa State Teachers College.

The game, played on a wet gridiron, soggy after 48 hours of rain, was marred by six fumbles and five interceptions.

NDSC had four passes intercepted and fumbled twice, while the Panthers fumbled away the ball four times and had one pass intercepted.

The game was played fairly evenly, but was mostly decided on which team capitalized on the opponent's mistakes. Offensively the teams were close: the Bison picked up 236 yards on offense while ISTC moved the ball for 277 yards.

John Eian showed some fine running when he galloped for 61 yards on an off tackle play to score the only Bison touchdown against ISTC. Later in the game he ran for another 53 yards but was stopped short of a TD on the Panther's 12 yard line.

As far as tomorrow night is concerned, just as coach Bob Danielson said, "If we're ever going to start winning, it will be this week."

SC, MSC, Concordia To Hold Golf Meet

Freshmen, transfer students and anyone else interested are invited to participate in an intercity golf meet to be held October 4, at Edgewood Country Club at 1:30 p.m. Colleges participating will be NDSC, MSC and Concordia. Anyone interested is asked to contact Athletic Director Kaiser.

VIEWING INTRAMURALS

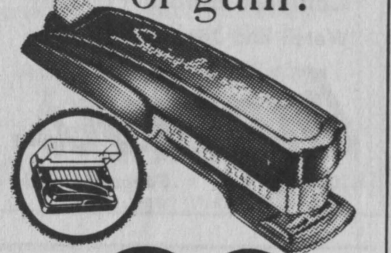

The 1960-61 intra-mural program is under the direction of Ervin Kaiser, director of physical education.

There are enough organizations to merit two leagues, seven teams in the first and six in the second. Organizations out for football are Co-op 1, Alpha Tau Omega, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Sigma Chi, Kappa Psi, Sigma Phi Delta and Farm House in the first league and Co-op 2, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Gamma Rho, Stockbridge Theta Chi and the Student Body in the second league.

Games are to be played Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays and it is requested that everyone be present when their team is to play. Starting next week the results of the preceding week's games will be brought up to date.

For all KDSC listeners — There is a new program every Thursday evening at 6:45 p.m. Ralph Peterson and Sherry Bassin will broadcast their weekly sports show. For a rundown on sports throughout the week, tune in to 750 on your dial every Thursday.
