Is General Overhaul Due on Conduct Rules?

Bison Boundaries, we hear, is up for revision. There is little question the student handbook should have periodic updating every few years if just to take care of things like name changes and personnel shifts.

But we wonder if this is not the time to do a general overhaul, not only of the booklet itself but of the many rules and instructions the book contains.

This probably is in the works, but if it isn't, a marvelous opportunity will be lost for building toward the University status. It is not easy to get agreement as to specifically wherein the booklet should be changed, because student handbooks tend to be controversial in any case.

At any given time you can get opinions about Bison Boundaries from "It's a no man's land, not a boundary." It's a steel and concrete wall, not a boundary."

We suggest that probably a lot of the needs of the booklet might be met by finding out what was said about student activities and student faculty relations in the recently-conducted "self survey".

Another likely source of information would be a campus-wide student committee, and, if a suitable committee does not exist already, a faculty-administration committee.

Finally, of course, there are the professional counseling and guidance people on campus. Thus far we have generalized. We owe it to readers to be specific. NDSU has often been termed a suitcase campus, and a look at the student calendar indicates that "Saturday night is the loneliest night of the week." Some deft worded rules regarding staging of student events might change this — and help repopulate the library week nights, too.

Student senate is talking about constitutional revisions, and certainly some changes are indicated, particularly in the area of standardizing election procedures and tightening financial controls. These, if made, would become Bison Boundaries' changes.

As always, the Spectrum welcomes your views on the subject. Spectrum Staff

Credit Union Gives Dividend

A four and one half per cent dividend and a 15 per cent interest refund on loans was declared by the NDSU Federal Employees Credit Union at the recent annual meeting.

It was reported that the credit union during the past year had loaned its millionth dollar and that a total of $179,502 had been loaned during the previous 12 months. Total assets increased $41,421 to an all time high of $270,654.

J. R. Dogger, professor of entomology; Robert H. Peterson, assistant professor of organic chemistry, and Gary C. Reinke, assistant superintendent of buildings and grounds, were elected to the board of directors. Other members are Wayland Gardner, assistant professor of economics, and H. Dean Stallings, librarian.

Stallings later was elected president of the board; Gardner, vice president; Peterson, secretary; and Dogger, treasurer.

Student Body Prexy Speaks

"Student-Administration Relations is Two Way Deal; Requires Efforts"

As Student Senate campaigning approaches again, there undoubtedly will be talk about improving student-administrative relations through the establishment of some type of student-administrative committee, etc.

This was one of my main platform points last year, and in an attempt to carry it out, Student Senate, after much discussion, proposed a plan calling for an amendment to the Senate Constitution which would have established a ninth commission of Student Senate for student-administrative relations.

This proposed amendment was brought up before the Committee on Student Affairs which has to approve all amendments to our Constitution.

After much discussion between the Student Senators present and the members of the Committee, it was generally agreed that perhaps we would be creating a commission on paper which would actually serve very little purpose.

The reasons for this decision were many, however, it was primarily felt that we should utilize our present Senate Constitution to the utmost before establishing any new commissions. The present Constitution calls for almost 30 members of the staff or faculty to be appointed by the President to serve on the various commissions.

It would seem that with 30 members of the staff and faculty working closely with senators, there should be plenty of opportunity for discussion and coordination.

Unfortunately, many of the Senate Commissioners never get around to finding some members of the faculty and staff to serve on their respective commissions, and the means of improving administrative-student relations is lost.

I feel that improvement of student-administrative relations is a two-way deal, and requires efforts on our part as well as the administrations.

I have always found that the President and Dean of Students are both very willing to talk over any mutual problems, and although we don't agree on everything, cooperation on the whole has been excellent. So often students prefer to complain to each other about campus problems, rather than to the people who can do something about it.

One more approach to improved relations has been the appointment by the President of students to the various permanent campus committees including the Housing Committee, the Campus Traffic Committee, and the Convocations Committee. This has been a step in the right direction and should be continued in the future.

With student elections coming up, I would certainly like to encourage all students who have an interest to run for Student Senate. You will find it a very enjoyable experience working in a campus-wide governmental organization of this type, and certainly a very beneficial experience.

Student Body President

Trimester or Four Quarter Year Discussed

Some changes are impending for NDSU, "the other university" and some of the other institutions of higher learning in the state as a result of the meeting last week of the Board of Higher Education.

The board voted to discuss before the next meeting the possibility of at least the two universities and some of the bigger teachers colleges going on a "four quarter" or a "three semester" system of year around classes.

It was pointed out that this would put to use many facilities idled during the summer months and might save construction of additional class room building in the future.

The board also took steps to unify the fees charged at North Dakota colleges and universities to make standard the rate charged for similar services. A. E. Mead, commissioner of higher education, stated that there have been instances of one school charging a fee 40 times as high as that charged by another for a similar service.

Some of the changes recommended were:

- A flat fee at extensions of $15 per semester hour, regardless of whether a student is a North Dakota resident.
- A late registration fee of $5 per day up to a total of $15.
- A charge of $1 for students to change study program.
- A uniform $10 graduation fee.
- A charge of $3 per semester hour for special examinations.
- Consolidate into student service fees such special charges as laboratory courses, diploma, placement, health, locker, etc. for a total of $37.50 a semester at the two universities and $30 at other schools.
- Group into student activity fees such charges as student union, yearbook, athletics, band and similar costs, not to exceed $37.50 at the two universities and $30 at the other colleges.

The proposed schedule will be reviewed by the presidents of the institutions concerned before board action is taken.

Redding, Korb Appointed to Committee

Gary Reddig, chem jr, and Harold Korb, phys soph, were recently appointed to the NDSU Campus Committee announced Wayne Hamann, NDSU student body president at last week's Student Senate meeting.

The appointments of the two students, both members of the Student Senate were made by NDSU president, Dr. Herbert Albrecht.

The Campus Committee is composed of four staff members and two student members according to Prof. Knute Henning, chairman of architecture, and chairman of the Campus Committee.

NDSU campus traffic rules and regulations come from the Campus Committee. The committee also studies the traffic problems of NDSU and other colleges and universities across the nation in an effort to prevent future problems before they materialize, Prof. Henning said.

Redding and Korb were appointed to serve on the committee for the rest of this academic year.

SU March of Dimes Campaign Feb. 5-9

"NEXT WEEK, Feb. 5-9, will go down on record as the 1962 NDSU-campus campaign of the March of Dimes," Jim Lanier and Roger Helgoe, co-chairmen, announce.

Every student will have ample opportunity to contribute and is urged to start saving now, Roger said. Students may try their hand at playing "Tic-Tac-Dime". Students will find cards for this game in the union and many of the dorms and other living areas.

Students living in fraternity and sorority houses will be fined for breaches of etiquette. All money collected will be contributed to the "March".

On Wednesday, Feb. 7, pairs of Greek organizations will compete in an all out effort to bankrupt the school, Jim said.

All contestants are to report to the ballroom dining room of the Student Union at their assigned time. Each group of contestants is allowed one hour to collect money by any legal means. The pairing and time schedule was determined by a drawing:

Sigma Chi, Kappa Kappa Gamma: 8-9; SAE, KD: 9-10; SPD, KKG: 10-11; TKE, KD: 11-12; Co-op, Phi Mu: 12-1; Farmhouse, AGD: 1-2; SN, KAT: 2-3; AGR, GPB: 3-4; Kappa Psi, KAT: 3-4; Theta Chi, AGD: 4-5; ATO, GPB: 5-6.

During the halftime of the Feb. 9 NDSU game the Rajahs will parade before the bleachers with a huge blanket in which students are asked to throw in their donations. The blanket will catch all donations if accurately thrown, Roger said. He mentioned that dorm dwelling co-eds should practice dime-tossing instead of twisting next week.

Also during halftime the fraternity and sorority pair which collected the most money will be presented with trophies.

Students may get their polio shots at the Health Center Feb. 7 and 8 between 6 and 8 p.m. for $1.25. Those students who have not as yet gotten shots are asked to note this time schedule.

This Year's campus March of Dimes will do as well as or better than last year's if we all spend wisely and generously next week, Jim said. "Let's fire up, march, march and show people in this state that NDSU students care enough to give freely," Jim stated.

"Remember, a dime in time saves yours and mine," he added.

tions towards the "March" campaign.

"Damn Yankees" Theme Older Than Baseball, Found in Faust

"I'd sell my soul to see the Senators win the pennant from the damn Yankees." This statement, from the mouth of the plump and balding, middle-aged real estate salesman, Joe Boyd, launches him into a hilarious, but heart-warming adventure in "Damn Yankees".

The theme of the story is old. Goethe was the first to expound on it in his immortal "Faust".

Christopher Marlowe took it up in the play "Dr. Faustus". In American Literature we have Stephen Vincent Benet's "The Devil and Daniel Webster". But Douglas Wallop gave it a new twist in his Book-of-the-Month Selection, "The Year the Yankees Lost the Pennant", on which the musical "Damn Yankees" is based. While the older literature dealt with the pact with the devil in a serious vein, the new twist is the injection of humor in the plot.

The Devil, in the person of the likable Mr. Applegate, appears and "buys" Joe's soul for the price of changing him into a young and unbeatable baseball player who can take the Washington Senators into first place.

Things are complicated a bit by the fact that Applegate, a devilish fellow, is a Yankee fan and intends only to bring the Senators close to a pennant win and then crush their hopes.

Joe gets more than a little peeved at this and decides to exercise the "escape clause" written into his pact with Applegate in order to return home. Applegate, trying to hold Joe, introduces Lola, his beautiful, tempting assistant.

(The plot now begins to thicken.)

Lola uses all her feminine wiles to keep Joe in tow, but it appears that Lola doesn't always get whatever Lola wants.

A number of vibrant characters appear in the production, which will be cast Feb. 20, 21 in Festival Hall. If the plot sounds interesting, you are invited to try out for the show. If it doesn't sound interesting, try out anyway and learn that it really is a humorous, song-packed production — "Damn Yankees".

Apply Now for Key Publications Posts

Applications are being taken for five key student publications posts, according to Sherwood Bassin, commissioner of publications.

- Jobs open include:
- Spectrum editor
- Spectrum business manager
- Bison Annual editor
- Bison business manager
- Student News Bureau editor

Application blanks may be picked up from the office of Dean Charles Sevrinson. Completed application can be mailed or handed to Bassin not later than Feb. 9.

Qualifications for the editing jobs should include high school or college journalism courses and high school or college newspaper experience, Bassin said. Salesmanship and business background are the most important qualifications for the business managerships, he said.

Applicants will be interviewed by the Board of Student Publications, and successful candidates will take over their duties spring quarter, except for the Bison Annual. Bison terms of office begin next fall.

Norum to Deliver Faculty Lectureship

"Our Soils: Our Support" is the topic of a lecture by Dr. E. B. Norum at the Memorial Union ballroom Feb. 13 at 8 p.m.

He is the sixth speaker in the Annual Faculty Lectureship Series at NDSU.

His lecture is one of a series begun six years ago at NDSU to recognize outstanding faculty members. The speakers are chosen by a committee composed of other faculty members.

Dr. Norum is professor and chairman of the department of soils since 1959 and has been associated with NDSU since 1947. He has been in farm management at the Green Giant Company, Le Sueur, Minn.

At Iowa State University he was teaching assistant and research associate. He was with the USDA Soil Conservation Service from 1936-1940, and was an assistant county agent for the University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service from 1935-1936.

The lecture is open to faculty, students and the general public.

AWS

All women candidates running for Student Senate positions should contact Phyllis Christmann immediately and arrange to appear and state their platforms at the Feb. 6 AWS meeting.

Mrs. Fred B. Scheel who is active in Family Service and other community activities will be the main speaker at the mass meeting of AWS which will be held from 4-5 p.m. in the ballroom.

4-H Club

The University 4-H Club will meet Feb. 8 at 7:30 p.m. in room 215 Morrill Hall. There will be a guest speaker.

"WINTER VALENTINE", theme of the Charity Ball, is evident in decorations being made by Virginia Nelson, Ginger Mease and Jane Lowitz.

Proceeds from the ball, sponsored by the Panhellenic Council, will go to a local charity.

SOCIAL NOTES

By NANCY FLATT

Winter Valentine sounds like a romantic theme for a dance and imagine the setting for the Charity Ball will be as romantic as possible. Many girls have again had to find dates and assume the masculine role. Panhellenic's Ball will be in the Union Saturday night at 9 p.m. Don't be surprised if you see girls taking over chivalrous responsibilities. A typical scene might be the picture below.

Gamma Phis. The Gamma Phis hosted the Theta Chis at an entertainment Tuesday night. Also Wednesday night the ATO pledges were guests of the KKG pledges. The annual Theta pie party took care of Thursday afternoon and the Jose Greco lyceum Thursday night. * * * New pledges at the ATO house are Jim Volare, Roger VanBeek and Dick Pals.

Scummies are now a common sight at sorority houses and the Thetas are the first house with new initiates. Their initiates were congratulated at the annual Founder's Day and Initiation banquet on Jan. 28 at the Biltmore. Now wearing active Theta pins are Kathy Cullen, Patty Dodge, Raetta Lou Hankel, Marilyn Amundson, Candy Clement, Barb Daley, Carol Sanders, Judy Van Vlissingen, Judy Landstrom, Carolyn Ballentyne, Lane Gunner, Karen Monson, Jackie Kvame, Gail Points and Ann Gahley. * * * This has been a week for activities and Monday the Kappa Psis and Thetas had exchange dinners as did the SAEs and

A pinning from the ATO house is John Roden to Joni Erdahl from Fargo. Another pinning is Sigma Chi Bill Gates to Carol Krefting from Rugby. * * * The weekend offers much social opportunity. Term parties Friday night are the CO-OP at the KC Hall and the Theta Chi Sweetheart Ball at the FM. There's also a SUAB dance at the Union and the Kappas will be slumbering at the Kappa house. The Charity should make for lots of fun. Wonder if they included "valentine" in the theme as a hint to people that Valentine's Day is fast coming Feb. 14.

Girls Like the Girl Who Married Dear Old Dad Are Out of Date

If you think that your great-grandparents enjoyed the same kind of courtship and marriage that the married couples of today do, you are mistaken. The main factor in choosing a mate in the settlement days of America was survival, according to Dr. William Hawkinson, professor of child development and family life at NDSU. Dr. Hawkinson discussed the changing role of the American family at the Y luncheon on Jan. 25. He said that in olden days a man looked for an able woman who could help with the crops besides raising a family. A large family was an asset with all ends turning inward. Food, clothing, recreation, education and even religion were all homemade. Divorce was unheard of, not because it wasn't desired, but because there was no employment or means of transportation for the divorced woman. Today the question of child-bearing and livelihood are not so important. Everything consumed by the family is produced outside the home. The mechanized age has stressed the importance of mobility so families are smaller and easier to move from place to place. The man who is looking for a wife looks for a play-mate instead of a work-mate. Emphasis is on companionship and common interests. If the couple find themselves incompatible, divorce offers a

Students Give Union Cashier Daily Chuckles

"Which boys would we like to sit with today," is obviously the question going through the minds of the NDSU coeds as they go through the coffee line in the Bison Room of the student union, said Mrs. Mable Swenson, cashier. However, after some debate the coeds usually lose their nerve and sit by themselves. This is one of many humorous incidents which Mrs. Swenson has observed in her seven years as cashier in the Bison Room. Another incident which she says happens quite often is, when two or more fellows buy coffee and one offers to pay for it but by the time he gets his money out the other fellow has already paid for it. Mrs. Swenson said the freshmen students are more shy and appreciative than the upper classmen. She always tries to make them feel at home and like they are among friends. She said she serves approximately 2000 students per day and that they are all friendly and treat her with respect.

THE MANY LOVES OF THORWALD DOCKSTADER

When Thorwald Dockstader—sophomore, epicure, and sportsman—first took up smoking, he did not simply choose the first brand of cigarettes that came to hand. He did what any sophomore, epicure, and sportsman would do: he sampled several brands until he found the very best—a mild, rich, flavorful smoke—an endless source of comfort and satisfaction—a smoke that never palled, never failed to please—a smoke that age could not wither nor custom stale—a filter cigarette with an unfiltered taste—Marlboro, of course!

Similarly, when Thorwald took up girls, he did not simply select the first one who came along. He sampled. First he dated an English literature major named Elizabeth Barrett Schwartz, a wisp of a girl with large, luminous eyes and a soul that shimmered with a pale, unearthly beauty. Trippingly, trippingly, she walked with Thorwald upon the beach and sat with him behind a windward dune and listened to a conch shell and sighed sweetly and took out a little gold pencil and a little morocco notebook and wrote a little poem:

*I will lie upon the shore,
I will be a dreamer,
I will feel the sea once more,
Pounding on my femur.*

Thorwald's second date was with a physical education major named Peaches Glendower, a broth of a girl with a ready smile and a size 18 neck. She took Thorwald down to the cinder track where they did 100 laps to open the pores. Then they played four games of squash, six sets of tennis, 36 holes of golf, nine innings of one o'eat, six chukkers of lacrosse, and a mile and a quarter of leapfrog. Then they went ten rounds with eight ounce gloves and had heaping bowls of whey and exchanged a firm handshake and went home to their respective whirlpool baths.

Thorwald's final date was with a golden-haired, creamy-browed, green-eyed, red-lipped, full-calved girl named Totsi Sigafos. Totsi was not majoring in anything. As she often said, "Gee whillikers, what's college for anyhow—to fill your head full of icky old facts, or to discover the shining essence that is YOU?"

Totsi started the evening with Thorwald at a luxurious restaurant where she consumed her own weight in Cornish rock hen. From there they went to a deluxe movie palace where Totsi had popcorn with butter. Then she had a bag of chocolate covered raisins—also with butter. Then they went to a costly ballroom and did the Twist till dawn, tipping the band every eight bars. Then they went to a Chinese restaurant where Totsi, unable to translate the menu, solved her problem by ordering one of everything. Then Thorwald took her to the women's dorm, boosted her in the window, and went downtown to wait for the employment office to open.

While waiting, Thorwald thought over all of his girls and came to a sensible decision. "I think," he said to himself, "that I will stick with Marlboros. I am not rich enough for girls."

Marlboro, however, is rich enough for anybody. It takes mighty good makin's to give you unfiltered taste in a filter cigarette. That's the flavor you get in the famous Marlboro recipe from Richmond, Virginia. You get a lot to like.

Coeds Teach Adult Classes, Gain Valuable Experience -

Students enrolled in Home Economics Education 472 have a better understanding of adults and how they learn, after the first hand experience which they gain.

The first half of this quarter 16 coeds gained valuable experience in working with adults by teaching adult classes.

As future teachers, not only did they educate the class members but also themselves. Practically all of them taught two classes. Several of the classes were set up through the Fargo Public Schools Adult Homemaking program.

Miss Marion Benson, associate professor of home economics and instructor for Education 472, said it was apparent that the girls enjoyed their experience. "Adult teachers spoke highly of the way they carried out the lessons," she added.

Judy Jennings and Marianne Olson taught classes in beginning clothing at Central High School under the supervision of Mrs. Beverly Slatten.

Stalla Kively and Kathlyn Schumacher gave demonstrations on the making of garnishes and quick breads in "Meals in One Dish" under the supervision of Mrs. Lois Briggs.

Advanced clothing was taught by Mary Carrol and Mae Kemmer under the supervision of Mrs. Jane Nissen.

Tailoring was taught by Kathy Vigesaa and Janice Nording at the Benjamin Franklin School.

Caroline Holman and Diane Myer taught classes in crafts at the Fargo Nursing Home.

Helen Koszalka taught First Aid in the College of Pharmacy.

A lesson in good laundry techniques and practices was presented by Kathy Marcussen, Sharon Helseth and Alyce Puppe to a Homemakers Club in West Fargo.

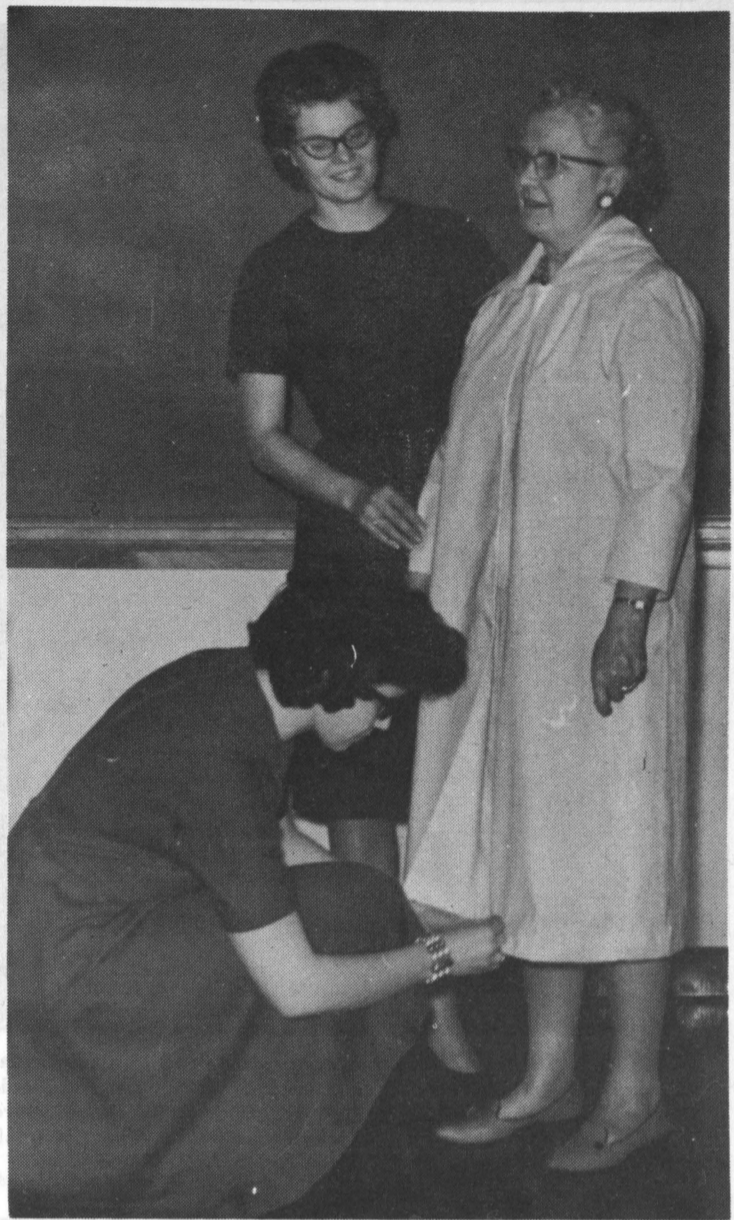

Faye Eggar and Gayle Helgeson will teach Senior Citizens on Feb. 9.

According to the coeds, this was a wonderful experience which will be of tremendous help in the months ahead.

"I really enjoyed it but there should have been more classes to teach," Stella Kivley commented.

This was a wonderful opportunity to gain this experience. I want to go back and see how the adults are doing in the classes I taught," Judy Jennings said.

"Adults aren't interested in listening to just anything. The subject must be worthwhile," commented Sharon Helseth.

CHECKING THIS GARMENT for Mrs. H. G. Bell for proper fit are Janice Nordeng, kneeling, and Kathy Vigesaa. Both taught a tailoring class.

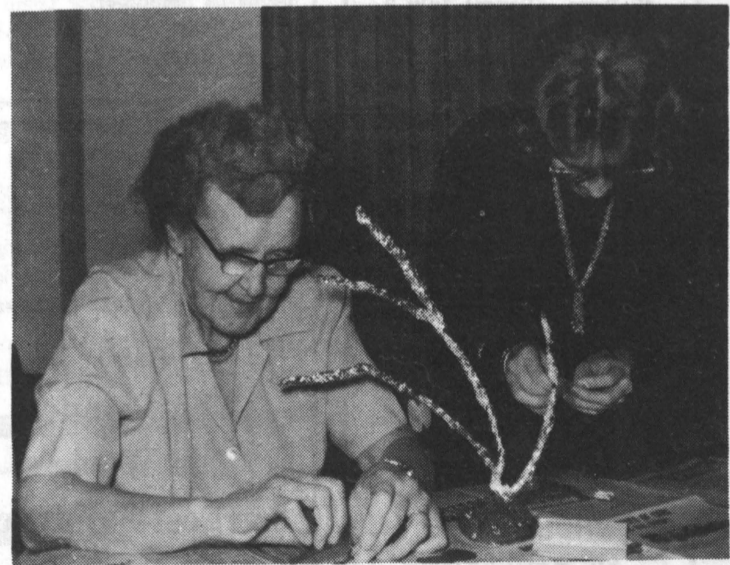

THE FINAL PRODUCT is a true test of skill. Stella Kivley, left, taught a class on "Meals in One Dish". Examining the baked goods are Mrs. Leonard Herrmann and Mrs. Cynthia Thorson.

PRESSING IS SO EASY if done properly! Mary Carrol gave a pressing demonstration in the advanced clothing course she taught.

BASIC TECHNIQUES in beginning clothing construction were taught by Marianne Olson, right. Examining the pattern are Miss Sandi Carson and Mrs. Leland Crook.

ELDERLY PEOPLE are interested in learning also. Caroline Holman is teaching Anna Samuelson, resident of the Fargo Nursing Home, how to make a table centerpiece.

"YES, PLEASE! Honor students were entertained at a Scholarship Recognition Coffee Tuesday sponsored by Blue Key and Senior Staff. Mrs. Herbert Albrecht and Mrs. Charles Sevrinson poured coffee. Mrs. Albrecht is shown serving coffee to John Bjornhold, EE fr. Dr. Albrecht spoke to the group.

Students Take Part In Winter Week

Cold winds, icy sidewalks, snow storms and sub-zero temperatures provide ideal conditions for the Student Union Activities Board Winter Week. Activities began Wednesday and will continue through Saturday concluding with the Charity Ball from 9-12 p.m. in the Union Ballroom.

Today's activities include a "jam session" in the State Room of the Union from 3-5 p.m. Students are urged to relax, grab a cup of coffee and listen to music between classes, according to Frank Lantz and Ginny Egan, co-chairmen. Everyone is invited to the Twist Party tonight from 9-12 p.m. in the Ballroom. Tomorrow's events include the overshoe hockey in Island Park from 1-5 p.m. The bridge, whist and pinochle tournaments were held Wednesday from 8-10 p.m.

Trophies and awards for all winners in the various events will be presented at intermission at the Charity Ball.

Scripture Display Featured For Religious Emphasis Week

During Religious Emphasis Week a scripture display will be on exhibit in NDSU library. The exhibit will be made up of texts and editions of the Bible that has been assembled by the Campus Religious Staff from libraries and private collections in the Midwest.

Some items included in the exhibit:

A facsimile of the Gutenberg Bible. This edition is one of the 300 copies printed in Leipzig in 1914, and is a careful reproduction of the 42 line Gutenberg Bible produced at Mainz from movable type.

A facsimile of the Borso D'Este Bible, a notable example of 15 century illumination and miniature painting.

A reproduction of the Dead Sea Scrolls; a 16 century edition of the Nicolaus of Lyra Latin Bible, the edition from which Martin Luther translated the Bible into German.

A reproduction of Codex Sin-aiticus, the Greek manuscript discovered at Mount Sinai in the last century which is so important in determining exact transmission of the Bible text.

A reproduction of the Lindesfarne Gospels, an 8 century Bible with Celtic illumination.

A modern example of calligraphy and illumination in Bible production from a monastery in Germany.

Showmanship Judges Chosen For Little International

Judges were announced by Lloyd Danielson, a member of the Saddle and Siroin Club and NDSU senior, to officiate the showmanship contest of the Little International. The event will be held on the evening of Feb. 17 at the NDSU Livestock Arena.

Those chosen to officiate are Glenn Haugen, Robert Gee, Bob Magill, and Dean Workman.

Haugen will be the judge of the swine show. He is now the editor of the Bar North, the official magazine of the North Dakota Stockman's Association, and a former county agent and graduate of NDSU.

The sheep show will be judged by Gee, also a former graduate of NDSU and Clay County club agent. He is presently a Southdown breeder of rural Moorhead, Minn.

Magill was selected to judge the beef show. He is now the manager of the Borsota Short-horns at Waubun, Minn. He is a former graduate of NDSU where he was also previously employed as beef herdsman.

The dairy show will be judged by Workman, a Jersey breeder of Borup, Minn., and also an auctioneer.

Candidates Urged To Pick Up Petitions Feb. 2 Through Feb. 6

The time for student elections is rapidly drawing near. Petitions for candidates will be picked up this Friday, Feb. 2, through noon, Feb. 6 and must be returned to Dean Severson's office by 1 p.m. Feb. 6. Campaigning for the various offices which are open will start Feb. 2 and continue through midnight Feb. 12.

Six two-year senate seats and seven one-year seats plus the office of student body president will be open for election. Each candidate for senator must have an overall average of no less than 2.25, and candidates for president must have an average of at least 2.50. The top six vote getters for two year senators and the top seven candidates for one year senate will be elected. Voting will be held in the student union on Tuesday, Feb. 13.

Now is the time for all interested parties to pick up their petitions and begin campaigning. Any additional information concerning campaigning regulations and voting procedures may be found in last week's copy of the Spectrum.

Student senate is a more than excellent opportunity for each and every individual to express himself and contribute to the governing of his university. This great opportunity should, under no circumstances be allowed to pass by, Kirby Erickson, commission of campus affairs.

Foreign students were guests of Newman Club. On Sunday, Jan. 28, the Newman Club started a new program to be carried out on an annual basis according to John Strand, chairman of the program.

discussions will be held. It is the feeling of the Newman Club that this is an opportunity for the foreign students and the students of NDSU to get better acquainted with each other.

Once each year all of the foreign students, in groups of five or six, will be invited to be the guests at the Newman Club's Sunday night dinner after which a series of informal

GROWING BEARDS FOR "THE LOWER DEPTHS" are Bob Thorson, Duane Saba (back), John Nelson and Bruce Tannehill.

Fellows Grow Beards for "Lower Depths"

By TEDDY KRUMP

Beards, mustaches and sideburns are being grown by a number of the male members of the cast for "The Lower Depths". John Nelson had only one complaint, that they hurt the date situation.

"ROTC doesn't like it and it is NOT for the U-Series," commented Duane Saba. Bruce Tannehill said that he has had a beard for eight months, but that he trims it now and then.

Bob Thorson said about the character he portrays, "I like him and I sympathize with him." Tannehill thoroughly enjoys his part. Nelson said that he feels he has a part that can be developed very well. Saba is interested in the background of his stage person, the Tartar.

Co-eds in the play are not to be forgotten, either. Some of them have been growing their hair longer, but gratefully, they can't boast sideburns, or a two-month whisker growth.

Costume girls have been busy fitting the playmakers to suit their roles. Part of the difficulty the wardrobe girls have is due to the fact that most students throw away sweaters which become patterned with holes and snags.

Technical rehearsals are now in progress, and the task of lighting a cellar realistically is being undertaken.

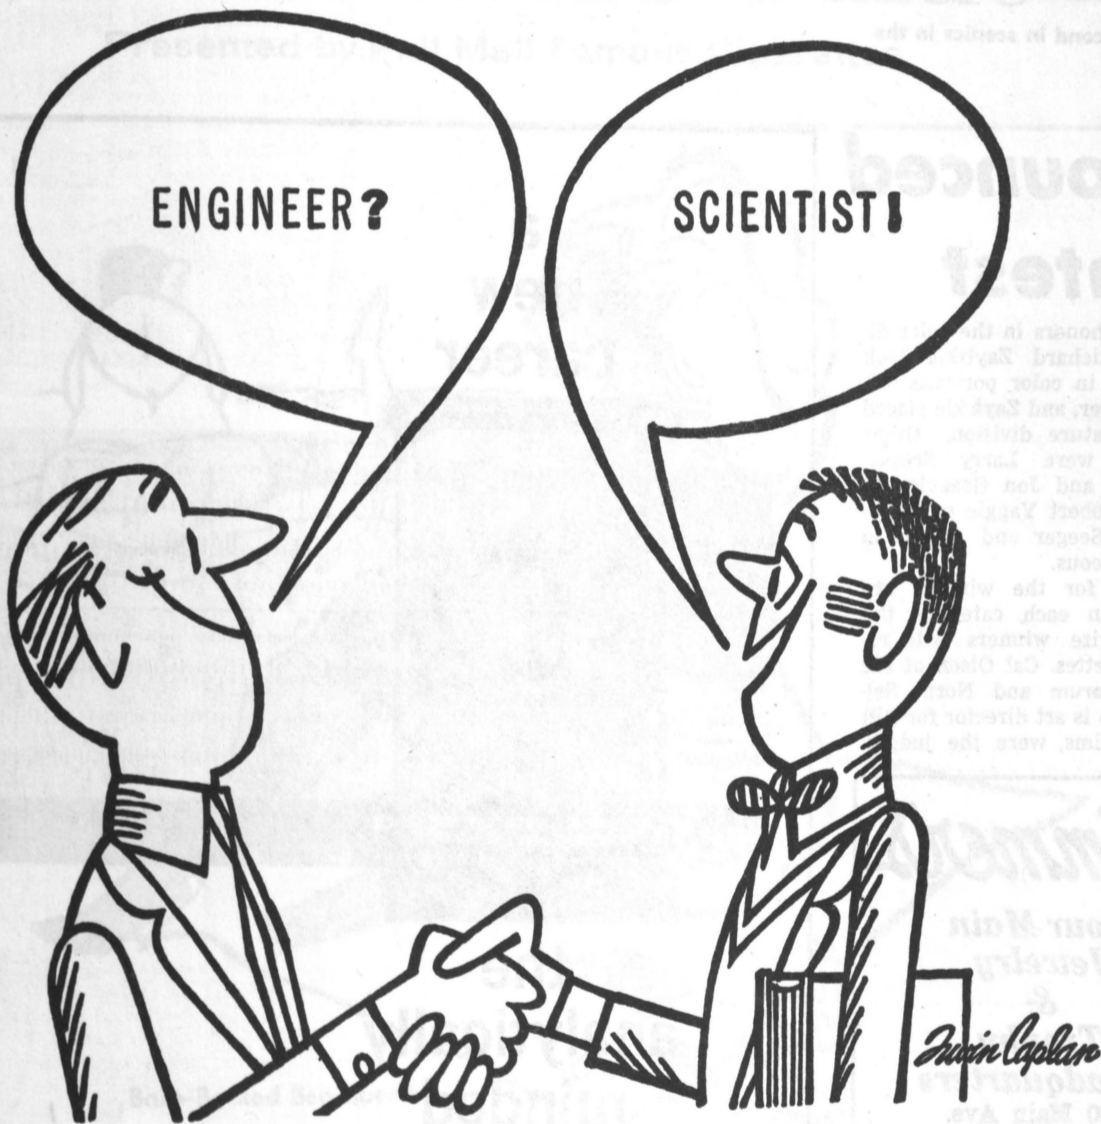

Dress rehearsals will be this coming week. As the opening night draws near, tension mounts and all counterparts are in action, and trying to do more than a good job.

"The Lower Depths" will be presented Feb. 7, 8, 9, and 10 at the Little Country Theatre.

Six Students Appointed to SUAB Board

The Student Union Activities Board recently announced the appointment of six students who will serve on the board until graduation.

The new members are: Karen Unger, Donovan Eck, David Pollock, Sherwood Olson, Stuart Bond, and Virginia Egan.

We're looking forward to meeting you

We'll be on the campus on the dates listed below, ready to give engineering and science seniors information on space-age careers in a dynamic industry. If you are looking for a company offering assignments on programs of unique interest and career potential, you'll be interested in the advantages Boeing can offer you.

Boeing, for instance, is a major contractor on such advanced programs as the Saturn S-1B advanced first stage booster, the Dyna-Soar manned space glider, the solid-fuel Minuteman ICBM, and the Bomarc defense missile system. Boeing is also the world's foremost designer and builder of multijet aircraft, including the eight-jet B-52H missile bomber, the KC-135 tanker-transport, the C-135 cargo-jet, and the famous Boeing 707, 720 and 727 jetliners. In addition, Boeing's Vertol Division is one of America's leading builders of helicopters.

Research projects at Boeing are under way in such advanced fields as celestial mechanics, solid state physics, nuclear and plasma physics, flight sciences, space flight and propulsion.

Expanding Boeing programs offer exceptional opportunities to holders of B.S., M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in aeronautical, mechanical, civil, electrical-electronic and industrial engineering, and in engineering mechanics, engineering physics as well as in mathematics and physics. At Boeing you'll work in a small group where individual ability and initiative get plenty of visibility. You'll enjoy many other advantages, including an opportunity to take graduate studies at company expense to help you get ahead faster.

Drop in to your Placement Office and arrange for an interview. We're looking forward to meeting you!

KEY IDEAS

"A BLUE KEY MEMBER SPEAKS"

By ARVILLE BAKKEN

Again we are observing Religious Emphasis Week. What does this mean to us?

Many of us are so taken up with the daily routine of classes, studies, coffee hours, committee meetings, evening entertainments, and other things, that we do not find any time to devote to our God. We may feel that when we are through with this "rat race" (as we might refer to college life), we will have time to "take care of" our religious beliefs.

How do we know that life itself is not a constant "rat race."

Then, is one week out of the year, or even every Sunday enough? Do we think of religion as only a "snap course" in which there is no "homework" involved?

I am certain we must realize the great importance of religion. It gives a purpose in life, a goal, which is basic in our life's vocation.

It should not be separated from a college education; IT'S PART OF IT!

We have the opportunity right here on our campus to take part in the activities of our own particular religious group. We are cheating ourselves by not taking advantage of this opportunity.

If we apply our religious beliefs to our daily lives, I am certain we will put greater emphasis on our studies in order to gain as much as possible from a college education.

It will also encourage us to take an active interest in the understanding of other people in this world and in the search for eventual world peace.

There is great power in religion. LET'S TAKE ADVANTAGE OF IT!

Winners Announced In Photo Contest

Dotts picture titled "Saskatchewan Glacier" also took first place in the black and white scenic division. Other winners in the black and white division were Kathlyn Schumacher and Marlo Brackelsberg for portraits; Dotts, first and second place, Ralph E. Peotter, third place in scenic; Peotter, first place in general; Dotts, Diane Oss, and Marlo Breckelsberg in miscellaneous.

The black and white photos are on display in the library but the color slides cannot be displayed satisfactorily according to Wade Adams, contest manager.

Douglas to Give Math Lectures

Dr. Jim Douglas, Jr., will be the featured speaker at a series of lectures on mathematics at NDSU Feb. 5 and 6.

Dr. Douglas, professor of mathematics at Rice University, will speak on the "Influence of Computers on the Undergraduate Curriculum" at 4 p.m. Monday afternoon. That same evening at 7:30 he will speak on "The Mathematician in Industry." Both lectures will be in Minard Hall 319.

Tuesday, Dr. Douglas will give an "Introduction to Numerical Analysis" at 11 a.m. "The Maximum Principle and Its Applications" will be his final lecture at 4 p.m.

Professor Glenn Hill, chairman of the department of mathematics at NDSU, said he was pleased to bring this outstanding educator to the campus. "Each year we try to bring a distinguished mathematician to this area," said Hill. He urged all teachers, students and anyone interested in mathematics to attend the lectures.

took top honors in the color division. Richard Zaylskie took the prize in color portraits. Olson, Peotter, and Zaylskie placed in the nature division. Other winners were Larry Seeger, Zaylskie, and Jon Greenley in scenic; Robert Yaggie in general with Seeger and Adams in miscellaneous.

Prizes for the winners are ribbons in each category, the grand prize winners will receive rosettes. Cal Olson of the Fargo Forum and Norm Selberg, who is art director for Bill Snider films, were the judges.

a new career

for the analytically minded

An analytical mind can carry you a long way in the fast-moving field of electronic data processing. If you have a flair for business... and enjoy solving tough problems... you can discover unique satisfaction in this new career.

Openings are available throughout the country in either Systems Engineering or Direct Sales. IBM is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

The marketing and application of data processing systems is challenging and fascinating. After comprehensive training you help management executives solve problems which include automation of: process control and manufacturing operations, inventory control, document preparation, highway planning, weather forecasting; and complete business control systems for utilities, transportation, banking, and insurance, to name but a few. New techniques of automatic data processing are making headline news almost daily.

We have a critical need for those who have majored in science, mathematics, and engineering. And we have equal opportunities for majors in business administration, economics, finance and liberal arts with an aptitude and interest in electronic data processing.

It's a new professional field for both men and women in which earnings are high and promotions come quickly. For more information describing the opportunities at IBM, see your College Placement Director or, if you desire, write or call—

Fegley Returns From England As Youth Exchange Student

"They told me the queen was smashing", although I didn't get a close look at her myself," related Ralph Fegley, Ag jr. Fegley returned this month from England where he was a Youth Exchange Student for eight months. Fegley and five other young men from the United States were sponsored by the National Farmers Union and the United Kingdom Sponsoring Authority as participants in the International Exchange of Young Agriculturalist Program. The purpose of this program is to promote international understanding and show agriculture as the basis of world economy.

Fegley lived with a family of six on a farm in Herefordshire, England, near the Wales border. He learned British farm methods and culture by living as one of the family, sharing in work and fun. Ralph appeared on radio and TV programs, participated in the Young Farmers Club (similar to our 4-H), and hereford judging shows.

Fegley traveled in France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Austria, Italy, and Switzerland.

"We went to Berlin, the most adventurous part of our trip," Fegley said. "Arriving at the border we had about two hours of red tape to go through before being able to travel the 100 miles in Russian territory to West Berlin."

"The American soldiers told us that we could go into East Berlin at our own risk but that four days before two Americans had gone in and had taken pictures of what the Russians claimed were armament installations. They hadn't come back. Even so, we decided to go in."

"I liked Switzerland best as a country because of its natural and calm atmosphere," Fegley said. "Holland was next with its beautiful canals and Austria third with its old-fashioned customs. Germany and France were next for no other reason except to place them over Italy which I disliked because of its horn-honking, tourist-robbing people."

Fegley attended the Royal Welsh Show in Wales where he saw Queen Elizabeth II, Prince Philip and Princess Anne.

"These past eight months of work, travel and living with the British people made up one of the greatest learning experiences of my life," Fegley said.

PAGING THROUGH HIS SCRAPBOOK, Ralph Fegley recalls his eight months in "Merry Old England."

Bare-Backed Beachbomb

LESSON 2 - What about standards?

Advanced students of girl watching never waste eyeball effort watching girls who are not beautiful. Standards must be kept high.

But how do we judge whether a girl is worth watching? Although many strict academicians will shudder at our aesthetics, we must insist that a girl is beautiful if she is beautiful to you. (That's the beauty of girl watching. Every girl is beautiful to someone!) For example, many observers have pointed out that the Bare-Backed Beachbomb (see above) has a weak chin.

Yet none of these keen-eyed experts would deny that she is indeed an attractive specimen. And, speaking of standards, don't forget to keep your smoking standards high. Smoke Pall Mall!

MIKE SYLVESTER OF NDSU in a bout with Len Volk of Minot.

Yost, Gamrath Win
Wrestling Titles

Two weeks ago, the wrestling team went to Mayville to compete in the state meet. The team came back in fourth place, but two SU wrestlers came away from the meet with state titles. The wrestlers were Gary Yost and Gerald Gamrath.

Gerald Gamrath won the state title in the 177 lb. class by decisioning Vince Fink of Minot 12-4.

In his preliminaries, Gamrath pinned Bedard of Mayville in 5 minutes 46 seconds of the second period and decisioned Ackerman of UND, 4-3. Gamrath attended high school in Valley City and participated in football and wrestling.

During his freshman year he had 11-2 record on the wrestling squad, while this year's record is 11-3.

Gary Yost won the state crown in the 137 lb. class by decisioning Kroft 4-1. In his prelims, Gary pinned Gross and Mueller.

Gary graduated from WCSA of Morris, Minn., where he competed in cross country for four years and wrestling for three. In the past three years at NDSU, he has continued in both fields winning his first varsity letter in cross country this fall and has won two varsity letters in wrestling.

During his three years at NDSU, Gary has compiled a 33-3 record with a 13-0 record this year.

North Dakota State edged Valley City for second place in the quadrangular meet at the fieldhouse last Saturday. Minot finished first with 76 points. NDSU was second with 54, Valley City, 46, and the University of Saskatchewan, 16.

Gary Yost continued in his winning ways by taking all three matches as did Ron Hanson.

Jerry Hill and Gerald Gamrath each took two out of three and Mike Sylvester and Gordon Johnson each won one.

Wednesday, Thursday & Friday, Feb. 7, 8 & 9

REMINGTON RAND UNIVAC of Minneapolis, Minn. will send Mr. Gordon Bourne to our campus seeking employment interviews with senior electrical engineering students. Assignments are available in areas of design, research and development, manufacturing or production, writing and field maintenance of computers.

Wednesday, Feb. 7

FEDERAL AVIATION AGENCY will seek interviews with electronic, mechanical and civil engineering students scheduled for spring graduation. It should be pointed out that considerable travel is involved with F.A.A. Per diem is paid for all travel. Mr. S. F. Bussing will be interviewer for the F.A.A. agency.

Wednesday, Feb. 7

CUTLER-HAMMER, INCORPORATED, Milwaukee, Wis., will have a team of representatives on campus to interview senior engineering students interested in employment with an electrical manufacturing company whose products include electric motor controls and a wide range of accessories. They seek electrical, mechanical and industrial engineers for assignments in sales engineering systems engineering, development engineering and manufacturing engineering.

Thursday & Friday, Feb. 8 & 9

NORTH AMERICAN AVIATION will send representatives from the Autonetics Division at Downey, Calif. Rocketdyne Division at Canoga Park, Calif. and the Los Angeles Division of the company. All technical students interested in aviation, space flight and related activities are invited to register for interviews with one or more of the divisions represented on campus. Contact the Placement Office for company brochures.

THE STATE OF WASHINGTON DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS will conduct personal interviews in the Fargo area through the local facilities of the North Dakota State Employment Office on North Tenth Street. All Civil Engineering seniors interested in highway or bridge assignments with the State of Washington are requested to contact the Placement Office and interviewing arrangements will be arranged for you. Interviewing will be conducted on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 9 & 10.

Career Cues:

"Whatever your major, make sure to include a course in 'people'!"

W. Emlen Roosevelt, President
National State Bank, Elizabeth, N. J.

"If my college adviser had prophesied that studying psychology would some day help promote my career in banking, I'd have scoffed. Yet that is exactly what has happened. And when I think about it now the reason seems obvious. The facts and figures of banking, or of any other field, are mechanical devices. They take on real meaning only when related to people.

"Good psychology is also the basis of all teamwork. And, since most of today's business and scientific problems are too complicated for 'one man' solutions, teamwork is essential. If you want to be a valuable team player, and a likely candidate for captain, be the person who understands people. Learn what it takes for people to work together in harmony. Learn how to win trust and confidence. Learn basic human psychology.

"Bear this in mind, too. World tension, community tension, business tension, even family tension are the facts of everyday life. The more you know of human behavior, the better prepared you will be to deal with these problems.

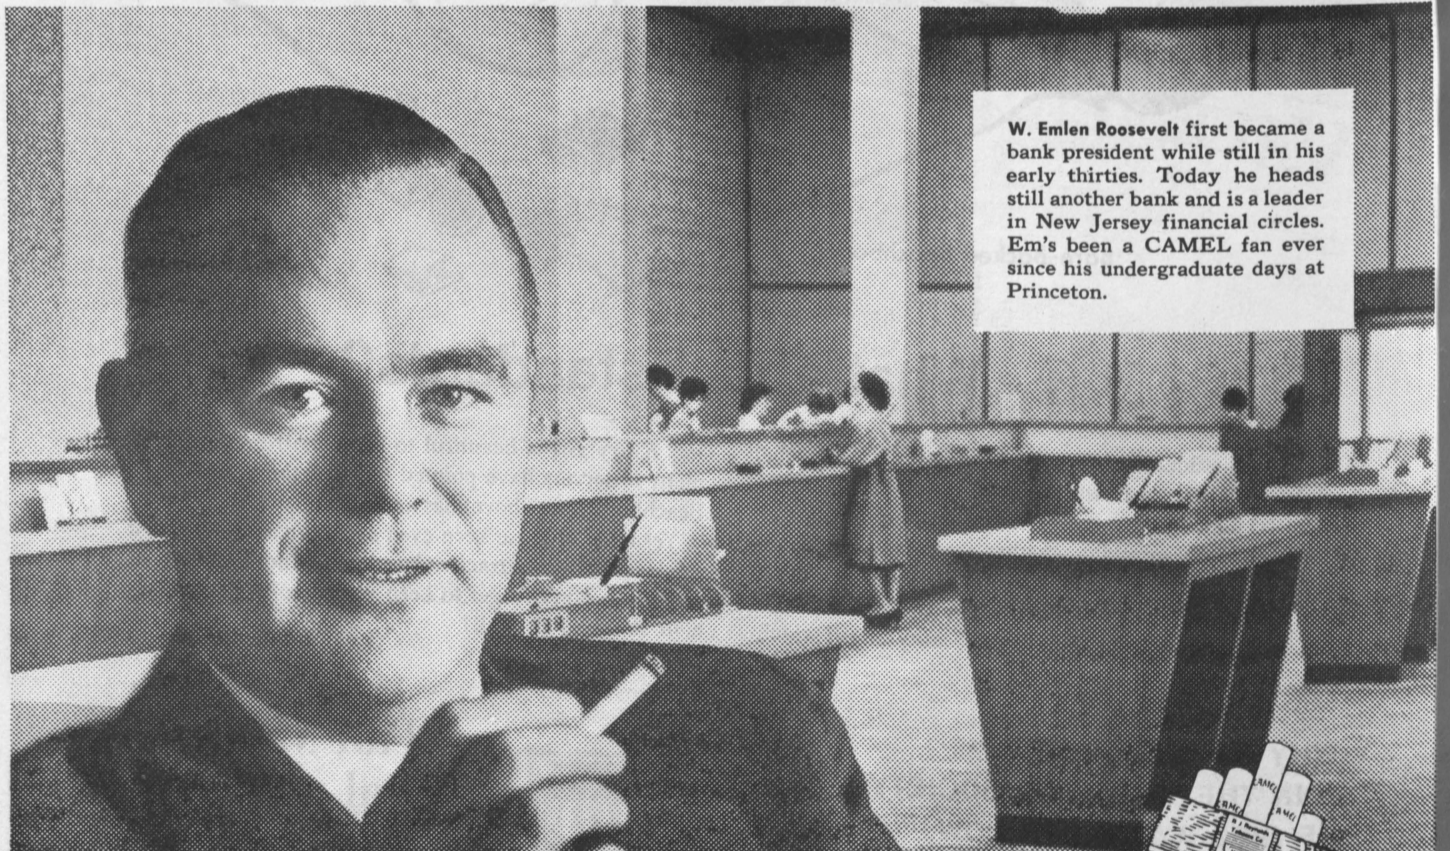

"So, if you have the chance, take a course devoted to 'people.' Your class adviser can probably help you fit a psychology elective into your schedule. I don't think you'll regret it... I know I didn't."

Salesman Uses Live Model
at P E Meeting

"Models imported from Paris", explained Dick Ossner as he presented a group of girls from Concordia, Moorhead State, and NDSU modeling gym-wear at a meeting for physical education majors and minors at the NDSU fieldhouse Jan. 18.

Ossner is a representative from a firm which manufactures girls and women's gym-wear. He showed the many different designs of gym suits ranging in style from the 1930's to the 1960's. He also told of his many interesting experiences of entering into women's gym classes throughout the United States.

Ossner travels by plane to colleges and universities all over the country. He does not travel alone however. He takes with him a pet skunk that he uses as part of his material in advertising.

W. Emlen Roosevelt first became a bank president while still in his early thirties. Today he heads still another bank and is a leader in New Jersey financial circles. Em's been a CAMEL fan ever since his undergraduate days at Princeton.

BISON BITS

By SHERRY BASSIN

NDSU fell to cross-town rival Concordia by a score of 66-57 before a cheering crowd at the Fieldhouse last Monday.

It was the type of ballgame that followed its pattern form of the previous six or seven ball-games.

The first 30 minutes the Bison were "tougher" than almost any ball club that has ever played on this hardwood court. In the last ten minutes there was a complete change. This I guess, is where an experienced bench usually tells the difference.

A team with experienced reserves usually finishes the winner after 40 minutes of play. At least this has been the story the last few weeks.

The first half of the last few contests we have played much superior ball than our opposition.

Then, as our starting five tires, the opposition starts to take form.

From then on, the opposing team never looks back because they're usually on their way to victory.

It certainly isn't the coach or players fault, you can only ask so much from them.

The have certainly done their part, and as most people they are not superhuman.

There was certainly an exhibition of college spirit at last Monday's game.

There doesn't seem to be much love between the two schools when they meet in competition.

This is undoubtedly excellent to have inter-school spirit such as was exhibited last week, as long as it is forgotten after the winner of the competing sport is decided.

If inter-school spirit ever advanced to such an extent that it stands as a stumbling block to the advancement of higher education in any two competing schools, then this is the time to "fold your tents like the Arabs, and silently steal away."

The Bison journey south this weekend to face Morningside and South Dakota University.

INTRAMURALS

By DENNIS KALDOR

By the time this article goes to press the ping-pong championship will have been decided. The playoffs were held Tuesday night between the SAE, ATO, Co-op and YMCA teams.

The intramural All-Star team was also discussed and several players were nominated for the team which is due to play the freshman team on Feb. 10. Additional selections were made during the past week and a practice will be held at 5:30 tonight in the Fieldhouse.

Cuts from the team will be made at this time by Ed Kaiser, coach of the All-Star team.

This sort of thing was done a few years ago and at that time the intramural team defeated the freshman team.

Concordia Defeats SU Bison Before Large Cheering Crowd

By JOE SCHNEIDER

The Concordia Cobbers, led by Frank Johnson, edged the NDSU Bison 66-57 last Monday night while a fieldhouse full of cheering students represented their respective schools.

The Bison, paced by Wayne Langen who scored 15 points in the first half, led throughout the first ten minutes.

By consecutive scoring and having control over the backboards, Wayne Langen and Roger Erickson forced the Concordia coach to continually substitute Frank Johnson and Dick Pett in an effort to snare away some of the rebounds from the Bison team.

The highlight of the second half and of the whole game was the fight which developed between opposing centers, Roger Erickson and Dick Pett.

Pett, a 6'7" junior, who played three years of high school ball with Ron McLeod, was grabbed by Erickson as tempers began to flair on both sides. Play was resumed with a little less than two minutes remaining after both boys were sent out of the game.

Frank Johnson of Concordia who scored 23 of his 26 points in the last half, led the Cobbers to their victory. Ron McLeod hit a shooting spree at the end of the game to run his game total up to 10 points, tying Roger Erickson's point total.

Due to the terrific amount of enthusiasm shown at this game it is safe to say that the Concordia-NDSU games might soon match the UND-NDSU games for team spirit.

Bison Team Has 'Must' Series

NDSU bowlers have two "must" matches this weekend, when they meet the first and second place teams in the Tri-State College conference.

Bison bowlers will be at Grand Forks on Saturday for matches with the University of North Dakota and Mankato State College. UND leads the conference, Mankato is second and the Bison are third.

Jim Anderson, the leading Bison bowler and sporting the highest average in the league, has been bothered by flu this week and Coach Gordon Teigen is not sure if he will be ready for this weekend's activity. If Anderson has to sit out, he will be replaced by Chuck Forslund.

Other Bison bowlers are Larry Paulson and Jerry Sjuje, Roy Følstad and Bryan Thompson.

Bison freshmen bowlers, undefeated in three matches, will be at the Morris Branch of the University of Minnesota on Saturday. Frosh bowlers scheduled to make the trip are Jerry Clyne, Gary Bartle and Cliff Henneby, Frank Northrup and Dave Mott.

Coeds Practice For Bowling Tournament

The sound of falling pins was heard throughout the Memorial Union bowling alley on Saturday, Jan. 19. Twelve NDSU girls were practicing for the annual association of College Unions tournament. This will be held in February.

They were picked from the Womens' Recreational Association bowling league. Having the top averages in the league they will represent NDSU in the tourney.

The bowlers include Janet Anderson, Marjeanne Tehven, Rae Ann Winlaw, Collette Buhr, Marsha Bergman, Gail Anderson, Janice Score, Karen Loberg, Vicki Helming, Dixie Gifford, Carol Luntke and Marla Robberstad.

According to Gordon Teigen, assistant director of the student union, the top two girls in this region will receive an all expense paid trip to Phoenix, Ariz., to compete in the national finals. The states in this region are the Dakotas and Minnesota.

"In past years the terms from NDSU have done very well," Teigen said.

The bowlers will compete against the University of Minnesota, The University of North Dakota, Mankato State College, Bemidji State College, and Dakota Wesleyan University at Mitchel, S. D.

"More schools will be entered later," Teigen added.
