Board Asked To Reconsider Dorm Sites

A resolution asking the North Dakota Board of Higher Education to reconsider its decision to build two proposed dormitories at presently planned locations on the campus was adopted Monday night by the NDSU chapter of the American Association of University Professors.

The resolution, which was adopted unanimously, has been forwarded to the state board.

It was in support of a petition forwarded to the Campus Planning Committee several weeks which was signed by about 115 NDSU faculty members.

A major statement on the dormitory question was presented before the meeting by Earl E. Stewart, associate professor of architecture, a member of the campus planning committee. Stewart is also executive director of the Fargo Urban Renewal Agency.

500 FHA'ers Invade SU For Annual Convention

More than 500 high school students are attending the 16th annual convention of the Future Homemakers of America organization today and tomorrow at NDSU, according to Miss Majore Lovering, State FHA advisor.

FHA members from throughout the state are taking part in a two-day program. State officers, state officers-elect and district presidents arrived Thursday for a pre-convention meeting.

Theme for the two-day session is "Home the Hub of Good Citizenship." Presiding is Kathy Kunkel, Bottineau, state president.

Registration was held this morning prior to the opening session. C. A. Sevrinson, dean of students, addressed the group.

Dean of Home Economics Caroline Budewig and four NDSU students, Diana Herman, Marjorie Odegard, Jacqueline Olson and Carole Nelson, took part in a panel discussion "What's My Line as a Home Economist."

NDSU sororities will play host to the FHA'ers as they tour the campus. Visitors will also tour the home economics building.

Announcement of awards will be made at the evening banquet at the Elks Club. Diane Sayer, state vice president, Wahpeton, will emcee the program. Joan Percy, American Field Service Exchange Student, Fargo High, will talk on "Home Life in New Zealand."

Special awards will be given during the program, including the state homemaker degrees, honorary memberships and the announcement of honor roll chapters and the Phi Upsilon Omicron Award to the outstanding chapter.

The meeting will resume Saturday in Festival Hall, and exchange student Karla Schwarz will speak on "Home Life in my Country Germany." Dr. Catherine Cater of Moorhead State Teachers College will address the group on "Citizenship and You." The conference will close with the installation of new officers.

Assisting with the general arrangement for the convention are the NDSU home economics staff and Tryota, the NDSU home economics club.

Hazen Named Acting SU Veep

Arlon G. Hazen was named acting vice president of NDSU at a meeting of the State Board of Higher Education in Fargo Tuesday, Mar. 28.

Hazen will carry on the administrative duties in the absence of President Hultz in addition to continuing as Dean of the College of Agriculture and Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station.

Joining the staff of NDSU in 1946, Hazen served as superintendent of the Williston Branch Experiment Station before being appointed assistant director of the Experiment Station in 1951. He was named acting dean and director in 1956. Since May, 1957, he has been Dean of the College of Agriculture and Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station.

Dean Hazen has done research in the fields of irrigation, dry land farming, farm structures and was instrumental in the development and use of specialized testing equipment in the field of agricultural engineering.

Is It Too Late... To Save This View?

A NEW GIRL'S DORMITORY is proposed for erection soon between the spot where this photo was snapped and "Old Main". This structure, the first building on NDSU campus, symbolizes NDSU to every one of the thousands of graduates.

The proposed new dormitory will, if constructed, block much of the off-campus view of this historic landmark of higher education.

Pressmen To Receive Preview Of Sharivar Displays Today

With much hustle and concentrated effort a preview of Sharivar '61 will be given to pressmen from throughout the state this afternoon at a coffee hour to be held in the Union ballroom.

The editors are in Fargo for their annual state convention and as guests of Sharivar will tour the Cereal Technology laboratory. They will view displays from each college at the coffee hour and learn about the highlights of Sharivar 1961 set for Apr. 21-23.

Members of the North Dakota Press Association, with representatives from WDAY, KXJB, KXGO, KVOX, KUTT, Associated Press, United Press International, Fargo Forum, Red River Scene, Agriculture Information Office, KDSC, and Spectrum and Bison editors will attend.

The special coffee hour for the press is intended to publicize Sharivar's open house as well as show NDSU to the people of the state. Bruce Anderson, Sharivar co-chairman, commenting on the activities stated that this year's Sharivar promises to be a fine success. He pointed out that much work is yet to be done.

"I cannot emphasize enough the importance of students working both here and off campus. Every student should be writing home about Sharivar NOW and plan to be on campus when the weekend actually arrives," Bruce urged.

How many people off campus have you contacted about Sharivar? What are you doing for Sharivar on campus? Displays? Tour guide? Host or hostess?

If you are not yet working on Sharivar contact the co-chairmen of your school, or Bruce Anderson at AD 2-4828, Ona Carlson at AD 5-4137.

This View Also Is Slated to Go... MINARD HALL, CENTER OF ARTS AND SCIENCE instruction at NDSU for 60 years, will be blocked from off campus view from the south, if the proposed men's dorm is built between Minard Hall and Twelfth Avenue.

Student Killed In Car Mishap

John H. Western, 20, a North Dakota State University student was killed on Mar. 30 on U.S. 81 in south Fargo. In fair condition at a Fargo hospital are two friends of Western, David Grover and Bruce Clauson, both 20, who are in the U.S. Navy.

Western's death was due to a crushed chest and death was instantaneous. Police reported that Clauson, driver and owner of the car, hit the concrete lane-divider on U.S. 81 south of Fargo.

All three youths were from Ashby, Minn. Western was a junior in the school of chemistry and had lived at Dakota Hall on the NDSU campus and had moved recently to south Fargo. He was a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity and the Chemistry Club.

Editorial

When is "Too Late?" This probably is the most pressing of several questions that confront the campus community with regard to the proposed location of two new dorms right where they will block the best off-campus view of two of NDSU's oldest and most historic buildings, Old Main, age 70, and Minard Hall, now in its 60th year of service to North Dakota.

View, of course, is only one of the losses which will result if the buildings are summarily constructed without a re-examination of policy and the airing of criticism.

What we are concerned with here is the "Too Lateness" tune that has been sounded around this campus with regard to the dorms ever since before name change.

It is true that proposals to re-examine the dorm locations were made to alumni before name change. Action on these was deferred because "it might adversely affect the name change." Since then, the answers made to inquiries about "why not change the locations?" have been as varied as they are unsupportable, with the refrain sounding like a funeral dirge for historic campus views, "It's too late to do anything now."

We agree that interest of students, faculty members, alumni and taxpayers has been late in developing. But it has developed.

More than 115 faculty members signed a petition requesting reconsideration. A good many more faculty members would have signed it, had they been asked. Some sparks are glowing among student leaders, too.

Alumni action has come in the form of a front page editorial in a Fargo-Moorhead community newspaper, also asking a reconsideration. The Fargo Forum has carried detailed stories.

Now, the SPECTRUM puts forth this proposal: Six dormitories have been authorized for NDSU. Each requires a location. The other locations may not be open to so much question.

Let's build our two new dorms on a couple of other locations and reserve the contested sites until the Campus Planning Committee, the Twin Cities consultant group and the Board of Higher Education have heard the faculty and students and have questioned a few of North Dakota's architects, historians, park planners and educators on this matter.

It will be "too late" only if the two buildings go up as planned, and remain as blemishes to the campus for half a hundred years.

If Location Change Is Made Now-- Dorms Could Be Started In July

by Frank Vyzralek

The question of changing the locations of the two new dormitories seems to devolve into one problem—how long would construction be delayed should it be decided to change locations.

According to Sherwood Barrow, assistant business manager, who has been handling most of the details with the federal agency that will be financing the construction, the delay would be "not less than two months."

This would include resurveying, reboring, redesign of footings and foundations and modification of a number of legal details.

This means that if the decision to change the sites were made within this next week, construction would begin early in July of this year. Since the project is considered to be a "14 month project," the buildings should be completed by Sept., 1962, if work went along according to schedule. This would coincide very closely with the beginning of Fall quarter, 1962.

Also of interest concerning the dormitory controversy is the statement on NDSU campus planning read before a meeting of the AAUP last Monday night by Earl E. Stewart, associate professor of architecture. The story of the meeting appears on page 1.

The statement sheds new light on the situation. Stewart, a member of the Campus Planning Committee and executive director of the Fargo Urban Renewal Agency states, in part, "The Campus Planning Committee appointed by the President, of which I am a member, serves in an advisory capacity to the President and has no authority. It is not necessary for the President to obtain approval from the Campus Committee prior to making recommendations to the North Dakota Board of Higher Education."

"However, I am certain that all campus planning matters are thoroughly discussed between the President and the Professional Planning Consultant prior to requesting approval of building sites by the Board of Higher Education."

"It is therefore reasonable to assume that decisions leading to presently planned sites for the location of new campus dormitory facilities were based upon advice from the Professional Planning Consultant."

Stewart went on to list points for and against the planned dormitory sites.

In favor of the planned location of the new women's dorm he cited it as a convenient location for girls in going to and from library and dining facilities.

Against it he listed such points as presenting new supervision problems by separating women's housing accommodations, establishing a precedent toward future placement of additional housing facilities in that area, it would eliminate the site for future expansion of non-housing facilities.

He also stated that it would destroy a historically significant part of the campus and would present problems if the city of Fargo continues with plans to connect 12th avenue with interstate highway 29 to the west and builds a bridge over the Red River on the east, making the street a heavily traveled thoroughfare.

In favor of the planned location of the men's dorm, Stewart said it would be a convenient location for men in going to and from the library and dining facilities.

Against the location he listed these points: It would eliminate the possibility of future expansion of Arts and Sciences to the south, it would create a crowded condition due to the close proximity to Minard Hall and would eliminate a large share of the existing off-street parking for Arts and Sciences.

KEY IDEAS

A BLUE KEY MEMBER SPEAKS

by Bruce Anderson

This week I am going to depart from the usual line of thought expressed in this column. As you may have noticed, the trend has been to be critical of just about every subject touched upon. This, I hope, served to make students more aware of the problems which exist on our campus.

However, there are some points about our students which require praise. One of these is the efforts of the cast and crew of SOUTH PACIFIC.

When the plan of dropping the competitive Bison Brevities was first revealed, pity was expressed by many for Blue Key. The general opinion seemed to be that the expense involved in obtaining the production rights for SOUTH PACIFIC would be money wasted, since college students weren't going to take time to work 30 hours a week for six weeks on a musical. Brevities was something different—there groups were competing and all the hours put into practices might result in a trophy for the house.

Well, it seems as though all of this pessimism was poor prophesy. About 125 persons have proven it to be false. These students, from every college on campus, have been keeping a rigid schedule working on props, sets, costuming, rehearsals and a dozen and one other aspects of the show.

These are not just the "Arts and Afternoons off" students. These are chemists and engineers with lab reports to be done, pharmacists and ag students with long assignments due, home economists and students of arts and science with 100 page reading assignments. These are architects who, in order to meet a deadline, spent an entire night painting a backdrop.

These are NDSU students working together, not for a trophy or any other reward, but the fun of putting on a terrific musical. For the example of cooperation that these kids are setting for the rest of us, hats off to the crew of SOUTH PACIFIC!

Two NDSU Seniors Receive NSF Graduate Fellowships

Two outstanding seniors at NDSU have been awarded National Science Foundation Cooperative Graduate Fellowships. Bruce Anderson and Warren McCullough will enroll in graduate school at NDSU under N.S.F. grants totaling $7450, announced Glen Smith, dean of the graduate school.

Anderson will receive $2200 for 12 months of study and McCullough will get $1650 for nine months. In addition NDSU will get $3600 cost-of-education allowance for the two students.

Both students have nearly perfect grade-point averages. Anderson is a mathematics major, and McCullough is in electrical engineering.

Anderson is co-chairman for Sharivar. He is also a member of Blue Key honorary and Phi Kappa Psi scholarship society.

McCullough recently was named outstanding senior in electrical engineering by the NDSU chapter of the Institute of Radio Engineers. He is president of Tau Beta Pi engineering honorary and a member of Eta Kappa Nu honorary and Phi Kappa Phi.

"Both students are outstanding and are thoroughly deserving of the grants," Dean Smith said.

"Extremely competitive" was the way Smith described the selection process the students went through in applying for the fellowships. Both took stiff Graduate Record Examinations last fall and "came through" with flying colors. The examination results, recommendations and their undergraduate records were considered by the N.S.F. in making the awards.

Some 1100 students nationally were selected for the grants, which are for top students in science and engineering.

Counselors Sought

Counselors for the second annual Freshman Camp are being sought by the YM-YWCA committee sponsoring the camp.

The camp, held for the first time last fall, is designed to acquaint entering freshmen with aspects of college life, through a weekend of contact with faculty members and upperclass students. Last year's camp was at Camp Cormorant, near Battle Lake, Minn.

About 15 student counselors will be needed, according to Ray Hendrickson, chairman. Any presently enrolled student is eligible to be a counselor, he said. In addition six faculty members will be selected to attend.

Application forms for counseling positions are available in the "Y" office.

Tickets Are On Sale For "South Pacific"

Ticket sales for the Blue Key presentation of "South Pacific" on Apr. 20, 21, and 22 began on Tuesday, Mar. 28, with a meeting of the chairmen of all organizations taking part.

Credit tickets will be sold instead of general admission tickets. These tickets are to be used toward a reserved seat ticket. The tickets are to be turned in to Daveau's Music Store or the NDSU Student Union after Apr. 7. Reserved seat tickets are $1.50, $2.00, $2.50, or $3.00, depending on the section. All seats are reserved and tickets are not refundable.

The newest methods being used to create interest in the Fargo area are risers on the floor of the Field House and the introduction of a sound system.

Specially purchased trophies will be presented to the organizations selling the most tickets. The chairmen of the winning organizations will also receive $15. Co-chairmen of the sales are Dean Forseth and Jerry Stockman.

HAPPINESS CAN'T BUY MONEY

With tuition costs spiralling ever upward, more and more undergraduates are investigating the student loan plan. If you are one who is considering the "Learn Now, Pay Later" system, you would do well first to study the case of Leonid Sigafoos.

Leonid, the son of an upholsterer in Straitened Circumstances, Idaho, had his heart set on going to college, but his father, alas, could not afford to send him. Leonid applied for a Regents Scholarship, but his reading speed, alas, was not very rapid—two words an hour—and before he could finish the first page of his test the Regents had closed their brief cases crossly and gone home. Leonid then applied for an athletic scholarship, but he had, alas, only a single athletic skill—balancing a stick on his chin—and this, alas, aroused only passing enthusiasm among the coaches.

He had, alas, only a single athletic skill.

And then, huzzah, Leonid learned of the student loan plan: he could borrow money for his tuition and repay it in easy monthly installments after he left school!

Happily Leonid enrolled in the Southeastern Idaho College of Woodpulp and Restoration Drama and happily began a college career that grew more happy year by year. Indeed, it became altogether ecstatic in his senior year because Leonid met a coed named Salina T. Nem with hair like beaten gold and eyes like two squirts of Lake Louise. Love gripped them in its big moist palm and they were betrothed on the Eve of St. Agnes.

Happily they made plans to be married the day after commencement—plans, alas, that never were to come to fruition because Leonid, alas, learned that Salina, like himself, was in college on a student loan, which meant that he had not only to repay his own loan when he left school but also Salina's, and the job, alas, that was waiting for Leonid after graduation at the Boise Raccoon Works simply did not pay enough, alas, to cover both their loans, plus rent and food and clothing.

Sick at heart, Leonid and Salina sat down and lit Marlboro Cigarettes and tried to find an answer to their problem—and, sure enough, they did! I do not know whether or not Marlboro Cigarettes helped them find an answer; all I know is that Marlboros taste good and look good, and when things close in and a feller needs a friend and the world is black as the pit from pole to pole, it is a heap of comfort and satisfaction to be sure that Marlboros will always provide the same unflagging pleasure, the same unstinting quality, in all times and climes and conditions. That's all I know.

Leonid and Salina, I say, did find an answer—a very simple one. If their student loans did not come due until they left school, why, then they just wouldn't leave school! So after receiving their bachelor degrees, they re-enrolled and took masters degrees. After that they took doctors degrees, loads and loads of them, until today Leonid and Salina, both aged 78, both still in school, hold doctorates in Philosophy, Humane Letters, Jurisprudence, Veterinary Medicine, Civil Engineering, Optometry, and Dewey Decimals. Their student loans, as of last January 1, amounted to a combined total of eighteen million dollars, a sum which they probably would have found great difficulty in repaying had not the Department of the Interior recently declared them a National Park.

Hiya kids. Hiya, Hiya!

Spring has sprung. How do I know?? The Engineers are manning their tripods, the social calendar is OVERFLOWING, the robins have returned, and last but not most certain sign, it's raining.

The young men's fancies have lightly turned and my goodness, it's bright out. The glow is due to all the new sparklers worn by NDSU Coeds. The lucky recipients include Darlene Dietrich, KKG, engaged to Dale Watson, Cavalier; Margaret Amundson, AGD, is wearing the ring of Robert Woods, Forest River; Dixie Halvorson is engaged to Al Kemmer, SPD; and Carole Ecklund was presented a diamond by TKE alum, Ron Linderman.

All sorts of social gatherings this week. The Ceres Hall Council sponsored a "Drumstick" party for the visiting Future Homemakers of America on Thursday night. The guests were entertained with the winning acts of the Ceres Hall spring party.

The merry men of Kappa Psi have multi-announcements. First and foremost their sweetheart candidates. The lucky gals are Marlette Anderson, KD; Sue Dickinson, KKG; Donna Helbling, GPB; Marlys Skarsvaag, KKG; Kari Wigton, GPB.

Congratulations to the newest actives at the Kappa Psi house. They are Gene Nelson, Gerry Raymond, Delroy Shane, Harlen Hendrickson, Bob Kellogg, Gary Mutschelknaus, Galen Sellers, Duane Loberg, Jeff Colehour, and Phil Wattles.

Congrats also to pledges of Kappa Psi—Maurice Salls, Dennis Brovold, Dennis Kaldor, Roger Kohlman, Gary Greenfield, Bill Gibbs, and Adolph Lillke.

The KAT's and KD's will journey to the Moorhead Country Club Saturday night for a joint term party. Sounds like funnies.

More new pledges—Sig Chi type. Congratulations to John Yunker and Mary Christopher.

Tau Kappa Epsilon pledges name new officers of spring quarter. New men with big sticks are Rick Hendrickson, president; Calvin Helm, vice president; Ellis Hellgrimson, sec.-treas.; and Dave Sommerfeld, watch dog.

Congratters to Bonnie Wentz, new pledge of AGD.

It's about this new quartette—the "County Agents". Seems they made their debut at the KAT house Monday night. Rumor has it they reside at 1125-16th St. N. Their theme song? "Take Me Out to the Ballgame".

News! News! News!

The KD's entertained the men of Alpha Gamma Rho Tuesday night.

More congratulations this time to Virginia Lanska, newest Kappa Delt initiate.

The Alpha Gams will celebrate International Reunion Day with members from Beta Gamma Chapter at U of Manitoba. A banquet will be held at the student Union Ballroom, Saturday, Apr. 8.

The student chapter of the American Institute of Architecture will be in Swingsville a week from this Friday. The Beaux Arts Ball—costume affair of course—will find the architects at the Fargo KC Hall. With a theme like "Cinema" everything from Cowboys to Cleopatra should make the scene.

The AGR's will celebrate their annual Founders Day with a banquet Saturday, Apr. . Honored guest will be Harold Shafer of Bismarck, who was chosen outstanding alumni. Their spring term party will be held following the banquet.

Whew!! There it is reported faithfully and as completely as possible. It's been nice and all that. Oh-Oh! Gotta run-run-run. The PBB is after me. (Stands for Panic Button Brigade, of ill will told 'em mid-terms were course.) Seems some bearer of next week. EEEEEeeep!!

First Show In 1928

Blue Key Productions Greatly Improved

by Barb Satovich

The pieces are being put together, and the finished picture is beginning to appear. With less than two weeks of time remaining, the results of the combined efforts of those working with "South Pacific" are becoming evident.

Up to this point, more work has gone into this show than in any other previous undertaking of this type by Blue Key.

Blue Key Productions have come a long way from their first show in 1928.

After two or three days of planning, the fraternities on campus put on a show featuring a ventriloquist and a German band. The Spectrum editor at that time dubbed it the "Bison Brevities". "Bison Brevities" became an annual event until 1931 when the show almost folded because the same fraternity took first place three years in a row. In the next two years, attempts were made at non-competitive shows, but competition was resumed in 1933.

Some Broadway musicals were then tried, and in 1941, the college choir presented Victor Herbert's, "Sweethearts". Blue Key then sponsored, "HMS Pinafore" and "Of Thee I Sing".

"Brevities" was revived with competition in 1947 and has been the main undertaking of this type for Blue Key until this year when they assumed the responsibilities of "South Pacific".

The scope of "South Pacific" is much greater than any other show up until this time. There is a cast of 37 plus a chorus which means singing and dancing parts as well as the speaking roles. A 30 piece symphonic orchestra will provide the music using the original score.

The volume of lighting will be more than used for previous productions and the sets will prove a real challenge.

The atmosphere of islands surrounded by water in the South Pacific will have to be created on a stage in North Dakota surrounded by dry land. Costumes and props will add the native flavor.

Kay Klicker and Ona Carlson, co-chairmen of costumes, have started to add this flavor. Most costumes now have to be borrowed from the Army and Naval Reserves. "Transportation for picking up costumes is our biggest problem now," states Ona.

Solving technical problems are Don Bischof, stage manager, assigned by Al Westbrook and twenty other men who make up the technical crew. In charge of properties is Keith Bierke with Dave Bragg on lighting, Sherwood Peterson on scenery, Bruce Kasson on sound, and Ian Strachan, architect. Bischof, speaking for the show as a whole, states, "We're progressing, we need polish now."

So, with the little time and a lot of work remaining, this polish will be the determining factor that will term it a professional production when the NDSU version of "South Pacific" is staged Apr. 20-22. This will be an important milestone in Blue Key productions.

LUCKY STRIKE PRESENTS: DEAR DR. FROOD:

DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: In college, it isn't who you know that counts—it's whom.

Dear Dr. Frood: I have a confession. All my life I have been trying to learn how to whistle. I just can't. Please, will you tell me how to whistle?

Puckered

DEAR PUCKERED: Watch the birds. Notice how they gather a pocket of air deep within the breast, then push thin jets of this air into the throat, through the larynx, up and around the curled tongue, and then bounce the air from the roof of the mouth out through the teeth (which act like the keyboard on a piano). Practice this. In no time your friends will be amazed at the beautiful, warbly trills that flow from your beak.

Dear Dr. Frood: I just can't seem to get in step with the rest of the students here. They enjoy parties, dancing, folk singing and dating. None of these things interest me at all. Am I behind the times or what?

Left Out

Dear Dr. Frood: What do you think accounts for the fact that college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular?

Marketing Student

DEAR MS: Collegiate Lucky smokers.

Dear Dr. Frood: Hamlet killed Polonius. Macbeth stabbed Duncan. Richard murdered his little nephews. Othello strangled Desdemona, and Titus served Tamora her two sons in a pie before killing her. Don't you think this obsession with violence would make an excellent subject for a term paper?

English Major

DEAR ENGLISH: No, I don't, and my advice to you is to stop running around with that crowd.

Dear Dr. Frood: My coach is writing this letter for me because I am illiterate. We want to know if I got to learn how to read to get into college. I am the best football player in the state.

DEAR X: Every college today will insist that you meet certain basic entrance requirements. I'm afraid you're just out of luck, X, unless you learn how to read diagrams and count to eleven.

ARE YOU READY FOR THE FLOOD? Most students today live a carefree, devil-may-care existence—buying their Luckies day to day. Only a handful have had the good sense to set aside an emergency cache of three or four Lucky cartons, wrapped in oilskin. When the dam breaks—they'll be ready. Will you?

Two basketball players earned their third varsity award at NDSU. They are Marvin Bachmeier and Harold Anderson.

Lack of Hitting Practice Hamper Baseball Hopefuls

Baseball players at North Dakota State University started their third week of workouts Monday, as they prepare for an Apr. 14 opener.

Squad members have been hampered by the recent cool weather, and have had only one outdoor workout in two weeks of practice.

Coach B. C. "Charlie" Bentson said that the restricted practice facilities in the gymnasium have hampered preparations for the opening of the season. Bentson was particularly concerned about the lack of hitting practice.

There are nine lettermen among the 26 candidates for the squad.

Lettermen are: Charles Erstad, Bob Hansen, Joe Kuppich, Robert McCullough, Donn Iverson, Ken Lehr, Omar Larson, Doman Rezac, and Tom Reynolds.

Erstad, Hansen, Kuppich, Larson, and Lehr, are all candidates for pitching assignments, but none have been consistent winners in years past. Lehr and Erstad are also the best outfield candidates on the squad.

Rezac at first base, and Iverson at shortstop appear to Bentson to be the best infield candidates and McCullough, after a year's experience as catcher in 1960, should be much improved for this season.

Other candidates for the squad are: Bill Anderst, catcher; Willis Boettcher, first base; Kent Carpenter, second base; Richard Clemenson, pitcher-infield; Harry Cline, infield-outfield; Dave Doerr, pitcher; Jim Fandrich, first base-outfield; Allan Glynn, catcher-outfield.

Gary Hegland, second base-outfield; Vernon Lee, shortstop; Jerry Lindgren, second base; Jerry Ovesen, outfield; Gregg Pickert, pitcher-outfield; LeMoyne Propp, third base-shortstop-outfield; Robert Thomason, pitcher-first base; William Thompson, outfield.

Rafer Johnson, Olympic decathlon champion and the Associated Press Male Athlete of the year in 1960, will speak at 1:30 p.m. Apr. 9 in Benjamin Franklin Junior High School gymnasium in Fargo.

The appearance is sponsored by the Fargo Central High School Parent-Teacher-Student Association and is open to the public.

Neuberger Is Displeased With Too Many Activities

by Neal Jacobson

"Too many organized activities on campus and the North Dakota State University student participating in too many of these activities at the same time are the reasons why there aren't more athletes interested in intercollegiate sports here."

This was the opinion expressed by Tom Neuberger, track coach at NDSU in relation to the problem of having only seven members on his varsity thincad squad.

Neuberger feels that only one-half to one-third of the student body takes part in organized extra-curricular activities while the other portion either lives in Fargo-Moorhead and attends school for the sole purpose of education, is married and has no time to spare, or are suitcase students who go home on weekends. In this conjunction there are close to 100 organizations on campus, and if averaged out this leaves about fourteen students available for each activity.

He also noted that if a student was only mediocre in some sports activity he would probably turn to another organization where he would be assured of being first string. "This hurts the track program here because it is the third, fourth, and fifth place finisher that forms the backbone of a strong team," related Neuberger.

"A student who gets interested in three or more of these organized activities is also of little use to an athletic squad, for he usually can't give enough time to any one of them," commented Neuberger.

He cited the case of a small college in Indiana where the policy is for each student to participate in only one major extra-curricular activity, such as basketball or student senate, and one minor activity, those that only take up an hours time every week at the maximum. This, he felt, would be very effective on our campus.

Even though the track team is limited in numbers, Neuberger feels the squad will do well in larger meets. The lack of depth will be somewhat off-set by the quality of proven performers such as Oddvar Helgeson, distance runner, Jerry Erck, hurdles, and Jim Clow, pole vaulter.

Tennis Squad Face Cobbers

Tennis players at North Dakota State University will open their 1961 schedule of 11 meets on Apr. 11, against Concordia at Moorhead according to Coach E. E. Kaiser.

Included on the schedule are nine dual meets and two tournaments — the Bison Invitational and the North Central Conference meet.

Kaiser has two lettermen working out for his varsity squad. They are Larry Dodge and Errol Quick. Quick was a letterman in 1958. Also out for the varsity squad are Tom Wright and Dell Dustrud, up from last year's frosh squad.

Freshman candidates are Kermit Knutson, Gary Lucas, and Charlie Ngo.

Gerald Puppe, 1960 IFYE, Reports On Lebanese Trip

"Most Lebanese people dress and live just like we do," said Gerald Puppe, 1960 Ag Ed graduate of NDSU, who was delegate to Lebanon under the International Farm Youth Exchange Program. He spoke and showed slides Apr. 5 at the FFA meeting.

Gerald spent six months last summer and fall living with and visiting farm families in Lebanon. Lebanon, located near Turkey and Egypt along the Mediterranean Sea, is 35 miles wide and 125 miles long with a population three times that of North Dakota. Lebanon has a climate similar to Southern California which permits the growth of olive trees, grapes, citrus fruits, and wheat. Arabic is the principle language. Many of the students study English and French because it qualifies them for jobs in Lebanon's chief industry which is tourist trade.

Gerald said that wheat, a chief crop in Lebanon, is harvested by methods used in Biblical times. Oxen pull harvesting boards made of wood and metal to remove the kernels from the straw. The fields are small and the income of these people is very low.

A boy is worth four times as much as a girl because the family name bears much meaning in Lebanon.

Among the young people of the Moslem religion, the custom of parents selecting the marriage partner prevails. Before they can date each other, they must be engaged. Then in some cases they can decide whether they like each other or not. A chaperone must always be present when a fellow calls on a girl.

Although only 60% of the people can afford to send their children to school, about 80% of the population can read and write. The boys far outnumber the girls in Lebanese schools.

Lebanese people are trying to keep their old customs especially their costumes, but the trend of the younger generation is changing. Lebanon is a contrasting country because you can see old beside the new. An example of this is camel caravans and Cadillacs on the same road.

During his stay in Lebanon, Gerald learned about their country and the Lebanese people learned about ours. The purpose of IFYE is to create better understanding between American and foreign farm youth with the hope for world understanding and peace.

Gerald has given over 100 talks in a total of 30 counties. He has traveled 5,000 miles throughout the state speaking to 6,000 people. He has spoken to school groups, service organizations, church groups, homemakers and 4-H clubs in the state. He will have talked to approximately 10,000 people by the end of April.

Membership Totals 40 Rodeo Club Plans Activities

The NDSU Rodeo Club appointed a committee of four at their last meeting to head the construction of a display for Sharivar and to put up large posters to publicize a rodeo which will be held May 13 and 14.

Appointed to the committee were three freshmen agricultural students: Fred Dohrmann, Jack Salzieder, and Stuart Bond; a home economics sophomore, Donna Larson.

One display will be a mare and colt in Shepard Arena.

Another display will include a saddle placed on a rustic hitching rail and a bareback rigging. Two club members dressed in typical rodeo clothing will explain the NDSU Rodeo Club and its activities and also demonstrate some of the equipment.

The club has 40 members. Members of the Rodeo Club traveled to the Sutton Brothers' ranch at Agar, S. D., for a practice session last weekend to begin eliminations for the NDSU six member rodeo team. As of now the names of the six members have not been released.

When chosen the team will represent NDSU at the Bison Stampede, NDSU's intercollegiate championship rodeo to be held north of Dacotah Field on May 13 and 14. Students from five states coming from ten schools will participate in the rodeo. The team will also represent NDSU in rodeos throughout the great plains region.

For further information contact the club's advisor Roger Hunsley, a graduate student in animal husbandry.
