Antonio Gaudi
Architecture
To Be Shown

The Architecture of Antonio Gaudi will be exhibited in 34 photo panel displays accompanied by text, to be worked on by the Catalans and will be on display at the Memorial Union from April 27 to May 15. The exhibit is sponsored by the Department of Architecture and the Albert Farwell Bemis Foundation. A larger version was seen at the coast of Barcelona during the winter of 1959-60 where it was directed by architectural historian Henry-Russell Hitchcock (Continued on page 10). Bismarck Choir
To Perform Here Today

What is regarded as one of the most outstanding high school choirs in the country will appear on the North Dakota State University campus today.

Under the direction of Boyd Gregory, the 80-voice Bismarck High School Choir will perform at 2:15 p.m. in the Memorial Union Ballroom. They will be making their last appearance before returning home after a tour which covered North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Michigan. In the past, this choir has made other extensive tours, singing in Colorado and on the West Coast.

The 45-minute program is sponsored by the University's music department and is in recognition of the fact that on several occasions in the last three years, the Bismarck group has sponsored the University Choir's Youth Choir and provided lodging for the duration of their visit.

Following their performance, a reception will be held in honor of the group. Members of the Student Senate and students not in residence will attend.

NDSU's Fifth ShariVAR Begins Tomorrow - Many New Events Scheduled

This is the fifth year the ShariVAR program has been held on the campus and each year it has been expanded. This year the plan is to show everyone in the area just what NDSU is. ShariVAR has involved more students and faculty who have worked together to show just what goes on at a modern state university.

The following items are of importance in viewing ShariVAR:

* The Parents' Day program, April 26, features visitors with your son or daughter, lunch in University Union, free time to visit open houses, tour of President's house, coffee hour for faculty, students and parents, open house in dorms, fraternities and sororities plus religious centers.

* High School Day Program, April 27, features many discussions and panels presenting aspects of education, lunch in Union Ballroom, free time to visit displays afternoon discussions on scholarships and courses, and open houses in all sororities, fraternities, religious centers and dorms. Pajama Game and the Dance in the Union Ballroom are for college and high school students.

* The central information tent is being set up tomorrow on the mall between the Memorial Union and the College of Science and letters. This is the official open house in dorms, fraternities and sororities plus religious centers.

* A specially designed structure is being erected by architecture students west of the Union to display some of their projects in sculpture and buildings. The Department of Architecture will feature an exhibition of Antonio Gaudi's work in the Memorial Union with the official opening on Friday evening, April 26. Thirty-four photo panels will be displayed.

* Above And Beyond The Call of Duty is a U.S. Army display exhibit, which has been on a national tour during the Centennial program featuring the U.S. Army Medal of Honor. This highest award for valor bestowed on a soldier serving his country during this war, is appearing at NDSU during ShariVAR. A display team will be present to assist visitors who have questions. The exhibit is open to the public without charge.

* The ShariVAR Carnival is set up at Sheppard Arena, Saturday, April 27, in which many activities and contests will be participating. The Carnival starts at 12:06 p.m. on Saturday and will be open until 1 p.m. on Sunday. Admission is $.50.

* The ShariVAR Auction will be held on Friday, April 26, at 9 p.m. A four piece band will play while the children dance. There will be many entertainment features.

* The "Hamfest" taking place all day Sunday, April 28, expects 100 state hams and interested public and area hams. Many displays and contests will be given and some are contributed by state electronic manufacturers and distributors who will have commercial displays.

* These features can tell their own story and should show you that many hours have been spent in planning and through these plans ShariVAR starts planning early in December and becomes deeper and deeper involved until the final days come. These many students and faculty have done their part extremely well up to this point and it is now time for others to turn to take over and extend a welcome to all and show them a good time and NDSU.

Every year at this time of year the Greeks on campus hold their annual affair entitled Greek Week.

Many Activities
This year the Interfraternity Council, under the leadership of Phil Wattles has planned many activities to make the week a outstanding and fun time for all Greeks.

SCHNEIDER

Monday night two more royalty will be picked from the Greek population at the dance in the Union. These will be the position of Greek Week king and queen, two titles which are nice to have because there are no required duties which go along with the crowns.

Also, the outstanding Greek pledges will be named that evening. Along with these activities, there is Spring Sing, which will undoubtedly be sold out by the SAE's once again, and the Interfraternity Ball.

However, the real crowd attraction, and the usual main event of Greek Week is the Sigma Chi tradition.

The picnic, which is usually held on the last Saturday of the week, from the administration and the fearless student body president, Ken Nelson.

Nelson, acting in his administrative position, issued a letter to the IFC telling them that our president viewed it as a matter of their fraternity, a national sub rose group fraternity has been on our campus since April of 1964. They have been banned from the University of Nebraska for many years.

That "Prixcie Press" certainly has been an interesting newspaper.

Dakota Hall Labeled White Castle; Former Resident Mourns Destruction

To the Editor:

Last week Joe Schneider, whom I doubt has ever been in Dakota Hall, wrote of his feelings concerning the destruction of that dorm. Joe did not mention the fact that he lived there for nearly four years, and he is a conservative dorm. To strangers they were consious, but they cut down individual showers for the bashful. Those thin, flimsy, combustible materials used in Dakota Hall aboard make our home just that much more miserable.

Story On Dr. Albrecht Called Gross Misrepresentation

To the Editor:

Consider the fact that your publication is one of the few places disseminating information on this issue. If you do deem most prudent if you attempt to disseminate the fact that White Castle is a progress of several members of the faculty. Especially mentioned were Dennis Behrman, Dean Thompson, and Harold Fitch.

In the future it would be wise to carefully scrutinize such districts and the other faults that these and the other faults misreprensented. (Editor's note: This matter has come to our attention prior to our deadline.)

The Washington Daily

In Defense Of Freedom

ON THE ROLE OF GOVERNMENT:

One of the principal differences between conservatives and liberals is their positions on the role of government, particularly the Federal Government.

Conservatives agree with liberals that these are times of rapid change and progress. However, they disagree in the economic and political affairs of men. But we conservatives disagree with them on one particular point; that is, the role of government in our daily lives. We maintain that these times, with all of their complexity and change, have not yet rendered the individual impotent to deal with his own economic and social responsibilities.

However, I am not advocating that the government as unimportant, or as having no role at all.

Perhaps the briefest summation of our position was drafted by the American Student for Freedom at their 1960 convention in Shreveport, La. It reads as follows:

"We, the young conservatives, believe that foremost among the transcendental demands of the American student is the use of his God-given free will, whence derives his right to be free from the restrictions that government, by whatever name, may impose. Liberty is indivisible, and that political freedom cannot long exist without economic freedom. That the purposes of government are to protect these freedoms through the preservation of the Constitution, the provision of national defense, and the administration of justice; that when government ventures beyond these rightful functions; it acculturates power which tends to diminish order and liberty."

1965, Five years ago: According to a nationwide survey of college aged students, 51% were in favor of college operated beer tap rooms on campus. Forty-five percent were against such a move and 4% per cent were undetermined.

1965, Ten years ago: The Blue Key production, "Bison Brevities," consisting of three five minute acts and five fifteen minute acts, was put on in the United States. Don't miss Blue Key's 1965 festival, "Pajama Game." I understand the cast does a great job with improvisations as, "She Attached Him With a Knife and Cut Hammer's Head Off," and "Hey There, You With the Stone in Your Mouth." The above recorded collection in 1965, you ran out to buy "TRYING," by Wayne Weishaar, treasurer.

1972, Thirty years ago: On April 7, as a windup to the basketball finals, "Bison All-Stars," made up of players from the 1982 and 1983 basketball teams, touring Harlem Globetrotters, and some of the younger players from the 1984 team, led off the unusual evening's entertainment.

1972, Forty years ago: The headlines read "Get On Your Muffs and Push Big One Fires Any Minute." The article goes on to tell how at 8:00 that night, the cadets were to fire machine guns, mortars, hand grenades, rockets and dynamite fire shells on the campus range. The ammunition was to be used. A concert by the college orchestra and the College Club led off the unusual evening's entertainment.

1973, Fifty years ago: As the school year drew to a close, the North Dakota Agricultural College advertised in the Spectrum to recruit high school students. A portion of the ad follows: "This position offers to the young people of this state an education which is thoroughly in line with modern thought and demands. It spends time on dead languages or such subjects as are of little practical value. Tuition Free, Board and room $3.75 to $5.00 per week."

1974, Sixty-five years ago: Sixty-five years ago: I don't know why you bought your copy of the Spectrum at theoks, and mobs, and dynamite fire shells on the campus range. The ammunition was to be used. A concert by the college orchestra and the College Club led off the unusual evening's entertainment.

1984, Sixty-five years ago: This advertisement appeared in the Spectrum:

"Two and Porterfield Drugists, Fargo, North Dakota. Sole proprietors and manufacturers of LANGDON'S SPAVIN REMEDY. A cure for incipient exanthems such as spa tos, ringworm, scurf, mange, and an enlargement of the synovial bursa such as bog- no, gom, pin, puffs on ankle etc."

1939, Thirty years ago: In 1939, the North Dakota State University was elected to head the University All Club. It was Carolline Kaut, AAS. Other new officers of the group are: Roger Wetzel, vice-president; Mildred Harbecke, secretary, and Wayne Weishaar, treasurer.

Three SU Students Selected

For Farm Exchange Program

Three NDSU students, Ron Wilderson, Keith L. Holman and Gerald Hartman, are to be the 1963 participants of a farm exchange program between England and the United States.

The three are members of the Co-op House and the Farmers Union campus group. They will be placed on farms in Great Britain for the period of April through November, 1963.

Four young men from Great Britain will be on farms in North Dakota for a similar length of time.

The program of exchange between the young farmers of the two countries is sponsored by the National Farmers Union, the North Dakota Farmers Union and the United Kingdom Sponsoring Authority for International Exchange.

The purpose of the program is to improve international relations between the two countries, and to give the young men first hand experience of the farm practices, economic, social and cultural ways of life of the other country. Through actual experience of living and working in a rural community, the young men will learn through experience the role of farm organizations and government in British and American agriculture.

U.S. Army Exhibit Features

Display of Medal of Honor

Valor on the battlefield is the subject of a U.S. Army exhibit to appear in Fargo during "Sharvari" at North Dakota State University April 26-28.

Entitled "Above and Beyond the Call of Duty," this stirring display features the U.S. Army Medal of Honor, the highest award for valor bestowed on a soldier serving his country in time of war.

Though not a large exhibit, its story is by no means small as it traces the history of this highest of decorations from the Civil War through its award for valor on Korean battlefields.

Visitors to the display in Fargo will see actual Medals as they were first cast, and the Medal as it is today. The story of courage and personal sacrifice of soldiers who have been awarded the Medal is told through pictures of famous battles in which these heroes fought.

The Medal of Honor (U.S. Army) was born on July 12, 1862, when President Lincoln signed the Congressional resolution establishing the award. The first awards were made on March 25, 1863, to gallant soldiers serving with Federal forces during the Civil War.

During the century since Lincoln signed the resolution, some 2,200 soldiers have demonstrated courage meriting award of America's top symbol of gratitude.

Kasson Named For Institute At Penn State

A North Dakota State University instructor in industrial engineering, Bruce Kasson, has been selected to participate in the fourth Summer Institute in Effective Teaching at Pennsylvania State University this summer, according to Frank Mirgahn, dean of engineering at NDSU.

The two-week institute, which runs from August 25-September 7, is designed to give selected teachers an opportunity to study and practice fundamental principles and use of effective teaching methods. It also encourages participants to do research in methods for the improvement of learning.

Presentations will be made and discussions will be conducted by leaders in the fields of psychology, education, speech and engineering.

Some 30 to 75 young engineering teachers from throughout the United States are selected to attend on the basis of demonstrated engineering ability and a desire to advance in the teaching profession.

Janssen Receives Plumbers Award

Donovan Janssen, ME Jr., has been awarded the Fargo-Moorhead Plumbing Contractor's Association scholarship of $100. This scholarship is awarded annually to a mechanical engineering junior who is dependent upon his own resources for an education. It is based on academic performance, personality, industriousness, need and promise of leadership in the mechanical engineering field.

Balloon Seller Is Dope Front

from UPI . . . A bicycle-riding peddler is going to the circus. They had seen the balloon man many times as they checked out the area. Then one day a detective saw a man buy a balloon with several balls and walk away without his change. Later, a known drug addict bought a balloon. Yesterday it was a detective's turn. He stopped the peddler, saying, "I want a balloon, man. I'm going to the circus." The peddler is going to jail.

Alice Dill Wins Pfizer Award

Alice M. Dill, a junior in home economics education, is the recipient of a 1963 Pfizer 4-H Scholarship Award.

The $250 award was announced at the annual Extension Training Conference, in session at Louisiana State University, by Herbert J. Schaller, manager of public relations for the Agricultural Division, Chas. Pfizer & Co., Inc.

Active in 4-H work for nine years, Miss Dill made nearly 1,200 meals and baked 431 times for her fellow club members. She found time to carry eight different projects including Swiss, dairy, gardening, corn, beef, junior leadership and babysitting.

Miss Dill is a member of the University 4-H Club, Square Dance Club, and the Ceres Hall Club. She plans to take up a career in either teaching or extension upon graduation in May, 1964.

In all, 20 young men and women, representing 16 states, were honored with scholarship awards. States having award winners include Arizona, California, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Nebraska, North Carolina, North Dakota, New York, Oregon, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

This marked the eighth consecutive year that Pfizer has presented scholarships to outstanding 4-H students, all of whom are presently enrolled as juniors in agricultural colleges and universities. The awards were established to encourage young people to seek careers in agricultural education work.

To qualify for an award, the student must have an outstanding scholastic record, and be enrolled in courses that will lead to an extension career. He or she is required to submit as a part of the application a teaching plan for a program in animal health or an application of such a program that will be of benefit to the health of humans.

Application is made through the state extension director of each state.

Father Durkin

wearing apparel is a North Dakota state law passed in 1949. This law states that no one can teach in the public school system wearing religious garb. Father Durkin comments, "It's a silly law, but I have some very beautiful ties." He said that his part-time position as director of the NDSU Newman Foundation was "one of many jobs."

During this period, he took time to receive a M.A. degree in English literature from the University of Chicago. He became full time director of the NDSU Newman Foundation in 1957 when the St. Paul's Student Center was built. He is still editor of the "Catholic Action News."

Father Durkin feels his job is as that of any religious director; to direct the aims of that foundation on campus. He continued to say that religious organizations are only partly doing their job. The aims of religious foundations have not been fully defined in most cases. He thinks that more advantage could be taken of what religious organizations have to offer," he said.

He thinks that college students need to know more about religion. They have the opportunity to work towards developing a liberal arts education that finds a proper place for religion. "All religious organizations are trying to do this," he concluded.

"The whole future of the Newman Foundation or any religious organization is bound to become more interested in the Ecumenical Movement. (Ed. note: this movement looks at the Christian Church as a whole.) The spirit of this is rapidly becoming the most important religious movement today due to the rapid advances in scholarship, theology, ethics and philosophy," Father Durkin stated.

In his free time he likes to read works of Chaucer, Bernard Shaw, Dante and Peanuts. One of his favorites is Shaw, whom he feels has "a keen insight into modern man and his problems."

Besides reading, he collects books—especially those which are rare, first editions or old. When asked to compare his present position with that of being a parish priest he answered, "I've grown old faster and lost a lot of sleep."

The three will continue their teaching duties through the end of the school year.
How Ford economy won for Tiny Lund at Daytona

The Daytona 500 is one of America's toughest stock car events. It measures the toughness, stability, over-all performance and economy characteristics of the cars that take up its challenge—in a way that compresses years of driving punishment into 500 blazing miles. This year mechanical failures claimed over 50 per cent of the cars that entered. That's why Tiny Lund's victory in a Ford (with four other Fords right behind him) is a remarkable testimony to sheer engineering excellence.

Lund attributed his victory in part to the "missing pit stop." He made one less pit stop for fuel than his competition—proving that Ford economy can pay off in some fairly unlikely situations!

Economy and the winner of the Daytona 500 might sound like odd bedfellows at first. Yet economy is basic in every car we make . . . yes, even the Thunderbird is an economy car in its own way. Here's what we mean . . .

Economy is the measure of service and satisfaction the customer receives in relation to the price he pays for it. It does not mean, however, austerity . . . you have taught us this. Americans want—and we will try hard to give them—cars that are comfortable to ride in, fun to drive, and powerful enough to get out of their own way. Not many Americans want to settle for basic transportation. You see this in our sales figures—more than half of our 1963 sales are coming from the top of each model line. We're selling convertibles, hardtops, the Jazzy cars . . . the bucket-seat, high-performance, luxury editions are going like hot cakes.

Yet for all the fun that people are demanding in their cars, they still are very conscious of the element of thrift—of avoiding unnecessary expense. This is the kind of economy we build into every car from the compact Falcon to the luxurious Thunderbird.

There's a special economy, for instance, in Ford's freedom from service. Every car and virtually every wagon can travel 36,000 miles before it needs a major chassis lubrication. Other routine service has been reduced, too—because these Fords are simply built better—and of better materials—than ever before.

In its own elegant way, even the Thunderbird gives you economy. It will use 100,000 miles or 3 years before you have to lubricate the chassis. Thunderbirds have a way of becoming classics— as a look at their remarkably high resale-value will quickly tell you. This, too, is economy.

Once, long ago—before the arrival of the Income Tax—a wealthy lady was asked to comment on the solid gold-plumbing of her latest villa at Newport.

"Thrift, my dear," said the dowager . . . "It will never, ever rust."

Economy then, is many things to many people. Whatever economy means to you, you're pretty sure to find it in a Ford.

America's liveliest, most care-free cars!

SU Loses Opener

North Dakota State University suffered two losses in doubleheader action last Saturday at St. Cloud State. The two games marked the opening of the 1963 season for the Bison.

Two home runs were hit by NDSU. Leney Proppe and Jerry Rivanius blasted solos in the first game of the doubleheader.

Coach Roger Sheidt commented, "I'm pretty happy with the way we played considering it was the starting game." His general outlook for the Bison team is that they are young and also weak in some phases. Sheidt stated, "Our pitching is a little weak, but Dick Clemenson looks real good." Clemenson pitched the first five innings in the opener.

The two games marked the 9th and 10th for St. Cloud. The Huskies used their best pitcher against the Bison. Huskie pitcher Verigin recently threw a no-hitter against Valley City and is considered a top-notch small college pitcher. Verigin tallied 14 strikeouts in the first game and 9 in the second. Bison pitchers struck out two in the first and three in the second.

The next game for the Bison is this Friday at Bemidji State. South Dakota State will be here the following weekend.

Tennis Team Wins

North Dakota State's tennis team won the opening matches of the S7 1963 tennis season. The Bison beat Concordia College 6-3 in action split at Island Park and Oak Grove Park.

Winners for the Bison in singles were Skip Knutson, Dave Hor- stand, Leo Yahna and Jay Lucas. In doubles action, Nammar-Knut- son won by forfeit and Yahna-Lucas defeated Kohl-Quetzel.

Commenting on Tuesday's action Coach Bentson stated, "The match wasn't really a fair test due to the poor weather conditions." He further stated, "We are short a little this year on depth and in doubles strength. We will work at developing an efficient doubles team which would like to keep Nammar and Knutson in singles, but may have to use them more in doubles." He was happy with the team and the potential that they hold.
