Addition To Union Is Being Planned

NDSU's Memorial Union will be expanding in the future, according to Dale Brostrom, director. He said preliminary arrangements have been made but nothing has been finalized.

Bids will be let at the first opportunity, said Brostrom, and there is a remote possibility we can go into construction this year.

We are establishing the priority for development of the union, he explained. We plan to double the south wing and add the complete second story. At one time it looked as if we were going to have to move north in order to have better food facilities. Since plans for some of the new dormitories include food service, it won't be necessary for us to expand in that direction.

The new area will be used for offices, recreational facilities and the Varsity Mart. Brostrom said they plan to have a complete new store for the Varsity Mart and the space now used by the store will be used by Student Senate, the Board of Publications and other student organizations.

When asked about finances for the construction, Brostrom said, "That is our problem, I would hate to guess at the amount of money it will take." We must arrange our own finances, he said. A new bond issue is being planned now.

Art Exhibit Opens Monday In Union

Opening Monday in Main Lounge in the Union will be an exhibit of oil paintings by Ralph W. Smith, former member of NDSU staff.

There are 52 paintings in the collection which is entitled "America The Beautiful." This includes one painting for each state and three for North Dakota.

The paintings are a gift to the Union by Smith who will be at NDSU for the opening of the exhibition on Monday from 3-5 and 7-9 p.m. Smith worked at the Dickinson experiment station for 34 years. Since his retirement he lives in California.

Students and faculty who wish to meet the artist may do so at the reception in Meinecke Lounge.

Both he and his wife will be staying with their son, Glenn Smith, dean of the graduate school.

Brostrom announced that the lounge hours will be changed while the exhibition is there and the television will be removed.

The painting will be in the lounge until the end of the school term and will be hung permanently in the new addition of the Union.

Seniors Take Note; Commencement Set

Commencement rehearsal for graduates, both bachelors and masters degree candidates, will be held Thursday, May 17 at 3:45 p.m. in Festival Hall. Degree candidates should meet with their College Marshal at an hour and place set by him to assemble before coming to Festival Hall. These College Marshals are as follows:

Agriculture, P. A. Nystuen; Arts and Sciences, Merritt Flynn; Chemistry, J. W. Broberg; Engineering, E. G. Anderson; Home Economics, Emily Reynolds; Pharmacy, Stephen Sleight; all masters candidates, George Pratt.

Attendance at the rehearsal, the Baccalaureate service and the Commencement exercises is required of degree candidates and the students should contact their Marshal on any questions regarding the rehearsal.

Caps and gowns for all candidates will be available at the Varsity Mart on May 17 or 18. They must be picked up one of those days. Masters degree candidates should contact the Mart earlier to make arrangements for rental of their hood which is not included in their diploma fee payment.

Baccalaureate will be at 10:00 a.m. on Sunday, May 20 with Commencement the same afternoon at 2:00 p.m. Such an arrangement permits many parents and friends to drive to Fargo for the exercises and to return the same day.

In an attempt to better accommodate families and friends of the degree candidates at Commencement, each graduate will be allowed 4 tickets to the reserved bleachers in the Field House. These tickets will admit to the reserved section only where seats will be on a first-come-first-served basis. Candidates may obtain their tickets at the Admissions and Records Office when they call for their graduation announcements.

Seating for the Baccalaureate will be unreserved as in previous years.

Alumni Will Receive Awards At Commencement Exercises

Three Alumni Achievement Awards will be presented to leaders in business, government and military service at North Dakota State University Commencement ceremonies May 20.

The awards will go to Walter Andrew Davidson, director of the grain division USDA; Gilmore T. Schjedahl, president G. T. Schjedahl Co.; and Colonel Richard F. Weltzin, Commander 32nd Fighter Wing of the Air Defense Command at Minot Air Force Base.

Davidson, a native of Barnes County, received his B.S. degree in agriculture from NDSU in 1928.

In 1939 he joined the U.S. Department of Agriculture as Chief of the Seed Branch and has worked with other countries in a program to restrict the movement of objectionable seed in international commerce. He was named Deputy Director of the Grain Division in 1958 and appointed Director in 1960.

He currently has supervision of all seed inspections, including the Federal Grain Grading services and the market news branch as well as exports and imports of agricultural seed.

He was awarded the USDA Superior Service Award for Outstanding Leadership in his chosen field in 1959.

Schjedahl is a native of Esmond, North Dakota. He attended Wahpeton State School of Science before coming to NDSU where he studied biochemistry. Following two years service in the Army, Schjedahl began as a research chemist with Armour & Co. in Chicago where he became interested in packaging materials. This led him to a job with the Bemis Bag Company in Minneapolis. In 1949 he started making polyethylene bags in a small factory called Herb Shelly Company which was acquired by Brown and Bigelow of St. Paul in 1954. He served as president of the company for five years when he formed the G. T. Schjedahl's company to continue research in plastics and plastic compounds.

Schjedahl's company developed polyester, a "super-strength" plastic which was used for the Echo I satellite and has made another tougher plastic for Echo II.

He has also developed a new experimental air-supported radome which provides quickly erectible shelter for radar installations in the Arctic and other inaccessible areas.

Other projects under Schjedahl's supervision include a new polystyrene lid-sealing machine for perishable products and new electronic gear to be used in balloon telemetry.

Colonel Weltzin is a native of Fargo and has been in the Air Force since receiving his commission upon graduation from NDSU in 1941. He was decorated with the Air Medal, the Distinguished Flying Cross and European-African-Middle East Campaign Medal.

Following World War II, where he flew B-26's in the European theater, he became Public Relations Officer for the First Air Force at Fort Slocum, New York. In 1948 he returned overseas with the Far East headquarters in Tokyo. He was director of services operations for the Fifth Air Force headquarters during the Korean conflict and in 1954 he was assigned as Commander of the 4676th Air Defense Group near Kansas City.

In 1957 he was assigned as Chief of the USAF Mission to Argentina in Buenos Aires where he served until 1960 when he became commander of the Minot Fighter Wing.

His present position makes him responsible for supporting all tenant units on the base including the SAC and Minuteman missile organizations.

president of Yankton College was guest speaker. His topic was "The New Frontier Of Higher Education and the YM-YWCA."

Graduating Senior Gripes About Quality Of Yearbook

I, as a graduating senior, am thoroughly disappointed in the quality of this year's so called yearbook. This class of work is expected from poorly managed, small town high school annual staffs but not from a higher institution.

First of all the layout is lousy. The names and the pictures are separated so far that it is impossible to correlate the two.

The spelling of names is outrageous. Has the staff ever heard of the student directory where names are spelled correctly? It seems to me that the staff of the yearbook should have enough initiative to check such things as this.

Why aren't the pictures placed in the proper places? Seniors are listed as sophomores, juniors listed as seniors and who knows what all.

And what happened to the rest of the pictures? Students meet photographer deadlines, pay good hard earned money for this inconvenience and then get nothing but disappointment for their efforts.

The yearbook has been out less than a day and already I have heard numerous gripes from students who don't have their picture in the yearbook. I think it is the responsibility of the yearbook staff to see that the pictures taken of individuals get in the yearbook. If there is a mix up with the photographer, it is the duty of the staff to see that he keeps his part of the bargain.

Many graduating seniors look forward to having their picture in the last yearbook. They have paid for their yearbook so it is no more than fair that they get something for their money. For those seniors who aren't in any organization pictures and "somebody flubbed" the yearbook is just about somebody else. Why doesn't somebody "shape up"?

Still another question. Why aren't all pictures indexed in the back of the yearbook? Students have their pictures on several pages and are only indexed for one. Or how about the student who was indexed for a certain page and all there was on that page was one big sketch of a buffalo and a write up not concerning him.

If you asked me I would say that this is one of the saddest excuses for a yearbook I have ever seen. Four people can be pictured and only three names are given, often not in order. This mass confusion is prevalent throughout the entire book. Is this somebody's idea of a joke? Is this what students want to remember this year by? I would be ashamed to say I had anything to do with such a publication.

It appears to me that everyone on the staff from the photographers to the editor had a poor attitude toward their work. Someone should have been on the ball enough to correct a few of the errors. I have heard complaints that experienced students who applied for the staff were turned down for "green horns". Is this institution letting politics influence the selection of students for such a job rather than the consideration of qualifications.

I only hope that the next yearbook will be considerably better organized. As you should know the quality of the yearbook reflects the quality of the school. I know that this institution of higher learning has much higher quality than this yearbook reflects.

Don't anybody get the idea that I am alone in my thinking. Just talk to anybody on campus and you will soon hear some complaints like you have never heard before.

By the way, I heard one good compliment. One student said the yearbook had a "nice cover."

Coed Critizes 1962 Bison Annual

Are we a University or a high school? Sometimes I wonder. Especially after looking over this year's Bison Annual. From leaving out names to putting right names in the wrong places to leaving out pictures which should be in, I think this annual leaves much to be desired. When we pay out good hard earned money we expect something in return.

I don't know whose fault it is, but someone should look into this. More than likely the fault lies jointly with the publishing company, the picture company and the staff.

If we want to publicize our university and encourage new prospective students to enter college here we must put out top publications. This is one way to give a good impression not only to prospective students, but also alumni and the taxpayer of this state.

Greek Week Picnic Obliterated Clean-Up

I'd like to praise the Greeks for the community service project they held last Saturday morning as a part of Fargo's spring clean-up. However the Greek Week picnic and its consequences all but obliterated the morning's service.

M. L. Huit, dean of students at the State University of Iowa, recently spoke to a group of fraternity chaplains at NDSU. At that time he set down a number of policies that fraternities and sororities should strive to follow "in order to survive." His motto was "accentuate the positive, eliminate the negative." Some policies he suggested were:

- Support the aims of the university.

- Eliminate the "Mickey Mouse".

- Take alcohol out of the picture.

One member of a panel that morning stated that "often liquor is used to abuse."

The purpose, as stated of the recent Greek Week, was "to promote better relationship among Greeks and the community and campus."

I read this statement of purpose to the police officer on duty Saturday and asked him his opinion as to its fulfillment. He stated that he didn't think it had been accomplished because the picnic "did not give a very favorable impression." What else could he say when there had been students drinking in parked cars, drinking while driving down Broadway and driving without licenses.

I also talked to Archie Vraa, the park patrolman. Apparently at the picnic were a number of Independents from NDSU plus students from several other colleges. Mr. Vraa felt that most of the trouble was due to the mixing of students from different schools. His suggestion for the future was that a group of MEN (mature students) should have "full charge of the operation."

This committee would be responsible for "shutting off beverages" to those who can't control themselves and to those who have had enough, and for "taking home those who are cutting up. SU students in the past have had some nice picnics with no trouble."

Last week's fiasco was a disgrace both to NDSU and to Fargo! I suggest that all who are concerned band together to improve the relationships among all students, our campus and the community.

Too Much Time Spent In Pursuit Of Hazy Image Called Grades

I am now concluding my fourth and final year as a student at NDSU. During this period of time certain theories have been forming concerning the state of education at this institution; theories which I feel are subscribed to by at least a sizeable minority of the students on campus.

Too much of our time is spent in pursuit of a hazy image called a grade. In order to graduate we must memorize a great number of facts deemed important by our professors. These facts in many courses border on the ridiculous. Many instructors seem to set up their courses specifically so grades may be easily arrived at by testing the amount of data we are capable of memorizing.

This sort of approach indoctrinates us with the theory that every problem has a cut and dried answer and all we need to do is find the right book.

Rather than learning to think we are learning to memorize. Needless to say this situation is detrimental to preparing us to be progressive, useful members of our society. I have taken part in two hour "bull sessions" with fellow students which have been more valuable in gaining an understanding of our environment than some five credit courses which require many hours of tedious labor.

If our college administrators would work out some program where instructors would encourage a bit of thought and help us develop our overall ability to think, the graduates of this institution would be far better educated.

Perhaps a change in the grading system to merely satisfactory and unsatisfactory would be a step in the right direction. The present preoccupation with the race for grades serves only to convert us to what David Susskind terms mental midgets. We have plenty of these in the world today without our educational system spawning an even greater number.

"Human Energy Is Wasted By N.D. Farmers," Says Mikkelson

"North Dakota farmers are wasting an important resource, human energy," stated Gordon Mikkelson in an address at the NDSU Farmers Union local banquet, May 5.

Mikkelson was a former editor of the Midland Cooperator, an official paper of an upper midwest regional cooperative, and is now director of program promotion at WCCO radio in Minneapolis.

"Present Day Pioneering" was the title of Mikkelson's talk. He stated that one out of every three farm people are not necessary for the efficient operation of a North Dakota farm.

"Young people who have a respect for life are the people who can best solve the 'squeeze problem' both on the farm and in the city," challenged Mikkelson.

Mikkelson who labeled himself an optimist, said that the extra time created by technological advancements may give people a chance to think and maybe provide an opportunity for people to learn to live together. "People need 'elbow room' to be individualists," stated Mikkelson. There are too many disadvantages in conformity.

Mikkelson spoke to about 75 members and guests of the NDSU Farmers Union local.

Senate Action Is Commended And Challenged By Student

"Students must accelerate themselves and take a chance," was the statement made by Phil Hetland at Student Senate meeting last week.

After a discussion on faculty housing, leadership clinic, constitution revision, union dances, Sharivar evaluation and other topics mentioned in last week's SPECTRUM, Mr. Hetland continued to say, "When things block the students' way they shouldn't give in, but do more research on things and come up with new ideas and combat what is blocking their way."

Now I think Senate is accelerating themselves. This was shown by the decision to table the action on the Monday night union dances, in order to find out more about the situation and investigate what could be done and what recommendations could be made.

Now that Senate is accelerating themselves and working around the blocks they encounter they cannot stop here or now!

Senate in my opinion has just realized the power or control that they maintain and can exercise. However, they must exercise this power with intelligence and care to keep this controlling power.

One obstacle I think Senate is now facing is the senators are expressing too much of their own PERSONAL opinion and feelings.

I think the senators should intelligently, not emotionally, discuss matters such as the Monday night dances, with other students outside of Senate and get a wider degree of knowledge of what the students think about the different situations as the dances.

The senators are elected by the students and represent the students on this campus. Without ever talking to other students, they will never know the opinions and feelings of views and issues of the entire student body.

SOCIAL NOTES

By JOE SCHNEIDER

Only soiled clothes and empty cups remain from the Greek Week picnic held last Saturday. A good time was had by all who attended, with the possible exception of Tom Spitzer, Sigma Chi, who swam the Red River and Richard Baker, Sigma Chi, who lost his billfold with 30 dollars in it.

Picnics are still in style as this past week has shown. The Kappa Delta sorority had one with the Theta Chi fraternity last Tuesday, as well as the Sigs and Kappa's, Co-op's and Theta's and the Tau's and Gamma Phis.

The Gamma Phi Beta's had a picnic with their mothers on Wednesday. I wonder what they served for refreshments on that picnic.

On Thursday evening the Park was full of TKE's and Phi Mu's. The SAE's, along with the Kappa's, also shared the park with the Tau's and the Theta's.

On Friday the SAE's headed for the sticks again, only this time with the KD's.

Term Parties are back in style as school nears a final end. On Friday the Co-ops are staging their party at the K. C. Hall in Fargo while across the river at the K. C. Hall in Moorhead the Theta Chi's will be stirring things up.

Saturday night the Tau's go off campus to the Moorhead Country Club for their spring term party. The Farmhouse has rented the Gardner Hotel for their party and the Phi Mu's will be at the Biltmore Motel.

The SAE's have picked Marilyn Anderson, Gamma Phi and Karen Olson, Theta, to join their Little Sisters of Minerva.

This Friday the Sigma Chi fraternity will hold its annual Derby Day. Maybe that explains all the white shirts with bow ties on campus these past few days.

Gary Johnson, SAE, presented a diamond to Mary Ann Nelson. He is the only Greek on campus to announce an engagement this past week.

Credit Union Sets New Hours

Business is so good that the NDSU Employee's Credit Union will be open every Monday through Friday from 1 to 4:30 p.m., according to Credit Union President, H. Dean Stalling, librarian.

"A new assistant treasurer, Mrs. Agnes Beck, will assist treasurer Mrs. Grayce Bayless," Stallings said. This will permit the credit union to expand from its present three afternoons a week operation.

The credit union assets now exceed $150,000. It has 488 members and in the past few weeks it loaned its millionth dollar since organization in 1938.

The Credit Union is in the Institute room, second floor of the library. It serves employees who wish to borrow money and also those who have funds to invest.

Would students who were elected to Who's Who please pick up their certificates in the Office of the Dean of Women.

CRAM COURSE NO. 5: SHAKESPEARE

Continuing our series of pre-final exam cram courses, today we take up the works of William Shakespeare (or "The Bard of Avon" as he is jocularly called).

First let us examine the persistent theory that Shakespeare (or "The Pearl of the Antilles" as he is affectionately referred to) is not the real author of his plays. Advocates of this theory insist that the plays are so full of classical allusions and learned references that they couldn't possibly have been written by the son of an illiterate country butcher.

To which I reply, "Faugh!" Was not the great Spinoza's father a humble woodcutter? Was not the immortal Isaac Newton's father a simple second baseman? (The elder Newton, incidentally, is one of history's truly pathetic figures. He was, by all accounts, the greatest second baseman of his time, but baseball, alas, had not yet been invented.) It used to break young Isaac's heart to see his father get up every morning, put on uniform, spikes, glove, and cap, and stand alertly behind second base, bent forward, eyes narrowed, waiting, waiting, waiting. That's all—waiting. Isaac loyally sat in the bleachers and yelled, "Good show, Dad!" and stuff like that, but everyone else in town used to snigger and pelt the Newtons with overripe fruit—figs for the elder Newton, apples for the younger. Thus, as we all know, the famous occasion came about when Isaac Newton, struck in the head with an apple, leapt to his feet, shouted, "Europa!" and announced the third law of motion: "For every action there is an opposite and equal reaction!"

(How profoundly true these simple words are! Take, for example, Marlboro Cigarettes. Light one. That's the action. Now what is the reaction? Pleasure, delight, contentment, cheer, and comfort! And why such a happy reaction? Because you have started with a happy cigarette—a felicitous blend of jolly tobaccos, a good-natured filter, a rollicking flip-top box, a merry soft pack. As Newton often said, "You begin with better makin's, you end with better smokin's." Small wonder they called him "The Swedish Nightingale!"

But baseball, alas, had not yet been invented.

But I digress. Back to Shakespeare (or "The Gem of the Ocean" as he was ribaldly appelled).

Shakespeare's most important play is, of course, Hamlet (or Macbeth, as it is sometimes called). This play tells in living color the story of Hamlet, Prince of Denmark, who one night sees a ghost upon the battlements. (Possibly it is a goat he sees: I have a first folio edition that is frankly not too legible.) Anyhow, Hamlet is so upset by seeing the ghost (or goat) that he stabs Polonius and Bare Bodkin. He is thereupon banished to a leather factory by the King, who cries, "Get thee to a tannery!" Thereupon Ophelia refuses her food until Laertes shouts, "Get thee to a beanery!" Ophelia is so miffed that she chases her little dog out of the room, crying, "Out, out damned Spot!" She is fined fifty shillings for swearing, but Portia, in an eloquent plea, gets the sentence commuted to life imprisonment. Thereupon King Lear and Queen Mab proclaim a festival—complete with amateur theatricals, kissing games, and a pie-eating contest. Everyone has a perfectly splendid time till Banquo's ghost (or goat) shows up. This so unhinges Richard III that he drowns his cousin, Butt Malmsey. This leads to a lively discussion during which everyone is killed. The little dog Spot returns to utter the immortal curtain lines:

*Alack, the play forsooth was sad and sobby,
But be of cheer—there's Marlboros in the lobby!*

As the slings and arrows of outrageous finals loom closer, perchance the makers of Marlboro are not untoward to offer this friendly suggestion: Get thee to a library!

High Scholarship Is Honored During Recognition Service

Gamma Phi Beta sorority received the scholarship award at the 34th annual Panhellenic Recognition Service May 7 in the Student Union Ballroom.

Scholarship bracelets were awarded to the outstanding girls in each sorority with the highest average for this year. They are: Karen Vosseteig, AGD; Barbara Nelson, GPB; Irene Swanson, KAT; Gloria Eissinger, KD; Nancy Flatt, KKG; Doreen Loberg, Phi Mu and Kathryn Loseth, Independent.

Mrs. Robert Tallman, Mrs. Naurine Higgins and Mrs. F. V. Tannehill spoke on their role as a Panhellenic woman in community service, extension service and church service.

Mrs. Robert Tallman, KAT, spoke on "Community Service". "There are volunteer services in any community which a person can help with," stated Mrs. Tallman. "You can do such jobs as helping at the information desk or bringing new patients to their rooms in hospitals."

"The purpose of the extension program is to bring knowing and doing closer together," said Mrs. Naurine Higgins, KD.

According to Mrs. Higgins, part of the job in extension or in continuing education is to promote an awareness to the fact that education doesn't stop with graduation. This is only the beginning.

"It carries a responsibility for each one of us for the rest of our lives," added Mrs. Higgins.

"The wind doesn't exist because we can't see it—and so God is the same way," said Mrs. F. V. Tannehill, Phi Mu.

According to Mrs. Tannehill the church is the foundation of Christian life. "What is better for your country, community and yourself than a life that is a witness for God."

A woman who doesn't have to live on tranquilizers because her calmness comes from within shows total dedication. "Unless we follow Christ we won't have this tranquility," Mrs. Tannehill said.

The 1962-1963 Panhellenic officers are: Marlya Mertens, president; Eunice Light, secretary; and Janice Hanson, treasurer. Matilda B. Thompson, dean of women students of Panhellenic Council, advisor.

DAISY, DAISY, give me your answer true. Are you after me or my two-seated bicycle? Byron Bollinger demonstrates the workability of the ARG machine to Mary Jane Hanmer.

Bicycle For Two Attracts Coeds

If you are thriving for attention from girls, build a bicycle for two is the advice of Marlo Brackelsberg and Jerry Horner, seniors at NDSU.

Brackelsberg, Horner and other members of Alpha Gamma Rho Fraternity, built such a bicycle for about eleven dollars. The items needed were: two old bicycle frames which cost about $6, two tires which cost about $5 and some girls from the Kappa Delta Sorority who were ready, willing and waiting to paint the bicycle when it was completed.

According to Byron Bollinger, the bicycle had a few faults at first. For instance, there was the time he said when he and a coed were riding and the bicycle broke in half.

However, as seen in the picture, Bollinger seems to have won the confidence of Mary Jane Hanmer.

Evolution Defined By Cassel At Lutheran Student Meeting

"What is evolution?" This is the question asked by Dr. Frank Cassel, professor of zoology at NDSU, as he began his talk on "Evolution," at LSA May 6.

Cassel said, "Evolution is any change in plants and animals that can be passed on to its offspring." These changes are caused by mutations which are hereditary and are a gradual change in the genetic factor, according to Cassel.

Cassel said that life originated in simple form as one cell. "Through a series of changes over a period of many years, life, including plants and animals, has originated to what it is now," he added.

According to Cassel, fossils, which are remains of animals, do not contradict that there has been a gradual change over a period of years. He said that there are "gaps" where fossils have not been found and that this could be where God created man.

Cassel said, "Christians can

Dr. Andreas Holmsen Speaks About Norwegian Schools

"Though the Norwegian people are not very religious, only about five percent go to church, we celebrate more religious holidays than any people I know," said Dr. Andreas Holmsen. Dr. Holmsen spoke about vacations from school in Norway at the Y-Noon Luncheon on May 3.

Students in Norway don't want a five day school week because they would then have to make preparations for classes on Monday.

Teachers in Norway are not allowed to give tests the first day of the school week because when students are dismissed on Saturday afternoon, they are to be free from studies for the rest of the weekend. They attend six lectures a day or thirty-six a week but attendance is not compulsory.

The emphasis in curriculum is put on mathematics, languages and political science. Calculus is taught in high school. Students take seven years of English, five years of German and three years of French. Norwegians are now teaching foreign languages in the grades.

When Norwegian students take exams, they don't know which exam they are going to take. They have to be prepared for all of their subjects. The same exam is given the same day throughout the nation. If a student sees the exam and feels that he can not pass it, he can withdraw and take it when he is ready. If a student fails one course he fails the whole year and has to take it over to continue his education.

In Norway teachers are highly specialized and have three subjects they can teach. These three subjects they have devoted all their time to during college. Teachers are greatly respected in Norway, says Dr. Holmsen. If a student meets an instructor, he will take off his hat and bow his head.

Dr. Holmsen is a native of Norway and teaches agricultural economics at NDSU.

Oster Takes Honors At Judging Contest

John Oster, Ag jr, took top honors at the all-college livestock judging contest at NDSU Saturday. Oster was also the high individual in the meats contest April 28.

The livestock contest consisted of two classes of horses, three of beef, three of swine and three of sheep.

Oster was high man in judging horses; Jim Nelson, Ag jr, placed second; Vernon Boeshans, Ag jr, and Arlin Holtan, Ag jr, tied for third.

Harold Spickler, Ag soph, won first place in beef; Paul Martin, Ag jr, second; and Gary Knutson, Ag fr, took third.

The swine division was won by Ray Meyer, Ag jr; Paul Martin and Duane Preston, Ag jr, tied for second.

John Oster was first in sheep; Norman Bakkegard, Ag jr, and Ray Meyer tied for second.

Harold Spickler won the freshman-sophomore trophy.

Leo Johnson, "Y" Secretary, Presents Views On Pacifists

"Pacifists oppose war, military ideals and preparedness and desire to solve disputes by arbitration," said Leo Johnson, general secretary of NDSU campus YMCA.

Johnson spoke on pacifist groups, issues and the historical background of pacifism during UCCF Coffee Hour Wednesday, May 2 in the Student Union.

Johnson stated that Buddhists first stressed nonviolence in the fifth and sixth centuries before Christ.

For 300 years after Christ's death, Christians were pacifists toward Rome. Johnson said, "The teachings of Christ were believed to condemn violence." Persons who used force in settling disputes were excommunicated.

When the Goths invaded Rome, the Christians' help was needed to repel the invaders. To justify war, the Roman Catholics turned to Saint Augustine, Bishop of Hippo, who had written that the individual is subject to the state and the state to God. Augustine held that the state had the power to declare war. He said that war is justified when an aggressive nation must be punished or when war is fought to save one's self or country.

Johnson stated that pacifism became strongest in the twentieth century during World War I and II. There were peace pledges, pacifist conferences and much religious concern over these global wars.

Johnson said that pacifists, today, hold to three primary principles. First, pacifists are not passive, but actively campaign for peaceful methods to settle disputes. Next, pacifists hold to nonviolent minority resistance, as the sit-ins and bus boycotts of Southern Negroes. Third, the individual's degree of personal commitment to pacifism should decide whether or not he goes in to the armed services. There should be no compulsory military service.

"Today," explained Johnson, "pacifists, a distinct minority, are considered subversives." The use of nonviolence is frowned upon in our defense-minded society. Conscientious objectors are in an unpopular position.

Johnson explained that pacifists advocate negotiations and disarmament conferences to end nuclear testing and release world tensions.

These groups work for increased foreign aid of the Peace Corps type. Pacifists sponsor programs to warn people of nuclear war dangers. They support policies to change defense spending in the United States' economy to spending for peaceful purposes.

Nine Coeds Initiated Into Band Honorary

Tau Beta Sigma, national honorary band sorority, initiated nine girls into its chapter Sunday morning, May 6, at the Kappa Delta sorority house. Following the initiation new officers for the coming year were elected.

The new initiates are Ellen Bigelow, Kay Ellen Fletcher, Joan Hendrickson, Lorna Herr, Judy Landstrom, Doreen Loberg, Beth Morrison, Karen Sanderson and Dorothy Sholts.

The newly elected officers are Kathy Thomas, president; Judy Fossum, vice president; Kay Ellen Fletcher, secretary; Judy Landstrom, treasurer; and Doreen Loberg, reporter.

Following the business Mr. William Euren, advisor, welcomed the new initiates to the chapter.

The NDSU Vets Club will hold their annual spring picnic at Lindenwood Park on Saturday, May 12, at 3 p.m. Members are urged to bring guests.

The picnic will be pot luck. Admission will be a bowl of beans, jello or potato salad. If no food is brought, a $1.50 charge per couple will be imposed. Hot dogs and refreshments will be furnished by the Vets Club.

Army ROTC Cadets Travel To Kentucky

A regular army post was the objective and Fort Knox, Kentucky, was the destination of a three day journey undertaken by 15 advanced army ROTC cadets this past week, according to Mike Farrell, Ag jr.

Farrell said the group saw simulated combat conditions that included live ammunition shot over the heads of trainees.

These conditions are used to give the trainee as close an association with actual combat conditions as possible Farrell said.

Some $12 billion worth of US gold is stored close to Fort Knox Farrell said, "but we could only come as close as three blocks of rigid security precautions."

"It was an enjoyable and educational trip," said Farrell, "It gave us a better picture of how the army operates and it caused us to adjust some of our thinking concerning the army."

This was the third group of cadets to take such a trip. The other two groups went to Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and Fort Benning, Georgia.

Major Robert Carroll accompanied the group to Fort Knox.

WORLD'S LARGEST MOVER

SHORT SKIRTS are not new. Faculty wives, Mrs. Kenneth Larson, Mrs. Howard Bissonette and Mrs. Richard Mease, model fashions from the early days of NDSU's history. The NDSU Woman's Club presented the style show at their annual luncheon held at the FM Hotel, May 5.

Women's Club Models Fashions Depicting NDSU's History

"Attic Revisited" was the title of an "old times" fashion show presented at the annual NDSU Woman's Club Luncheon, Saturday, May 5, at the FM Hotel, Moorhead, Minn.

The display of fashions, part of a collection owned by Mrs. David Scott of Fargo, ranged from a black "Sunday best" dress complete with a huge velvet feathered hat, which could have been worn by the 1910 NDAC homecoming queen, to a white night gown and cap which might have been worn by one of the first girls who lived in Ceres Hall.

Margaret Kaiser, wife of Ervin Kaiser of the physical education department, advertised her husband's department by modeling the gym suit worn by the first NDAC women students. Gym suits at that time consisted of white middie blouses and black bloomers. Mrs. Kaiser also demonstrated the gymnastic routines which kept the early women students trim.

Participants in the style show were: Mmes. Howard Bissonette, Richard Kiesling, Richard Mease, Kenneth Larson, E. E. Kaiser, Frank Hubp, Alf Houkom, George Pratt, John Hove, Bryan Gackle and David Scott.

Mrs. June DoBervich narrated the style show which associated the different fashions with different events in NDSU's history.

Mrs. John Hove and Mrs. Bryan Gackle were co-chairman of the luncheon.

The NDSU Woman's Club is composed of the women members and the wives of the NDSU administrative, instructional, experimental and extension staffs and representatives of state or federal departments stationed at the university or in cooperation with it.

The purpose of the club is to promote the interests of NDSU, to foster the social life of the campus, and to offer opportunities for friendliness and helpfulness to new members of the university's staff.

Each year the NDSU Woman's Club sponsors two scholarships for NDSU women students. This year Mari Dombu, EE sr, received the Mary Elizabeth Hultz Scholarship and Jean Tongen, HE soph, received the Woman's Club Scholarship.

Child Evangelism Explained By Co-ed

How would you like to travel through every county in North Dakota and not know where you are going to eat or sleep? Connie Preuss, HE soph, who spoke on summer opportunities at the Bison Intersarsity Christian Fellowship meeting, said this is what working for Child Evangelism entails. The meeting Thursday evening, May 2, in the Student Memorial Union was centered around Christian Service.

Connie said that in each town the Child Evangelism team moved to, they were well received and always found a place to stay. She said they set up a tent when they came to a town, in preparation for the next week's Bible school. Connie stated that by the end of the week there would be 200 children attending the classes.

Ken Nelson, AAS soph, challenged the students to cultivate a friendship with an International student. He stated that by doing this, students can gain a deeper insight of the International student and the country he comes from.

Barb Kerber, HE fr., told about a student from India she met during Christmas vacation. He has a family, works eight hours a day and conducts Christian meetings three nights a week among the people living in the slums of his city in India. Barb encouraged Intersarsity members to pray for this man and the work he is doing.

The meeting closed with the thought that students must learn by doing, and no matter what form of Christian service they are in — it is important.

Data Processing Institute Held

The second annual Institute on Data Processing and Digital Computer Techniques in Science, Mathematics, Engineering and Industry was held at NDSU yesterday.

The institute was designed to acquaint the NDSU staff and community with various aspects of data processing. NDSU professors explained how the equipment saves time in computing many projects, eliminates errors and keeps a permanent record of data for other uses.

The institute featured NDSU professors working with data processing and a representative of the IBM Company.

NDSU Squad Attends National 4-H Club Congress In D.C.

James Nelson, Ag jr, was one of four outstanding 4-H members representing North Dakota at the National 4-H Club Conference in Washington, D.C., from April 22-28. Each state sent four representatives, Canada sent two from each province and Puerto Rico sent four delegates.

The theme of the conference was "Building on our National Heritage." The group listened to speeches on "Agricultural Policy of the U.S.," by Orville Freeman, Secretary of Agriculture, and "Citizenship in America in Relationship to other Countries" by Attorney General Robert Kennedy. Other subjects discussed were:

- What we have to do as good American citizens.
- Importance of education, in relationship to our fight for freedom against communism.
- Space projects and programs of the future.
- How 4-H varies in other states and countries and ways to improve the program.
- Reviewing the Bill of Rights, Declaration of Independence, and Constitution of the United States.

The North Dakota delegates were guests for a dinner and taken on tours of the Senate and Congress by North Dakota's Senators Milton R. Young and Quentin Burdick.

The 4-H'ers toured the Capitol of the United States, National Art Gallery, Library of Congress, Arlington Cemetery and the Department of Labor. Other sites seen were Jefferson Memorial, Lincoln Memorial, Washington Monument and Smithsonian Institute. They also went on a boat trip tour to Mt. Vernon.

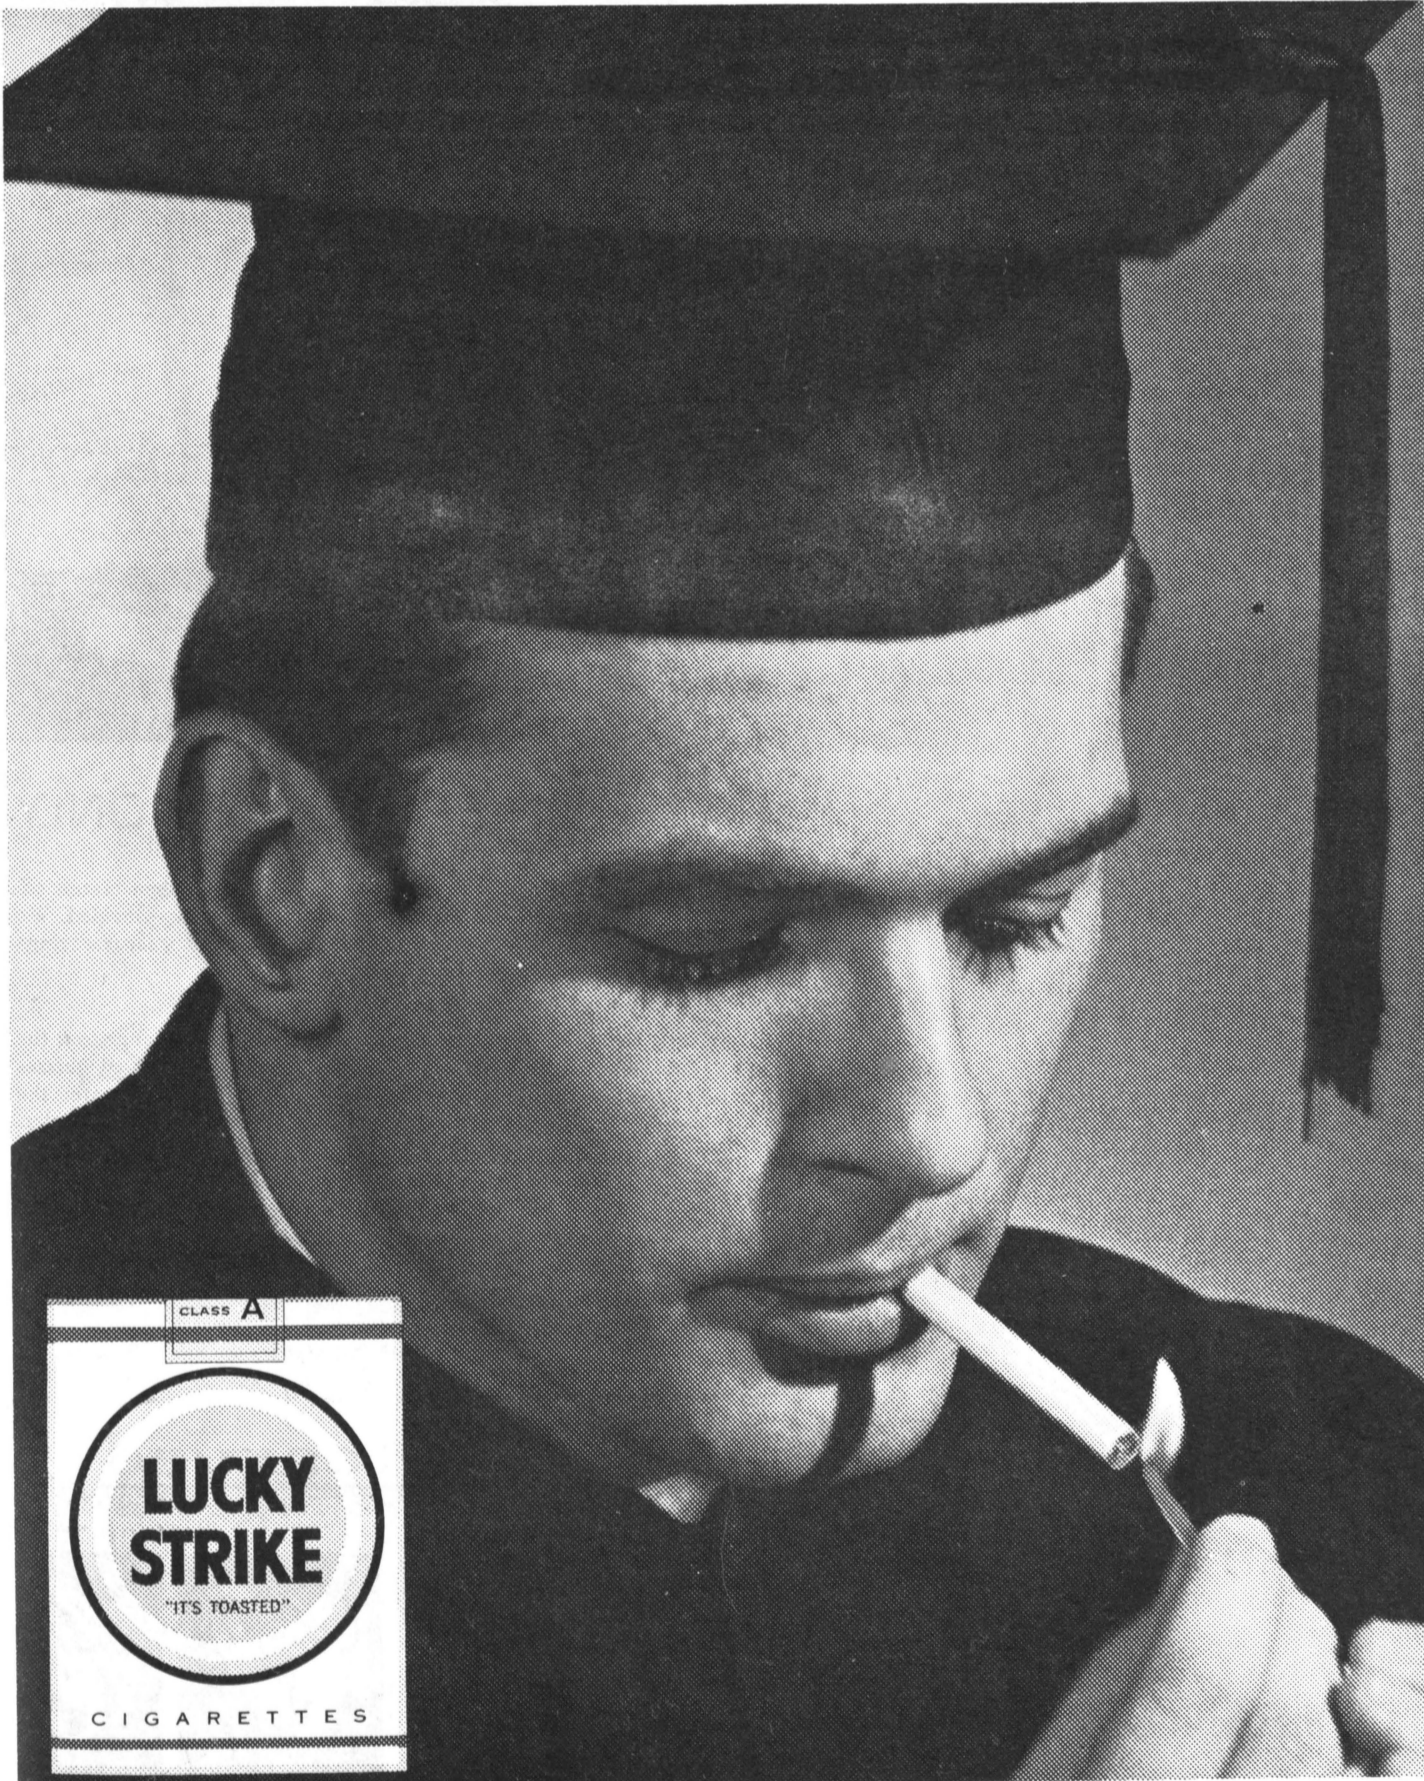

Dwight Palmer, Assistant State 4-H leader, accompanied the North Dakota delegates on the trip.

GUEST SPEAKER Calvin Olson, Fargo Forum photographer, had the tables turned on him when he appeared as a guest lecturer in Professor Verne Nies' basic journalism and agricultural communications classes last week. Nies says Olson has been a contributor to the two classes three times a year for six years or a total of 36 times. Olson is much at home on campus anyway, from the pictures he takes here for the Forum, and for the photo help he gives the Bison yearbook.

Dance Concert Is Cancelled

"Orchesis will not do a dance concert this spring," announced Marilyn Nass, advisor to the modern dance group. "We have decided, however, to film some of the dances," she said.

The film will consist of three choreographed dances, "South Rampart Street", a blues number; "Goofy Peep", a puppet ballet; and "Lassus Trombones", a top hat and cane dance. Also included in the film will be an improvised dance demonstrating the initial steps taken in creating a dance routine, and a demonstration of dance technique exercises.

Miss Nass stated that this film will be available to any high school desiring an instructional dance film and it will also be used in the freshman rhythms classes at NDSU.

Finding The Key To Future Is Job Of Students And Staff

"The success of America is largely related to the success of land grant institutions and the land grant system." These are the words of Dr. Herbert R. Albrecht who spoke at the Phi Kappa Phi banquet Tuesday, May 8.

NDSU is going into its second year as a university in name as well as in stature as is evidenced by the student body, Albrecht said.

However, there are some changes that must be made in the educational system and in the university. Many people have commented cynically about changes in crowded universities. The fact still remains that an adjustment must be made.

Albrecht, quoting John W. Garner said, "We must learn to honor excellence." The important thing today is to appreciate how quickly everything we do becomes obsolete. As the saying goes, "If it runs it is obsolete." Obsolescence is prevalent today in social sciences, economics, marketing and many other fields.

It is the job of the president of a university, the teaching staff and the student body to find the key to the future, stated Albrecht. The student body, to be successful, must take an interest in learning. Older members of the student body should set an example for other students. They can also exercise their leadership ability and can become an influence on the standards of the faculty.

The faculty must do more than pump knowledge into student's minds. They must get away from the filling station approach which is often severely criticized.

This university responds to and identifies the needs of the people, Albrecht said. This image that NDSU must project is the image of the students. The job of teaching goes beyond text books and notes.

Phi Kappa Phi lends for the respect of intellectual honesty. This, Albrecht said, he hopes to project throughout the rest of the institution. This is very important because NDSU is an instrument of great importance.

Albrecht concluded his remarks by saying that it is going to take the efforts of the staff, the students and the people in North Dakota to achieve the purpose of the university. The purpose was set down when the institution was established. A referendum increasing enrollment and new buildings don't do the job. Only the people can.

Eight students were initiated into Phi Kappa Phi at the banquet. They were Marlene A. Caplan, Bruce I. Cary, Betty J. Dahm, Orville K. Nyhus, Sandra M. Saufferer, Dennis W. Brovold, David E. Hoff and David A. Milbrath.

Galde, Bjergo Named Fulbright Scholars

Two NDSU students have been awarded a Fulbright Scholarship for study in Europe next year according to an announcement from the Department of State.

Allen Bjergo, Ag sr, will study at the Agricultural College in Vollebakk, Norway. Orientation begins August 19.

Bjergo is now practice teaching at Wahpeton. He has maintained an over-all average of 3.87, is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, Alpha Zeta and Kappa Delta Pi.

Darrell Galde, Phys sr, will work toward a master's degree in physics and higher mathematics at the University of Freiburg, Germany, this fall.

Galde received a scholarship to Die Deutsche Sommerschule

Am Paxifik in 1960 at Reed College, Portland, Oregon, and is teaching first year German this year at NDSU.

Galde maintained an over-all average of 3.85 during his four years of college. He was an assistant in sophomore physics lab at NDSU last year and received the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Award in physics as the distinguished sophomore.

Galde was an honor senior at NDSU and a member of Phi Kappa Phi, Sigma Phi Delta, Interfraternity Council, Little Country Theater.

The Fulbright Award is made possible by money derived from U. S. war surplus funds and by international agreement to American citizens for study in certain foreign countries.

Intramural Mutterings

By JOE SCHNEIDER

A heated discussion concerning the eligibility of students participating in intramural sports was the main topic at the last Board meeting Monday.

Jeff Colehour, Kappa Psi, said he knew that the Vet's Club has been using non-members of their organization to play softball for them. The Vet's representative defended his organization by saying the players in question were honorary members of their club.

Although the laws of the Intramural Board state that any organization which is found guilty of using players of their teams who are not members of their organization will be barred from intramural sports for a year, no action can be taken by the Board because there is nothing stating whether or not an honorary member is considered a regular member or not.

The only alternative for the Board is to let the players continue the season, or for them to devise a means by which they can be expelled from play.

Duane Fluegel, president, said that he will investigate the situation by finding out from the registrar whether or not the players involved are listed under the Vet's Club as members. This, however, might prove a worthless effort because the Vet's say they do not have to list their members like the Greek organizations do.

If the Vet's are allowed to include honorary members in their club so that they can play sports for them, what is going to stop the other organizations from the same thing is the question now left unanswered.

At the tennis tournament last week four teams have survived the double elimination. They are ATO 1, ATO 2, Sigs and the SAE's. Next Saturday the doubles will start and the singles will be finished up.

Larry Rolfstad and Duane Fluegel, the two officials at last week's meets, told the Board that they were resigning from that job because they did not feel qualified to officiate tennis. They said that they were not suited for the job and asked the Board to select someone else for the position. No one was selected at the meeting, but arrangements will probably be made before tomorrow.

The Board decided to cut out the double elimination process which was in use last week and to finish out the tournament with just single elimination.

Any team who forfeited last week may still enter for the finish of the meet, announced the Board.

The Intramural track meet will get under way on May 21 and will finish up on the 22. All team rosters and entrance fees must be turned in by Monday, May 14.

The field events to be staged are the shotput, discus, high jump and broad jump. Running events are the 50, 60, 75, 100 and 220 yard dashes. Each organization will be allowed to enter three men in each event and every man may enter three events.

The best standings in softball thus far are:

BRACKET I

Kappa Psi, four wins — no losses; Vet's and AIA's, each five wins — no losses.

BRACKET II

Co-ops, three wins — one loss.

NDSU Squad Retains Title In Bison-Jaycee Track Meet

By MYRON WAGNER

The NDSU Bison scored 46 points to easily outdistance a field of 38 competitors and retain the college division title of the Bison-Jaycee track meet at Dacotah Field Saturday. Grand Forks won the Class A high school division with 62 points. Lisbon scored 32½ points for the Class B crown.

Despite a strong wind, the 750 athletes from 59 colleges and high schools managed to break 19 records in the 15th annual meet. Eight of these standards were broken in the college division.

The Bison point total came largely from the fine performance of distance runner Oddvar Helgesen. Helgesen, voted the outstanding athlete, was the meet's only triple winner, in the mile, two mile, and steeplechase, turning in a record 9:27.7 time in the latter event.

NDSU's mile relay team of Neal Jacobson, Mike Anderson, Dennis Powell and Brian Dieterle ran a record 3:26.5 for the only other Bison first place finish.

The Bison gained revenge on Dickinson TC, who upset them at Jamestown the previous week. The Savages finished second with 28 points. UND tallied 20 for third place, followed by St. Cloud, 15; Bemidji, 14; Mayville TC, 7; Manitoba and Jamestown, 6; Minot TC, UND Frosh and Bottineau Forestry, 5; Moorhead State, 4; NDSU Frosh, Wahpeton Science and Valley City TC, 2.

Rafer Johnson, Olympic decathlon champion, disappointed the crowd by failing to appear. Johnson was scheduled for clinic appearances and a demonstration. The athletic department was unable to determine the cause for his absence, other than a possible conflict in schedules.

Ostrem Elected WRA Prexy

Woman's Athletic Association

New officers of the Women's Athletic Association were elected for 1962-1963. They include: Marilyn Ostrem, AAS soph, president; Sonja Zueger, AAS soph, vice president; Roberta Oksendahl, AAS soph, secretary-treasurer.

After the election the new and old officers met and selected the following objectives for 1962-63:

- To give every woman student a WRA handbook at fall registration.
- To resume tournaments in team sports (basketball, volleyball, softball) on a basis of sorority and independent teams.

- To promote a variety of activities so every woman student on campus will participate in at least one activity of her choice during the school year.
- To revise the constitution so a more efficient and effective program may be promoted.

- To give every woman student a WRA handbook at fall registration.

- To resume tournaments in team sports (basketball, volleyball, softball) on a basis of sorority and independent teams.

Carren Steffel, HE soph and Sharon Sylester, AAS soph, received a teacher's certificate in riflery from the National Riflery Association. They qualified by taking a written test and assisting in the teaching for the Women's Recreation Association program.

Baseball

The Bison are scheduled to meet the UND baseball squad this afternoon at 1:30. The double header will be played at Barnett Field. These games determine whether or not the Bison will be in the playoffs and they deserve all the support they can get.

SPOTLIGHT ON SPORTS

By DENNIS KALDOR

Last weekend proved to be quite fruitful for the Bison bat welders as coach Ross Fortier's team seized 2 victories out of 3 starts against Bemidji.

The Bison now need to sweep their 3 game series with UND to win the northern half championship of the North Central Conference. The team was in Grand Forks yesterday and will move into Barnett Field at 1:30 today for a double header.

The winner of the northern half will meet the winner of the southern half for a playoff to be held at the northern half city. At the present time it appears that the State College of Iowa will be the southern champion.

Fortier has been generally pleased with his team's performance throughout the season but cited a few points which he felt needed improvement. "We have had problems in base running and many times I have felt that we were suffering mental lapses while on the bases. We have to remain alert and concentrate on sound fielding and throwing if we expect to win ball games."

Errors have plagued the Bison squad all year, many of these errors occurring at exactly the wrong time. The teams steady improvement and increasing self-confidence has shown a constant reduction in these mechanical mistakes.

There has been nothing weak about the Bison hitting ability this season, however. The Bison bat-men have produced 8 to 10 hits consistently in every game. In several of their contests the squad has soundly outhit their opponents but has gone down in defeat due to other causes.

"Krause, Rezac and Hertz showed outstanding hitting power during the past week," stated Fortier.

GOLF

The Bison won both halves of the Inter-city golf and tennis meet held last week with Concordia and MSC. Norm Vernerstrom was medalist for the Bison with a 77. Evidently some of the boys still felt the pressures of competition, however, for there were still some scores in the high 80's.

In the Bison Invitational Meet we weren't quite so lucky. The tennis team took top honors with 13 points compared to St. John's 9 points for second in the field of 9 colleges and universities. The golf squad, playing on the Detroit Lakes Country Club course, managed only a third place finish with a score of 385. Mankato was first with 379 and UND was second with 385.

TRACK

Bison coach Herb Blakely was very pleased with his team's showing at the Bison-Jaycee Meet last Saturday. Oddvar Helgeson was outstanding for the Bison, setting one record and winning three first place medals.

The next week promises a very full schedule for the Bison runners. They meet Bemidji this afternoon and compete against UND and Manitoba tomorrow. Tuesday will see the running of the Intercity Meet and the conference meet is slated for next weekend in Cedar Falls, Iowa.

Bison And Alumni Clash Tomorrow

Fans of the NDSU football team will have their first opportunity to see the 1962 Bison squad in game conditions tomorrow night at Dacotah Field.

The Bison will meet a squad made up of alumni at 7:30 p.m. It will be the fifth annual varsity-alumni football clash at NDSU and concludes the 20-workout spring practice schedule for the Bison varsity.

Alumni squad members started working out two weeks ago, and about thirty former Bison players are expected to participate for them in the Saturday night game. The alumni have never won in the previous games, but this year's squad appears to be the most formidable the alumni have assembled.

Bob Danielsen, Bison varsity coach, is looking forward to this year's game with more than the usual interest.

"We'll be using more inexperienced performers this year than we have in the past, and we'll be more interested in how they react to game conditions and carry out their assignments," Danielsen said.

Coordinators of the alumni team are Dave Gentzkow and Harmon Krause, both members of last fall's varsity squad.

Tickets for the game are $1 for adults and $.25 for high school and college students. Children under high school age will be admitted free if accompanied by an adult. Proceeds of the game go into the athletic scholarship fund.

Busy Week On Tap For NDSU Golfers

The NDSU Bison failed by 4 strokes to capture the top honors at the May 8 Bison Invitational held at the Edgewood course in Fargo. Ron McLeod was medalist with a 74 for the tourney but his fine effort was not enough to secure the victory.

MSC totaled 406 strokes and the Bison followed in second place with 410. Behind NDSU were UND, 415; Concordia, 423; Morris, 432; and Bemidji, 437.

The tennis squad suffered a sounding defeat the same day at the hands of St. Thomas. The Bison failed to tally in that meet and lost 8-0.

The golf team hopes to be in better form when they play in the University Invitational this afternoon. The varsity and freshman members of both the tennis and golf teams will make the trip. Tomorrow the squads will be in Bemidji for the Bemidji Invitational.

Next week will be an exceptionally busy week for the Bison stickers. They will match strokes with Iowa State on Monday, Drake University on Tuesday and Coe College on Wednesday. Waterloo, Iowa will be the scene on Friday for the conference tournament. The squad will have Thursday to practice before pitting themselves against the other conference colleges.

Five members of the Bison golf team will make the week-long trip. All five of them will compete in the conference meet but only the top 4 scores will be counted.

The tennis team will meet UND in a meet here on May 15 and will leave Thursday to attend the conference. Bison coach Erv Kaiser has high hopes for both squads in the conference encounters and feels that his tennis team can go right to the finals if the pairings are favorable. Judging from past performances he feels that Iowa Teachers will be the ones to beat in the tennis playoffs. The Bison should take at least second place, even with Iowa as strong as they are.

It was hard for Kaiser to make any predictions in regards to the golf team's chances in the meet due to the inconsistency of some of his players. The pressure will be on harder than ever for this contest and it is hoped that the men can stand up under it.

LCT Will Present Three One-Act Plays

An exciting evening of avant-garde one-act plays is promised for Little Country Theatre audiences at NDSU on Wednesday and Thursday, May 16 and 17. The plays will be directed by students in Professor Chichester's class in stage directing. No admission will be charged and the public is cordially invited to attend. Curtain time will be 8:15 sharp.

Opening the bill will be Saul Bellow's, "The Wrecker", a comedy directed by Ray Rogalla. Raetta Hankel will join with Bruce Tannehill, Dale Moench and Kathleen Mahoney to bring life and sparkle to Mr. Bellow's prize-winning first play.

The second play will be Tennessee Williams' "I Rise In Flames, Cried The Phoenix". Written by the author of "Splendor In The Grass" and based on the death of D. H. Lawrence who wrote "Lady Chatterly's Lover", this play is considered one of Williams' finest short plays. It will be directed by Steve Ward and will feature Robert Thorson, Elna Eshon and Marilyn Anderson.

The final play, Eugene Ionesco's, "The Bald Soprano", directed by Robert Steuwig is a satire on the British in general and the institution of matrimony in particular. The players include Pat McDonald, Mary Vick, Jerome Exner, Judee Perkins, Bill Spencer and Daphne Thompson.

Theta Co-eds Honored At Awards Day Tea

Betty Dahm, Pharm jr, received the Metsinger Traveling Scholarship Award for the second year at the Kappa Alpha Theta Awards Day Tea, May 6.

Other awards and scholarships given were the Metsinger Memorial Award to Jane Costain, AAS sr, for outstanding sorority contributions; High Pledge Scholarship Award to Patty Dodge, HE fr; Most Improved Scholarship Award to Barb Danielson, AAS fr, and the Outstanding Pledge Award to Judy Van Vlissingen, AAS fr.

Mrs. Nelson was honored for her 17 years (1944-61) of service as a cook to the Gamma Nu chapter.

33 Faculty, Staff Members Elected To Science Academy

President Herbert R. Albrecht was among the 33 members of NDSU faculty and staff elected to membership in the North Dakota Academy of Science at their fifty-fourth annual meeting held May 5 in the Memorial Union.

Membership in the Academy includes all scientists throughout the state if they are at a university or in commercial industry.

According to Dr. Fred H. Sands, professor of chemistry at NDSU, the academy is set up to promote all scientific endeavors of the state. In this connection, he said, several committees are organized to encourage scientific endeavor and research.

The academy also offers scholarship to students throughout the state that present papers at the annual meeting.

Mrs. Lynn Airheart Brond-vold, Chem sr, received third prize in the Dennison Awards for student papers. She presented a paper in chemistry research.

Dr. Frank Cassel, professor of zoology at NDSU, served as president of the Academy for the past year and Dr. Sands is the president-elect. He will take over the duties of president in 1964.

Professor E. A. Helgessen, department of botany, gave a paper entitled "Sixty Years of Weed Research in North Dakota". His paper will be published in full in the proceedings of the Academy.

Members of the NDSU faculty elected to the Academy include:

- Herbert R. Albrecht
