Pressmen To Receive Preview Of Sharivar Displays Today

With much hustle and concentrated effort a preview of Sharivar '61 will be given to pressmen from throughout the state this afternoon at a coffee hour to be held in the Union ballroom. The editors are in Fargo for their annual state convention and will be guests of Sharivar will tour the Cereal Technology laboratory. They will view displays from each college at the coffee hour and learn about the highlights of Sharivar 1961 set for Apr. 21-23.

Members of the North Dakota State Press Association, with representatives from WDAY, KDSC, KVOX, KUTT, Associated Press and KXGO, will attend. The special coffee hour for the press is intended to publicize NDSU to the people of the state. Bruce Anderson, Sharivar co-chairman, commenting on the activities stated that this year's Sharivar promises to be a fine success. He pointed out that much work is yet to be done. "I cannot emphasize enough the importance of students working both here and off campus. Every student should be writing home about Sharivar NOW and plan to be on campus when the weekend actually arrives," Bruce urged.

How many people off campus have you contacted about Sharivar? What are you doing for Sharivar on campus? Displays? Tour guides? Host or hostess? If you are not yet working on Sharivar contact the co-chairmen of press school, or Bruce Anderson at AD 2-4028, or Ona Carlson at AD 5-4137.

If Location Change Is Made Now--
Dorms Could Be Started In July

by Frank Vyzelek

The question of changing the locations of the two new dormitories seems to devolve into one problem—how long would construction be delayed should it be decided to change locations.

According to Sherwood Barrow, assistant business manager, who has been handling most of the details with the federal agency that will be financing the construction, the delay would be "not less than two months."

This would include resurveying, re-sorting, redesign of footings and foundations and modification of a number of legal details.

This means that if the decision to change the sites were made within the next week, construction would begin early in July of this year. Since the project is considered to be a "14 month project," the buildings should be completed by Sept., 1962, if work went along according to schedule. This would coincide very closely with the beginning of Fall quarter, 1962.

All interest concerning the dormitories is centered in the state Board of Higher Education, which has been authorized for NDSU. Each requires a location. The Fargo Forum has carried detailed stories.

"It is therefore reasonable to assume that decisions leading to presently planned sites for the location of new campus dormitories were made upon advice from the Professional Planning Consultant."

Tickets Are On Sale For “South Pacific”
Ticket sales for the Blue Key presentation of “South Pacific” on Apr. 20, 21, and 22 began on Tuesday, Mar. 28, with a meeting of the chairman of all organizations at the new site.
Credit tickets will be sold instead of general admission tickets. These tickets are to be used toward a reserved seat ticket. The tickets are to be turned in to Daveau’s Music Store or the ND-SU Student Union after Apr. 2. Reserved seat tickets are $1.50, $2.00, $2.50, or $3.00, depending on the section. All seats are reserved and tickets are not refundable.
The easiest methods being used to create interest in the Fargo area are rizers on the floor of the Field House and the introduction of a sound system. Specially purchased trophies will be presented to the organizations selling the most tickets. The chairman of the winning organizations will also receive $15. Co-chairmen of the sales are Dean Forrest and Jerry Stockman.

You’re a natural wonder in HALF-BELT CLUB SLACKS

HAPPINESS CAN’T BUY MONEY
With tuition costs spiraling ever upward, more and more undergraduates are investigating the student loan plan. If you are one who is considering the “Learn Now, Pay Later” system, you would do well first to study the case of Leonid Sigafoos.

Leonid, the son of an upholsterer in Stratford, Connecticut, had his heart set on going to college, but his father, alas, could not afford to send him. Leonid applied for a Regents Scholarship but was turned down, also, was not very rapid—two words an hour—and before he could finish the year his two sisters of late Louise. Love gripped them in its big moist palm and they were betrothed on the Eve of St. Agnes.

Happily they made plans to be married the day after commencement—plains, alas, that never were to come to fruition because Leonid, also, learned that Salina, like himself, was in college on a student loan, which meant that he had not only to repay his own loan when he left school but also Salina’s, and the job, alas, that was waiting for Leonid after graduation at the Boise Ravine Works simply did not pay enough, alas, to cover both their loans, plus rent and food and clothing.

Sick at heart, Leonid and Salina sat down and lit Marlboro Cigarettes and tried to find an answer to their problem—and, sure enough, they did! I do not know whether or not Marlboro Cigarettes helped them find an answer; all I know is that Marlboro taste good and look good, and when things close in and a feller needs a friend and the world is black as the pit from pole to pole, it is a heap of comfort and satisfaction to be sure that Marlboro will always provide the same undying pleasure, the same unaltering quality, in all times and climates and conditions. That’s all I know.

And then, buzah, Leonid learned of the student loan plan: he could borrow money for his tuition and repay it in easy monthly installments after he left school!

Hapily Leonid enrolled in the Southeastern Idaho College of Wood pulp and Restoration Drama and happily began a college career that gave more happy year by year. Indeed, it became altogether ecstatic in his senior year because he found a good named Salina T. Nerm with hair like beaten gold and eyes like two sprints of Lake Louise. Love gripped them in its big moist palm and they were betrothed on the Eve of St. Agnes.

That’s all I know.

Leonid and Salina, I say, did find an answer—a very simple one. If their student loans did not come due until they left school, why, then they just wouldn’t leave school! So after receiving their bachelor degrees, they re-enrolled and took masters degrees. After that they took doctors degrees, loads and loads of them, until today Leonid and Salina, both aged 79, both still in school, hold doctorates in Philosophy, Humane Letters, Jurisprudence, Veterinary Medicine, Civil Engineering, Optometry, and Dewey Decimals. Their student loans, as of last January 1, amounted to a combined total of eighteen million dollars, a sum which they predict would have found great difficulty in repaying had not the Department of the Interior recently declared them a National Park.

Lucky Strike Presents:

Dear Dr. Frood:

Dr. Frood: I just can't seem to get in step with the rest of the students here. They enjoy parties, dancing, folk singing and dating. None of these things interest me at all. Am I behind the times or what?

Left Out

Dear Dr. Frood: What do you think accounts for the fact that college students smoke more Lucky Strike than any other regular?

Marketing Student

Dear Ms. Collegiate Lucky smokers.

Dear Dr. Frood: My coach is writing this letter for me because I am illiterate. We want to know if I got to learn how to read to get into college. I am the best football player in the state.

Dear Dr. Frood: Hamlet killed Polonius. Macbeth stabbed Duncan. Richard murdered his little nephews. Othello strangled Desdemona, and Titus served Tamora her two sons in a pie before killing her. Don't you think this obsession with violence would make an excellent subject for a term paper?

English Major

Dear English: No, I don't, and my advice to you is to stop running around with that crowd.

Dear Dr. Frood: I have a confession. All my life I have been trying to act like the keyboard on a piano).

DEAR PUCKERED: Watch the birds. Notice how they gather a pocket of air deep within the breast, then push thin jets of air into the throat, through the larynx, up and around the curled tongue, and then bounce the air from the roof of the mouth out through the teeth (which act like the keyboard on a piano). Practice this. In no time your friends will be amazed at the beautiful, warbly trills that flow from your beak.

ARE YOU READY FOR THE FLOOD? Most students today live a carefree, devil-may-care existence—buying their Luckies day to day. Only a handful have had the good sense to set aside an emergency cache of three or four Lucky cartons, wrapped in oilskin. When the dam breaks they'll be ready. Will you?

Change to Luckies and get some taste for a change! Product of The American Tobacco Company—Tobacco is our middle name.

NDSU Student Body President Wayne Hamann thanks the table for presenting a check for $445 to Fargo Mayor Herbisch Lashkowitz. The money, drawn from Student Senate funds, will be used to cover the cost of changing street signs on 12th Street to University Drive in connection with the proposed name change.

Hamann and Senator Jim Lamont appeared before the City Commission meeting Tuesday, Apr. 4 to present the check and urge passage of an ordinance changing the name.
Neuberger Is Displeased
With Too Many Activities
by Tom Neuberger

"Too many organized activities on campus and the North Dakota State University student participating in too many of these activities at the same time are the reasons why there aren't more athletes interested in intercollegiate sports here."

This was the opinion expressed by Tom Neuberger, track coach at NDSU in relation to the problem of having only seven members on his varsity track squad.

Neuberger feels that only one-half to one-third of the student body takes part in organized extra-curricular activities while the other portion either lives in Fargo-Moorhead and attends school for the sole purpose of education, is married and has no time to spare, or are suitcase students who go home on weekends. In this conjunction there are close to 100 organizations on campus, and if averaged out this leaves about fourteen students available for each activity.

He also noted that if a student was only mediocre in some sports activity he would probably turn to another organization where he would be assured of being first-string. "This hurts the track program here because it is the third, fourth and fifth place finisher that forms the backbone of a strong team," related Neuberger.

"A student who gets interested in three or more of these organized activities doesn't have time to be an athletic squad for, he usually can't give enough time to any one of them," commented Neuberger.

He cited the case of a small college in Indiana where the police is for each student to participate in only one major extracurricular activity, such as basketball or student senate, and one minor activity, those that take up less than an hour every week at the maximum. This, he felt, would be the most effective on our campus.

Even though the track team is limited in numbers, Neuberger feels the squad will do well in future meets. The lack of depth will be somewhat offset by the quality of proven performers such as Oddvar Helgeson, distance runner; Jerry Erek, hurdles and Jim Clow, pole vaulter.

Tennis Squad

Tennis players at North Dakota State University will open their 1961 schedule of 11 meets on Apr. 11, against Concordia at Moorhead according to Coach E. E. Kaiser.

Included on the schedule are nine dual meets and two tournaments — the Bison Invitational and the North Central Conference meet.

Kaiser has two lettermen working out for his varsity squad. They are Larry Dodge and Errol Quick. Quick was a letterman in 1958.

Also out for the varsity squad are Tom Wright and Dell Dustrud, up from last year's freshman squad.

Freshman candidates are Kermit Knottus, Gary Lucas, and Charlie Ngo.

"Pygmalion" is a musical comedy, based on the play by Bernard Shaw, presented Apr. 26-29, according to W. T. Chichester, director. The Broadway hit "My Fair Lady" was taken from this production in 1956. Other members of the cast include: John Nelson, as Mr. Doolittle; Linda Bakeman, Mrs. Higgins; Dixie Lee Gifford, Miss Eynsford Hill; Sandra Walker, Mrs. Eynsford Hill; Nadine Hasen, Mrs. Pearce; Ommid Stroms-wold; Freddy; Jane Cutright, parlor maid; Neal Johnson, a bystander; and Douglas Scott, a sarcastic bystander.

The speech department is willing to cooperate with any organization that wants to buy out all or part of the house for one of the performances stated Chichester. If any group is interested, contact Chichester, director.

Gerald Puppe, 1960 IFYE; Reports On Lebanese Trip

"Most Lebanese people dress and live just like we do," said Gerald Puppe, 1960 Ag Ed graduate of NDSU, who was delegate to Lebanon under the International Farm Youth Exchange Program. He spoke and showed slides Apr. 8 at the FFA meeting.

Gerald spent six months last summer and fall living with and visiting farm families in Lebanon. Lebanon, located near Turkey and Egypt along the Mediterranean Sea, is 35 miles wide and 125 miles long with a population three times that of North Dakota. Lebanon has a climate similar to Southern California which permits the growth of olive trees, grapes, citrus fruits, and wheat. Arabic is the principle language. Many of the students study English and French because it qualifies them for jobs in Lebanon's chief industry which is tourism.

Gerald learn ed about their country and the Lebanese people learned about ours. The purpose of IFYE is to create better understanding between American and foreign farm youth with the hope for world understanding and peace.

Gerald has given over 100 talks in a total of 30 counties. He has spoken to school groups, service organizations, church groups, homemakers and 4-H clubs in the state. He will have talked to approximately 10,000 people by the end of April.

Flu Hits SU, 30 Sick Daily

A flu epidemic has hit the NDSU campus, according to Myrtle Johnson, chief nurse at the NDSU Health Center.

About 25 to 30 students have been reporting sick daily since the flu hit the campus.

Symptoms of the flu are an upset stomach and a fever. The chief nurse said that none of the students sick with the flu have been hospitalized.

Myrtle Johnson would like to remind the students that the Health Center is open from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Saturday hours are from 8 a.m. to noon. Emergencies are cared for 24 hours a day, not including Sundays. Faculty members and employees are cared for only in cases of emergency.

Dr. O. H. Sedlak from the Dakota Clinic is on call from 8:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. Monday through Friday. A registered nurse is on call 24 hours a day.

22 Students Named to Work in Research

Twenty students at NDSU have been named to work under an Undergraduate Research Participation Program sponsored by the National Science Foundation. The students were announced by Dr. J. A. Callenbach, who will administrate the program at NDSU.

The program involves nine areas of study. The projects are being financed by a $16,050 grant from the N.S.F., the third consecutive grant awarded NDSU for large-scale, multi-departmental undergraduate research. NDSU is one of 250 colleges and universities holding N.S.F. undergraduate research programs this year.

The participants include: Bonnie Beger, Sandra Judd, Marlene Caplan, Thomas Hansmann, Judith Freeman, Gary Olson, James Foster, James Quick, Darwin Lee, Lawrence Thompson, John Larsen, Edward Saugstad, Albin Anderson, Phyllis Lunsetter, Richard Crooks, Terry Roe, Lynn D. Brun, David Schindler, Clemens Nagel and Harold Mertes.

Areas of study include agronomy, botany, entomology, horticulture, soils zoology, pharmacognosy, pharmacy and bacteriology.

Rodeo Club Plans Activities

The NDSU Rodeo Club appointed a committee of four at their last meeting to head the construction of a display for Sharivar and to put up large posters to publicize a rodeo which will be held May 13 and 14.

Appointed to the committee were three freshmen agricultural students: Fred Dahmann, Jack Salzieder, and Stuart Bond; a home economics sophomore, Donna Larson.

One display will be a mare and colt in Shepard Arena. Another display will include a saddle placed on a rustic hitching rail and a bareback rigging. Two club members dressed in typical rodeo clothing will explain the NDSU Rodeo Club and its activities and also demonstrate some of the equipment.
