Conduct Committee Gets Tough

Staff Is Urged To Report Cheating

Editorial

"Honesty is the best policy." Benjamin Franklin thought this little piece of advice so important that he included it with many others in this best seller "Poor Richard's Almanac." It looks like this advice should be equally good for NDSU students, because the student conduct committee is giving notice that it intends to be very, very strict about student conduct is proven dishonest.

"Students found guilty of stealing, mutilating school property or otherwise engaged in dishonest practices will be summarily expelled from the university," the committee states. Last year several students were fined, suspended or expelled for violation of conduct rules. This year the policy is just as firm. Instructors are being urged to report all clear cases of cheating. The library and other instructional staff members are being urged to cooperate with instructors in seeking students who steal books or who.bulits books or who make terms to get paper, source material.

"We expect our students to maintain a high level of academic standards. They must recognize that other students have equal right of access to reference materials. They must know that the work they put into college have on their own, educational achievements." Evan Germaine

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this means to thank the person who edited my answer to Mr. Hendrickson's question of the week, "Should we in this form by Ray Hendrickson, which was included in the December 16th issue of the Spectrum.

"Yes, a national primary would be a good idea. The student's voice in the selection of presidential candidates and hence nothing would be solved. Effective measures would have to be taken to insure the people that the best men are placed in the male's place." Your answer was submitted to the state and is signed by the committee.

Dr. Arnaes Speaks
At Noon Luncheon

"The Development of the Land Grant University" was the topic of discussion at the YM-YWCA Thursday, Noon Luncheon, January 5. Guest speaker was Dr. Hall Arnes, professor and chairperson of education and psychology at NDSU. Dr. Arnes stated that in a strong nation it is impossible not to have some relationship between school system and central government. He discussed the student cooperation problem and the "relationship between rewarding research and rewarding teaching." "The future of the land grant university is magnificent and glorious. People are beginning to recognize the value of an education. Only recently has teaching gotten professional meaning. The university's future depends on staying close to the public, fine teaching and rewarding teaching."

The addition to the Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity house was dedicated by Leo Johnson, director of the NDSU YMCA-YWCA, on Saturday, Jan. 7 at an open house. According to Bruce Ness, chairman of the Board of Control in agriculture, "The man most instrumental in our getting the addition," said Mr. Kasson, "is the man most instrumental in our getting the addition," said Bruce Ness. Mr. Kasson is chairman of the Board of Control in agriculture.

The old building was converted into living quarters for 22 students. It features an "open library" for studying. Forty fraternity men came to school a week early this fall and reshingled the roof, reported TKE Gary Van de Streek. Following the open house the TKE's held their annual Founder's Day Banquet in the NDSU Union Ballroom. National President Don Kaser gave the address.

Gifts were given to TKE Hansen Ormberck, 1959 architecture graduate of NDSU and designer of the house; and to Paul Kasson, "The man most instrumental in our getting the addition," said Bruce Ness. Mr. Kasson is chairman of the Board Control in agriculture extension work at NDSU.

Viewing Intramurals

by Fred Wright

Intramural activities have once again resumed after being inter­rupted by the Christmas recess. Basketball, bowling, and ping pong have all started with a thud and there has been a rush in the personnel of the Intramural Board.

Ed Smith, former president, has resigned and Vice-President How­ard Young has been elevated to his position. Ed Guthrie, ATO rep­resentative, was elected to the position of vice-president at this week’s meeting by a unanimous vote.

A game played between TKE I and Student Body II two weeks ago caused a considerable amount of controversy at last week’s meeting. With ten seconds left in the game, Student Body called time out. At this time they were trailing by one point. The members of the defensive TKE team gathered to discuss their strategy and before they were ready Student Body had scored a basket and won the game by one point.

The controversy arises because the referee, after blowing the whistle, forgot to blow the whistle to start play. Both teams have agreed that the game should be played over at a later date.

The following are the intramural basketball standings as of January 8.

Although the Bison didn’t pick up any points in the win column they put on an excel­lent display of basketball. Both games were undecided until the final minute of play. Although the Bison went down from a 10 point deficit to tie the score with only minutes remaining but were beaten with two free throws and a field goal with only seconds remaining.

The game was a thriller for the full forty minutes which should be as good a reason as any to pack the crowd in at South Da­kota State when the Bison invade Brookings this Saturday.

The exhibition of ball was ex­cellent so I have therefore con­cluded that the “booting” of the crowd was not a show of disapp­roval of the inferior basketball displayed.

After considering the situation I realized the disapproval was directed towards the gentlemen in the black and white striped shirts who were acting in the capacity of officials.

Their disapproval was aroused from the fact that although these individuals were wearing their uniforms of officials they were not performing in such a capacity.

There is no doubt that the man in stripes were not purposely call­ing a one sided game but their inconsistency and unobservance at certain times tended to favor team.

On one particular play with only seconds remaining in the SDCI game and the score 71-71, the of­ficials called a foul on Bison Neal Jacobson. Perhaps the call may have been carried but the man Neal fouled had previously taken three to five steps. Any good football coach would have called it a good off tackle play rather than traveling.

This is just one call, but there were many more that were missed. There is an old saying, “you can always blame it on the refs”, and this is one time we’ll buy that.

NDSU Varsity Bowling Team Win Six In Row

The NDSU varsity bowling team will compete in the Tri-State Con­ference matches to be held Jan­uary 30-21 in Grand Forks at the University of North Dakota. Schools entered besides NDSU are Wahpeton Science, Duluth Branch and NDU.

The Bison will go to the tri­state meet undefeated. They have won six matches in as many con­tests. St. Olaf was the first to fall to the Bison. Jim Anderson, with a 604, was high man for NDSU. River Falls College in Wiscon­sin was defeated by the Bison by 354 points. Jim Anderson and Larry Paulson both bowled over 600 with a 666 and 632 respective­ly.

La Crosse State was the sec­ond Wisconsin team to fall to NDSU.
“HONOR SYSTEM SHOULD STAY” says Raymond Scheets as he gives his vote to George Dzemeland. Agriculture students decided to continue the honor system in their department.

School of Agriculture Students Vote To Continue Honor System

Students in the School of Agriculture at NDSU voted in favor of the continuance of the honor system in the agricultural department.

Peder A. Nystuen, assistant dean of agriculture and short course director, confirmed the results of the voting as 89.4 percent or 225 "yes" votes and 10.6 percent or 24 "no" votes. Only the students enrolled in the School of Agriculture were eligible to vote.

Nystuen stated, "unless the student government forwards a petition signed by 25 percent of the students in the School of Agriculture to call for a referendum this system could be brought before the Honor Case Commission whose job is to enforce honesty. This commission consists of two students from each school and one graduate student.
