NDSU Gold Star Band To Give Concert on Campus March 18

A special concert by the University Chorus and the Concert Band of NDSU will be given March 18, at 4 p.m. in Festival Hall.

The 75-80 piece Concert Band, directed by William A. Euren, associate professor of music, will make its first appearance this year and will perform numbers ranging from classical to light music.

The program will include: the Ballet from "Faust" by Charles Gounod; the "William Byrd Suite" by Gordon Jacob; and a lighter touch with the selection, "Mr. Lucky", from the television program by that name.

Roy Johnson, assistant professor of music at NDSU, will play a clarinet solo, "Adagio Tarantella", by Cavallini. Mr. Johnson, who joined the NDSU music faculty last fall, has performed with the Fargo-Moorhead Symphony Orchestra this year and presented a bassoon solo with the orchestra in the fall.

The 100-voice University Chorus, directed by Ernest Van Vlissingen, professor and chairman of the NDSU Music Department, will sing two sections of Brahms' Requiem. This is the second appearance for the chorus on campus. The group sang for the all-campus Christmas party in December.

NDHEA to Meet At SU This Weekend

The NDSU College of Home Economics will host the North Dakota Home Economics Association meeting March 17. "Excellence — Our Standard" is the theme for the convention.

Mrs. Ellen Semrow, director of the consumer service department of the American Institute of Baking, Chicago, will speak on "Excellence—an Ever-changing Goal".

Mrs. Semrow's major professional interest is foods. She received her bachelor's degree in nutrition at Iowa State College. Registration begins at 8:30 a.m. Members of Phi U will hostess a coffee hour preceding the first session which begins at 9:30. Miss Emily Reynolds, president of NDHEA will preside at this session.

Evonne Currie, president of NDSU Tryota Club, will preside over the College Clubs Section meeting which includes members of Tryota and Penates, the University of North Dakota's home economics club. Officers of the College Clubs Section will be elected at this session.

Miss Karen Sethre, home economist for General Mills, will speak on "Business Opportunities for Young Home Economists". Miss Sethre, formerly of Northwood, N. D., is a 1959 graduate of the University of North Dakota. Miss Sethre is presently employed in the "Ideal Homemakers Kitchen".

This kitchen is used for recipe testing and development of all luncheons which are prepared for visiting executives and food editors.

Dr. Caroline Budewig, dean of the college of Home Economics, will be toastmistress at the noon luncheon. At this luncheon Miss Sethre will tell of her experiences in France as a representative of General Mills.

Registration for the convention is fifty cents for students plus the cost of the luncheon.

Publications Banquet Set for Saturday

The annual Student Publications Banquet will be held Saturday, 6:30 at the Biltmore Motor-Hotel. Approximately 70 student publication workers and advisors will be attending.

Gordon Mikkleson, promotion director for radio station WCCO in Minneapolis, Minn. will be the guest speaker. His topic will be "Mass Medias responsibility to the community." Mr. Mikkleson is a former Associated Press and Minneapolis-St. Paul newspaperman. He is also a member of the Minnesota school board.

Sherry Bassin, Student Body President and past Commissioner of Student Publications, will be the toastmaster.

The new publisher and staff members will be formally introduced. Publication scholarship award winners will be announced.

Roger Helego, new commissioner of Publications is in charge of arrangements. Helego pointed out that the Board of Publications should alternate speakers — having one from Fargo-Moorhead one year and the following year one from a different city.

Robert Owens, North Dakota Network Executive, was the speaker last year.

Balloon Launched From Union Steps

About 10 NDSU students launched a balloon equipped with a short wave radio transmitter from the steps of the Memorial Union Thursday, March 8.

The launching, which was coordinated by Jim Froemke, EE soph was the first of a Sharivar series. The launching which took place Thursday was called Sharivar Alpha.

Froemke said the purpose of the launching was to gain experience in electronic technology and to set a path for future launchings. He said all technical systems worked as expected and that they actually advanced two flights in the series. Temperatures were recorded up to an altitude of 30,000 feet.

The balloon which carried the equipment was six feet in diameter and filled with helium.

The only failure of the launching was the unsuccessful recovery of the equipment. Froemke said they believe they know the area which it went down.

Froemke said that about 890 man hours was put into the project. He said they worked five days in 24 hour shifts.

The project was sponsored by the research committee of the NDSU ham radio operators.

Students that took part in the launching are Jim Doyle, Chuck Wilcox, Lee Johnson, George Bakken, Tom Berg, Dave Miska, Dean Nordquist, and Orville Dovre. All are in engineering.

Damn Yankees Cast Chosen By Blue Key

The cast for the Blue Key Production, "Damn Yankees," was announced last week.

Tryouts were held before production break, and 37 students were chosen to be in the show. All the parts were not assigned, however, and Director Bryan Gackle told students to come to the Little Country Theater where parts would be assigned through readings. Mr. Gackle has now picked students for all the specific speaking roles.

Entire cast rehearsals will begin next Monday, March 19, although the chorus practices started Registration Day. The schedule for rehearsals is from 6:45-10:00 p.m. on weekdays and from 1:30 to 6:00 on Saturdays.

This schedule will probably cut study time in half, but one of the actors said that one-half of nothing is nothing, so that it really didn't make much difference to him.

Many "expert" hammerers and painters are needed to build the sets for the show. The sets range from Joe Boyd's house to a baseball dugout, and construction is just beginning. Anyone interested in working backstage in "Damn Yankees" is urged to contact stage manager Kirby Eirckson.

The members of the cast and their roles are: Judy van Vlissingen, Lola; Bruce Anderson, Joe Hardy; Ann Bertelson, Meg Boyo; Jim Lanier, Joe Boyd; Janice Hanson, Gloria Thorpe; Tom Joyal, Mr. Applegate; Sandra Johnsgaard, the sister, and Ginger Mease as Doris.

Other parts cast are Allen Nelson, Henry; Larry Adams, Schovik; David Lamski, Linville; Bob Thorson, Van Buren; Rick Hauser, Rocky; Bill Kranzler, Lynch; Ron Wotiel, Welch; Emmett Omar, Bryant; Richard Meronuck, Bouley; Dale Lervick, Lowe; Gene Buchholz, Mickey; Carol Gagstetter, Miss Weston; Roman Kline, Commissioner; Rick Rime, Postmaster; and Bill Mirgain, Smokey.

Other students selected for the chorus and alternates are Robert Rollins, David Pollock, Betty Kay Bitterman, Kari Wigton, Jackie Boelter, Linda Trautmann, Kaaren Olson, Lannis Bergsgaard, Phil Roesch, Marlys Skarsvaag, Betty Kay Hasen, Richard Erickson, Mary Walrath, Helen Owens, and Carol Anstett.

Students chosen for "Who's Who" can pick up their certificates in the Dean of Women's Office.

Students interested in working on the Spectrum should contact the Spectrum office on third floor in the Memorial Union or contact one of the tri-editors.

TURMOIL IS ANOTHER NAME FOR IT. This photo from the field house stage was snapped Monday after the biggest share of the registration rush had subsided. It shows the waiting students and some of hustle and bustle that marked the one-day registration.

Editorial

New Spectrum Editors Request More Staff

As was announced in the previous Spectrum, the Spectrum will be edited under a new system. The tri-editorship will relieve the responsibility that has been on one person in the past. With this system, it is hoped that we will be able to put out a more interesting and better paper than was possible in the past. Puppe for a job well done during the past year. The Spectrum pro-Puppe for a job well done during the past year. The Spectrum progressed considerably under her editorship and we the new editors hope to continue this program.

To minimize confusion the editorship is set up under a revolving system, each editor is assigned to a particular division and each quarter the editors will revolve taking new positions. This gives all three a chance to gain experience in all positions. This quarter Joe McKinzie is chairman of the editors.

During the next year we hope to create more interest in the Spectrum from the people on campus by presenting news and entertainment in an interesting manner. In order to do this we will need an efficient staff. All persons interested in working on the paper should come up to the Publications Office in the Union or in some way contact one of the editors.

Another goal of the editors is to create better public relations with high schools and other colleges throughout the state. It is through the Spectrum that many students in the state gain their knowledge of NDSU and it must therefore reveal the true personality of the campus.

We repeat. . . anyone interested in working on the paper should report to the editors.

Carlson Denounces Attendance Rule

On pages 40-41 of the university catalogue appear the attendance requirements that we students are only too familiar with. Little justification is given there for the requirements. However, the teachers who have attendance requirements do state why they have these requirements. They say that the attendance requirements make students more responsible in their class interest, cause students to fulfill their obligations to the people of the state of North Dakota who have provided the opportunity for study, and give students needed disciplinary guidance to concentrate on their studies.

These reasons, it would seem to me, are based on the presumptions that students should be in the university to learn, and that requiring class attendance helps these students partake more actively in the learning process.

The first fact is probably correct (although I doubt that the statement would be universally accepted) but I would like to challenge the second. I do not believe that these attendance requirements help students learn to any great degree.

The requirement does not cause students to become more involved with studying. If they are interested in learning, they will do so without petty rules. If they are not interested in learning, they will come when required to, only to sleep, or doodle, or daydream — the attendance does not cause them to suddenly become interested in the subject matter. This is a fact that may seem hard to accept, but it is what today's educators are saying.

Let me quote Dr. Rogers of the University of Chicago, "The only significant learning one does is self-discovered, self-appropriated learning."

If you noticed, it made no mention of using coercive class attendance requirements. But are NDSU students interested in working to learn on their own initiative? I say yes, although I imagine some teachers of long standing may say no.

Speaking for myself and my friends, understandably not all NDSU students, I say we ARE interested in learning and ARE willing to work hard to do just that. We want an opportunity to learn without the hindrance of class attendance requirements.

Abolition of the attendance requirement would shape up lackadaisical teachers. In my observations, the teachers who are most concerned with class attendance are those who are so insecure (and rightly so, because they are not effective teachers) that they need this attendance requirement for a crutch. They would have to work diligently and acquire some skill, or leave.

I do not think that many teachers will leave, nor will many students. Perhaps I am too optimistic, but I think most students and teachers want to be a part of the university, but the pampering they have received in the past has kept them from making the decision to really commit themselves to this ideal. And it could be so meaningful — to work, study, learn, discover, debate, and apply the truth embodied in our universe — without trivial rules on class attendance.

University United Fund Proposed To Eliminate all Fund Drives

During the academic year numerous charity drives are held on our campus. Although these charities are deserving and necessary, they are becoming a burden to those who participate actively in these drives as well as the campus in general. This past month many organizations were raising funds for two or more drives simultaneously.

To relieve this situation I propose a University United Fund be established, incorporating all campus, local, and national charities which effect the student body. Similar campaigns are in action on many campuses throughout the nation. This fund could be regulated and budgeted by a separate senate committee.

The success of such a fund would depend upon complete participation by all students and groups seeking their financial support. Incorporating the current $1,650.00 Senate allotments to student groups on percentage of available funds basis would eliminate the expected Senate net loss of $803.34. I should be glad to see that proceeds from future Ugly Man contests are added, to this fund should it be successfully established.

Students Propose New Ways in Improving Registration Set Up

Last mouday we worked the control desk for social sciences at registration and we feel that were industry to be run on the same system, Henry Ford's company would still be located in a bicycle shop.

The system we now use was extremely adequate in 1895, but has since fallen into the throes of obsolescence.

One would think that there would be some system of communication and comparison between universities regardless of their size or importance, so that the more advanced ideas and practices could be adopted, if they were shown to be superior to the system used at the time. Such could not be the case when one hears faculty, administration and students all complaining and stating that a better way is used somewhere else, while our system plods along in its cumbersome furrow.

One finds discrepancies in every facet of this system:

1) The student doesn't think ahead to the coming quarter, but waits until registration day to consult a harried professor who is facing a column of people which reminds one of a "Chinese Breadline."

2) Certain schools (e. a., Engineering, Pharmacy, etc.) practice pre-registration. This is done before they know whether or not the total group of students will pass all their pre-requisite courses. By doing this they reserve blocks of class cards in other colleges which may thereby deprive the students of that college from a class in their own major field. While this practice would be acceptable if practiced by all schools, it is now one of the factors adding to the mass of confusion already present. An example of this would be Speech 108, a required course for many students, which was closed at about 9:00 Monday morning, thereby forcing many students who were registering at THE RIGHT TIME to completely revamp their schedule. After the professor and student were faced with this added load and registration was almost completed, the class cards which the pre-registering schools did not use were returned. This means that, not only were students deprived of their required schedules, but professors that had assumed that their classes were full and had turned away students that they would like to have had, found themselves with classes half filled.

3) The control table is, in reality, a misnomer and one of the greatest contributors of frustration and high blood pressure on this campus. A student stands in a block-long line for one hour to get a philosophy class card from social sciences only to find that, after reaching the table, it is to be procured from modern languages or religion, which also has a block-long line. Another example would be psychology which is located under education which, for all the student knows, may be cross-referenced under physical education.

SU Students Elected Into Eta Kappa Nu

Sixteen NDSU students were recently initiated into Eta Kappa Nu, national honorary electrical engineering fraternity.

The lines of criticism could stretch into dissertation proportion. We realize that the problems are many, but not insurmountable, and only common sense dictates that something has to be done to alleviate them.

As a possible means of arriving at a solution to this problem, our proposal is that our new president, Dr. Albrecht, authorize a new committee consisting of both faculty and capable students be set up to endeavor to improve the existing situation, by means of correspondence with other institutions of higher learning on their systems as well as original, practicable ideas of their own. Something has to be done, so let's hope that this letter is only the beginning.

Co-Chairmen of Workshop Thank Students Who Made it a Success

Dear Editor:

As co-chairmen of the International Student Workshop held recently on the NDSU campus, we would like to thank those who made the workshop a success.

Through the guidance of Benjamin Schmoker, executive director of the Committee on Friendly Relations Among Foreign Students, we were reminded of the increasing importance of work with international students. Schmoker informed us of the growing need for a better program of work in international education.

We were told that currently there are over 60,000 international students on American college campuses and within the next few years this figure will double. We were helped to realize our responsibility toward improving the American-foreign student relations.

We have a growing concern for international students and through the campus YMCA-

YWCA are establishing a cosmopolitan commission; which in cooperation with the international relations club will work towards a better understanding between American and foreign students. Any students interested in this goal are invited to share with us in working with our "unofficial ambassadors."

SOCIAL NOTES

New Burgum Hall Named For First Woman Student

Mrs. Burgum, first girl ever admitted to study at NDSU, died Sunday in a Fargo hospital.

Mrs. Burgum, who was 88, was a North Dakota poet and painter and had been a resident of Arthur, North Dakota. She was the only girl in the first class of six admitted to study in NDSU when the school opened its doors in 1891 as North Dakota Agricultural College.

The women's dormitory, just south of Old Main, which is nearing completion, is named Burgum Hall in her honor.

Mrs. Burgum was the author of "Zezula," historical sketches of Dakota Territory, and of several volumes of poems, including, "Stars over the Prairie," "Dakota Ballads," "Dakota Horizons and "cactus and Magnolia Blossoms." She also had done some painting.

She had received an outstanding achievement award from NDSU in 1953.

Burial was in Arthur.

Harold Dordal. Initiation was at the Founder's Day banquet Feb. 13.

The final sorority to announce its new initiates is Phi Mu and they are Doreen Loberg, Cheryl Geving, JoAnn Hendrickson, Nancy Haedt, Carol Jean Hansen, Jane Lowitz and Joan Brandt.

Now that the frats are going through the preinitiation process, it makes for many sleepy people. 'Twill soon be over and many new actives will be announced.

Recently engaged were Audrey Anderson AGD and Pete Otto Kappa Psi.

A short week makes for a short supply of news, so it will be a short closing.

Bye.

By NANCY FLATT

Public opinion polls taken during the beginning of this week might tend to indicate this is not spring quarter, but in a month or so it will be more evident. Some picnics may even manage to put in an appearance earlier.

If everyone is registered and rested up from standing in lines, spring quarter is underway. Activities aren't waiting either. Tonight at the Engineer's Ball NDSU will claim a new St. Pat and St. Patricia. Tomorrow night the Gamma Phi's will swing out at their term party. (FM Hotel, 6:30 p.m.)

Looking ahead we can anticipate many things besides warm weather and picnics. Greek Week, Sharivar, Damn Yankees and Commencement will be in the spotlight. It's also a good time to keep the social column full. . . you know, the old bit about birds, bees and flowers . . . seems to have a big effect on the single status of SU students.

Come every spring the editorial positions change and the new editors of the Spectrum are looking for people interested in writing this column. If you happen to be such a person, stop up at the Publication's office, second floor of the Union.

New active members of Alpha Phi Omega are Curt Ericks-moen, David Ruff, Dave Sommerfield, Ron Olson, Harris Brokke, Don Kunkel, Dennis Erickson, George Foulkes. New members of the advisory are John Barton and Roy Johnson and those of the honorary are President H. R. Albrecht, Dr. John Jenkins and Professor

SHAKESPEARE DOESN'T LIVE HERE ANY MORE

A recent and most heartening development in American college life has been the emergence of the artist-in-residence. In fact, the artist-in-residence has become as familiar a sight on campus as Latin ponies, leather elbow patches, Rorschach tests, hula hoops, and Marlboro cigarettes.

And we all know how familiar that is—I mean Marlboro cigarettes. And why should it not be familiar? Why, where learning is king, where taste is sovereign, where brain power rules supreme, should not Marlboro be everyone's favorite? The same good sense that gets you through an exam in Restoration Poetry or solid-state physics certainly does not desert you when you come to pick a cigarette. You look for a flavor that is flavorful, a filter pure and white, a choice of pack or box, a lot to like. You look, in short, for Marlboro—and happily you don't have to look far. Marlboro is available at your friendly tobacconist's or vending machine, wherever cigarettes are sold in all fifty states and Las Vegas.

But I digress. We were speaking of the new campus phenomenon—the artist-in-residence—a man or woman who writes, paints, or composes right on your very own campus and who is also available for occasional consultations with superior students.

Take, for example, William Cullen Sigafoos, artist-in-residence at the Toledo College of Belles Lettres and Fingerprint Identification.

As we all know, Mr. Sigafoos has been working for many years on an epic poem in rhymed couplets about the opening of the Youngstown-Akron highway. Until, however, he went into residence at the Toledo College of Belles Lettres and Fingerprint Identification, his progress was not what you would call rapid. He started well enough with the immortal couplet we all know: They speed along on wheels of rubber, rushing home in time for supper. . .

Then Mr. Sigafoos got stuck. It is not that his muse deserted him; it is that he became involved in a series of time-consuming episodes—a prefrontal lobotomy for Irwin, his faithful sled dog; fourteen consecutive months of jury duty on a very complicated case of overtime parking; getting his coattail caught in the door of a jet bound for Brisbane, Australia; stuff like that.

He was engaged in a very arduous job in Sandusky—posing for a sculptor of hydrants—when an offer came from the Toledo College of Belles Lettres and Fingerprint Identification to take up residence there, finish his magnum opus and, from time to time, see a few gifted students.

Mr. Sigafoos accepted with pleasure and in three short years completed the second couplet of his Youngstown-Akron Turnpike epic: The highway is made of solid concrete and at the toll station you get a receipt.

"What is truth?" said one.

Then a few gifted students came to visit him. They were a prepossessing lot—the boys with corduroy jackets and long, shaggy beards; the girls also with corduroy jackets but with beards neatly braided.

"What is truth?" said one. "What is beauty?" said another. "Should a writer live first and write later or should he write and do a little living in his spare time?" said another.

"How do you find happiness—and having found it, how do you get rid of it?" said another.

"Whither are we drifting?" said another.

"I don't know whither you are drifting," said Mr. Sigafoos, "but as for me, I am drifting back to Sandusky to pose for the hydrant sculptor."

And back he went, alas, leaving only a fragment of his Youngstown-Akron Turnpike epic to rank with other such uncompleted masterpieces as Schubert's Unfinished Symphony, the Venus de Milo, and Singer's Midgets.

Take cheer, good friends, from one masterpiece that is complete. We, refer, of course, to Marlboro cigarettes. Filter end and tobacco end are both as good as tobacco artistry and science can make them.

Brostrom Finds His Job Very Rewarding

"Being union director these last nine years has been rewarding," according to Dale Brostrom. Dale took over the office in 1953, when the union was built.

Previous to 1953, Dale served as assistant librarian, executive secretary for the alumni association, and director of the men's residence halls.

He serves on the employment and commencement committees and is advisor to the Student Union Activities Board and Student Senate.

He is also national director of the intercollegiate bowling program, under the auspices of the Association of College Unions.

Brostrom graduated from NDSU in 1949. His collegiate activities included playing two years of varsity basketball and serving in student government.

Brostrom lists the tornado of 1956 as one of his most unusual experiences. He left the union 10 minutes before the tornado struck, and when he returned, he found a patio table on his desk, having been sucked through his office window by the force of the tornado.

Job Interviews

Tuesday, March 20
PROCTOR AND GAMBLE Field Advertising and Sales Division will be represented by T. L. Schopen who wishes to speak with spring graduates interested in field promotion assignments with the company. These assignments require almost constant travel with liberal expense accounts provided. Both the veterans and the non-veteran graduate is invited to investigate this field of opportunity offering management responsibilities in a minimum period of time.

Wednesday, March 21
JOHNSON SERVICE COMPANY of Milwaukee, specialize in the design, manufacture and installation of pneumatic controls. Technical sales opportunities are also available with the company for the non-technical graduate who does have a good mechanical aptitude.

Thursday, March 22
GEORGE A. HORMEL AND COMPANY of Austin, Minnesota, will be represented on campus by Roger W. Lockrem, Director of Management Recruitment and Training. The Hormel Company continues to seek agricultural graduates for assignments in livestock production and industrial relations activities are invited to register for individual interviews.

Friday, March 23
FEDERAL INTERMEDIATE CREDIT BANK of St. Paul will be represented on campus by the Assistant Vice President, Everette G. Hove. A formal training program is offered to all agricultural graduates through the Production Credit Association Offices.

Friday, March 23
UNITED STATES CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION will be represented by several local agency directors and personnel representatives. All students interested in Federal employment of any kind at any location are invited to visit with a member of this visiting team. Special attention will be given to assisting students in filing applications for taking the Federal Service Entrance Examination. Special assistance will be available concerning opportunities with the Social Security Administration, Internal Revenue Service and the Veterans Administration.

CONTINENTAL GRAIN COMPANY OF MINNEAPOLIS, an international grain merchandising firm, has asked us to publicize their need for students interested in this line of work. They have openings for graduating seniors to enter their formal training program which lasts from 2 to 3 years. They also have several openings for undergraduates to work during their summer vacation.

MIDLAND COOPERATIVES, INC., a regional cooperative with general offices in Minneapolis, is currently in need of trainees for their newly adopted management trainee program. Their training program lasts for approximately one year and would involve one relocation for the trainee. They desire people with farm backgrounds and will accept trainees with a degree in any field.

Numerous reliable insurance agencies continue to contact the Placement Office seeking both full time and part time sales representatives. This type of employment requires that the individual have an earnest desire to succeed. This type of person will not only realize a good income from insurance work, but he will also find personal satisfaction.

Guy Declares Home Economics Week

Governor William Guy has proclaimed the week of March 18-24 Home Economics Week. Mrs. Myrtle Challey, NDSU instructor of foods and nutrition, is state chairman of Home Economics Week's activities.

The NDSU students and faculty of the College of Home Economics have sent 300 invitations to parents of home economics students to attend an open house at the College of Home Economics 1:30-4:30 March 20. The purpose of the open house is to show the types of activities which home economics students are engaged in. Parents will see classes in action and special demonstrations given by students.

Mrs. Marion Walker, assistant professor of home management, is faculty chairman of the NDSU activities. She is assisted by Diane Myer, representing Phi U, and Evonne Currie, representing Tryota.

Coeds Attend WRA Conference

Marilyn Ostrem, AAS soph, and Roberta Oksendahl, AAS soph, are representing the NDSU Women's Recreation Association at the North Central Regional Athletic and Recreation Federation of College Women Conference at the University of Nebraska this weekend.

Marilyn is the official delegate from NDSU and will serve as a discussion leader for this afternoon's section in which the group will discuss "Ways of Promoting WRA on Campus". Each school is allowed one official delegate and any number of attending delegates.

LUCKY STRIKE presents: LUCKY TUFFERS

"PARENTS' WEEKEND"

"We wanted you to be the first to know, Mother... Mother? Mother?"

"Mom! Pop! Come on in and meet my roommates."

"Now you boys see that my Jimmie gets to bed by 10:30, won't you?"

"ARRRRGH!"

"I'm afraid your father's a little burned up about your grades, dear."

BREAKING THE ICE FOR DAD. When Dad comes to visit, help him bridge the years with questions like this: "These old ivy-covered buildings never change, do they?" "Say, aren't those girls the cat's meow?" "Dad, do you remember how great cigarettes used to taste?" Then inform your Dad that college students still smoke more Luckies than any other regular. He will realize that times haven't really changed. He'll be in such good, youthful spirits that he'll buy you a carton.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!

Former SU Student Writes To Friends From Bogota, Columbia

Bogota, Columbia is the place that John Luoma, former NDSU student, calls home.

Luoma, a peace corps volunteer to Columbia, South America, shows determination and enthusiasm as he relates his experiences and hopes to NDSU friends.

"The reason I am here," Luoma stated, "is to help the Columbian people think for themselves in developing their technical methods, instead of telling them what to do."

Luoma and a fellow peace corpsman are co-ordinators of the community development program in an area near Bogota, the capital of Columbia. Their first job is the organization of small governmental units, comparable to North Dakota townships. After such organization the people will qualify for aid for materials necessary for a project such as schools, roads or aqueducts.

that the Peace Corps faces is adjusting to the culture of the rural people of Columbia," Luoma stated.

"We must find ways of demonstrating to the people that they can improve their way of life with what they have. I believe that I have an advantage because I have a farm background. I have experienced some of the problems in a similar way on our farm in North Dakota."

"My knowledge of Spanish is picking up quite rapidly, but still I have a bit of trouble with the idioms of the area. Fifty per cent of the people over 21 are not able to read or write. This makes our work very hard at times as the people are not very broad minded. It takes a lot of talking to make them understand."

"The Columbian weather is the perfect 'shirt-sleeve weather' that we have during North Dakota springs. This area is perfect for all kinds of fruits such as bananas, oranges and paw paws. You name it, we have it," Luoma related.

"Right now we are living in a boarding house but we are looking for a house to rent," Luoma stated. "The house we have in mind is a beautiful house with an inside garden which will cost us 100 pesos or $11 per month. We will have to hire a maid which will cost us another $11 per month so we are getting on quite well on the $150 a month which we get for living expenses."

Luoma will serve in the Peace Corps until June, 1963. Luoma wrote the Peace Corps general intelligence test in Fargo last spring. After acceptance, he received nine weeks of training in history, geography, Spanish, and community development at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N. J. This was followed by a five week's course in Columbia.

LESSON 4 - Why men watch girls

Men watch girls for various reasons. Personally, we need no better reason than the reason men climb mountains. They are there. We have heard old men say they watch girls because it makes them feel younger and young men because it makes them feel older (see above). While investigating the reasons why men watch girls we picked up a clue from, of all things, a bird watcher. He told us that he formerly had been a flower watcher. Then one day a Speckle-Breasted Jackdaw happened to land in his garden as he was watching a calla lily and he noticed that the bird moved. He switched to birds on the spot. Girl watchers have discovered that girls enjoy this same advantage (movement) over calla lilies. (Speaking of advantages, how about Pall Mall's natural mildness!)

SPORTS SPOTLIGHT

Athletes Receive Outstanding Awards

By DENNIS KALDOR

The new quarter has brought on several changes on the Spectrum staff. Among those changes is yours truly who transferred across the page from the intramural column. I'm looking forward to a very active and interesting year as editor of the sports page and hope to bring you informative and up to the minute reports on the sports activities of NDSU. The past few weeks saw the 1962 Bison basketball season draw to a close. The home season was wound up with a split of the two game home series with the Sioux from Grand Forks. Much talk has been going around lately as to the failing interest in the four game annual series between the two schools.

Some individuals have suggested dropping the four game series in favor of the normal two game schedule which is played between all the remaining teams in the conference. It is clearly evident from the numerous vacant seats at the games this year that neither school is fired up like they have been in the past. Could it be that we no longer consider the Sioux worthy opponents? Somehow I doubt that. Countless thousands of words have been poured into the subject of the dwindling interest in everything on the campus in the past few years. Maybe if everyone would think a little more about the University as a whole, rather than themselves as individuals, we would have more people interested and participating in campus affairs.

Enough said on that. No matter how rotten the weather may look outside right now, some people on the campus are still holding out hopes for better things to come. Erv Kaiser would like anyone even remotely interested in either freshman or varsity golf or tennis to contact him no later than Monday in his office at the field house. The initial practice for baseball was held last Tuesday and coach Ross Fortier reports that 25 candidates turned out for the first get-together.

Freshman practice will be starting in the near future and more will appear on that later. Of the 25 men reporting, only 4 return from last year's squad. Present candidates are: Catchers: Bill Anderst and Wayne Scott; Pitchers: Gregg Pickert, Lyndon Langen, Gary McKechney, Wayne Haberlach, Richard Clemenson and Paul Kalberer; Infield: Harmon Krause, Jim Walsh, Bob Lervick, Mike Yahna, Mylo Hellickson, Dal Hertz, Larry Pearson, Tom Reynolds, Harold Hughes, Wally Musegades, Roman Rezac, Lemayne Propp, and Lloyd Heil; Outfield: Jerry Lindgren, Bob Monte, John Heath, Allan Glynn Tom Weiser.

BOB YAGGIE

DAVE SCHINDLER

Two members of last fall's North Dakota State University football squad were given special awards at half-time of the NDSU-UND basketball game Friday, Feb. 23.

The awards were presented by Dr. Herbert R. Albrecht, NDSU president.

Bob Yaggie, Breckenridge, Minn., was given the Donald Drewes Memorial Award as the most-valuable player on the football squad, and David Schindler, Barnesville, Minn., winner of a Rhodes for next fall, was given a special trophy to recognize his distinguished academic and athletic achievement.

Yaggie was selected for the Drewes Award by the other members of the squad. This is the 8th annual presentation of the award given in memory of Dennis Drewes, a 1949 graduate of NDSU who was killed while piloting a jet plane on a test flight in 1954.

As a student at NDSU, Dennis Drewes lettered three years in football. He was captain of the 1948 squad, was chosen most valuable player in 1947 and was named all-conference fullback in 1948-49. He was an honor student, holding membership in Phi Kappa Phi, Kappa Delta Pi and Blue Key.

The Dennis Drewes Memorial Award was purchased from gifts and memorials given by his friends after his death.

Yaggie was a starting guard on the past two Bison football teams, after transferring from the State School of Science, Wahpeton, where he was on the Junior College All-American team.

A senior, majoring in agricultural economics, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Loe Yaggie, Breckenridge.

David Schindler played on the Bison football squad for two years and was a member of the wrestling squad for one year. He was the other starting guard on last fall's team.

This winter he won a two year Rhodes scholarship to Oxford University in England. Rhodes scholars are selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership and athletic ability.

The award is being presented to him to recognize his distinguished academic and athletic achievement.

A senior majoring in zoology at NDSU, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schindler, Barnesville.

Tennis

Varsity or Freshman candidates for either golf or tennis should see Erv Kaiser before Monday if they would like to try out for the team.

Baseball

Any players interested in varsity baseball see Ross Fortier as soon as possible.

MARCH BLIZZARD. People who don't know about North Dakota might be amazed at the combination of mud-puddles, slushy streets, drifting snow and poor visibility that prevailed the first day of spring quarter. West Court residents report several trailer homes nearly buried in drifts that piled rooftop high.

NDSU Students Tour Country

With the coming of spring and the end of winter quarter many carefree students headed for new adventures over their annual quarter break.

Topping the list of states invaded by these fun loving NDSU students was Colorado. Skiing was the main attraction in this state according to Phil Mark, who was one of the fellows making the trip. Accompanying him were John Mark, Dick Kaercher, Al Berg, Dick Alsop, Paul DuCharme, Steve Olson, Bob Boline, Jim Lanier, Irv Russell, Gary Connell, Bill Kaercher, Al Berg, Bill Thompson, Russ Maring, Tom Byers, Don McNulty, Ken Promesberg and Jim Jenkins.

An unexpected stop forced other students to find Arizona pleasant. Paul Larson, Ed Mansfield, Doug Meyer, Jim Russ and Dave Olson were originally going to California but their car broke down in Phoenix.

As usual the Mardi Gras in New Orleans attracted NDSU students. Making the trip together were Bruce Strand, Bruce Airheart, Bill Mirgain, Tim Canning and Dennis Redman. Others who found the 70 degree weather inviting were Sherwood Peterson and Bill Brown.

More hearty students traveled east to Chicago and the Twin Cities. The 18 year old drinking age in Wisconsin attracted some local students including Bob Roel and Joe Schneider.

These students claimed they had an enjoyable time over the break, with the exception of Don Best who spent the entire vacation in bed with a sore throat.

How would you forecast your next few years?

Today, the young man planning his life realizes as never before that in today's world his own future is tied inevitably to America's future. How can he serve both?

Many college graduates, both men and women, are finding a rewarding answer on the Aerospace Team — as officers in the U.S. Air Force. Here is a career that is compelling in its challenge and opportunity. And it is a way of life that holds the unsurpassed satisfactions that come with service to country.

As a college student, how can you become an Air Force Officer?

If you have not completed Air Force ROTC, Officer Training School provides an opportunity to qualify for a variety of vitally needed jobs in the Aerospace Age. A graduate of this three-month course earns a commission as a second lieutenant. Also open to college men is the Navigator Training program.

For full information — including the chance to obtain graduate degrees at Air Force expense — see the Air Force Selection Team when it visits your college. Or write: Officer Career Information, Dept. SC23, Box 805, New York 1, N. Y.
