Display of Replica Space Balloon Echo To Be Exhibited During NDSU Sharivar

Sharivar's co-chairmen, Bruce Anderson and Ona Carlson, have announced that a former NDSU student has made possible a display of a 10-foot replica of the space balloon Echo to be exhibited on campus during the three day event, Apr. 21-23.

The model's prototype, a 100-foot aluminized plastic balloon is still hurtling through space since its launching seven months ago. The large Echo "satelloon" is used as a reflector for radio signals by the National Aeronautics and Space Agency.

Gilmore T. Schjeldahl, who studied at NDSU from 1937 to 1943, is president of the G. T. Schjeldahl company, the manufacturers of the space balloon. It was to this plastics company that the National Aeronautics and Space Agency turned for help when Project Echo became stalled for lack of an adequate adhesive to hold together the 82 gores of the balloon. The Schjeldahl Company, using principles it had developed in making other balloons for government and scientific use, came up with the right adhesive to hold the balloon together at the extreme temperatures of outer space.

Another NDSU student was also partly responsible for the successful launching of the original Echo. As the "Satelloon" was tossed into space at Cape Canaveral, Eldred Frantsvog, a 1959 electrical engineering graduate of NDSU, and another engineer stood by in a lab 1500 miles away in Holmdel, N. J.

In his lab Frantsvog tape recorded the first message to be reflected off the aluminum coated balloon, a message that began, "This is President Eisenhower. . ."

Since Echo's launching hundreds of experimental message-bouncings have been made on its shiny, mirror-like surface. Space experts hope the project will be the nucleus for the development of a system of satellites for reflecting and relaying communications.

Someone Said Spring Has Sprung!

SU Junior Dies Unexpectedly

NDSU student, Arlene Kalk, died unexpectedly at a Fargo hospital Mar. 8 from a cerebral hemorrhage.

A physician was called when Miss Kalk was stricken Mar. 7 in her home at 709 15th Ave. N. Her breathing had stopped but after artificial respiration had been applied, she resumed breathing.

She was taken to the hospital where she died the next morning.

Miss Kalk was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Kalk. She was a junior physical education major at NDSU and a member of Gamma Phi Beta. Miss Kalk, a graduate of Fargo High, was treasurer of the NDSU Physical Education Club and a member of Immanuel Lutheran Church.

Have you ever wished that you hadn't accepted a responsibility? I almost hoped that wishes would come true last Tuesday night when we were trying to put out this issue. Actually, it wasn't that bad but it certainly was different having this responsibility on my shoulders.

Hats off to Evanne Grommesh who did a tremendous job as editor. One thing puzzles me though Evanne, how did you ever find time to read your fan mail? Having only had this job a week already I've read a stack of letters about two feet high from important company's too—such as the hereford association, the swine association, the oil association and the national broadcasting company informing me when Ernie Ford was going to appear on TV.

With the beginning of a new quarter the SPECTRUM staff is anxious to get started on the right foot. Therefore a few points need to be re-emphasized. Read them carefully.

DEADLINE—All news copy must be in to the office by Monday noon. If this deadline cannot be met, contact the editor or news-editor. As much copy as possible would be appreciated on Fridays. All copy should be typewritten and double spaced.

LETTER TO EDITOR—Persons writing letters should limit them to not more than 250 words. Both students and faculty are encouraged to make use of this column. Remember, letters need not always be of criticism.

GUEST EDITORIALS—Faculty members are especially encouraged to write guest editorials on topics either relevant to the university or of interest to the student body.

CIRCULATION—Due to the fact that the circulation of our paper has not been very successful in the past we are revising the delivery schedule. Starting Friday, Mar. 24, the papers for married students will be delivered to the student courts. This is the work of Spectrum Staff member Ron Ginsbach.

The papers will be delivered to the following places in each court. Bison Court: all three laundry units; North Court: to boxes beside the following units: A street—unit 22; B street—unit 19; C street—unit 19; D street—unit 18; E street—unit 16; Stadium Court and West Court: the center laundry units.

One paper for each student will be delivered to each station. All married students are urged to pick up their papers at their respective stations.

The SPECTRUM would appreciate hearing the reactions of the married students on this new policy. More changes are to be announced later.

★ As a sideline observer I noticed somebody had fun early Monday morning. I always thought the mall looked more complete with a car stationed by the flag pole. After much dismay, the owner, I presume, finally persuaded someone to help him push it off.

★ Guess the Monday night dance was a tremendous success—all of three students attended.

★ It's Happy Scum Week for some fellows. Hmmm, that makes for an interesting conversational piece.

You Can Escape N. D.; Attend South Pacific

I think it is a good idea because it is a university's obligation to provide a liberal education.

WHY NOT! We've tried everything else.

I think that a co-educational dorm at NDSU would definitely boost the student morale — and the enrollment.

WOW!

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Last Saturday, Mar. 11, I took in Hal Holbrook's Mark Twain Tonight at MSC's Weld Hall. This is not the first nor the last time that I have or will enjoy a fine evening of entertainment. Of course, MSC is more of a liberal art school than we are, but there is a smaller student body to attend their Fine Art series, still there is a much better turn out a very worthwhile as well as entertaining performance.

of students. Perhaps the artists that perform there are better, but I doubt that this is the main reason. Most of our students just don't care for this type of an education.

NDSU Gets OK For Three More Dorms

by Frank Vyzralek

When it rains, it pours!!! A week or so ago, the 1961 legislature authorized the Board of Higher Education to issue revenue bonds totaling $2,100,000 for three more dormitories at NDSU. These include two women's residences and a men's dorm at $700,000 each.

This brings to a grand total of six the number of dormitories we have received permissive legislation upon, including Reed and Burgum Halls, the two to be built in the near future.

So the stage is set. We have permission to build all the dormitories we can foreseeably need within the next twenty or more years. Now, let us hope they can be worked properly into the campus master plan. After all, when they're built, we're going to be stuck with them for a long, long time!

Since there is not too large a number of students that are really interested in seeing this sort of presentation, why couldn't some sort of reciprocal arrangement be made to allow the students of MSC and NDSU and perhaps Concordia to attend each others Lyceum series? I'm sure that both the professors concerned and the students interested would be in favor of such an opportunity. I don't think that the cooperation between the schools would be any harm.

I'm sure the rest of the people that saw Mr. Holbrook would agree, last Saturday evening was

Dear Editor:

During the quarter break a small number of students engaged in an experiment. At the SAE Fraternity the neophytes were involved in an orientation week.

I had the privilege of being a part of this week's orientation program. The SAE's are to be commended for this new experiment.

Fraternities who are thinking seriously of their responsibility to the university, ought to investigate this program. A lot of work went into the plans and it was well worth the effort. I hope the SAE's have set a precedent on this campus for pledge orientation.

"LOVE IN REVERSE"

They met. His heart leapt. "I love you," he cried.
"Me, too, hey," she cried.
"Tell me," he cried, "are you a girl of expensive tastes?"
"No, hey," she cried, "I am a girl of simple tastes."
"Good," he cried, "for my cruel father sends me an allowance barely large enough to support life."
"Money does not matter to me," she cried. "My tastes are simple, my wants are few. Just take me riding in a long, new, yellow convertible and I am content."
"Goodbye," he cried, and ran away as fast as his chubby little legs could carry him, for he had no convertible, nor the money to buy one, nor the means to get the money, short of picking up his stingy father by the ankles and shaking him till his wallet fell out.
He knew he must forget this girl but, lying on his pallet at the dormitory, whimpering and moaning, he knew he could not.
At last an idea came to him: though he did not have the money to buy a convertible, perhaps he had enough to rent one!
Hope reborn, he rushed at once to an automobile rental company and rented a yellow convertible for $10 down plus 10¢ a mile, and with many a laugh and cheer drove away to pick up the girl.

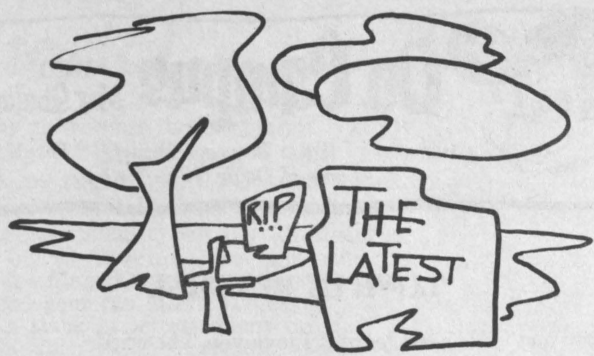

"Oh, goody," she said when she saw the car. "This suits my simple tastes to a 'T'. Come, let us speed over rolling highways and through bosky dells."
And away they drove. All that day and night they drove and finally, tired but happy, they parked high on a windswept hill.
"Marlboro?" he said.
"Yum yum," she said.
They lit up. They puffed with deep contentment. "You know," he said, "you are like a Marlboro—mild and fresh and relaxing."
"But there is a big difference between Marlboro and me," she said, "because I do not have a Selectrate filter nor do I come in soft pack or flip-top box."
They laughed. They kissed. He screamed.
"What is it, my dear," she cried, alarmed.
"Look at the speedometer," he said. "We have driven 200 miles and this car costs 10¢ a mile and I have only $20 left."
"But that's exactly enough," she said.
"Yes," he said, "but we still have to drive home."
They fell into a profound gloom. He started the motor and backed out of the parking place.
"Hey, look!" she said. "The speedometer doesn't move when you're backing up."
He looked. It was true. "Eureka!" he cried. "That solves my problem. I will drive home in reverse. Then no more miles will register on the speedometer and I will have enough money to pay!"
"I think that's a marvelous idea," she said, and she was right. Because today our hero is in the county jail where food, clothes and lodging are provided free of charge and his allowance is piling up so fast that he will have enough money to take his girl riding again as soon as he is released.

Many Receive Polio Shots; Well Fellows, This is How it Works!

One hundred forty-two NDSU students received polio shots during the month of February," states Miss Myrtle Johnson, head nurse at the student health center.

Miss Johnson added that they did not expect a larger student turn-out for the Salk vaccine because student health records show that most of the students on campus have had their fourth booster shot.

SEASON STARTS JUNE 1

"We are concerned about the students who have not had any of the polio vaccine," explained Dr. Oliver Sedlak, the health center's chief medical officer. These students are urged to begin the injections right away so they will acquire some degree of immunization before the polio season which begins around June 1.

"We can't force people to have polio shots," stated Dr. Sedlak, "but when something like Salk vaccine is offered to the public, it is for their own health protection. People are foolish to take the chance of being paralyzed by polio."

Active immunization with a formalin treated vaccine received an extensive field trial in 1954. It is estimated that this preparation is 68% effective against preventing paralytic poliomyelitis due to type one and 80-90% effective against types two and three.

NEED FOUR SHOTS

The vaccine is given in two injections two to four weeks apart followed by a third booster dose after seven months. The fourth booster shot is given one year after the third shot and in case of an epidemic another booster shot would be required.

The cost of one injection of the polio vaccine at the student health center is $1.50.

Research plays a most important part in the life of Sandra Judd, AAS soph.

Majoring in zoology at NDSU, Sandra was a recipient of the North Dakota Institute for Regional Studies scholarship last May. She is presently working out the structure of early larval stages of fresh water crustaceans.

This program is under the supervision of Dr. Gabriel Comita, NDSU zoology professor, who recently was awarded a National Science Foundation grant. The three year grant is being used to study copepods, microscopic aquatic animals related to shrimp.

Prior to this project Sandra worked on a most unique research experiment. This project was carried out at the Psychological Research Laboratory at the University of Wisconsin last summer where she was enrolled for a summer school session.

Working under a graduate student who was working on his master's degree, Sandra helped carry out projects concerned with the affectionate responses of rhesus monkeys toward surrogate mothers.

It was part of her job to clean cages, complete data and run tests on the rhesus monkey.

Sandra explained that rhesus monkeys were used in the tests because they are physiologically the same as humans.

The surrogate mothers were nothing more than cylindrical shaped body and head made of wire and wood situated on an inclined plane and covered with terry cloth. Sandra stated that the monkeys loved the surrogate mother as though it were real—the monkeys never saw their real mothers.

Sandra stated that she learned much about research last summer, the way it's carried on and how people think of ideas on which to base experiments.

What about the future? Of course, it's research and graduate school for Sandra!

Fargo Eagles Establish Fund

A scholarship to assist students at NDSU has been established by the Fraternal Order of Eagles, Fargo Aerie 153. The NDSU Alumni Achievement Foundation will take charge of the scholarship fund.

The gift provides for a $120 annual award to an NDSU student, on the basis of need, scholarship and citizenship. The Eagles fund is the first contribution for scholarships received by the recently-established foundation, according to Howard Fraser, executive secretary of the Foundation. Fraser described the gift as "a big assist" in getting the foundation's program started.

The foundation handles funds for scholarships, student loans, research and distinguished professorship awards at NDSU.

One of the best investments you'll ever make...

You know what you invest in advanced ROTC ... two years of classroom time and outside study.

But just see how handsomely your investment pays off.

First and foremost, there's the proud moment in Graduation Week when the gold bars of a Second Lieutenant are pinned on your Army uniform ... and deep inside the warm sense of accomplishment at having made it.

There's immediate help in meeting expenses

... a subsistence allowance of $535 for the two-year advanced ROTC course. Uniforms and military textbooks paid for. $117 for your six-week summer camp training, plus travel allowance. And when you're commissioned, a $330 uniform allowance.

You discharge your military obligation with the traditional rank, pay, privileges and responsibilities of an officer in the United States Army.

And later, when you're starting your climb up the civilian ladder, advanced ROTC will still be paying off. Success in the executive areas of business and industry comes earlier and more substantially to the man who can lead. Few are born leaders; but leadership can be learned. And advanced ROTC is a great place to learn it.

Talk with the Professor of Military Science at your school. Learn more about advanced ROTC. Ask particularly about the ROTC course in Leadership, with its practical experience in command responsibilities.

UCCF Members View Experiment At U of Texas

Three members of the UCCF group and director Rev. Robert Siberry visited the Faith and Life Community located on the University of Texas campus at Austin Mar. 3-12.

The purpose of the trip made by members Jean Tongen, LaVon Hoffman and Mary Hinz was a study of the community to gain ideas the local UCCF group can use in their program.

The community is an experimental, ecumenical group of students living together and carrying out a program of theological study in addition to their regular studies. Students participating hope to accomplish an internal renewal of the church by developing leadership ability to create a new vision of the church and her mission in the 20th century society.

Leaders of the community have set up additional education programs for local laymen, parish clergy and campus pastors. These lay programs attempt to share the insights and experiences gained from the experimental programs carried on by the community.

The delegation also visited additional campus centers gathering new ideas for expanding and vitalization of the campus program.

UCCF or United Campus Christian Fellowship Center is located at 1130 College Street.

$12,785. Grant Awarded NDSU Receives Science Grant

A $12,785 grant has been awarded to NDSU by the National Science Foundation, to conduct a Summer Science Training Program for High-Ability Secondary School Students, according to NDSU President Fred S. Hultz.

The training program at NDSU will be administered by Harold Heggenes, assistant professor of chemistry. Advisor and coordinator for the program is Dr. F. L. Minnear, acting dean of the NDSU College of Chemical Technology.

The eight-week training session will extend from June 12 through Aug. 5. Purpose of the program is to provide academically talented high school upperclassmen with experiences in science and mathematics beyond those normally available in high school courses. The program will also bring the students into direct contact with college teachers and researchers of recognized competence.

NDSU is one of 158 colleges and universities participating in the program, which is being carried on a large scale for the first time this year. Nationally, about 7,000 high school students will participate. Some 30 students can be accommodated in the program at NDSU.

Students will be selected for the program on the basis of their interest and ability to profit from the special courses in the program.

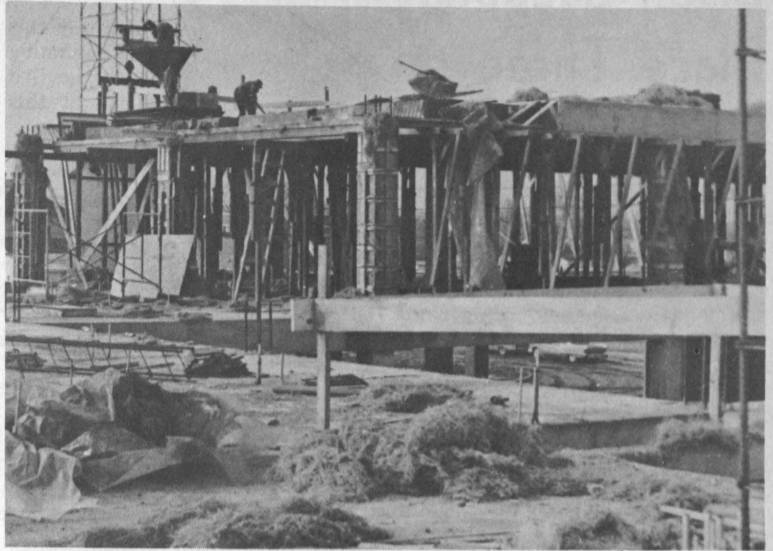

Cost of tuition and instructional supplies and facilities will be paid by the National Science Foundation. The only fee to the student will be for about half the cost of room and board.

"The program will provide a good opportunity for talented high school students interested in science and science careers to apply this interest in doing study and research work," Dean Minnear said. "The students will have a chance to work alongside scientists and to gain firsthand experience."

The program's content will be aimed at students who are interested in science careers. Participants will be required to take five courses, including: functional mathematics, basic concepts in chemistry, basic physical principles, outstanding concepts and experiments in biology, and library science.

Students interested in the program should write to Professor Heggenes at NDSU.

The Future Walster Hall

WORK IS PROCEEDING RAPIDLY on Walster Hall, the new agriculture science building. Workmen are shown here pouring concrete for the top story. The building is expected to be completed by Sept. 1, 1961.

Ag Science Building Progresses Rapidly

Work is proceeding rapidly on NDSU's new agricultural science building. The structure is located directly west and across the street from Sudro Hall in the northwest corner of the campus.

When completed, the building will be named Walster Hall in honor of H. L. Walster, a former dean of agriculture at NDSU.

It is being constructed of reinforced concrete with a red brick facing.

The work was delayed somewhat when excavation uncovered two old silo bottoms. One was filled in with a minimum of difficulty. The other, dating back to the school's early days or before, was seemingly bottomless. It had to be completely dug out and filled in with concrete before the foundations could be poured.

Walster Hall will house five different departments on its three floors. The first floor has been assigned as offices and laboratories for the department of soils. The main floor will be occupied by the department of agronomy and crops laboratories. Animal husbandry, plant pathology and horticulture will be housed on the top story.

The structure is being built with a $750,000 appropriation from the state legislature. Money left over when the building is completed will be used to buy equipment for the laboratories it will house.

Viewing Intramurals

by Fred Wright

Softball will get under way this week thus marking the beginning of spring intra-mural sports. All rosters and fees are due at this Monday's meeting at 4:15 p.m.

Tennis will start within the next several weeks with rosters and fees due Monday, Mar. 27.

Student Body took a good share of the basketball honors as two of their teams finished first and second. SAE's second team took third place and ATO's third team gained fourth place.

A new type of problem arose at this last week's meeting of the Intramural Board. It was discovered that Student Body has been participating in intramural activities even though they are not a formal organization on this campus.

One of the basic rules of intramurals is that th geroup participating must be a formal organization on campus. For example, Greeks, independents and the Chemistry or Pharmacy Club would all be considered under the class of organizations.

In this partiular case, it was decided that Student Body should be able to keep the trophies which they received in basketball because, after all they did win them. The trophies will go to individual members of the teams since there is no house.

Teams competing in intramurals in the future should make certain that they belong to an organization from NDSU.

Bison Nine Will Open At Augustana On April 21

Seven of the games will be played in Fargo.

The 1961 schedule:

Dakota State (two games) at Fargo, Apr. 29—South Dakota State at Fargo, May 1—Bemidji State at Bemidji, Minn., May 13—U. of North Dakota (two games) at Grand Forks, May 18—Concordia College at Fargo.

Bachmeier Dominates Cage Statistics

Final 1960-61 basketball statistics at NDSU were dominated for the third straight year by Little All-American Marvin Bachmeier.

Official statistics released last week showed that Bachmeier led his Bison teammates in field goals scored and percentage, free throws scored and percentage, and total points. Lynden Langen was the leading rebounder.

The Bison finished their season splitting their traditional series with the University of North Dakota.

The split enabled the Bison to finish fourth in the North Central Conference, with a record of five wins and seven losses. Overall, the Bison won 11 and lost 14.

B. C. "Charlie" Bentson loses only two members from his 1960-61 squad — Bachmeier and reserve forward Harold Anderson.

Bachmeier this season scored 520 points in 24 games, an average of 21.7 a game. He made 183 of 410 field goal attempts for 44.6 per cent and 154 of 203 free throw attempts for 75.8 per cent. Roger Erickson and Wayne Langen were tied for second in field goal percentage with 43.5 per cent. Wayne Langen trailed Bachmeier in free throw shooting with 74.2 per cent on 49 of 66 attempts made.

Lynden Langen led Bison rebounders with an average of 8 rebounds a game. Wayne Langen averaged 7.8 a game and Erickson 7.6.

Ken Lehr was second in scoring with an average of 9.7 points a game.

As a team, the Bison established two records this season. Their 40 per cent field goal percentage surpassed the record 38.9 percentage shot by the 1960 team, and 39 field goals scored by the team against Morningside topped the old standard of 38 established against Concordia in 1953 and Iowa Teachers in 1955.

BISON BITS

by Sports Editor Sherry Bassin

The North Dakota State University basketball team wound up its season play during quarter break with a split in the final two games of the traditional "U" Series.

The split enabled the Bison to gain fourth place in the final North Central Conference standings.

It was quite a year for coach Charlie Bentson and his Buffaloes. A year filled with "hot" and "cold" spells. And when they were cold they were very very cold, but when they were hot, they were blazing.

The first night at Eskimo land the Bison looked as if they went to the Forks to ice fish rather than play ball. The second night they played as if they pioneered the game.

Early season injuries played a definite role in limiting the Bison success in '60-61.

Injuries plus inexperience was a factor with the Bison this year and only time was its cure. But, with this in mind, Coach Bentson was able to strengthen his bench.

The Langen brothers, Sperlings, Babbys, Jacobsons, Ericksons, Johnsons, and Andersons of early season, were a different group of ball players when the end of season play came around.

On a southern trip it was junior guard Bert Sperling who came off the bench and led our team to victory.

In a game before our hometown fans, forward Neal Jacobson and guard Lloyd Babby were the boys who proved to be the difference for the Bison. Then in the last game Larry Johnson found the basket for 24 points.

There is one particular bad memory that prevails throughout the 1960-61 Bison season. The fact that All American Marv Bachmeier was playing his last year of college ball.

Here and there... It was nice to see the South Dakota State College Jackrabbits defeat top ranked Prairie View in the playoffs... This must say a lot for the calibre of play in the North Central Conference.

Track Athletes Plan 12 Meets For The Season

Track and field athletes at NDSU will compete in four indoor and eight outdoor meets during 1961, according to the schedule announced today by Athletic Director Les Luymes.

Coach Tom Neuberger's squad will open its season tomorrow, Saturday, March 18, by competing in the Winnipeg Indoor Meet.

Two of the outdoor meets will be held at Dacotah Field in Fargo — the Bison-Jaycee meet on May 6, and the Inter-City Meet on May 17.

The 1961 schedule:

Mar. 18 — Winnipeg Indoor Meet at Winnipeg, Canada

Outdoor Tips

From The Ancient Age Sportsman Idea Exchange

Fishing

The trouble with bait is that little fish like it as well as lunkers. Here's a way to sneak it by the small fry before they have a chance to steal it. When using a mayfly larvae or similar bait, you can get it to deep water fast by hanging a fence staple on the hook. This protects the bait and a slight jerk will dislodge it when you're down where the big ones hang out.

This one's for eel fishermen. Eels are slippery and tough to unhook. Here's how. Take a regular metal bucket and run a wire across the top attaching it to the bases of the handle. Hold your eel above the bucket. When its tail touches the wire it will wrap around and hold tight. Thus, the eel will help you get out the hook. How do you get the eel loose? Just let go. He'll drop into the bucket.

Hunting

If your duck decoys are all banged up a coat of paint will make them more attractive—to you if not the ducks. Here's the tip. While the paint is still wet, brush in a small amount of powdered pumice stone. The pumice stone will absorb any glare from the new paint. Now the stools will attract ducks as well as people.

How many running deer have you shot at and missed? Next time you see one speeding across an open field, hold your fire. When the deer gets to the edge he will pause just before entering the cover. Then your shot will be at a standing target—no excuse for a miss.

Boating

If you're not much at splicing rope you probably tie a knot in the end to keep it from unraveling. Here's a better way. Twist the end of the rope open and fill with any contact cement. Twist it back into shape and dip the tip in the cement, about a half-inch or so. After it has dried the tip will remain pliable and won't unravel.

Sporting Dogs

If your dog objects to eating his dog food dry try this. Add one or two tablespoons of cod liver oil and mix it in. Watch Rover lap it up.

Some dogs object to being penned up and are constantly digging out from under. This trick should stop them and put an end to the bad habit. Bury some rocks about three inches below the surface running along the edge of the fence. If he still gets out, then he deserves his freedom.

Two approaches to the "man's deodorant" problem

If a man doesn't mind shaving under his arms, he will probably find a woman's roll-on satisfactory. Most men, however, find it simpler and surer to use Mennen Spray Deodorant. Mennen Spray was made to get through to the skin, where perspiration starts. And made to work all day. More men use Mennen Spray than any other deodorant. How about you? 60¢ and $1.00 plus tax

Spanish Dancers Appear in Last of Lyceum Series

Jose Greco, the world's foremost Spanish dancer, and his company of thirty dancers, singers and musicians were the last attraction in the annual NDSU Lyceum Series Mar. 16.

Greco, a naturalized American, was born in a small Italian village where his early life was spiced with medieval flavoring. His dance talents became evident when he was a boy as he attempted to imitate the dances native to his birthplace.

Even after he began appearing

THE SPECTRUM
NORTH DAKOTA STATE UNIVERSITY

professionally, Jose Greco continued his concentrated study of the Spanish people, their history and politics, art and literature. Thereby he is more capable to effectively interpret the Spanish dance forms.

Jose Greco formed his own company in 1948. Carmen More was the featured soloist with Greco this season.

NDSU students viewed the "world's finest male Spanish dancer" perform with widest possible range of mood, tempo, pattern and character of the Spanish dance.

Jose Greco has been on the Ed Sullivan Show as well as in the Mike Todd production "Around the World in Eighty Days." Recently he and his dancers filmed "Dances of Spain" for Walt Disney.
