ATTENDANT PAT SLOCUM adjusts Queen Bonita's lapel as attendant Marlette Anderson looks on.

Bonita Bohnsack To Reign as Queen

Bonita Bohnsack H Ec jr, was named queen for the 30th Little International by the Saddle and Sirloin Club this week. Her attendants are Marlette Anderson, H Ec soph, and Patricia Slocum, H Ec jr.

The Queen and her attendants will be presented at the annual Hall of Fame banquet Feb. 16, beginning Little International activities, and they will reign over the showmanship contest Feb. 17, presenting the winning trophies.

Bonita has been active in the Rodeo and Saddle and Sirloin Clubs on campus. She is a member of the NDSU Choir and Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Recently named North Dakota Angus Queen, Bonita will also reign over the Valley City Winter Show in March. Last year she was NDSU Rodeo Queen and Miss Ransom County, competing for Miss North Dakota.

Bonita has won many horsemanship prizes on her quarter horse, Ruby Blak. She is secretary of the North Dakota Junior Stockman's Association and has been first and second vice president of the National Junior Stockman's Association.

Marlette is a sophomore in home economics and was an attendant to the Military Ball Queen. She is a member of the Chorus, Angel Flight, Kappa Delta sorority, AWS, WRA, Orientation Council, Panhellenic, Tryota, freshman counselor and secretary of Dinan Hall. Her sister, Vergene, was an attendant in 1959.

Pat is a junior in home economics, and is a member of WRA, AWS, Kappa Delta, Tryota, Spectrum and Bison.

Dean Hazen is Back To One Job

"Working with faculty and staff was a pleasure", said Arlon G. Hazen, dean of agriculture at NDSU. He was acting president at NDSU for the past nine months.

The last two hours were again spent in Morrill Hall.

Dean Hazen said the full cooperation of the faculty and staff made it possible to carry out every job more successfully. He said their understanding and willingness to help made it possible to maintain the routine university program. He paid particular tribute to Miss Audrey Rinde, secretary to the president. Dean Hazen also mentioned that the general decorum of the students and their acceptance of responsibility during this period was highly commendable.

Dean Hazen mentioned that he occasionally found it was necessary to write letters to himself to keep the records straight.

Dean Hazen said it was necessary to set up a daily schedule of office hours to accomplish his two jobs. His daily working schedule went something like this:

Two high spots of the year for him occurred within 48 hours of each other. One was the warm welcome given President and Mrs. Albrecht by the students at the airport at the time of homecoming. The second, he said, was his meeting with Dorothy Vorwerk, the Homecoming Queen, during the football game. Hazen said the homecoming activities were most enjoyable.

First two hours of the morning were spent in his regular office in Morrill Hall.

The next four hours were spent in the president's office.

He believes the choice of Dr. Albrecht as president is an excellent one, and is looking forward to a long and pleasant association with him.

Application blanks for positions of editor of the Spectrum, Bison, and News Bureau may be obtained in Dean C. Sevrinson's office. Other positions open are business manager of the Spectrum and Bison. Deadline to return application blanks is Jan. 22. Apply to commissioner of publications Sherry Bassin.

"Being acting president of NDSU is an experience I'll never forget", said Dean Hazen. He said it enabled him to become acquainted with more faculty and staff members. It also gave him a chance to work with many institutional problems that he otherwise would not have had any concern with. He also said that it gave him a chance to meet with off-campus people he would otherwise probably not have met.

Dean Hazen added that he is looking forward to again spending more time with his family since most of his weekends were disrupted during the time he served as acting president at NDSU.

Congo Expert Speaks Congolesse Situation Stays Unsolved, Normalcy Grows

"I firmly believe the Congolesse situation is not solved, but is well on its way", said Dr. Alan P. Merriam, in a speech titled, "The Congo since Independence."

Dr. Merriam addressed students and guests Tuesday in a convocation held in Festival Hall. He started his lecture by stating four periods he considers important in the understanding of the Congo situation.

The first, "Period of Turmoil", starts right after the Congo received its independence.

During this period of time the Africans had to call upon the help of the United Nations in settling their domestic problems. The second period discussed was, "Period of Stalemate," which during this time the U. N. had established control of the Congo. It was during this time that the political leaders of the Congo were reorganized.

During the third period discussed by Dr. Merriam, the troublesome Lamumba was killed in the Congo.

Mr. Merriam said, "I think the removal of Lamumba from the African scene contributed to the future growth of the Congo."

As for the United States and the United Nations in the Congo, Dr. Merriam had this to say. "I believe that a defeat for the U. N. in the Congo would be the defeat of the U. N."

In his fourth period, Dr. Merriam says that he thinks if the Congolesse had stayed out of the world political spotlight, their troubles would have been over. Africans are bitterly opposed to colonialism, and "a real thorn in the flesh" to them is the foreign missionaries who are in Africa.

"Normalcy is constantly going on and the 18 1/2 months of independence of the Congo show this. "I believe the Congolesse can and will work out their problems," he said.

"Finding an acceptable course in the Congo is like trying to nail jello to a tree" was a quote from the former United States ambassador to the Congo, Mr. Timberlay.

Dr. Merriam was a consultant to the United States government of Congo affairs

Judging Team Takes Second in Contest

NDSU's junior livestock judging team placed second in a contest, Jan. 13, at Denver, Colo., said John Johnson, assistant animal husbandman.

He said that Iowa State University placed first, four points ahead of NDSU.

NDSU placed first in sheep, second in beef, fourth in hogs and second in overall placings. Norman Bakkegard, Ag jr; placed first in sheep and fifth in the contest.

Other members of the team are Raymond Meyer, Ag jr; Paul Martin, Ag jr; Ken Evanger, Ag jr; John Oster, Ag jr and Jan Peterson, Ag jr.

The coach for the junior judging team is Merle Light, associate professor of the animal husbandry department.

The contest is held yearly in conjunction with the National Western Livestock Exposition at Denver, Colo.

Be sure to keep in mind the student elections which are coming up in February. All interested parties should pick up petitions on Feb. 2. Campaigning will continue through Feb. 12.

The student body will vote in the Union on Feb. 13. Positions will be open for six two year representatives and seven one year representatives.

FANCY FORM in skating is demonstrated by Jean Pulkrabek, H Ec, jr, and one of her smaller students on one of Fargo's rinks. Jean teaches skating for the Fargo Recreation Department.

She worked and skated last summer at Sun Valley and participates in many Fargo skating revues.

Salmon Urges Married Students To Organize to Solve Problems

It is refreshing to have faculty members take an active interest in the welfare and problems of students. I'm referring to the letter by Dr. John Bond in last week's Spectrum.

Dr. Bond has pictured for the married student a utopia, which may exist at Minnesota and other universities, but which can only occur in its totality in the dim, distant future at NDSU.

As the student representative on the faculty housing committee, it has been interesting for me to hear the complaints of the students.

Some of these complaints are well-founded, but the students' present individual method of approach is about as effective as it would be to stand on the north end of campus and shout out to the prairie. The sound dies away and all is silence.

The solution seems to be for the students to organize and to cry into the right canyon. Then the sound will echo and re-echo. Chances are good it will be heard.

I have discussed with the Student Senate, the Housing Committee, and the Maintenance Department the possibility of organizing each of the housing areas so that a number of representatives from each court may meet regularly and discuss problems. A consolidated list of problems, with suggestions for their solution, could be presented by your housing representative to the Student Senate.

Maintenance has readily agreed to meet with the representative body from the various courts to answer questions.

(Let me say here that many of your complaints ARE being taken care of, and the problems seem to be more lack of communication than lack of action.)

I sincerely believe that a committee of this type will do much to solve the problems married students have.

I want very much to hear your comments. I would like especially to hear from anyone who would give up a little of his time to work on formation of this committee.

Contact me at 14 Bison Court, AD 2-8775 or in my office at Room 315 Minard. My office hours are 8-10. Tuesdays: 2-4 Wednesday and Friday mornings.

Student Asks Questions On Posed Solution

I read with interest last weeks letter to the editor by Doctor Bond. His suggested solution sounds interesting.

How can it be put into effect? Would there be administration and faculty support for such a project?

Perhaps I should ask, would the married students living in these courts give support to a "University Village"? I have a feeling that a number of these students believe they are "self-sufficient."

If the students themselves just sit back why should any one else be concerned?

I am interested in hearing and seeing more about Doctor Bond's suggestion.

Clocks on Wrong Time Schedule Create Class Confusion

What time is it right now?

The majority of the students attending NDSU have watches and are fully capable of telling time, but how does a person know exactly what time it is as far as his class schedule goes?

The clocks in the different buildings are not the same. In the Student Union alone there are four clocks, which do not show the same time.

The time given on the radio does not correspond with the time given on television and neither of them are the same as the time the school classes go by.

For example, if a student has a class in Minard and the following one is ROTC, the student is held over in Minard, there is a difference in the time in the different buildings, the student has to walk from one end of the campus to the other, the end result is that the student is late for class. The teachers on this campus frown on the student who disrupts the whole class by his late arrival.

Why then couldn't there be one time for the whole school and one source used to verify the time for the campus, which a student could check. For example the school could use the time of a radio station and then the students could tune into that particular station and get the correct time.

Now if the classes would all be over when the bell rings and everyone is on the correct time, the student has a full break between classes, and could make it to all of his classes with ease.

CALL ME THUMBS, says Phil Sauer, ME, sr., as he makes efforts with a pair of needles and some yarn. Watching, but with little hopes, Mrs. Betty Jennings, YWCA executive secretary, who is offering knitting instructions this quarter.

"Learn to Knit" Open to SU Students

Are you in need of a nose warmer for the cold weather? You can get free instructions on how to knit one at the YWCA campus coffee hour.

Bridge lessons, as well as knitting lessons, are being taught every Tuesday during the month of January from 4-5 p.m. in the YMCA-YWCA room in the library.

Lessons started Tuesday, Jan.

9, but Mrs. Earl Jennings, executive secretary of the YWCA, stated that everyone is welcome to come any Tuesday.

Instructors for the bridge lessons and knitting lessons are Mrs. Earl Jennings, executive secretary of the YWCA; Mrs. Ray Cook, advisory board member of YWCA and Mrs. Ivah Howard, Alpha Gamma Delta housemother.

Short Course Enrollment Decreases

Drought and poor crop conditions of last summer may be the cause for a 25 per cent decrease in the enrollment for the agricultural short course, according to Peder A. Nystuen, director of short courses.

There are 45 students enrolled this year compared to 60 last year, Nystuen said. Forty-three are from North Dakota and two are from Minnesota. Registration was held on Jan. 2 and classes convened on Jan. 3.

The short course of eight weeks is offered primarily for persons who have farm experience and are interested in further agricultural training, but cannot attend the regular courses offered by the department of agriculture.

Courses offered as a part of the short course do not carry regular college credit.

The entrance requirements are: an interest in agriculture, evidence of a sincere desire to obtain the information offered, evidence of capacity to carry the work and the intention of doing the work required to complete the course.

High school graduation is not a requirement for enrollment.

Nystuen stated that the course follows a sequence of four years. Included among the courses this year are farm marketing, machinery and buildings, sheep and poultry production and insect and weed control.

These students are residing in campus dormitories and private rooms near the college. While on campus they are entitled to the same benefits and privileges of the regularly enrolled students.

Campaign Rules Set at Senate

Campaign rules for the election of new Student Senate members were listed at the Student Senate meeting, Tuesday, Jan. 9.

According to Carl Larson, Ag. jr., to be eligible one must have a 2.25 average to run for senator and a 2.5 average to compete for student body president. The poll will be in the Student Union on Feb. 13.

Voters will cast one vote for student body president. Students will also vote for four to six candidates for one year senators. Campaigning will be from Feb. 6 to Feb. 13. Candidates running for elections must file a petition and have it signed by 50 signatures. These petitions can be picked up at Dean Charles Sevrinson's office.

A budget report was given at the meeting stating that the senate will operate at a $1,000 loss for the coming year.

The senate was commended on the success of last year's polio drive. Last year NDSU was rated near the top in the nation in their polio drive.

James Lanier, AAS sr, and Roger Hegoe, AAS jr, were elected as co-chairmen of the polio drive for the coming year.

President Albrecht will take action on the street lights that are needed at the corners of 12th Avenue and 13th Avenue on North University Drive, according to Carl Larson, but the lights will not be seen for a while yet.

A committee was also set up at the senate meeting to check on the possibility of a revision of the senate constitution.

A Campus Coffee will be held at the "Y" lounge in the Library from 4-5 p.m. Jan. 23. There will be classes in knitting and bridge.

Coeds Urged to Apply For Scholarships

Information and application blanks for scholarships for women may be obtained now at the office of the Dean of Women. The deadline for returning completed scholarship applications has been announced as March 1.

Several scholarships are made available to NDSU women students by various organizations on the campus and in the city through the office of the Dean of Women, Matilda B. Thompson. These scholarships range in value from $50-$200.

Women students from any school on the campus may apply for the following scholarships: NDSU Faculty Women's Club; NDSU Panhellenic; Jesamine Slaughter Burgum Scholarship; Gamma Phi Beta Memorial; Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae; P.E.O. Floy-Lowell Memorial; NDSU Senior Staff and possible others.

Several Panhellenic groups have scholarship programs for their members and in some cases for others also. Information and application blanks for these scholarships may be obtained from the scholarship chairman of the individual sorority or at the office of the Dean of Women.

There are also scholarships for women available in the different schools on the campus. Information and application blanks for these scholarships should be obtained from the dean of the particular school.

SWEETHEART TROPHY IS PRESENTED to Connie Stevens by Sigma Chis Vern Marschke, Larry Schulze, Dwayne King, Dick Simson, Harlynn Bjerke, and Parker Weachter.

Honorary Sweetheart Trophy Awarded to Connie Stevens

Six NDSU students representing the Gamma Tau Chapter of Sigma Chi went to California during Christmas vacation to present to Miss Connie Stevens an honorary Sweetheart trophy. Miss Stevens, famous movie and television actress accepted her trophy from Sig's Dwayne King, Vern Marschke, Larry Schulze, Dick Simson, Harlynn Bjerke and Parker Weachter, in the Warner Brothers' studio on Dec. 28.

The "Brother's Six", after a TV appearance in Fargo, left for Hollywood the day after school closed for the Christmas holidays. The boys spent 45 hours on the road. Many celebrities were introduced to the boys in the studio where Connie Stevens was working. After meeting their Honorary Sweetheart the boys were all put at ease by her gracious manner and charming smile. Dwayne King said "It was just like talking to any real neat girl in the student union." After spending an hour with Miss Stevens, which included a tour of the studios in her cadillac and dinner at the famous "Green Room", the Sigs departed to visit Disneyland. Having secured six Rose Bowl tickets on the 50 yard line for six dollars each, the boys spent New Years enjoying Minnesota's victory before their trip home to chilly North Dakota.

IS STUDYING NECESSARY?

Once there were three roommates and their names were Walter Pellucid, Casimir Fing, and LeRoy Holocaust and they were all taking English lit. and they were all happy, friendly, outgoing types and they all smoked Marlboro Cigarettes as you would expect from such a gregarious trio, for Marlboro is the very essence of sociability, the very spirit of amity, and very soul of concord, with its tobacco so mild and flavorful, its pack so king-size and flip-top, its filter so pure and white, and you will find when you smoke Marlboros that the world is filled with the song of birds and no man's hand is raised against you.

Each night after dinner Walter and Casimir and LeRoy went to their room and studied English lit. For three hours they sat in sombre silence and pored over their books and then, squinty and spent, they toppled onto their pallets and sobbed themselves to sleep.

This joyless situation obtained all through the first semester. Then one night they were all simultaneously struck by a marvelous idea. "We are all studying the same thing," they cried. "Why, then, should each of us study for three hours? Why not each study for one hour? It is true we will only learn one-third as much that way, but it does not matter because there are three of us and next June before the exams, we can get together and pool our knowledge!"

Oh, what rapture then fell on Walter and Casimir and LeRoy!

They flung their beanies into the air and danced a gavotte and lit thirty or forty Marlboros and ran out to pursue the pleasure which had so long, so bitterly, been missing from their lives.

Alas, they found instead a series of grisly misfortunes. Walter, alas, went searching for love and was soon going steady with a coed named Invicta Breadstuff, a handsome lass, but, alas, hopelessly addicted to bowling. Each night she bowled five hundred lines, some nights a thousand. Poor Walter's thumb was a shambles and his purse was empty, but Invicta just kept on bowling and in the end, alas, she left Walter for a pin-setter, because the pin-setter was automatic.

Walter, of course, was far too distraught to study his English lit, but he took some comfort from the fact that his roommates were studying and they would help him before the exams. But Walter, alas, was wrong. His roommates, Casimir and LeRoy, were nature lovers and they used their free time to go for long tramps in the woods and one night, alas, they were treed by two bears, Casimir by a brown bear and LeRoy by a kodiak, and they were kept in the trees until spring set in and the bears went to Yellowstone for the tourist season.

So when the three roommates met before exams to pool their knowledge, they found they had none to pool! Well sir, they had a good long laugh about that and then rushed to the kitchen and stuck their heads in the oven. It was, however, an electric oven and the effects were, on the whole, beneficial. The wax in their ears got melted and they acquired a healthy tan and today they are married to a lovely young heiress named Gangulia Bran and live in the Canal Zone, where there are many nice boats to wave at.

In case you worry about such things, their wife is a Marlboro smoker, too, which adds to the general merriment. Marlboro is ubiquitous, as well as flavorful, and you can buy them in all 50 states as well as the Canal Zone.

 Vet's Club social night will be held Friday, Jan. 19 after the ball game in Meincke Lounge in the Union. Cards will be played and refreshments served. Guests are welcome. Winners in the annual Korean War Orphan Fund Drive held this past fall were Phil Hagland who placed second and received a transistor radio and J. F. McLaughlin who placed first and received a bowling ball, bag and shoes.

OTS
 Capt. Harry J. Coates will be on campus Feb. 23 and 24 to interview students and find out who is interested and qualified for the Air Force Officers Training School. OTS is designed only for college graduates. Capt. Coates will be located in the main lobby of the Student Union.

Wesley
 Supper at the Wesley Foundation will be held at 5:30 p.m. Jan. 21. Following, Dr. Stodola will speak on "How to Win A's and Influence Professors."

LSA
 Following Friday night's basketball game, LSA will have a pizza party. "Marriage is for Grownups" is the topic for Sunday night's discussion.

'Who Dunit' Takes Over Social Notes

Guess what troops. . . a "who dunit" mystery has hit the Spectrum office. Somewhere on campus a person is reading the Social Notes, but he's the only person who will be informed this week due to the fact that they disappeared Tuesday night

Keep your ears open. If you notice anybody spreading social gossip in the form of activities, pinnings or engagements call the Spectrum office!

Honest folks, this is the absolute truth. A frantic social editor asks you to please bring in your social news again so that it can be printed next week.

Next week it will be kept under guard and guaranteed a printing!

Banquets, tours pictures and daily judging sessions will be the busy schedule for Joan Odegard, H Ec fr, at the National "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest held in Salt Lake City Jan. 18-22. Miss Odegard took top honors in the senior division of the Minnesota contest.

She will be in competition with 25 other girls, all senior

The national contest is not new to her. As a junior division winner, she placed third in the national contest two years ago. This year's national winners will be announced Monday night and will determine who takes the grand prize trip to Hawaii.

LCT Actor Fulfills Need

By TEDDY KRUMP

"I act for the same aesthetic reason Doyle wrote 'The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes' and Gorky wrote 'The Lower Depths' — that any artist creates, it fulfills a need." This is why Rogalla takes part in theatre productions. Rogalla, NDSU junior, plays the part of the Baron in "The Lower Depths."

Memorizing lines in a short period of time presents difficulties to some actors. Ray mentioned that he stands in order to associate lines with blocking.

"When the wording of a line is not the same I would give it, I try to understand why the character chose this particular manner of saying the line," Rogalla further commented.

Sometimes it is difficult, even for an experienced actor, to feel the part. Ray proposed the following ideas: "I try to visualize how the character would act offstage; there should be a consciousness of the character's relationship with the other people in the scene, and it is important to divorce oneself completely from the audience without forgetting their presence."

Ray believes that if the foregoing proposals are adhered to the dialogue and the action of the scene are transformed to a unique living experience.

"This type of play is uncommon to this campus, Ray said. It is thought-provoking yet not extremely difficult to follow. "The Lower Depths" is an outstanding opportunity for the students of NDSU to develop a cultured appreciation of a fine art."

Large Crowd Sees Union Movie

More than 200 students attended "The Long Hot Summer" by William Faulkner at the Memorial Union Jan. 12.

"The large crowd attending this first movie made it possible for a second cinemascope lens to be purchased which will enable future movies to be shown with greater ease", stated Allyn Hart, program director of the union.

What do students themselves actually think of having movies shown in the union?

Three interviewed had nothing but favorable comments: Toni Woodmansee, H Ec sr.,

"This is the low price entertainment that students have been looking for.

Movies at the union take care of the eternal car problem and also coffee or coke dates afterwards."

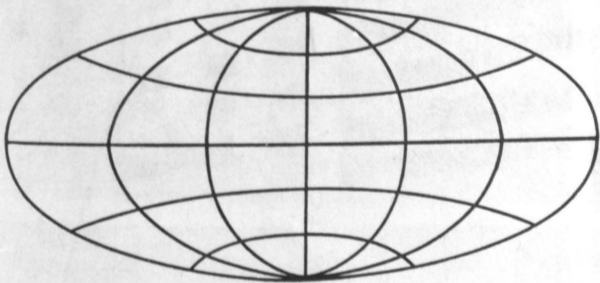

Reinhold Schuster, CE sr, "These movies are a good idea. Students should give them a chance and make plans to attend in the future. When games are away, the movies provide excellent entertainment for those students who seek on campus entertainment. Perhaps a dance could be held when the movie is over."

Sandy Werre, AAS sr, "Movies at the union are a perfect way to provide an opportunity for entertainment for all NDSU students instead of a certain group. Movies such as this do well on other campuses and they can be as successful on ours as well."

Almost every scientifically trained man can find stimulating and rewarding career opportunities within the broad spectrum of Pratt & Whitney Aircraft activities.

From the solid foundation of 36 years as a world leader in flight propulsion systems, P&WA development activities and research investigations today are far ranging. In addition to continuing and concentrated development effort on air breathing and rocket engines, new and exciting avenues are being explored in every field of advanced aerospace, marine, and industrial power applications.

The reach of the future ahead is indicated by current programs. Presently, Pratt & Whitney Aircraft is exploring the fringe areas of technical knowledge in magnetohydrodynamics . . . thermionics and thermo-electric conversions . . . hypersonic propulsion . . . fuel cells and nuclear power.

To help move tomorrow closer to today, we continually seek ambitious young engineers and scientists. Your degree? It can be in: MECHANICAL ■ AERONAUTICAL ■ ELECTRICAL ■ CHEMICAL and NUCLEAR ENGINEERING ■ PHYSICS ■ CHEMISTRY ■ METALLURGY ■ CERAMICS ■ MATHEMATICS ■ ENGINEERING SCIENCE or APPLIED MECHANICS.

The field still broadens. The challenge grows greater. And a future of recognition and advancement may be here for you.

For further information regarding an engineering career at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, consult your college placement officer or write to Mr. R. P. Azinger, Engineering Department, Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, East Hartford 8, Conn.

"Y" Office And Lounge Get New Look

NDSU's YMCA-YWCA office and lounge has added new furnishings which make it more inviting to NDSU students.

Each month a picture is to be received from Rourke Art Gallery and Art School at 523 4 St. S. in Moorhead. These pictures are for sale. Current picture now on display is a college by Paul Allen, an art student at Concordia.

The two pottery planters, planted with philodendron, were made by Ralph Peotter of the NDSU related art department. Peotter is to have a showing of ceramics and paintings at Rourke Gallery Mar. 25 — Apr. 18.

The beige room divider is of three widths of 52" burlap sewn together and hung from a brass rod top and bottom.

Two beige chairs and two pole lamps complete the new purchases.

Another picture which hangs in the lounge is a water color, by Elsa Hertel of the old "Y" building after the tornado of 1957 demolished it.

The "Y" has its weekly coffee hour every Tuesday from 4 to 5. All students are welcome. The project this quarter is knitting and bridge.

Undefeated South Dakota State Face Bison in NCC Encounter

NDSU basketball players return to their home court Friday, hoping to get back into the North Central championship race.

The Bison host the only undefeated team in the NCC in a 7:30 p.m. game with South Dakota State. The feature contest will be preceded by a game between the undefeated NDSU freshman team and the Valley City State Teachers College Junior Varsity at 5:45.

NDSU lost to South Dakota State and Augustana last weekend, dropping the conference won-loss record of the Bison to 2-2. South Dakota State, the defending NCC champion, currently has three wins and no losses in conference play.

Bison Coach B. C. "Charlie" Bentson feels his team can not be counted out of this weekend's game. "Even though we lost by 19 points in Brookings, we think we have a good chance of beating SDSC this Friday," Bentson said.

Bentson felt his squad made too many mechanical mistakes in the Augustana and SDSC games. "The only good half of basketball we played in either of the two games, was the first half against Augustana," he said.

Bert Sperling, senior guard was used briefly in the South Dakota State game, but his ankle injury reduced his effectiveness, Bentson said. He should be at full strength for this Friday's game.

Team statistics compiled for the first 12 games show that the Bison and their opponents have scored almost the same number of points — 755 for the Bison to 753 for their opponents.

The 12 opponents have a better field goal average at 38.5% on 289 made of 749 attempted to 37.0% of 286 of 771 for the Bison. The Bison have made more of their free throw shots — 67% on 183 of 273, to 63.6% on 175 of 275 for the opponents. The opponents lead the Bison in rebounds having pulled in 576 to 599 for NDSU.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

By DENNIS KALDOR

Rules and regulations were the main topic of discussion last Monday at the intramural board meeting. All teams are reminded to carefully check their player's eligibility before they play or some organizations may fail to find themselves in the lineups for a year or so. Any letter winners in any sport which is closely related to some intramural sport may not participate in that particular sport. It makes no difference whether or not that letter was won at NDSU.

Individuals who are on probation are nationally unable to play in any intramural activity until free throw percentage and Wayne Langen, is the individual rebound leader.

McLeod has averaged 13.6 points a game, has made 45.5% of his field goal attempts and 77.7% of his free throw attempts.

their grades are satisfactory. If a player fails to make a suitable average one quarter and drops out of school, he will remain on the ineligible list for intramurals if and when he returns to school.

Teams who have missed their bowling matches and have subsequently forfeited may bowl their lines by making arrangements with the bowling alley proprietors. Teams must pay for these lines even if they are not used, so they might just as well get some fun for their money.

The basketball leagues were revamped last week and many teams may now find themselves in a league more suited to their own abilities. I know of several instances where certain teams have found it quite difficult to break into the victory column, and maybe with a little luck this will change in the near future.

BISON BITS

By SHERRY BASSIN

Tonight at the Fieldhouse at 7:30 p.m. South Dakota State College Jackrabbits will make their first stop of their Northern swing, to face the NDSU Bison.

The Jackrabbits, the only undefeated team in the North Central Conference, will be looking for their fourth straight win.

The Bison hold a 500 record in the NCC with 2 wins and 2 losses.

Bison coach "Charlie" Bentson feels that this is the big weekend for SDS.

If the Jackrabbits can return home with two more victories, it will put the defending champs in a good position to win the conference again.

In the meantime, the Bison will not be so willing to stand as the doorstep to victory for the Rabbits.

As Bentson said, "South Dakota State will eventually feel the loss of the players that were put on probation."

SDS is a tough team to beat in their hometown, as their record shows, but they have a few road games left to play.

To say the least, Bentson was a little displeased with the performance of his players on the recent road trip.

He said, "We looked good for only 20 minutes, out of 80 minutes of play."

The coach also felt that it was around the boards that was beating us.

Tonight looks like a thriller. SDS will be trying to maintain their 1000 record and NDSU will be trying to break 500.

On Sunday morning the Bison will leave by bus for Iowa where they will meet the State College of Iowa on Monday night.

SCI has certainly surprised the league, having dropped their first three games in a row.

Following the Iowa encounter, NDSU will travel to Madison, Wis., to meet the University of Wisconsin on Tuesday night.

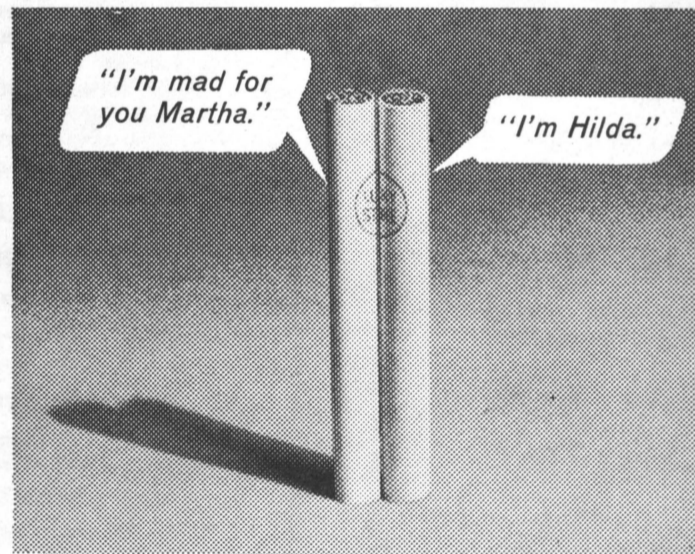

NOTICE

Tennis Players Attention!

If tennis is your game, dust off your racket and start practicing your serve with a few snowballs because spring is in the air. Ed Kaiser will have a meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 24 at 7 p.m. If you are the least bit interested in participating in tennis this spring please be in his office at the scheduled time.

LUCKY STRIKE presents: LUCKY TUFFERS

"AT THE PROM"

IF TOBACCO COULD TALK (and who is certain it can't?) it would beg to be placed in Luckies. However, we would turn a deaf ear. Only tobacco that can prove its worth will ever get in a Lucky. This may seem heartless—but it pays! Today, college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular. We'd never be able to make that statement if we listened to every slick-talking tobacco leaf that tried to get into Luckies.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!

DENNIS SPRINGER AND MARY BREITBACH babysit with Greg Gyalai, son of Mr. and Mrs. Math Gyalai; Cindy Patzman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Patzman; Mark Gyalai, Greg's brother; Mari- anne and Raphael Prom, children of Mr. and Mrs. Math Prom. New- man club members offer the babysitting service every Sunday dur- ing the 9:30 Mass.

Newmanites Selected

Mary Breitbach and Dennis Springer were selected as Miss and Mr. Newmanite for the 1961 fall quarter.

Two Newman Club members are selected each quarter for this honor on the basis of interest shown and work done for the Newman Foundation.

Mary Breitbach, H Ec soph, was selected for work done as public relations chairman, ex- ternal representative and execu- tive council member. She was chairman of the baby sitting program last year and has been active in different club projects.

Dennis Springer, EE soph, was selected for his fulfillment of duties as religious committee chairman. He is an executive council member and has worked on various club functions.

From the year's Mr. and Miss Newmanites, nominees will be selected for the Minnkota Pro- vince. Mr. and Miss Newmanite. Minnkota Province includes Minnesota, North and South Da- kota.

PIONEERING

Somewhere out there, beyond the realm of man's present understanding, lies an idea. A concept. A truth.

Gradually, as it comes under the concentration of disciplined minds, it will become clear, refined, mas- tered. This is the lonely art of pioneering.

In the Bell System, pioneering often results in major breakthroughs. Planning the use of satellites as vehicles for world-wide communications is one. Another is the Optical Gas Maser, an invention which may allow a controlled beam of light to carry vast numbers of telephone calls, TV shows, and data messages.

Breakthroughs like these will one day bring exciting new telephone and communications service to you. The responsibility of providing these services will be in the hands of the people who work for your local telephone company. Among them are the engineering, administrative and operations personnel who make your telephone service the finest in the world.

Rodeo Club Nominates Girl Spokesman

Bonita Bohnsack, H Ec jr, has been nominated by the NDSU Rodeo Club to be girl spokes- man from the Great Plains re- gion to the National Intercol- legiate Rodeo Assn. (NIRA), ac- cording to Fred Dohrman, ND SU Rodeo Club president.

The girl spokesman will rep- resent the Great Plains region at the NIRA finals rodeo and national convention to be held June 20, 21, 22, 23, in Denver.

Final selection of the girl spokesman will be made by vote from the rodeo clubs in the Great Plains region. This elec- tion will be held next month, the ballots to be mailed to the headquarters of the Great Plains region at Fort Collins, Colo.

The Great Plains region, a subdivision of the NIRA, in- cludes Wyoming, Colorado, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas and all points east.

Placement Office Job Interviews

Friday, Jan. 26

SHERWIN WILLIAMS COMPANY of Cleveland, Ohio will send a representative to our campus for the purpose of visiting with all students interested in the paint industry. Sherwin Williams is interested in visiting with all chemistry students, with particular interest in those students majoring in paint chemistry. Specific openings are also available with the company for mechanical and industrial engineering graduates in production and facility maintenance.

HUGHES AIRCRAFT COMPANY will not send interviewing representatives to our campus this year; however, the company would welcome applications from graduating physics and electrical engineering students. Areas of employment are research and development, field engineering, test engineering, design and engineering writing. Application forms are available in the Placement Office.

Minnesota County Welfare Merit System has announced examinations for welfare positions throughout the state of Minnesota. Please note that the examination is open to students majoring in sociology, psychology, economics, education and other related fields. Application forms are available in the Placement Office and must be submitted by Feb. 20, 1962.

The Firm of Bartholomew and Associates of Memphis, Tenn., provides professional services in the fields of city planning, civil engineering, landscape architecture and architecture. The organization is seeking to employ a number of recent engineering graduates interested in urban highway design work. Contact the Placement Office for help in filing your application.

Procter Gamble Company is seeking to employ a number of this year's graduates in opportunities involving data processing systems work. Programming responsibilities will be an important part of the early assignment. Management responsibilities will definitely be assigned to a number of these men within the next year or two. All interested graduates, regardless of academic background, are requested to contact the Placement Office for more information. If sufficient interest is demonstrated on campus, a Procter and Gamble Company representative may be scheduled to visit the campus at a later date.

ISA Scholarship Available

The annual Independent Students Association scholarship of $75 will be available again this year.

It will be allotted at $25 a quarter for three quarters.

Any student who has successfully completed one quarter at NDSU is eligible for this scholarship. Applications may be secured from Ray Hendrickson, Judy Sauders or Dave Moss.

Applications should be completed and returned to the person from whom it was obtained before Feb. 5.

The applications will be judged by a committee consisting of student and faculty members.

Library Gets New Hi-Fi; Plus 60 Records

"There are many new music listeners at the NDSU Library now," H. Dean Stallings, head librarian said. The reason is the purchase of a stereophonic console phonograph and a gift of 60 Hi-Fi records.

The phonograph was bought with money received from vending machines at the library. The Columbia Recording Company without any advance notice sent the collection to the library. "Some students have told me this collection could not be replaced for $500," Stallings said.

"LET'S PLAY THIS ONE", says Teddy Krump to Eunice Light as they prepare to play one of the library's many record albums on the new hi-fi set.

The records vary from "Rachmaninoff Symphony No. 2" to "Mormon Tabernacle Choir — Lord's Prayer" to "Bye Bye Birdie", a Broadway hit, to "The Big News of '59". The majority tend toward the heavy classical, however.

The stereo is by the library entrance. It will be moved to the student lounge later.

Students wishing to play records must check them out at the second floor desk. They are catalogued and the jackets are being displayed on the south and west halls on the second floor. The records may be played in the library only. According to Stallings, "We may permit the records to leave later. Students may tape the records, however."

The old record player was a gift from the Blue Key in 1950.

About 25 more records will be purchased Stallings said. "They will also be bought with money from the vending machines."
