

Write-In Candidate Runs For President

by Ken Promesberger

Ron Carlson, Ag - jr., threw his hat into the student body president race by declaring himself a write-in candidate last Monday evening.

First notice of Carlson being a candidate were flyers distributed Monday night to the dorms and Greek houses, before and during the debate between Redmann and Findley, the first two candidates to announce their candidacy.

Carlson's flyer stated that "I have decided to run for the position of Student Body President on a write-in candidacy because after careful consideration, I am dissatisfied with the announced candidates and their platforms. The two candidates offer the student either nothing or everything."

In questioning Findley, Carlson stated (1) that he believed that Findley and his fraternity brother, Bob Norum, staged a debate about three weeks ago concerning two different voting plans, for the purpose of publicity and not for the student's concern. (2) that Findley cleverly grabbed for himself, full credit for what he called the Findley proposal, which was actually written by the Commission of Campus Affairs. (3) that Findley failed to mention that he is a fraternity man in the Spectrum article about his qualifications and platform.

In an interview with Spectrum reporters following the debate, Carlson was asked to verify the statements made about Findley. He said that he had heard that Findley and Norum did not want to debate, but they did so for the publicity that it would bring Findley.

Also, Carlson believed that Findley was not responsible for the "Findley election proposal," but rather it was the Commission of Campus Affairs' proposal and that Findley tagged his name to it.

Finally, Carlson stated that Findley did not mention his fraternity affiliation in his list of activities in the Feb. 12, edition of the Spectrum. He then asked "Is he ashamed of it, or afraid it would defeat him?" He thought that the name of the fraternity was left out for the purpose of furthering Findley's Campaign.

Election Promises

In regard to Carlson's comment that the other two candidates had already promised "position or power" in return for organization support, the Spectrum asked who he knew that had been promised positions. Carlson replied that both Redmann and Findley, through their supporters, had promised him the position of Commissioner of Campus Affairs if they were elected. When asked who made these promises, Carlson stated that Ene Koivastik, present commissioner of campus affairs, had told him that if Findley was elected, he would get the position. Referring to Redmann, Carlson said "Redmann promised me the Commissioner of Campus Affairs." Upon further questioning, he stated that he couldn't remember who did make him that promise, but that he knew it was one of Redmann's supporters.

When asked how long ago he decided to run for the Student Body President position, Carlson replied that he first started considering it when he found out neither Roman Klein nor Phil Wattles were going to enter the race. He added that he was influenced in his decision by reading the platforms of the two other candidates in the paper last week. Last Wednesday, Carlson explained, he called Jim Vorachek, and asked him to be his campaign manager. On Saturday and Sunday they prepared his letter which he handed out last Monday.

Proposed Platform

Although Carlson did not have any formally prepared platform at the time of the interview, he did mention several points.

He stated that he was in favor of having the senate two-year candidates elected from each college and the one-year candidates elected at large. Also, Carlson said that he thought the role and purpose of the faculty senate should be explained to Student Senate so that they have a more workable idea of this administrative policy making group.

Activities

Carlson lists his activities as follows: Commission of Campus Affairs, Honor Case Commission, Blue Key, Alpha Zeta, Student Senator, past officer in Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity, and a member of the steering committee of the last leadership training conference.

When asked about whether or not he felt his campaign was a "smear campaign" Carlson remarked that he didn't feel that it was.

Carlson Enters Campaign Employs Smear Tactics

On Monday night Ron Carlson, student senator, made it known to the student body of NDSU that he was planning to run for the coveted job of Student Body President.

Following the short presentation of student senate candidates and the debate between presidential candidates Bill Findley and Al Redmann, Ken Nelson read a letter from Carlson.

In this open letter to the students, Carlson proceeded to attack the platforms of both Findley and Redmann. Starting out on Findley, Carlson asked, or as he put it, "I wonder" why Findley and fraternity brother Bob Norum put on their debate over election methods three weeks before student senate elections. And then in complete "wonderment" Carlson went on to state that he thinks it was staged strictly for publicity and not for the students.

Either Carlson wasn't aware of the fact that the YMCA sponsored the debate, or else he didn't care to mention that neither Findley or Norum had anything to do with it.

He goes on in his wondering to accuse Findley of trying to take full credit for the idea of having student senators elected from colleges, instead of giving credit to the commission of campus affairs. It is true that Findley did all the defending of this plan, and on his own amended it to make it more workable. However, it is not true that he took full credit for it. Carlson, being a senator, and having attended the meetings, should have been aware that Findley introduced this plan in his committee report, and not as a motion coming strictly from him. Of course this again would have interfered with Carlson's "wondering."

In his third attack on Findley, Carlson asks in his prepared letter why Findley did not include the fact that he was a member of a fraternity under his activities which appeared in the Spectrum last week. Carlson stated "Is he ashamed of it, or afraid it would defeat him?"

On his campaign posters, Findley is pictured wearing the crest of his fraternity on his coat, which, even to a person who has a tendency to wonder, should prove that he is not ashamed of it.

Apparently having criticized Findley sufficiently, Carlson started on Redmann. He began this attack by stating that Redmann has no experience, and leaves it at that. In his second point, he mentioned that he has no idea of what Senate is or does, and that he lacks the ability to write his own platform.

In his third point, Carlson mentioned that he feels Redmann is sincere, and has desire, but nothing else.

In an apparent attempt to add strength to his attacks, Carlson put his next point against his competitors in capital letters. Apparently at this point Carlson is no longer "wondering." He accuses both candidates of promising every campus appointment in trade to influence members of large organizations for their support. When asked about this later, Carlson stated that Redmann had promised him the Commissioner of Campus Affairs position in return for support. Upon further questioning, Carlson mentioned that he couldn't really remember whether or not Redmann in person had promised him this, or if one of Redmann's supporters had done it. When asked what offices Findley had supposedly promised, Carlson again stated that he was told that he would become the Commissioner of Campus Affairs if Findley were elected. Under questioning, Carlson said that Findley hadn't promised him this personally, but instead one of his supporters had done it.

These were the only two incidents that Carlson mentioned as far as "promising every campus appointment" goes. It is humorous to note that Carlson was supposedly considered so important by his opponents, who say that there is not truth behind his statements.

It is our opinion that Carlson is doing his best to carry out a last minute "smear campaign" leaving his opponents gasping while he fills the public with half-truths. His tactics have been employed before by other rushed office-seekers and they have rarely succeeded. We hope this is true again.

Findley and Redmann have both allowed themselves to be openly criticized and questioned on their platforms and ideas. Carlson is attempting to tear down his opponents through the use of the letter, while he does nothing to support his own qualifications for office.

His experience for the job, as stated on his newsletter, comes from the fact that he was elected to Senate last year. We seriously doubt that this is much of an endorsement, considering the fact that the only constructive motion that he says he has made in the last year was recommending that Senate investigate the reason why students under 21 cannot get their grades sent to them instead of to their parents.

Perhaps if Carlson had entered the race before hand, allowing students to pick apart his campaign promises, he might have made a good candidate. As it now stands, we feel the students of NDSU would be making a mistake in voting for a man who has so much to say, and so little to back it up.

Senate Meeting Approves All Write-In Candidates

by Joe Schneider

A special student senate meeting was called yesterday morning at 9 a.m. to determine if write-in candidates will be allowed in today's election.

Student Body President Ken Nelson opened the meeting explaining to the Senate that Ron Carlson, student senator, had entered the presidential race and was seeking election on a write-in ballot. He told them that they had to interpret the constitution of the Senate to determine whether or not he was violating any rules.

Under the heading, "Qualifications of members of the student government" in the constitution, there is a phrase that reads "Nomination to office shall be by petition." There was some doubt as to whether or not Carlson was violating the constitution because he did not hand in a petition at the designated time.

Nelson called upon Ene Koivastik, commissioner of campus affairs, to explain her interpretation of the election rules. She stated that "It was implied in our meeting (campus affairs) that write-in candidates would be allowed."

At this point, Al Nelson, senator, moved that write-in candidates be allowed.

Fowler Humphrey, senator, asked Miss Koivastik whether or not this meant that write-in candidates had to hand in petitions. She answered no.

Following a short discussion, Nelson called for the vote, which went unanimously in favor of allowing write-in candidates.

After the vote, Bill Findley, senator and candidate for student body president, arose and before Senate and stated "I want to go on record for making a statement public. A paragraph in Carlson's letter (one which he circulated last Monday to students) is a bald-face lie."

When Findley started to explain his statement, Carlson called for a point of order, saying that the meeting was called to discuss a decision about write-in candidates, not to discuss his platform.

Agreeing with him, Nelson ceased the conversation and formally closed the meeting.

President To Consider Greek Release Clauses

Release from food and housing contracts for Greeks is one recommendation presented by the Food and Housing Committee to President Albrecht.

This recommendation would allow those pledging a fraternity or sorority to be released from their contract during the first two weeks of fall and winter quarters. The release would have to be approved by proper authority and only with the understanding that the person released would move to nonboarding housing. An active member of a fraternity would not be released.

Robert L. Crom, who was chairman of the Food and Housing Policy Committee and is currently at Michigan State, submitted a form, Sept. 1, 1963, to President Albrecht concerning the policies for the 1964 food service and housing. Albrecht's decision will be submitted by Frank Bancroft, Feb. 23, in a talk before the Inter-Fraternity Council. Bancroft is the director of the university food service.

The remaining two recommendations concerned food services and married students' housing.

Regarding food services, the committee found that the food service facilities in the Memorial Union and Ceres Hall will not be adequate to handle the increasing enrollment. The continued operation of Ceres Hall for any extended length of time would require expensive replacement of equipment, and the lack of adequate food services on weekends might be an encouraging factor to suitcase students.

The committee recommended that food service facilities be expanded by construction of a food service unit with the residence hall complex north of Sudro Hall. All student residents would room and board in the complex. Consideration would be given to providing special diet services.

The committee has planned a long-range timetable for construction of additional married students housing units. The present North Court area is not a desirable location for permanent housing. The possibility of using the west end of the fairgrounds would open this area for future construction which would rent for less than the Bison Court units, if possible.

Findley, Redmann Debate Issues

Bill Findley and Allan Redmann, candidates for Student Body President, debated and defended their platforms Feb. 17 in the Memorial Union ballroom.

After each candidate presented his introduction, his opponent questioned him. Redmann said that he had the feeling, from Findley's posters, that experience is the only thing that counts. Findley defended his slogan and asked if he (Redmann) didn't feel that experience was important. Redmann said, "Experience is important to a degree, but not the most important."

Redmann then asked Findley what he meant by "no issues in this campaign." This question was brought up because of a statement made by Findley in the Spectrum office. Findley explained that he had been discussing last year's campaign as compared to this year's. In comparison, he said, there are very few issues this year. The main issue seems to be to encourage students to participate in various fields of extra-curricular activities, he concluded.

Findley then asked Redmann to explain a statement he made at LSA. Redmann had said that the ideas in his platform were not his. Redmann explained that numerous persons have approached him with campus problems. He feels that a Student Body President should be concerned with people's ideas and that the SBP should try to get a cross-section of these ideas.

There were questions from the floor, but due to a lack of time some of these were inadequately answered. Ken Nelson took this time to read a letter from write-in candidate Ron Carlson. Each candidate was asked to give his opinion concerning write-in candidates. At this point both candidates defended themselves against the accusations brought forth in Carlson's letter.

The two SBP candidates concluded their debate with an appeal to the student body to vote on Feb. 19, and to encourage their friends to vote.

OLDTIMER'S CORNER

By Dutch Holland

1959 - 5 years ago — Has interest declined in student government? With the elections approaching in 1959, 51 students were running for the Student Senate positions. In 1964 we have 23 candidates.

1954 - 10 years ago — An editorial in the Spectrum urged students to sign the circulating petitions and "really fight for the completion of the swimming pool." UND had just completed plans for a pool to be built by July of that year.

1934 - 30 years ago — "A psychology professor at Colgate University says gum chewing has the effect of increasing peppiness about eight per cent."

1929 - 35 years ago — Delta Phi Beta, the oldest local sorority on campus, officially became a chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma, national sorority.

1924 - 40 years ago — Due to the poor economic conditions prevalent throughout the state all fraternity formal parties were abolished.

1919 - 45 years ago — The Garrick had a twin bill featuring two of the bigger screen names. "The Test of Honor" starred John Barrymore, "Fatty, the Tough Rube," was played by Fatty Arbuckle.

1909 - 55 years ago — The Spectrum editor complained "The next time electric light wires are tested we suggest it is done at a time when 800 to 1,000 individuals are not packed into one of the buildings."

1899 - 65 years ago — Most basketball fans remember when the backboards were actually wooden "boards" not glass. However, do you know what preceded the boards? The basketballers were pleased at the improvements in the gymnasium in 1899. "Boards were substituted for the wire netting in back of the baskets."

Reed & Barton, silversmiths, are conducting a "Silver Opinion Competition" in which scholarships totaling $2,050 are being offered to enrolled women students at a few selected colleges and universities.

In the 1963 competition, Miss Jeanne Lundgren, AAS - soph., was one of the major prize winners of a starter set in sterling silver, china and crystal for her entry form matching Reed & Barton sterling patterns with leading china and crystal patterns.

NDSU has been selected to enter this competition in which the First Grand Award is a $500 cash scholarship; Second Grand Award is a $300 scholarship; Third Grand Award is a $250 scholarship; Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Awards are $200 scholarships; and Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and Tenth are $100 scholarships. In addition, there will be 100 other awards consisting of sterling silver, fine china and crystal with a retail value of approximately $50.00.

In the 1964 "Silver Opinion Competition," an entry form illustrates twelve designs of sterling with eight designs of both china and crystal. The entrant simply lists the three best combinations of sterling, china, and crystal from the patterns illustrated. Scholarships and awards will be made to those entries matching or coming closest to the unanimous selections of table-setting editors from three of the nation's leading magazines.

EVOL SPELLED BACKWARDS IS LOVE

They met. His heart leapt. "I love you!" he cried.
 "Me too, hey!" she cried.
 "Tell me," he cried, "are you a girl of expensive tastes?"
 "No, hey," she cried. "I am a girl of simple tastes."
 "Good," he cried, "for my cruel father sends me an allowance barely large enough to support life."
 "Money does not matter to me," she cried. "My tastes are simple; my wants are few. Just take me riding in a long, new, yellow convertible and I am content."
 "Goodbye," he cried, and ran away as fast as his little stumpy legs would carry him, for he had no yellow convertible, nor the money to buy one, nor the means to get the money—short of picking up his stingy father by the ankles and shaking him till his wallet fell out.

"I am clean and fresh and relaxing," she admitted

He knew he must forget this girl, but lying on his pallet at the dormitory, whimpering and moaning, he knew he could not.
 At last an idea came to him: though he did not have the money to buy a convertible, perhaps he had enough to rent one!
 Hope reborn, he rushed on his little stumpy legs (curious to tell, he was six feet tall, but all his life he suffered from little stumpy legs) he rushed, I say, to an automobile rental company and rented a yellow convertible for $10 down plus ten cents a mile. Then, with many a laugh and cheer, he drove away to pick up the girl.
 "Oh, bully!" she cried when she saw the car. "This suits my simple tastes to a 'T.' Come, let us speed over rolling highroads and through bosky dells."
 Away they drove. All that day and night they drove and finally, tired but happy, they parked high on a wind-swept hill.
 "Marlboro?" he said.
 "Yum, yum," she said.
 They lit their Marlboros. They puffed with deep contentment. "You know," he said, "you are like a Marlboro—clean and fresh and relaxing."
 "Yes, I am clean and fresh and relaxing," she admitted. "But, all the same, there is a big difference between Marlboros and me, because I do not have an efficacious white Selectrate filter."
 They laughed. They kissed. He screamed.
 "What is it, hey?" she asked, her attention aroused.
 "Look at the speedometer," he said. "We have driven 200 miles, and this car costs ten cents a mile, and I have only $20 left."
 "But that is exactly enough," she said.
 "Yes," he said, "but we still have to drive home."
 "Oh," she said. They fell into a profound gloom. He started the motor and backed out of the parking place.
 "Hey, look!" she cried. "The speedometer doesn't move when you are backing up."
 He looked. It was true. "Eureka!" he cried. "That solves my problem. I will drive home in reverse. Then no more miles will register on the speedometer and I will have enough money to pay!"
 "I think that is a smashing idea," she said, and she was right. Because today our hero is in the county jail where food, clothing, and lodging are provided free of charge, and his allowance is piling up so fast that in two or three years he will have enough money to take his girl riding again. ©1964 Max Shulman

Village Passes Anti-Smoking Law

Imagine a grown man, law abiding in all respects and with no police record, sneaking a smoke behind locked doors and hunted like a common criminal.
 It may be like that in Eastland, Texas come Feb. 20.

The city council passed an ordinance Monday that provides a $1,000 fine or three years' imprisonment for smoking cigarettes, selling cigarettes or giving away cigarettes within the city limits.

When asked Tuesday if the new ordinance could be enforced, Police Chief Ray Laney said, "Don't ask me—ask the mayor."

Mayor Don Pierson said he did not think the town's six-man force could nab all the smokers in town, but he proposed the Gestapo-like technique of citizen's arrest.

Under that system, all non-smokers would supposedly turn in smokers when they caught them puffing. Only tourists, who are exempted from the new ordinance can smoke legally in Eastland.

Some wondered if it would create "bootleg cigarettes" or "smoke-easies" where confirmed smokers could come and inhale to their heart's content.

On The Social Scene

With Frank Bernhoff

Do you realize that only two days from today on Friday, Feb. 21, the 122 anniversary of the patenting of the sewing machine will be celebrated? Why, of course, you do!

Yes, in 1842 Elias Howe (who fought against General Washington in the Revolutionary War and, incidentally, against Eli Whitney in the Industrial Revolution) patented what has been considered the first practical machine for sewing purposes. The only reason I mention this important historical event, of course, is to be sure that when you are celebrating this anniversary, you'll remember this column and keep you and your cohorts in "stitches" with reference to recent "On the Social Scene" humor!

If you dare continue here's news of last weekend's punch, parties, and pinnings.

Many, Varied Activities

The suitcase student who says that "there isn't anything on campus during the weekends" certainly should take another close look. This past weekend vibrated with social activity. There was the Independent Student Association's "Sweetheart Ball", which enjoyed a moderate success, and three Greek term parties. I haven't even mentioned the "Death of a Salesman", the Little Country Theatre production, or Alfred Hitchcock's "Psycho", this weekend's SUAB sponsored film. And how about the Little International events?

Term Parties

at the F-M Hotel. This event, which has been traditional since 1855, was highlighted by the crowning of Phyllis Heaton, pharm-soph., as Sweetheart of Sigma Chi.

"Ski Chalet" was the theme for the Kappa Psi term party Saturday. The Theta Chi fraternity held their "Sweetheart Ball" the same evening. Arlene Ness was chosen as the fraternity's new "Dream Girl."

SUAB Movie

The third in a series of foreign films sponsored by SUAB will be presented in the Memorial Union ballroom on Feb. 23. "L'Atalante", a story of a newly-wedded couple who, curiously enough, begin married life on a barge, should be worth seeing. You'll find humor, lyric fantasy and naturalism of characters.

Campus Drama

I sincerely hope that you didn't miss the Little Country Theatre production of "Death of a Salesman". You don't have to be a schooled fine arts critic to perceive greatness when it glows as brightly as it did from this one. Miss West, director of this Arthur Miller drama, got the most from this play and from her players to make a good one... a very good one!

New Initiates

Phi Mu has initiated eight coeds into their chapter. Included are Shirley Stokke Anderson, Dace Krastins, Beverly Miller, Sue Midgarden, Kay Shultz, Eileen Wallace, Eileen Swenson, and Pauline Rasmussen.

New pledges of Phi Mu are: B. Gail Dutton, Mary Ann MsAllister, and Janice Rambough.

Engagements

Area jewelers received two customers this week. Engaged are: Judy Fritz, Valley City State College, to Lance Cussons, Theta Chi; and Nancy Toman, KKG, to Jerry Patterson, ATO alum.

"Flower Drum Song"

Saturday of this week and Monday of the next have been set aside by Blue Key for tryouts for their annual production. With music and lyrics by Rodgers and Hammerstein. This one can't miss. How about some of the numbers listed in the show? "A Hundred Million Miracles", "I Enjoy Being a Girl", "Love, Looked Away", "You Are Beautiful"—these are just a few of the hit tunes that have followed this Broadway smash to stardom.

Administration, Greeks Face Food, Dorm Dilemma

A release clause for Greeks has been the topic of discussion on campus since the university announced plans two years ago for the construction of a feeding complex.

It has been stated that students who will live in Reed, Johnson, and Weible Halls will automatically sign a feeding and housing contract for a full year, with little or no chance of release.

The Greeks, fearing that they will not be able to survive without the income from their kitchens, have been asking for a release clause so that new pledges may get out of their food obligation.

Along with this problem, three fraternities have enlarged their houses in order to accommodate more members. They are faced with the problem of getting freshmen pledges out of the dorms after they pledge so that they can fill vacancies within the houses.

If the Greeks cannot obtain release clauses for their members, they say that they suffer financial problems.

On the other hand, the university has an equally grave problem. The new dorms have been underwritten by the federal government which require that the dorms pay for themselves. To accomplish this, the university has to pay off part of the debt, with interest, every year.

At present, the dorms are not paying for themselves, consequently, the university is losing money.

It would take the entire population of Dinan Hall to fill the vacancies in the other dorms. In other words, the university now has what amounts to one whole dorm sitting empty, while the payments have to be made.

Faced with this problem, the administration is more than a little reluctant to allow a release clause. The university couldn't afford to have the dorms fill up on registration day, only to lose a large number of the boarders after formal rush.

The same can be said for the feeding unit which will go into operation next fall. In order for this unit to pay off, the operators have to be insured of a certain number of students. Is there a solution to the problem? If the Greeks are released, then the university will remain in the red on its payments. If they don't get released, the Greeks say they stand a good chance of dying.

At present, a recommendation is before President Albrecht asking for a two-week waiting period after the start of Fall and Winter quarter in which those students who have pledged a fraternity or sorority may be released, providing they are moving to a non-boarding house.

We seriously doubt that this recommendation will be approved by the president, for reasons above stated.

The president's suggestion to the Greeks is that they learn to adjust to the growing situation on this campus. We agree with him. To survive, the Greeks are going to have to stop relying on freshmen to pull them out of their financial straits.

Although we don't favor delayed rush, a moderation of that plan is required if a release clause is not put into the dorm contract.

The fraternities and sororities are going to have to put emphasis on their rush during spring quarter, instead of fall quarter.

The advantages of this plan are numerous. By the time the freshman are in their third quarter, they have proved their scholastic ability and their interest in extra-curricular activities. They have become familiar with the university and its operations, as well as the Greek system.

On the other hand, by rushing third quarter freshman and sophomores, the Greeks will have to use more appeal than "rush parties" and the promise of a pledge pin.

Other universities have had to adjust to the problems caused by the introduction of contract feeding, and we are sure that it can be done on this campus, to the advantage of everyone concerned.

This is a do-or-die proposition, and it is time the Greeks faced the problem head on.

Students Urged to Vote And Show Responsibility

It would appear to most students that today's election is unimportant because there are only a few candidates, a lack of real issues, and apathy toward student government in general.

Besides these excuses there is the usual rationalization of "my one vote doesn't mean anything anyway, so I won't even bother to vote". Statistics show that in the last presidential election, if Nixon had received just one more vote in each precinct in the country, he would have had a considerable majority of the total popular votes!

In the election for student body president last year there were only one-half of the student body which does care enough to vote. The final vote was 638 for Korb, 639 for Findley, and 642 for Ken Nelson.

Student, your vote does count!

Yet, even with such a close and hotly contested election, the total vote for student president was a mere 50.8% of the total student body.

So before we criticize our student government let's remember that only one-half of the student body which did care enough to vote really has the right to criticize.

Today is the day when the student body must choose 12 students to represent them in the student senate for the following year. They will elect six one-year senators, six two-year senators, and the president of the student body.

The editorial staff of the Spectrum and the student body president have selected the following candidates to support for the student senate elections.

For two year senate, the staff supports these: Dennis Flynn, AAS

- soph., Bill Tapper, AAS - soph., Tom Norum, Chem - fr., and Roger Wetzel, Chem - soph.

The selection of these candidates was not made on the basis of good looks, by chance, or by the iron will of the editor, rather on the basis of scholastic abilities, experience in student government, and above all, the ideas each candidate expressed in his platform. The editorial staff and student body president, Ken Nelson, considered each candidate, and after careful analysis the preferred candidates were picked.

It is unfortunate that there are not more candidates running, and the staff felt that there were not enough qualified candidates to even choose six (which is the number of senators elected in each bracket) from the group of 11 one-year candidates, or six from the 10 two-year candidates to support.

However, some of the selected nine were unanimously approved by the group, while on others several arguments occurred. Only the ones that a majority of the staff agreed upon were picked from the field of twenty one.

Sharivar Co-Chairmen Chosen, Robson, Burke To Head List

The student central committee and college co-chairmen have been chosen for Sharivar. According to Beth Rochefort, assistant in communications and university relations, the schedule for Sharivar, 1964, has also been planned.

Sharivar is an annual all-campus open house where all colleges on campus cooperate in planning special exhibits and demonstrations for prospective students.

The student central committee is responsible for planning and organizing displays in the individual colleges through student organizations and faculty advisors. Members of the committee are: Tracey Robson, AAS - sr.; and Churk Burke, Eng. - sr., co-chairmen; Bob Norum, AAS - sr., business manager; Bob Knorr, Ag - fr., and Kay Oveson, AAS - jr., publicity; and Nancy Idso, AAS - fr., secretary.

Sharivar will begin on May 1 with Parents' Day. This is for the parents of the students already attending NDSU as well as the parents of prospective students. May 2 is High School Day, for high school students from North Dakota and surrounding states. The open house will continue in the afternoon for those unable to attend earlier on May 3.

'Ski Bums' Given Tips By Ski Patrol Member

Skiing, a sport especially enjoyable to active young college students, can be done on a budget.

Here are some tips from Joe Calabro, a member of the National Ski Patrol, of the ski school at Sugar Hills, Grand Rapids, Minn.

The clothes you might buy are unlike the uniforms of most other sports in that they can be worn while not participating. These parkas, pants and other items are not only fashionable but also practical in warding off the cold wintery gusts which sweep our campus.

Calabro suggests that if a student is planning to spend a weekend at one of the six or so surrounding ski areas he purchase a two-day tow ticket. Sometimes a student package plan is available,

Rahjah's "Jug" Given To High Spirited Group

The Little Brown Jug is the Rahjah's latest gimmick. The jug is an award in the form of an earthenware flask which is presented after each home basketball game to the most organized pep group.

The trophy is intended to instill school spirit and encourage enthusiasm and participation on the part of all groups and students present at games, but is directed primarily to the fraternities.

The cheering contest is judged at each game by a faculty or staff member and the trophy is presented to the outstanding group by one of the Rahjahs.

The Jug has been presented only twice and the TKE's have won both times. It is intended to be a traveling trophy so any group desiring the award should get out to one of the two remaining home games and cheer as never before.

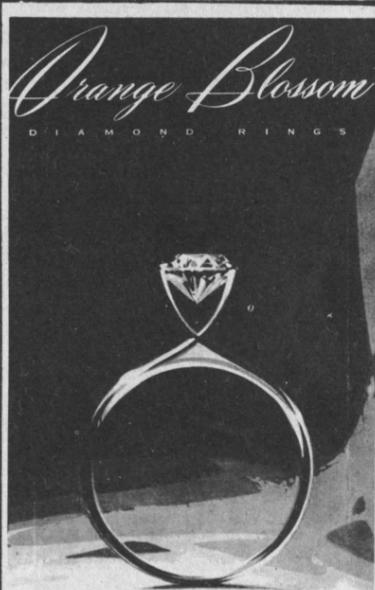

The Rahjahs are a university men's pep group, organized to promote school spirit. The group sponsors pep rallies, the outstanding athlete and assists cheerleaders at football and basketball games. Membership in the group is based on a 2.0 or better overall average and selection by current members.

Besides presenting the cheering trophy and conducting the other above named activities, the Rahjahs sponsor an annual beard-growing contest. Four kinds of beards are eligible in this contest: best-trimmed, shaggiest, most original and best try.

The contest will be judged by a faculty or staff member and prizes will be awarded to the winners during one of the games of the traditional U-series played Feb. 28 or 29. These games are played at NDSU and are the last of the oldest 4-game series in North Dakota.

After this year, only two games will be played with one at each school.

24 Coeds, Charter Members Of Scholastic Fraternity

Pledging services for the members of the North Dakota State University charter chapter of Alpha Lambda Delta were held last Friday in Meinecke Lounge. Four honorary members from the faculty and twenty-four students were pledged to the society which honors high scholastic achievement for freshman women.

The aims of the fraternity are to promote higher standards of living and learning among college women, to encourage high scholastic attainment among freshmen women in our institutions of higher education, and to create a growing love for study.

To be eligible, a girl must maintain an average of 3.5 or above during her freshman year. Since this is the charter group, membership was open to all women students who have a 3.5 cumulative average.

This Friday evening initiation services will take place followed by a reception honoring the new initiates and honorary members. On hand for this ceremony will be Miss Eleanor Norton, dean of women of the University of South Dakota.

Miss Norton is being sent here as the installing officer from the National Council of Alpha Lambda Delta.

Foreign Film Set Feb. 23

"L'Atalante" is the name of the next foreign film that will be shown in the Memorial Union ballroom, Feb. 23, at 7:30 p.m.

It is directed by Jean Vigo and stars Michel Simon and Dita Parlo. In it you will find a rich vein of humor, lyric fantasy, and naturalism of character.

"L'Atalante" is an ironic tender story of a newly-wedded pair who start their married life on a barge.

The New York Herald Tribune said about the film: "L'Atalante gave the observer an absorbing insight in pure picture terms into the poetry of love, the beauty of nature and the fantasy incidental to the filthy business of making a living. Jean Vigo's pictures never hurried and they never dragged. They managed to convey the same kind of excitement as a fine novel a superb play or a lovely poem."

The film is not recommended for French language study because of quality of early sound recording, but it is valuable for a background of France.

Class Seating Influences Grades

(I.P.) - Where a student habitually sits in a classroom may affect her learning, indicate something about her personality, or her attitudes toward the course and teacher, judging from research being carried out by Dr. Edward R. Ostrander, associate professor of psychology at Elmira College.

Previous studies show that students do tend to choose either the same seat or area of a classroom day after day and that there is some correlation between their choice of seats and their interest and achievement in the course, said Dr. Ostrander. His research, therefore, may have bearing on seldom considered factors in the teaching-learning process.

Dr. Ostrander's interest in this subject was first roused about two years ago when one of his advanced psychology students explored the seating habits of 120 high school students in a term research project. She found that three quarters of them consistently sat either in the center or around the borders of the classrooms as they changed from class to class. When she classified their seating as "in front or at the back of the rooms," slightly over half were found to occupy the same section in each of their classrooms.

Another of his students distributed questionnaires to about 70 women in her residence hall. These students indicated where they habitually sat in their various classes, their grades in the course, and rated, on a scale, their liking for the course and instructor.

Interestingly she found no relationship between seating and grades, possibly because most college classes are small; but she did find that those who gave a high rating to both course and instructor tended to sit in the center of the room rather than around the edges.

Last year another of Dr. Ostrander's students attempted to find a correlation between seating habits in classes, the students' interest in their work and their grade expectations. After they had taken their first five weeks test students were asked what grade they had expected to receive in the course when the course began, what they expected after the first five weeks, and whether they found the classes interesting.

Students who expressed high interest and whose grade expectations went up after five weeks contact with the course tended thereafter to sit farther forward in the classroom. Those with high interest, but who felt discouraged after five weeks, tended to move farther back, and those who admitted that they weren't much interested in the course but were not worried about their grades were likely to stay where they were.

Dr. Ostrander has received $3,000 from the National Institute of Health which will enable him to employ a professionally trained person to carry out the statistical analyses. Additional data will be collected on students' self descriptions, type and size of class, location of windows, doors and blackboards as possible factors influencing seating choices.

National Honorary Initiates Seniors

Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary fraternity, has initiated nine new members at North Dakota State University.

The initiates, all seniors, are Alan Bergman, Ag.; Dennis Danielson, Pharm.; Lynn Ferguson, Pharm.; Carol Jean Hanson, HE.; Mildred Iverson, Pharm.; Gary Narum, AAS.; Robert Norum, AAS.; David Swanson, Pharm. and Myron Sylvester, Pharm.

The members are chosen on scholarship and character and limited to 12 per cent of the senior class.

Area Research Conference Set

A research conference will be held March 12 at North Dakota State University for the purpose of bringing area researchers together with representatives of government, industry and private foundations.

Announced by President H. R. Albrecht, the conference will consist of a day-long program of small group meetings, panel discussions and talks by key participants. Time will also be allowed for individual meetings. The conference will be open to "any interested researcher."

Planning of the conference has been done by the NDSU Development Office and the research committee of the Faculty Senate. Marvin Moll, director of development, and Dr. Warren Whitman, chairman of the research committee, are coordinating the effort. Drs. Courtney Cleland, Leo Schermeister, and Donald Schwartz, make up the program committee.

According to Cleland, the group has received tentative commitments from several "top" members of the National Science Foundation and National Institutes of Health, plus key people in industrial research organizations and private foundations with support research.

"Orienting Today's Researcher" will be the theme of the conference. It is designed to acquaint scientific investigators with the wide range of research activities being pursued in the United States to suggest possible new avenues of investigation, and to explain methods of getting financial support. All areas of research — the physical, biological and social sciences, economics and the humanities — will be dealt with during the conference both at the basic and applied levels.

Further information about the conference may be obtained from the NDSU Office for Development.

Area Seniors Receive Letter From NDSU

Approximately 15,000 area high school seniors are receiving a letter and return post card from North Dakota State University.

According to Tom Goodale, career guidance coordinator, this is one of several means used by this university to stimulate interest in students to attend NDSU.

Superintendents of schools in North Dakota, western Minnesota and northern South Dakota cooperate with NDSU by supplying students' names and inviting NDSU representation at Career Days which is held on a county-wide or individual school basis.

As official spokesman for NDSU at area career days, Goodale's audio-visual presentation includes slides showing campus classrooms, the library, residence halls and laboratories. Basic information about university course offerings, cost, schedules, honor points and advisor programs is presented.

Also included is information regarding loan and scholarship programs available to NDSU students. Requests for more information are referred to the deans of the colleges or to special interest areas specified by prospective students.

Questions according to Goodale, include such data from curriculum offerings to whether men have "hours" at NDSU.

County superintendents help stage Career Days held for seniors and, in some cases, juniors, sophomores and interested parents. Each year, approximately 2,000 area high school students hear presentations by universities, colleges, trade schools and the armed services.

Other opportunities for students to learn about NDSU are provided through alumni, Sharivar high school day, campus tours, convention displays and placement of the Bison and The Spectrum in North Dakota high schools.

The information program is a joint effort of the Career Guidance Sub-committee headed by Dr. E. H. Sands, associate professor of chemistry, Burton B. Brandrud, director of admissions and records and Career Guidance Coordinator Goodale.

Scholarships Given Senior by ATO's

Erling Rasmussen, Engr. - sr., was the recent recipient of a $200 Alpha Tau Omega National Foundation Fund Scholarship presented to him by C. Emerson Murray, ATO province chief.

This award is given on the basis of scholastic ability, activities, and need. Rasmussen, while maintaining a 3.0 average and working 25 hours a week, was initiated into Blue Key this fall. He is a member of Eta Kappa Nu, Tau Beta Pi, The Rajah Club, and Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity where he is fraternity historian.

Grants Issued By Chem. Dept.

The North Dakota State University Department of Chemistry has issued 13 grants-in-aid to students majoring in Chemistry.

The money is given by the Paint Federation, and is distributed on the basis of scholarship and need. Each student receives $250 for which he will work 100 hours in the chemistry department.

Freshmen receiving the grants were: Robert Challey, Parnell Freeman, Cheryl Hennen, Louis Kappes, Bruce MacDonald, Arthur Schaffer, Sheldon Schooler, and Ray Severson. Sophomores were: Michael Klinkhammer, Leroy Weinmann, and Rodger Wetzel. Seniors receiving grants were: Steve Nelson and Ken Olson.

Film By SU Staff Asked To Appear At Film Festival

"The Meaning of Test Scores" has been invited to appear at the 1964 Film Festival in San Francisco, Calif., on March 23-26. The film was written and directed by Dr. Quentin Stodola, director of counseling and testing, and Donald F. Schwartz, acting director of communications.

The film is a dialogue discussion of better ways to use test score results in improving classroom instruction. The discussants in the film point out the need for making a systematic analysis of test content so the teacher will know what the test measures.

The film was video-taped at KXJB-TV Broadcasting Studios. Preceding the finished product was a single rehearsal. The total cost of the film was $905, excluding the cost of the professional personnel at the State Department of Public Instruction, North Dakota State University and the University of North Dakota.

Stodola said that this film is a good example of what can be done at home with a limited budget. He also mentioned that the film has been shown quite widely throughout the state.

DEVELOPMENT OF MANAGEMENT IS OUR MOST IMPORTANT FUNCTION

At the 1963 stockholders' meeting, Arjay R. Miller, President of Ford Motor Company, emphasized the Company's far-sighted recruitment program and its accent on developing management talent:

"Obviously, our long-run future will be determined by the development of our management. Here, every one of us—at all levels of supervision—recognizes this as his most important function. Since 1946, the Company has recruited widely varied talent—talent that can be blended to give us the required combination of tight administration and creative scope.

"Under a carefully conceived management development program, we try to recruit the best personnel available, both in training and experience. Once we get them, we have a program for giving them varied opportunities and increasing responsibility. This program is in force in all parts of the Company—in manufacturing, finance, styling, engineering and marketing.

"The program is paying off. We have developed a real depth of management talent in the Company, and we are dedicated to seeing it continued and reinforced. Because of this, I feel not only very fortunate in being associated with this management group, but also very confident of its long-run success. We know our goals and how to achieve them."

14 ROTC Students Flying High

Flying today are 14 North Dakota State University students subscribing to the flight instruction programs offered to senior ROTC cadets.

John Bodmer, Neil Henn and Lional Johnson have completed the training, met Federal Aviation Agency qualifications and now have their private pilot's license.

The other AFROTC cadets have taken sufficient flight training giving them the experience and proficiency sufficient to fly the plane alone.

This Flight Instruction Program is part of the preparation the Air Force makes available to the fourth-year ROTC cadets. The course includes 36½ hours of flying time and 30 hours of ground school.

About 20 flying hours are with the instructor (dual) and 15 are solo. During this time the student practices all maneuver, cross-country flying navigation procedures and airport traffic techniques.

The ground school segment of the training is in four main areas: pre-flight procedures, theory of flight, navigation and meteorology. Upon completion of this study, a test is given by FAA officials which if passed, entitles the student to a private pilot's certificate.

The flight program is paid for by the Air Force. The funds are given to NDSU and a contract with a local FAA approved flight school is made.

Enrolled in a similar program for fourth-year Army ROTC cadets are: Gary Puppe, Ag. - sr.; Stuart Cameron, Chem. - sr.; Elroy Haadem, Ag. - jr.; Dale Mallberg, AAS - sr.; Loren Dewitz, Ag. - jr. and Joe Mulheran, AAS - sr.

Negative Attitudes Sway Number Trying For Senate

"A negative attitude toward the Student Senate is probably what caused the small amount of candidates running for senate this year," said Patty Dodge, AAS - jr. and member of the Student Senate.

Jay Lucas, AAS - sr., and former student senator, blamed Student Body President Ken Nelson for the decline because "he has not shown the proper leadership to be expected of a person in his position".

In previous years there has been a steady increase of candidates with 24 in 1961, 26 in 1962 and 37 running last year. This year there are only 22 candidates.

Last year all 37 candidates were Greeks while this year there has been a surge of Independents running for office. Of the 22 candidates, 12 are Independents. Bill Findley and Allen Redman, the two applicants for student body president, are both members of fraternities.

Ginger Mease, HE - jr., said the reason more independents were running was because of the stress on the part of the Leadership Workshop for more Independent candidates. Miss Dodge pointed out that as a result of an Independent securing the senate presidency last year the Independents now felt they have a better chance and that many student organizations, including the Greeks, have stressed for more Independent candidates.

The opinion among many students is that the Student Senate has not dealt with any issues of much consequence. "They waste their time on cigarette vending machines instead of the concrete problems" voiced George Foulkes, AAS - jr.

A few of the reasons given for the decrease in interest were that the Spectrum did not publicize the senate as much as it did last year and that issues brought up in the Senate were not controversial. The cigarette issue which brought criticism upon the senate was another reason stated.

The complaint that senate leadership is not as responsible or good as it has been in previous years and that the Greeks run the senate was also brought up.

Employee's Credit Union Gives 4½%

A 4½ percent dividend to share holders and a 20 percent interest rebate to borrowers was announced at the annual meeting of the North Dakota State University Employees Federal Credit Union, Jan. 16.

Dividends totaled $12,627 for the year ending Dec. 31, and the interest rebate totaled $4,462, Credit Union President H. Dean Stallings told members.

Total assets last year were $367,071, an increase of nearly $60,000 over the previous year. Membership increased 90 members to a total of 610.

Gary Reinke, James Dogger and E. R. Norum were re-elected as directors. The 1964 board of directors are: Dogger, president; Orville Jacobson, vice president; Reinke, secretary; Norum treasurer, and Stallings.

BETWEEN

AND THE DEEP SEA

THERE'S A WIDE RANGE OF OPPORTUNITY
IN THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES

To outer space and into the deep sea, we take the sum total of our scientific and managerial knowledge. A case in point is Telstar, which represents the first step toward a worldwide communications system. Another example, the new deep-sea amplifier that simultaneously transmits two-way messages. Both communications triumphs stem from Bell System planning, research and development.

Such trailblazing projects command the best of managerial and scientific talent. That's why you'll find, throughout the Bell System, men with college training as diverse as the responsibilities they shoulder. Their backgrounds run the gamut from liberal arts and business courses to science or specialized engineering majors.

Admittedly, the work is demanding. It requires that unusual caliber of man who finds a greater satisfaction in challenge than in ready solution... who is eager to see his education yield dividends... who wants an immediate opportunity for leadership.

Men with this kind of impatience will discover the stimulation, welcome and rewards they seek in the telephone business.

Captain Dillon Picked As Most Valuable Gymnast

Combine tragedy with perseverance, came up with some determination and skill, throw some goals in, and you've got Dan Dillon, versatile captain of the NDSU gymnastics team.

This 22-year-old athlete who stands only 5'4" and weighs 129 pounds almost singlehandedly won the B Class of the Northwest Open at the University of Minnesota last Saturday. The Bison won the meet with 98 points. Dillon scored 40 of the 98 tallied. Named the most all-around gymnast in the event, he scored firsts in the horizontal bar and the rings; he placed second on the parallel bars and the mats. He competes in all seven events held in gymnastics. He won four individual trophies and the all-around award.

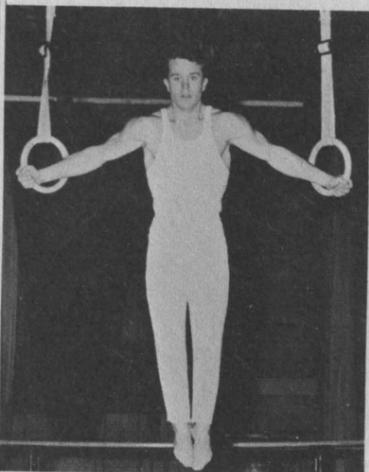

But this is just one of many successes he has had in an interesting, but sometimes seemingly sad career.

Born in June of 1941 in Hollywood, Calif., Dan and his parents resided there until 1949 when his father, a pilot, was killed in a civilian air crash on the Hawaiian islands. Following his death, he and his mother moved to Fargo and resided with his grandmother, Mrs. J. G. Dillon. His grandfather, Dr. J. G. Dillon, was a well known Fargo pediatrician from 1912 through 1941. His mother died of pneumonia in 1958. His grandmother passed away last July 1st.

His interest in gymnastics started when he was in junior high school at Pasadena, Calif. Because of his size, the sport of skill, motion, and coordination, suited his physical limitations quite well. When Dan entered Fargo Central High School in 1956, Fargo had no organized gymnastic program in the schools. Reflecting on his high school days, Dan noted the efforts of Tom Manley, Fargo High School physical education instructor: "It was a real battle to get a program going in the school system. Mr. Manley encouraged me to work toward establishing something and we finally built up a program at the YMCA."

Dan credits much of his development in the sport to two Norwegians that were exchange students in Fargo while Dan was in high school. "John Jacobson and Birger Vick worked with me and two others in establishing the team at the 'Y'. They were terrific. We got so good that we placed second in the Northwest Open in 1959. I remember how difficult it was, because each of us had to enter four or five events apiece since our numbers were few."

Dillon has become even more accustomed to this since then. After an 18-year absence of gymnastics on the NDSU campus, the sport returned last year. "In the fall of '62, I saw Coach Erv Kaiser in the Memorial Union and suggested to him that we try and re-inaugurate the sport on the campus. He was willing, if we could recruit some other interested athletes." Dillon called the first meeting and 18 men showed up. All of these had no prior experience. Dan was forced to participate in each of the seven events which are: floor exercise, trampoline, side horse, horizontal bar, parallel bar, rings and tumbling. "I really like the horizontal bar and the rings the best," he quipped after going through the routine on each of the pieces.

Dan's experience shows a year spent at the University of Hawaii in Honolulu. Working under Dr. E. R. Gustafson, an internationally known gymnastics teacher, Dan began perfecting the things he had learned and practiced daily under Gustafson's supervision. Following his freshman year there, he entered NDSU.

The Bison captain will graduate at the end of this winter quarter in early March. He's awaiting assignment from the Air Force, and will receive his 2nd Lt. Commission upon graduation. He has been trained in USAF intelligence work.

Well-liked by fellow students, he is busy in other things too. A check of activities finds that he is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity, Young Republicans, Young Americans for Freedom, the International Relations Club and the campus YMCA.

He has spent nine years in learning and is now teaching the sport which is fast coming on college campuses and in high schools. He hopes to teach history after his stint with the Air Force.

Dillon sees a good future for gymnastics. "A good job of promoting needs to be done on the high school level. This particular athletic activity doesn't ruin an athlete in other sports. It is a good conditioner. And particularly good for building up the shoulder and arms."

The Bison will participate with Concordia, Bismarck State, Mankato State, North Dakota and Winnipeg in the Cobber Invitational on Feb. 22.

Dennis Cures The Boys' Pains

by John Lama

"The group of athletes here at North Dakota State are the finest that I have been associated with." This was the comment of Dennis Isrow, athletic trainer at NDSU.

Isrow

"They are mature, clean cut, courteous young men who work hard because they take pride in themselves and their team," stated Isrow.

Isrow is from Detroit, Mich. He attended St. Anthony's High School in Detroit where he lettered three years in football and four years in rowing.

After graduating from high school in 1955, Isrow joined the Marines. In the service he organized company sports and coached

Player of Week: Tom Noyes

Tom Adds Depth at Forward

by Lynn Leavens

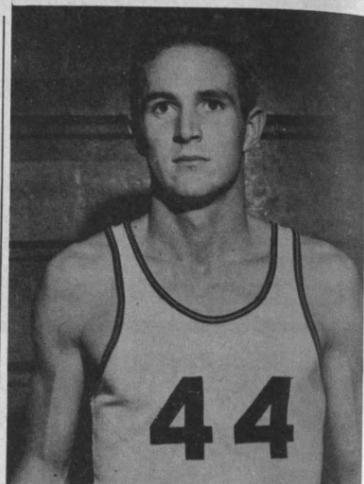

Determination and hard work makes Tom Noyes an asset to North Dakota State's basketball team.

The 6-3, 180-pound sophomore from Barnesville was one of the leading scorers on the freshman team last year. He has developed during the season and has been a real help to the weak Bison.

Coach Chuck Bentson says, "Tom is a hard worker with a good short jump shot from 12 feet out. Tom rebounds well for his size because of his strong legs. Noyes has a little trouble losing his check and he could afford to gain some poundage. Tom also is lacking in confidence, but he will take care of these problems as he matures."

Noyes lettered in football, basketball and track in high school.

He also played legion baseball for six years. His basketball team was never able to get out of their region. He represented his school in the regional high jump.

Noyes

Noyes was offered a football scholarship at Concordia, but he turned it down and decided to come to NDSU and major in civil engineering.

ACU Tournaments Top Intramurals

by Lee Strandberg

Bowling: Intramural bowling this past week spotlighted league action.

ASCE, of the Engineer's League, retained its number one position from last week. The lead in the Masters League changed hands again, with YMCA taking over the position.

In the Classic League, SAE is still in first place and the Memorial Union team maintained its lead in the Major League. Reed Hall, which bowls in the Metropolitan League, held on to first place position from last week.

The high game of the week is held by Ron Kelly of the YMCA team. He rolled a 235 and combining this with other game scores of 190 and 185, holds the high series of the week, with a score of 610.

In Women's League action, Gail Anderson and Elsie Raer continue to dominate the Monday Night Doubles League. The Physical Education team is in the number one spot of the Tuesday League again this week, and in the Wednesday League, Alpha Gamma Delta retained its lead.

Tournament Action: Without a doubt this the best showing we have had in the last three years, was the comment of Gordon Teigen, assistant director of the Memorial Union, concerning North Dakota State's participation in the ACU tournaments which were held in Minneapolis last weekend.

In the table tennis division, Daniel Mar took second place in the singles, losing only to the champion, who is the former 1961 junior champion of India. In the singles division, Don Smestad won fourth place and Paul Nielsen captured sixth place. The NDSU doubles combination Daniel Mar and Don Smestad worked together well and took second place.

Roy Theis won NDSU's only place in the Billiards division. He got second place in the three-cushion event.

It was in the bowling section of the ACU tournament that NDSU made its best showing. The women's team, composed of Rae Ann Winlaw, Gail Anderson, Bobby Quick, Janice Score and Carol Lemke, won first place in its section. Bobby Quick and Janice Score combined to take second place in the doubles. Bobby Quick placed fifth in the All-Events total, which qualifies her for the National Tournament. Bobby is the first woman bowler from NDSU to qualify for the National Tournament in this event.

The men's bowling team tied with UND for second place out of a field of thirteen colleges and universities. Bryan Thompson placed second in the singles and qualified for the Men's National Finals. Bryan is the fifth man from NDSU to qualify for the National Finals.

When released from the service in 1959, Isrow enrolled at the University of Detroit. He later transferred to Adams College in Colorado, where he graduated in 1963.

While Isrow was attending Adams College there was an opening there as assistant trainer. "I wanted to be connected with sports in some way so I applied for the position and was fortunate enough to receive it. This is where I first worked under Darrel E. Mudra, now director of athletics and head football coach at NDSU," stated Isrow.

Commenting on the physical education department, Isrow said, "The department is in the process of building up its program and facilities. The entire coaching staff has been tireless in their efforts to this program, especially my advisor, Chuck Bentson. There has been a great deal of improvement since last fall."

Besides his training responsibilities, Isrow is working on his masters degree in school administration, with a minor in physical education.

Isrow is a firm believer in the Physical Education Club. "I think it's beneficial for every Physical Education major or minor to be a member of this club. Even as a graduate student I am an active member."

Wrestlers Split

North Dakota State's varsity grapplers gained a split in two dual matches held over the weekend at Augustana and South Dakota State respectively.

Don Miller, Jon Colebank and Dean Dormanen led the varsity wrestlers against Augustana as they won their matches on falls. Joe McCormick and Leo Rodriguez also helped in the Bison 21-13 win, as they decided their opponents.

SDS proved too tough for the Bison as they bettered SU 27-3. Joe McCormick was the only Bison grappler picking up points, as he decided his opponent.

SU Cagers Gain Split

Coach Chuck Bentson led his North Dakota State chargers to their second conference victory, 88-57 over Augustana. South Dakota State proved to much for the Bison as they defeated them 94-73. 94-73.

In the Augustana game the Bison combined a real good team effort, with a fast break and that proved too much for the cellar dwelling Augie's.

DuCharme paced the Bison point getters with 20 points in their highest scoring output in conference play of this season. Lee Grim followed with 19. Dave Lee and Dick Wenstrom helped the cause with 13 and 10 points respectively.

The SDS game was a closer affair than the score indicates. Four Bison players hit in the double figures; Tom Noyes leading the parade with 21 points. Lee Grim, Lowell Cook and Pierre DuCharme contributed 16, 14 and 10 points respectively.

Five SDS's cagers hit in the double figures in the offensive minded contest. Sid Bostic topped all scorers for the evening with 23, Gerry Buri, Tom Black, Wayne Rasmussen and Dick Larson had 18, 13, 13 and 12 respectively.

Meet the Coaching Staff

by John Lama

"Loyalty and dedication breed success", said Carl W. "Buck" Nystrom, first year assistant football coach at North Dakota State University.

"Blessed with the physical qualities, a dedicated player, loyal to his team, coaches and himself can become a great athlete. In college this boy doesn't have any trouble in the classroom, because he has the same feeling toward his education," continued Nystrom.

A native of Marquette, Michigan, 29 year-old Nystrom attended Michigan State where he played guard on the football team.

In 1955, Nystrom was the captain of the football team that won the "Big Ten" championship. The same team defeated UCLA in the Rose Bowl that year.

Nystrom was the recipient of many football awards in college. In 1955 he was awarded the Governor of Michigan Award as the most valuable player on the Spartan team. He also received the Ross Trophy for contributing the most, athletically and physically, to the squad.

Frank Leachy of Radio-T.V. Guide, put Nystrom on his All-American first team in 1955. He was also all-Big Ten and all-Scholastic. In 1956, he received the Conference Medal of Honor for the student demonstrating the greatest proficiency in scholarship and athletics.

In 1957, Nystrom coached football at Lansing Sexton High School. He returned to his Alma Mater in 1958 as freshmen coach for two years. In 1960, he accepted the position as line coach at the University of Colorado. In his three years with the Buffaloes, he developed some tremendous linemen. In Nystrom's last year at Colorado, the "Buff's" won the "Big Eight" championship and the Orange Bowl.

When asked what he thought of NDSU, Nystrom commented: "This is a great growing institution. It is the best university in the conference because of the locality, size and population surrounding it. We must continue to strive for progressive development."

Concerning the football situation at NDSU, Nystrom said, "We are a long way from having a real fine football team. We improved this past year, but we didn't come up with the victories when the chips were down. We have the potential, but it has to be developed. You do not develop an explosive team over night. It takes a little luck and a tremendous amount of hard work by the players and coaches."

Ticket's For 'U' Series

Activity tickets will admit North Dakota State students to general admission seating for games against UND here on Feb. 28-29. Students will not need to pick up tickets prior to the games.

This announcement was made Monday by Ron Corliss and Tom Goodale, ticket managers. In prior years, students have had to pick up reserved seat tickets for the two games.

This year sections C, D, E, on the west side are being reserved for students. Sections K and L, on the east side, immediately behind the scorers table and press area, are for public sale.

The rest of the seating will be general admission. Reserved seat tickets for the games are $2.50 for each night. General admission seats are $2. The tickets may be purchased in the NDSU Business Office.

Leavens Levels

by Lynn Leavens

Sports activity over the weekend was limited on North Dakota State's campus, as the basketball and wrestling teams invaded the southern part of the NCC and the gymnastics squad visited our fine neighbors to the immediate north.

Wrestling - The varsity wrestling team gained a split over the weekend. They defeated Augustana 21-13 and then South Dakota State trampled them 27-3. Against freshmen from the same schools, our freshmen were unable to accomplish a win. Augie beat our freshmen 21-11 and SDS came out on the better end of a 23-13 score against them. Roger Kerber, Ron Clyne and Clyde Vollmers were the only freshmen to come up with wins in dual competition. They beat both of their opponents.

Minot State invades on Feb. 20, and they are going to be too tough for our varsity grapplers.

Track - The Bison's indoor track schedule has been released and it looks as though the Bison trackmen may go undefeated until April 8th when they meet Western Kentucky at Moorhead State.

Gymnastics - After that superhuman effort that the gymnastics team put out in Minneapolis two weekends ago, it was to be expected that there would be a let down, but according to Coach Kaiser, we beat ourselves, when we fell to UND 57-55.

Look for that supreme effort when the gymnastics squad goes to the Concordia Invitational on Feb. 22. This will be the last match of the season for the team and the last match of his college career, for Captain Dan Dillon.

Basketball - The Bison basketballers, were determined not to end up in the cellar of the NCC. They cinched that, when they beat Augustana over the weekend for their second victory in conference play.

Both the freshman and the varsity meet Concordia on Saturday night at Concordia. Neither team should have too much trouble with the Cobbers' cagers.

Around Campus:

Team members of every winter sport will get together and vote on the most valuable member of their particular sport. Captain Dan Dillon is the first one chosen for his outstanding ability in gymnastics.

North Dakota State will begin concentration on its 1964 football season when Spring grid drills start on March 30. The Herd coaching staff expects 60 candidates to report for the 20 practice sessions.

NDSU's athletic department has bought all of the physical education equipment and fixtures from the defunct Town & County Health Studios in Fargo.

The use of this equipment will be coordinated into classroom instruction beginning with the fall quarter of this year at NDSU.

Closing Notes:

Lee Grim of NDSU has lost his leadership in NCC statistics from the free throw line. Lee had a bad weekend as he missed three out of four and he is now 18 for 22.

Tom Noyes had his best game of his varsity career Saturday night when he scored 21 points against SDS.

It looks as though SCI has the North Central Conference wrapped up. They are nine and zero and their closest rival is SDS at six and two.

When SCI wins the NCC this earns them the right to enter an eight team regional tournament, with the winner of this regional going to the national championship tournament in the college division. Where does this leave South Dakota State? It leaves SDS out in the dark, and they certainly have a better team now than SCI. Without Spoden, SCI will be lucky to win one game in the regional tournament, while SDS might be able to pull a repeat of their last year's performance which saw them win the NCAA college division.

The 1964 Bison Indoor Track Schedule

- March 11 - Mankato State, Luther College at Mankato, Minn.

- March 28 - North Dakota at Grand Forks, N. D.

Working on the script for the Blue Key production "Flower Drum Song" are Miss Marilyn Nass in charge of the choreography and Ron Mrnak, director of the production.

Nass, Mrnak Work On Play

Miss Marilyn Nass, professor of physical education, and Ron Mrnak, recent MSC graduate, will hold key positions in the Blue Key production of "Flower Drum Song."

Mrnak will direct the musical part. Miss Nass will be in charge of choreography.

Miss Nass arrived at NDSU five years ago from the University of Vermont where she studied physical education. She spent her first years of college at the University of Omaha. She immediately became involved with musicals, and has directed choreography in every Moorhead State College production since she came to Fargo-

Moorhead.

Such MSC productions as "Bye Bye Birdie", "Little Miss Sunshine", "Brigadoon", and the recent "Carnival" had Miss Nass as choreography director.

Director Mrnak, while enrolled at MSC, worked with Miss Nass as an actor in the "King and I," and "Guys and Dolls."

Tryouts

The Blue Key National Honor Fraternity sincerely wishes to audition all potential actors for positions in the "Flower Drum Song." Tryouts will be Feb. 22 from 1-5 p.m. or on Feb. 24 from 6:45-10 p.m.

Special Course To Be Conducted

A special experimental course in testing is being offered spring term by Dr. Quentin Stodola of the NDSU department of counseling and testing as part of a U.S. Government project.

The course is particularly suited to the needs of teachers, research people, personnel workers and others in business, industry and government who have need for testing skills. It is offered at 2:10 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Class cards will be available in the education department in Minard Hall.

Stodola says that except for education majors, the course is open to any NDSU student of sophomore standing. Education students need education 215 as a prerequisite. Students can register for the course as either Education 321 or Psychology 321.

"One of the advantages of the course," Dr. Stodola says, "is that you can take part in a research project which may have influence on future teaching methods."

Another advantage of the course is that students get test results back immediately, and test booklets are returned to students so they can utilize them in preparing for future tests.

Some tutoring will be provided for students who have difficulty with the course.

Jazz Artist Will Not Appear Due To Conflicting Dates

Maynard Ferguson, jazz artist, originally scheduled for Saturday, May 9, will not appear due to a conflict resulting from the Angel Flight Formal scheduled for the same weekend.

The Angel Flight formal was scheduled last spring. Ginger Mease, HE - jr., and member of Angel Flight said they plan to have the Air Force Band play. This is the first year that the Angel Flight has held a formal dance.

Jim Vorachek, Chem-sr., and chairman of the Greek Week Committee said, "It is probably my fault for the mixup. I should have scheduled the Inter-fraternity Ball earlier but I was unaware that the Angel Flight formal would fall during Greek Week."

The I.F.C. Ball was scheduled December 10. Vorachek said that Mr. Tom Goodale, assistant in communications and faculty director to the I.F.C., and he are trying to work out some agreement with Angel Flight. "We will probably just have Greek house parties that weekend," Goodale said.

Greek week is an annual affair sponsored by the I.F.C. Council. The annual concert is preceded by a chain of events which includes a picnic, convocation, workshops and a crowning of Greek week God and Goddess. All of the fraternities and sororities take part in the festivities. Vorachek said that "the only change will be the Saturday night concert which cannot be helped, the rest of the events will take place as scheduled."
