Vol. XLIII, No. 28

North Dakota State University, Fargo, North Dakota

May 1, 1963

Organized by Mrs. Judy Brown, 14 girls working in the Business Office collected 5,050 Marlboro packages to win an Admiral T.V. portable in the annual Marlboro contest. At the present time they have donated it's use to Mr. Clare Posley, campus mail courier, who is recuperating from a heart ailment at St. John's Hospital.

Pres. Nelson Says Student Government Unrepresentative - - - - Too Many Greeks

Student Body President Ken Nelson, addressing a gathering at a recent "Y" noon luncheon, told of the influx of Communist propaganda currently being sent to him through the postal department.

Speaking on the topic of the role of student government, Nelson answered the question, "Is it important," by saying, "The Communists seem to think so." He went on to say that, "although much of this political propaganda has filtered through to me, the Postal Department has held up the unsealed publications."

apathetic with regard to campus affairs because a number of them are "activists", with little time to devote to student problems.

Citing some of the accomplishments of Senate, Nelson mentioned the proposed teacher evaluation committee and several new rulings regarding the library. These include the withholding of grades and transcripts from students having overdue books in their posses-

Nelson

Continuing on the role of student government, Nelson said it is important because it represents an organized student force, directing campus activities and the use of student funds.

"At the present," continued Nelson, "student government is a totally unrepresentative body." He emphasized this by referring to the fact that senate is Greek dominated, with only three independents in the group.

"Senate seems to be a status group for social climbers, operating as a unit and not as a group of individuals," Nelson concluded.

Nelson went on to indicate that senate as a whole is apparently sion and the fact that henceforth the library will not close during convocations.

Nelson emphasized that student government should "seek to work with the administration to make NDSU a university; that is, a community of scholars in search of truth, rather than simply an institution training students to fill a profession".

In closing, Nelson said that student government "should objectively expose situations which are unhealthy to the welfare of the university—affairs carried on by the students in the name of the university which are in outright violation of both state and university laws".

10,000 Visitors: New Sharivar Record

Over 10,000 people visited the North Dakota State University campus over the weekend for the annual open house, Sharivar. The crowd was over four thousand more than attended for the three days last year.

Saturday was the biggest day with more than 3,700 people on campus. Attendance Sunday totaled 3,443, including 250 amateur radio enthusiasts who were at a "hamfest" Sunday morning. Rain off and on much of Sunday did not keep the crowds away as had been feared. NDSU officials said the Sunday attendance was comprised primarily of families.

NDSU officials said the increase in attendance probably was due in part to a greater number of events planned for special groups this year.

Governor Guy and state and city officials were guests at Sharivar on Saturday. President Albrecht entertained the officials and alumni officers at a coffee Saturday afternoon after they toured the campus.

The Governor spoke briefly to high school students and their parents at a special convocation in Festival Hall Saturday morning. The convocation launched the second day of events in the open house. A full schedule of activities was held for high school students on the campus during the day topped off with the final performance of "Pajama Game", where the visiting dignitaries were introduced.

Winners of the Sharivar scholarships were announced at the final performance. The scholarships were based on interviews and tests. Kevin Carvell won the campus organization scholarship for $375. Four alumni scholarships of $120 each were awarded to: Darlene Vinje, Micheal Deplazes, Walter Zimara, and William Luther.

The student musical played three nights, packing them in corners Saturday night, and sold over 6,000 tickets.

Alpha Tau Omega won first place for the second year in the men's division for selling the most tickets to the show.

Tau Kappa Epsilon won second place in the men's division. The women's first place trophy went to the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

SU Choir And Oratorio Society to Present Concert

The North Dakota State University Concert Choir will combine with the Oratorio Society to perform two exciting music works next Sunday night, May 5, in Festival Hall. The concert begins at 8 p.m.

Faure's "Requiem" and Handel's "Jubilate" will be sung. Both works are scored for chorus, orchestra and soloists. Robert Godwin of the NDSU music faculty will conduct.

The orchestra for this performance is drawn from the F-M Symphony and the NDSU Gold Star Band.

Soloists will be Audrey Kloubec of Fargo, former winner of the "Campus Cover Girl" contest sponsored by the "Minneapolis Tribune," and Reinhold Schuster, graduate assistant in civil engineering. Mrs. Kloubec, soprano, sang leading roles in musical productions while attending Fargo Central High, and at Jamestown College. Schuster has had considerable experience in stage and musical productions and has appeared previously as soloist with the Oratorio Society.

There is no admission charge. Students are urged to take advantage of this opportunity to hear superb music excellently performed.

Maj Donald Sorlie made a visit to his alma mater last week. He lunched at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house and talked with fraternity men on the future of the space program, hinting that he hopes to participate in the 2-man Gemini project. Maj. Sorlie is a former president of the local SAE chapter.

NOTICE
Any organization desiring funds from Student Activity Fees for the 1963-1964 school year must: (1) make a written financial report for the 1962-1963 school year; (2) fill out budget forms for September 1, 1963 to August 31, 1964 (these forms may be obtained from Mrs. Judy Brown in the Business Office or from Judy Jensen, Commissioner of Finance); (3) present the financial report and budget in person to the Commission of Finance on May 11, 1963 at 1 p.m. in Conference Rooms 1, 2, & 3 of the Memorial Union. If you have any questions call Judy Jensen, 235-8878.

OLDTIMER'S CORNER

by Dutch Holland

1948, Fifteen years ago: You could "Swing and Sway" with Sammy Kaye at the Moorhead Armory. The popular bandleader was entertained at the Theta Chi house while in the area.

1943, Twenty years ago: Many male students who were absent from classes were found removing merchandise from the basements of downtown business concerns. This was all quite legal because it was during the flood crisis of that year.

1933, Thirty years ago: As a small indication of the Great Depression, we see the college barber shop which had charged 40c for a haircut in 1923 and 35c in 1932, now reduced their price to 25c.

1928, Thirty-five years ago: Speaking in the Armory as part of the Lyceum Series was the best known college football coach of all time, Notre Dame's Knute Rockne. Under the tutelage of Rockne, Notre Dame teams had won 89, tied three and lost eight games up to that time.

1913, Fifty years ago: A complete train, rented and run by NDAC students, made 30 stops, including overnight stays in Devil's Lake, Minot and Bismarck. A qualified engineer was aboard to advise the student engineer, while all other positions were filled by students.

"The Sharivar on Wheels" was composed of two baggage cars, a coach car, a sleeper and a compartment observation car.

The dining car was described as follows: "The young ladies in the department of Home Economics will plan the menus and prepare the food for the hungry palates. They will bake the bread, the hot biscuits, the apple pies, the cakes and other tempting delicacies. The flour used on the train will come from the college mill, which will be ground from wheat grown on the college farm. The rib roasts, the juicy porterhouse steaks and the soup bones will come from a steer butchered and dressed by a college student. The butter, the breakfast sausage, the canned tomatoes and fruits used on the farm will be made by the students. The fried chickens will come from fowl hatched in an incubator run by students."

The coach was to contain a moving picture show operated by students and there was a piano in the parlor car. Men must have been more rugged in those days. Not only did they run their own train but they courageously existed on food prepared by the home economics girls for five straight days.

1903, Sixty years ago: "The growth of the "AC" is not measured alone by its buildings and number of students. Heretofore students have been compelled to make a long and tiresome journey downtown to obtain text books, stationery, etc. This can now be had at the firm of Hanson & Hunberg, offices in the Mechanical building, second floor."

SU Dieticians Get Positions As New Interns

Nine NDSU senior girls, majoring in home economics and graduating with food and nutrition majors in dietetics, received their internship appointments at a tea held Monday, April 15, in the Founders Room in the Home Economics Building.

Students awarded internships were: Judith Amoth, Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston; Janice Hanson, Eastman Kodak Co., Rochester, N.Y.; Sharol Hopwood, U. S. Veterans Administration Center, Los Angeles, Calif.; Sharleen Johnson, University Hospitals, University of Wisconsin, Madison; Virginia Lanska, Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, Mich.; Bonnie Larson, Grace New Haven Community Hospital at Yale New Haven Medical Center, New Haven, Conn.; Alta Rufsvold, Colorado State Hospital, Pueblo; Carol Schoonover, Veterans Administration Hospital, Houston, Tex., and Jeanette Wolff, Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, Boston.

The dietetic intern appointments were announced throughout the nation on this day. There are over sixty hospitals and other establishments in the U.S. which are accredited to train dietitians.

Those assisting with the tea were staff members Lorissa Sheldon, Myrtle Challey, Mavis Nymon and Ethel Flaten. Junior and senior food and nutrition majors were hostesses. Miss Flaten introduced students who received appointments for summer practicums in dietetics. They are Ruth Benson, Karen Stroup, Mary Nelson, who will be at Madigan General Hospital, Tacoma, Wash., Karen Fridlund, William Beaumont General Hospital, El Paso, Tex., and Carol Moffitt, Fitzsimmons General Hospital, Denver, Colo.

Forness Elected Kappa President

Bunny Forness, a speech major from Fargo has been elected president of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

The other officers are: Meridel McLaughlin, 1st vice president; Maggie Swanston, 2nd vice president; Mona Larson, recording secretary; Dodi Sholts, treasurer; Marlya Mertens, public relations; Joni Green, scholarship; Liz Bartley, corresponding secretary; Sara Avery, membership; Carol Moffitt, social; Nancy Avery, activities; Ginger Mease, senior panhellenic; Janet Griffin, junior Panhellenic; Julie Dunkirk, marshal; and Ellen Bigelow, registrar.

Does a man really take unfair advantage of women when he uses Mennen Skin Bracer?

All depends on why he uses it. Most men simply think Menthol-Iced Skin Bracer is the best after-shave lotion around. Because it cools rather than burns. Because it helps heal shaving nicks and scrapes. Because it helps prevent blemishes.

So who can blame them if Bracer's crisp, long-lasting aroma just happens to affect women so remarkably?

Of course, some men may use Mennen Skin Bracer because of this effect.

How intelligent!

COULD THIS BE WHY THE FOUR FRESHMEN CAN'T FINISH SCHOOL?

Yes. But there's nothing wrong with their addition. Four master vocalists, plus four swinging instrumentalists, plus four on stage-off the cuff comedians total Four Freshmen. Honest. And this fantastic triple threat versatility is why college audiences refuse to let the Freshmen finish school.

In "The Four Freshmen in Person • Volume 2" on Capitol, you'll hear them at their versatile best, in a recording made during an unforgettable performance at Long Beach City College. The packed house called it great, and so will you.

Look for "The Four Freshmen in Person • Volume 2" on Capitol, and look for the Four Freshmen in concert on your campus.

FILLING A WELL-NEEDED GAP

Although my son is a college freshman, I am glad to say that he is still not too old to climb up on my lap and have a heart-to-heart talk when things are troubling him. My boy is enrolled at Harvard where he is studying to be a fireman. From the time he was a little tiny baby he always said he wanted to be a fireman. Of course, my wife and I believed that he would eventually grow out of it, but no sir, the little chap never wavered in his ambition for one minute!

So here he is at Harvard today taking courses in net holding, mouth-to-mouth breathing, carbon tetrachloride, and Dalmatian dogs. It is a full schedule for the young man, and that, in fact, is exactly what we talked about when last he climbed upon my lap.

He complained that every bit of his time is taken up with his major requirements. He doesn't have so much as one hour a week to sample any of the fascinating courses outside his major—history, literature, language, science, or any of the thousand and one things that appeal to his keen young mind.

I am sure that many of you find yourselves in the same scholastic bind; you are taking so many requirements that you can't find time for some appealing electives. Therefore, in today's column I will forego levity and give you a brief survey in a subject that is probably not included in your curriculum.

He's still not too old

I have asked the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes whether I might employ this column—normally a vehicle for innocent merriment—to pursue this serious end. "Of course you may, crazy kid," they replied kindly, their grey eyes crinkling at the corners, their manly mouths twisted in funny little grins. If you are a Marlboro smoker—and what intelligent human person is not?—you would expect the makers of Marlboro to be fine men. And so they are—wonderful guys, every man-jack of them—good, generous, understanding, wise. They are each tipped with a pure white filter and come in soft pack or Flip-Top box.

But I digress. We were going to take up a topic you are probably unable to cover in your busy academic life. Let us start with the most basic topic of all—anthropology, the study of man himself.

Man is usually defined as a tool-making animal, but I personally do not find this definition entirely satisfactory. Man is not the only species which makes tools. The simians, for example, make monkey wrenches.

Still, when you come to a really complicated tool—like a linotype, for instance—you can be fairly sure it was made by Homo sapiens—or else a very intelligent tiger. The question one should ask, therefore, is not who made the tool, but what did he do with it.

For example, in a recent excavation in the Olduvai Gorge a large assortment of hominoid fossils was found, all dating back to the Middle Pleistocene Age. Buried with the fossils was a number of their artifacts, the most interesting being a black metal box which emitted a steady beeping sound. Now, of course, zoologists will tell you that tree frogs make such boxes which they employ in their mating activities (I can't go into detail about it in this family newspaper) but the eminent anthropological team, Mr. and Mrs. Walther Sigafoos (both he and she are named Walther) were convinced that this particular box was made not by tree frogs but by Neanderthal men. To prove their point, they switched on the box and out came television, which, as everyone knows, was the forerunner of fire.

If there is anything more you need to know about anthropology, just climb up on my lap as soon as my son leaves.

© 1963 Max Shulman

The makers of Marlboro Cigarettes who sponsor this column, often with trepidation, are not anthropologists. They are tobacconists—good ones, I think—and I think you'll think so too when you sample their wares—available wherever cigarettes are sold in all fifty states.

Over the Back Fence

by Joe Schneider

Our Student Senate is in a slump, and the possibility of pulling out of it appears mighty slim. Spectrum Criticized

At their last meeting, Ken Nelson, student body president, told Senate that the Spectrum was not giving enough coverage of the many activities of their group. He also stated that he felt the meetings should be covered with more detail.

Several other senators remarked that the Spectrum was not doing a good job because of the quality of material which they print. They felt that their meetings and doings should rate front page stories every week.

Although we appreciate the fact that every organization likes to get patted on the back and have front page coverage, the Senate has not proved to us that they deserve this special treatment.

During the course of their last meeting, this legislative group spent ten minutes trying to de-side on how they could properly amend a motion.

When they finally solved this difficult problem, one of the senators suggested that they should pick a parliamentarian. He was informed that they already had one, although this wasn't apparent.

The whole session could easily have been mistaken for a local cub scout meeting where there is no order, and the person who could talk the loudest controlled the conversation.

Because of this wide-scale chaos, we differ with Nelson in the amount of coverage they should have in the campus newspaper.

Mutual Admiration

The main trouble with our student government is that they feel they are VIP's and NDSU's answer to responsible government. They fail to realize that just because they won a popularity contest this doesn't make them good senators. Any student on campus who has a little knowledge of parliamentary procedure could do as well as the present senators.

As soon as they climb down from their pedestals and learn Robert's Rules of Order (a suggestion made by Nelson at the last meeting) the Spectrum will increase their coverage of Senate.

The editor of the paper summed up his feelings by saying, "Increased Senate coverage will become effective when Senate becomes effective."

We are not preparing for any sudden change in coverage.

A Success

In this writer's opinion, this year's Sharivar was a tremendous success, even though we had to follow the old custom of providing rain for our visitors.

One thing which came to our attention this past weekend was the lack of high school seniors who visited our fair campus. It seemed that most of the guests were parents and their younger children.

Of course student recruitment was only one phase of Sharivar, yet we didn't feel this angle of it was satisfactory. Perhaps the seniors in high school have already selected their college, thus they feel no necessity in visiting NDSU.

On the other hand, the turnout of parents was remarkable. On Friday afternoon quite a few classes had older guests, and the ROTC drills held outdoors were viewed by many spectators.

One benefit of having the parents on campus is that the suitcase students are forced to stay here because they have nobody to run home to anymore.

Another advantage to parent day is the opportunity it provides us in showing them our campus and our needs. Seeing how they are the ones who are paying the taxes which support this institution, it is proper that we show them what they are getting for their money.

We were surprised by on conversation which we overheard between a freshman girl and her father. They had just completed a tour of the chemistry building when he turned and said to her, "I don't see why they want to build a new chemistry building, that one they have now is in real good shape."

He would undoubtedly have liked the "white castle" if he had seen it before it was torn down. Then we would have had two lovers of old Dakota Hall.

Some Problem

At Carleton college in Minnesota the student body is engaged in heated debates with the administration over open houses.

On that campus there are no fraternities or sororities, thus the dorms are the center of the social life. When the students asked for more open houses, or in other words, open dorms, the administration used their unlimited power and condemned such thoughts.

Their argument centered around the idea that if the students were allowed to have such privileges, the number of girls who "get into trouble" would increase.

Total U. Effort Makes Successful Open House

To the editor:

The excellent attendance at our first Parents' Day, the unprecedented turnout for High School Day, and "sellouts" for "The Pajama Game," and the gate-counts, are impressive evidence of the success of SHARIVAR. Although the impressions left with SHARIVAR visitors are not measured by numbers, reactions heard during the weekend were highly favorable.

The faculty steering committee, in one of its first newsletters, suggested that the effectiveness of this open house would be contingent upon a total University effort. In my opinion, we had that total University effort and, because of it, a successful open house.

I take this opportunity to express my deepest appreciation to each student, faculty, and staff member and those friends of NDSU who contributed to this effort. From the student stationed at the entrance counting visitors and the faculty member carrying extra chairs to his Friday classes to the student and faculty chairmen of the various committees—each made unique and important contributions to this event. An additional part of this team effort, for which we are most grateful, is the active and substantial support from the Fargo Chamber of Commerce and business community.

A special note of thanks goes to the members of Blue Key and the participants in "The Pajama Game." It's gratifying to see a student group stage an activity which not only provides revenue for year long service projects but which in itself contributes so positively to a favorable image of our University.

While we might be tempted to say "mission accomplished," we do have a need to complete the task connected with the open house—evaluation. The faculty steering committee is meeting today to begin that effort; the student central committee will do the same on Saturday. We know everything was not perfect; in fact, some areas may require considerable overhaul. Please pass your constructive comments on to your respective committee members. The faculty steering committee, in turn, has agreed to collect these and pass them to the University Relations committee for further recommendations.

Once again, thanks to each of you who gave so generously of your time and efforts to increase awareness and understanding of North Dakota State University, of which we are all a part.

Sincerely,
H. R. Albrecht
President

Toward A University Image

Physical alteration in this campus since the name change has been explosive. Still, some valued faculty members have mosied on. And students still complain about their suitcase friends.

Our president tells us of a new era—"NDSU will be a university in fact as well as in name." Unyielding Greeks and uninterested independents take his remarks in character; however, a closer look reveals signs of significant first steps.

Approval by the Board of Education has been secured on a new contract offering to instructors. For the first time, teachers may sign on for a period of years rather than months. Perhaps soon, with increased salaries to boot, this campus will become more than a stopping-off place for teaching talent.

The often-maligned feeding and housing complexes, when considered in a larger and longer range scope, might achieve a unity between the residence hall and the academic program.

These two elements, while not conclusive, should point out that somebody is making an effort, not to project a university image, but create one here on campus.

Students:

The certificates of recognition for those students named to "Who's Who" have arrived, and can be picked up in the office of the Dean of Women. All you "Who's Who'ers" are urged to pick up your certificates as soon as possible.

A Survey . . .

In the near future, a survey is going to be made on this campus. It will concern the possibility of a new legislative bill to give all men and women 18 years of age and over the right to vote. The sponsors of this proposed bill have asked the administration to have a survey taken to find out what support they could expect from the student population. The Circle "K" Club will carry out the survey by contacting students at random from the Student Directory.

Students are urged to give the issue some thought and formulate an opinion on the issued in the event they are called.

Sharivar Successful Venture; Tip Of Hat Due Participants

To the editor:

Because of hearing much comment, both pro and con, concerning the strengths and weaknesses of Sharivar, I am prompted to write this letter. It seems that many students are more interested in rights and privileges, rather than their duties and responsibilities.

Sooner or later, I believe, all of us must wake up to the fact that there is no such thing as success, or if there is, then it is present only instantaneously. After once attaining success, new standards and criteria for such are established anew, exemplifying that success is a matter of accomplishing a goal. Even more important, success is invalid until it is recognized and approved.

Recognizing a successful venture,

A Thanx From The Producers...

To the Editor:

Pajama Game has been successfully completed and is taking its proper place in the history of Blue Key stage productions.

The men of Blue Key sincerely hope the memories of Pajama Game will be pleasant ones for the audience and particularly for the participants.

We also take this opportunity to express much heart-felt appreciation to all persons connected with the show.

Pajama Game presented a very demanding challenge which was met only through the wonderful cooperation and unselfish sacrifices of many fine people. "Pajama Game" speaks well of NDSU and to all who contributed to its success, we say simply and sincerely, "Thank You".

A Look At The Average Wash And Wear Collegian

For once, says a letter to the editor of the "Western Mystic," (Moorhead State College), let us ignore the scholarly, the literate, the intelligent and the ambitious. Let us look at the average everyday wash-and-wear college student. What is he?

Why is he here? There is, of course, the overriding, vital reason. A college degree is the key to a good job and a good salary for the ordinary person. It is almost a certain way to gain security. This, for the insecure, makes the pain of getting a college degree bearable. Not only that, college is the place to go after high school.

His intellectual qualifications are rarely considered when it is decided that he shall attend college. Here in the United States, the education is required for the man, not the man for the education. The ordinary college student treats classes as a necessary evil. He goes at the beginning of a quarter (to turn in his class card) and once in awhile he goes to find out how much has been covered since the last time he went. He realizes he is in college to get a degree, and this means passing exams. Since he usually rides a curve, he does the minimum amount of work to get by, with perhaps a small margin of safety.

He is an enthusiastic member of some group of hard drinkers — or he says he is — and tends to get stoned on weekends — or says he does.

His standard of an educated, well-informed person is one who reads "Time." He prefers "Life," "The Saturday Evening Post," "Sports Illustrated" and other publications not on the "family reading list." He has never watched the news on TV, but likes the western and detective series. He knows more about the "Pondorosa Ranch" than he does about his own community.

He is an expert at producing reasons (instead of assignments) on time. He is incapable of writing two complete sentences with correct spelling, punctuation and grammar. The foresight necessary to write a whole paragraph — namely, having the idea of where you are going before you begin — is beyond him. If it weren't for true-false and multiple choice questions, he would be at a loss.

He is an expert on sports, but doesn't participate in any.

His 21st birthday will be spent in a noisy pub, defying bartenders to throw him out. He hopes to get out of college as quickly as possible, find the best-paying job with the longest holidays and highest pension available, and settle down to raise a family.

He wants to marry a girl not quite as intelligent as he is and one whom he suspects he never allowed herself to be kissed twice the same night by anyone but him.

He hopes he won't have to think once he leaves college.

He probably will tell his children about the exciting, stimulating life he led at college. He will say, "It was the place that made me the man I now am."

—The Western Mystic

In Defense Of Freedom

ON TAXATION:

In the present system of income taxation, there is a graduation of the percentages taken by the government. Thus, the more money a man or a corporation earns, the larger the percentage taken by the government.

The result is that individuals and corporations often deliberately decrease their productivity, or at the very least take fewer risks with new products — new investments. The reasoning behind this caution is simple: If a man loses the whole dollar of every dollar when he suffers a business loss, but is permitted to keep only 10 or 20 cents of every dollar of profit, why then why should he take any risks with his capital or business, especially when the reward or profit will decrease in a direct proportion to the degree of his success?

Some current examples of this can be given. Remember the heavyweight championship fights between Patterson and Johnson? Why were the fights held almost a year apart? Because to have fought twice in the same year would have meant staging the second fight for the fun of it, since the combined earnings would have put the winner in the 90% tax bracket.

Another example, the Limelighters; you may recently have read that they usually work only six months out of the year then take up residence in Switzerland where the tax laws are more lenient. Their reason is that they see no sense in working six months out of the year for the government.

True these examples from sports and entertainment do not drastically effect our economy because no real loss in physical investment is involved; but repeated often enough in business and industry, it can and does have a depressing effect.

The avowed purpose of the graduated system of taxation is a redistribution of the wealth and income of the nation on a "more equitable basis."

By what right?

If it is the right of the majority to seize and redistribute the wealth of the minority who earn more than the average income, then this is just as surely a dictatorship as is Castro's Cuba — the only difference being that the United States is a non-communist nation (lying ninety miles off the coast of Cuba).

Billmeyer To Give Chemistry Seminars

Dr. Fred W. Billmeyer, Jr., who with the plastics department of the Du Pont Corporation, will present a pair of seminars on campus this week.

At 10 a.m. tomorrow, Billmeyer will hold a session for the graduate students taking Polymer Chemistry, and will discuss the morphology of crystalline polymers.

On Thursday afternoon, he will hold another seminar in Room 204, Old Hall, and his subject will be "Structure-Property Relations in Polymers". The seminar will begin at 4 o'clock, and will deal with the manner in which molecular shape, size and motions of large molecules affect their physical properties. A color movie will augment the lecture.

Billmeyer received his B.S. degree in chemistry from the California Institute of Technology in 1941, and his Ph.D. in physical chemistry from Cornell University in 1945.

Since 1945, he has been associated with E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company, and currently holds the title of Research Associate. In 1960-61, he was on leave from Du Pont to act as visiting professor in chemical engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Dr. Billmeyer is the author of over 30 technical papers in the fields of polymer chemistry and physics, and his book entitled "Textbook of Polymer Science" is used widely in classrooms.

Senate Overrides Rahjah Club

by Joe Schneider

An end to the problem as to how the cheerleaders are going to be picked was reached at the Student Senate meeting last Tuesday evening.

Rahjahs Compromise

Dave Pollock, commissioner of the Student Union, speaking to Senate as president of the Rahjah Club, introduced a motion which would change the decision of that body at their last meeting.

In last week's meeting, Pollock stated, "In the interest of NDSU, I move that the Athletic commission, Miss Nass, (instructor in Physical Education) and one representative each from: YMCA, Letterman's Club, Men's Physical Education Department, Freshman class officers, ISA, Blue Key, plus the Rahjah Club in total be responsible for selection of the cheerleaders.

Fowler Humphrey, senator, asked Pollock why he cut out some of the fraternities in his selection of representatives. When Pollock replied that he thought that most of the fraternities were represented, Humphrey informed him that the Sigma Nu and Sigma Phi Delta fraternities were not included.

Grim, who had admitted that he approved of Pollock's motion, added that he thought the SPD's and Sigma Nu's should be included.

After Senate decided on the proper method of amending Pollock's motion to include the two fraternities, the motion passed.

Poor Coverage

In an open statement to the Senate, Student Body President, Ken Nelson complained of the news coverage the Spectrum was giving their organization.

Several senators voiced their opinion of the type of coverage they expected from the campus newspaper. Spectrum's reporter, Joe Schneider, asked Nelson to name the areas in which he thought the paper failed the Senate.

Nelson replied that he felt the publication should give front page news stories covering the Senate's accomplishments. Giving authority to his statement, Nelson reminded Senate that they controlled the paper through the commission of Publications.

The discussion was dropped when no one would make a motion which would insure better coverage.

Knutson And Danielson Win Winkler Elected In Spring Judging Contest

by Con Davis

Gary Knutson and Russel Danielson, sophomores in animal husbandry, won first place trophies in the livestock and meat divisions of the Annual Spring Judging Contest sponsored by the North Dakota State University Saddle and Sirloin Club.

Knutson received trophies for being the high sophomore in the livestock judging contest, for having the highest number of points in reasons and for being high individual in the overall contest.

Harvey Peterson, Ag Jr, placed second in the contest; James Nelson, Ag Sr, third place and Larry Corah, Ag jr, fourth place.

Tom Cook received the trophy for being high freshman in the contest and John Olson was second high freshman. David Gilbertson was the second place sophomore in the livestock judging competition.

The NDSU senior livestock judging team organized the livestock judging contest which included classes of beef, horses, sheep and swine. Ray Meyer and Jan Peterson, Ag seniors, were in charge.

Russel Danielson received the first place trophy in the meats contest; Rodger Williams, Ag jr, second and Gary Knutson, third.

The meats contest included judging of beef carcasses, lamb carcasses, beef rounds and ribs, and giving reasons on all but the beef ribs.

The NDSU meats judging team organized the contest with Larry Corah and Howard Leland in charge.

The NDSU student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers has elected officers for coming year.

Winkler sports director. All are CE juniors.

Arvid Winkler, is the new president. Other officers elected were David Lystrom, vice president, Daniel Abraham, treasurer, Allen Kelm, newsletter editor, and John Dooley, engineer's council representative.

Other officers elected earlier in the year were Marvin Kadrmas, CE jr, secretary, and William Harkness, CE jr, engineer's council representative.

TRACK NEWS

Three North Dakota coaches have been selected as honorary referees for the Bison-Jaycee track meet, May 4, at Dacotah Field in Fargo.

Arnold Bakke, principal of West school, Grand Forks, was again named as starter by SU track coach Tom Neuberger. Named as honorary referees were Jerry Berg, Mayville Teachers College; Ken Hallgrimson, Grand Forks Central; and "Buzz" Ratzlaff, Valley City.

Neuberger reported that more than 700 athletes will be competing from some 60 area colleges and high schools. Athletes will be competing in one of three classifications: Class "A"—Class A High Schools; Class "B"—Class B High Schools; Class "C"—College Division.

NDSU is the Class "C" defending champion and Class "A" defender is Grand Forks High. New Leipiez is last year's winner in the Class "B" division.

Competitors in the "C" division are: Bemidji State, Dickinson State, Ellendale, Jamestown, Mayville, Minot, Moorhead, St. Cloud, Wahpeton, North Side Track Club of Minneapolis, UND Varsity and Freshmen and NDSU Varsity and Freshmen.

Class "A" participants are: Fargo Central, Grafton, Grand Forks, Shanley, Silver Heights, Winnipeg, Sisseton, S.D., Valley City, Vincent Massey, Winnipeg, Wahpeton, Walsh Aggies, Park River and West Fargo.

30 Class B and C high schools will be competing in the Class "B" division.

The tracksters managed to pull down a second and third place in meets on Friday and Saturday. In the Mayville invitational held on Friday, the Cindermen racked up 57 points for a second place position. UND won that meet with 82. On Saturday in the Jamestown Quarterback Relays, the Bison notched 25 points for third place behind second place UND and first place Dickinson.

The Tennis and Baseball teams had a poor weekend, both ending up in the loss column. The netmen lost their first in four meets. The loss occurred at Island Park at the hands of St. Cloud. In baseball, errors were the main cause for loss, as the Bison lost to Bemidji 5-0 there.

Pollock's Pitches

by Dave Pollock

And it was related that the students of this university are not fired up when it comes to growth and expansion. When it comes in print that our pals to the north added 10 new tennis courts and we had not added at all, students will ponder on or about our progress. Now the thing for the students to do is let every one of the administrators on this campus know that the time is ripe for adding or building our first court. Students, we must give the word that we want progress as this is the first step in the direction of progress. The ones amongst you who do not advocate may be the first to retaliate.

One would seem to get the opinion that the next guy is responsible for making sure we achieve progress on this campus, because whenever the question is raised as to why don't they do this and that—the "they" is never labeled. Responsibility is lax on certain drives and we end up with a hush-hush, do we dare—or let's wait attitude. These all refer to the athletic system at good old SU. Sure we are proud of our school, but athletics, and BETTER athletics are and should be the top item for progress here.

On To Victory

The Bison golfers are setting a great pace in their '63 season. They beat Morris Branch of the U of M on Tuesday 11-4 and went on to win the Moorhead State-Concordia College invitational on Friday. The golfers beat out five other area colleges to cap honors. UND pulled down second place followed by Concordia's third. The frosh golfers lost to Central High's by a score of 433-439.

RODEO NEWS . . .

Rocky Rockabar is pictured on his way down from the back of "Dick" at the 1962 National Finals Rodeo in Los Angeles, Calif.

Dick is one of the rugged bulls owned by stock contractors Sutton and Korkow of Onida, S. D. Sutton and Korkow will furnish the stock for the second annual Bison Stampede, NDSU Intercollegiate Rodeo, to be held at 2 p.m. May 11 and 12 at the Red River Valley Fairgrounds. The show, sponsored by the NDSU Rodeo Club, has been approved by the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association.

Sutton and Korkow furnish stock for top-notch RCA shows all over the nation. Just last year, ten of their horses were chosen to be part of the bucking string at the National Finals Rodeo in Los Angeles, along with Dick and six of their other Brahma bulls. Only the toughest animals from top bucking strings all over the country are chosen for the Finals Rodeo and at that show, Baldy, one of their bulls, was named the roughest Brahma bull in the nation. Their Snake River was also chosen champion bareback horse of the year.

They will be bringing 30 horses to the Bison Stampede, along with 15 Brahma bulls, calves for the roping competition and fresh Texas longhorns for the steer wrestling.

Duane Howard of Minnewauken, N. D., a top RCA cowboy for many years and runner-up in the national bull riding competition for two years, will serve as one of the judges for the Stampede. Also judging will be Bob Aber of Litchville, N.D., another top rodeo hand who was leading the national RCA bareback and saddle bronc standings in 1958 when he was injured and forced to discontinue for that year. Charles Hunt of Jamestown will serve as show announcer with Jimmy Korkow of Onida and Jack Salsieder, an NDSU student, working as the rodeo clowns.

Entries for the rodeo close today, May 1. Anyone interested in participating in the show must contact the rodeo secretary, Kay McGuinness at Burgum Hall.
