

Administrative Group Studies Students' Protests

The Ad Hoc committee on Food and Housing Policies has been reactivated to study requests of the student protest group headed by Steve Gross, AAS-soph.

The requests were presented to North Dakota State University officials the morning of May 7 after a protest demonstration the previous evening.

Student representation on committees that plan policy that affects students, quarterly release clauses in the food and housing contracts for all students except freshman housing contracts and freedom of students over 21 years of age to choose University or private housing are the three proposals that have been turned over to the Ad Hoc committee with approval of Student Senate.

Bill Findley, student body president, said that Senate approved the requests unanimously because it believed them to be valid. "Accompanying the motion of approval was a clarifying statement that the Senate did not necessarily condone demonstrations by dissenting groups," said Findley.

He said that the demonstration showed a desire of students to improve the school. "If 1000 students risk disciplinary action, people should recognize and investigate," Findley remarked.

Findley views the case as "Students uniting for a cause, not against it," and added that students of the University owe the President and administration full cooperation without appeasement.

"Problems arise from lack of funds and necessary maneuvering to obtain needed facilities," said Findley and added that after attending recent Ad Hoc committee meetings, "Many economic facts are apparent that make the administration's decisions very acceptable."

The Ad Hoc committee has studied the requests and has decided to hold an open forum meeting in Festival Hall at 7 p.m., May 20, to give a more complete reply and explanation to the student body.

A communications breakdown between student representation and students was blamed for some of the misunderstanding because student representation on all policy committees already exists.

Regarding release clauses, the committee has formulated this statement: "For financial commitment, the University is obligated to have a general policy of annual contract; there will be no release clause. However, there are provisions for those of unusual circumstances to be released."

The reason for no release clause is that the University must provide some form of security in lieu of a mortgage when it issues bonds to obtain funds for needed construction of food and housing facilities.

The committee has approved the request to permit students over 21 years of age to choose housing other than residence halls, providing they have not already signed an annual contract.

This change of policy will be recommended to administration officials.

Over $1,000 Worth Of Undergarments Taken From Dorms

An estimated $1,000 in clothing was stolen from women's dorms last Wednesday night. Several hundred North Dakota State University students raided Weible, Dinan and Burgum Halls.

As the dormitory women turn in their losses the amount rises. Mrs. Potrafke, Weible Hall house-mother, said that $230 in losses have already been reported and more figures are coming in. According to the girls at Dinan Hall between $3-400 in clothing was stolen. Burgum Hall has no figures but the final count is estimated in the hundreds of dollars.

"We wouldn't have minded if they just took the panties," said Ann Ehlis, HE-jr., "but when they started to take girdles, slips and the more expensive items, we got pretty mad." Most items stolen were underclothing but a few dresses and suits were reported missing. Class projects, school equipment and personal items were reported to have been damaged beyond use.

Miss Ehlis added that at first the girls thought the incident was humorous, but when demonstrators began to break into rooms and steal things, the humor was quickly abandoned. She said that the majority of demonstrators appeared to be underclassmen and independents.

Some girls reported having seen Steve Gross at all dorms. Gross, supposedly the leader of the demonstrations, was said to have made several impromptu speeches as he led the demonstrators. Gross denied having anything to do with the panty raids.

Diane Cressey, AAS-fr. and Weible Hall resident, said that the girls do not expect money for their stolen goods but they need the clothes to wear. "We would appreciate it if the clothing was returned," she said. "An effort has been made to have all clothes returned but there hasn't been any yet," said Mary Askew, Pharm-fr. and Burgum Hall resident.

Some clothing has been returned, however. Karol Sue Gagstetter, AAS-jr. and Dinan Hall resident, reported that a paper bag of women's underclothing was left on Dinan's front desk. Scribbled on the bag was: "To the girl in Dinan Hall, 2nd floor, east wing, with the red bedspread."

STUDENT PROTEST LEADER Steve Gross, AAS-soph., was carried on the shoulders of eager followers during the demonstration on May 6.

Commencement And Baccalaureate Rehearsals Required For Graduates

Commencement rehearsal for all graduating students will be held Thurs., May 21 at 3:45 p.m. in Festival Hall. All candidates should meet with their college marshal at an hour and place set by him to assemble before coming to Festival Hall.

These college marshals are as follows: Agriculture, P. A. Ny-stuen; Arts and Sciences, Merritt Flynn; Chemistry, J. W. Broberg; Engineering, E. G. Anderson; Home Economics, Miss Emily Reynolds; Pharmacy, Stephen Sleight, and all graduate candidates, Clayton Haugse.

Attendance at the rehearsal, the Baccalaureate service and one of the two Commencement exercises is required of all spring term degree candidates and the candidates should contact their marshal on any questions regarding these events.

Caps and gowns for all candidates will be available at the Varsity Mart beginning May 25 and should be picked up not later than May 27. Graduate degree candidates should contact the Mart earlier if possible to make arrangements for rental of their hood which is not included in their diploma fee payment.

Again this year, the Commencement exercises are being divided into two sessions so as to better accommodate the many parents and friends expected to attend. The single Baccalaureate service will be held at 7 p.m. on Thurs., May 28. Commencement will be held Fri., May 29 at 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. The 9 a.m. exercise will include Bachelor's degree candidates in the Colleges of Arts and Sciences, Chemistry and Physics, and Pharmacy. The Commencement exercises for Bachelor's degree candidates in Agriculture, Engineering and Home Economics will be held at 2 p.m. Graduate degree candidates will attend the Commencement exercise of their respective undergraduate college.

Seating for the Baccalaureate and both Commencement exercises will be unreserved. Degree candidates may obtain graduation announcements at the Admissions and Records Office anytime prior to the exercises.

Commencement will be an unofficial ceremony and diploma inserts will be mailed to candidates following the exercises. Candidates should be certain to inform their marshal of an accurate mailing address for this purpose.

Sigma Chi To Hold Derby Day

The first annual all-campus Derby Days will be held this Saturday. Womens' dormitories, fraternities and sororities are invited to attend.

Sigma Chi members will wear derbies to classes Friday. Girls are expected to try to take these hats from the Sigma Chis. In exchange the members will leave their mark on the girls in the form of paint blotches on their slacks.

Saturday will begin with a series of games, including pie-eating contests, dec-a-pledge, chariot race, balloon shave, "Mount and Mackerel" and a mystery event. Teams will consist of students representing various organizations. Winners will be decided on a point basis: nine points for first place in an event, six points for second place and three points for third. The organization compiling the most points will receive a trophy.

Games will take place at Dakota Field starting at 2 p.m. Bill Wilson, AAS-soph. and Derby Days' chairman, warns all girls to wear old clothes on Saturday, since they can expect to be branded with the Greek letters of Sigma Chi.

A dance will be held Saturday night in the Fieldhouse. The Church Keys from Grand Forks and local hootennany groups will provide the entertainment.

The dance will be from 8-12 p.m. Cost is 50 cents per person or $1 per couple.

Trophies will be given at the dance for game winners and Derby Darling. The Derby Darling will be selected from nine girls representing the womens' dorms and sororities on campus. John Wayne, Hollywood movie star and Sigma Chi alumnus, will choose this year's Derby Darling.

Honors Convo To Be Held

North Dakota State University's 29th annual Honors Day Convocation will be held next Tuesday.

Purpose of the day is to recognize high scholastic achievement among NDSU students.

The convocation program will include an address by President H. R. Albrecht, presentation of the highest-ranking members of the various classes by Dean Glenn Smith of the graduate school and presentation of numerous scholarships and other scholastic honors.

Also presented during the program will be the annual Blue Key Doctor of Service award, given on the basis of outstanding service to the University and the Alpha Zeta agricultural teacher award.

Members of six NDSU honor societies, Alpha Lambda Delta, Blue Key, Libra, Mortar Board, Sigma Xi and Phi Kappa Phi will also be recognized at the convocation, plus those students who were chosen for mention in "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

A faculty committee comprised of Drs. Ernst Van Vlissingren and Catherine Cater as co-chairmen and Professors High Boyle, Evan Pepper and Sol Shulman, is coordinating the Honors Day Program.

The convocation will be held in NDSU's Festival Hall at 11:20 a.m.

The American Institute of Physics granted a charter to a group of nine students on April 17. The group is called the NDSU Student Section of the American Institute of Physics and has as its purpose the advancement and diffusion of the knowledge of the science of physics and its application to human welfare. Membership is open to all students who have an interest in physics.

The nine charter members are: Merle G. Wilson, president; David M. McClung, vice-president and treasurer; George S. Bakken, secretary; Li Shin Yuan; Harold Korb; Donald G. Grim; Darrel F. Strobel; Paul Swardstrom; and Stephen O. Johnson.

"Better Breakfast Week" This Week

Dr. H. R. Albrecht, president of North Dakota State University, has proclaimed the week of May 11 as "Better Breakfast Week" for the NDSU campus. This campaign for better breakfasts was started by the members of the class in Community Nutrition, (F.N. 454) instructed by Dr. Mavis Nymon, chairman of the Food and Nutrition Department.

From surveys done in the past several years, data collected indicated that the majority of students at NDSU eat poor breakfasts or no breakfasts. Nutrition authorities say that breakfast should supply 1/4 to 1/3 of the daily food allowances. An excellent breakfast including citrus fruit, an egg, 1/2 pint of milk, and toast with butter and jelly can be obtained at the Memorial Union Cafeteria for 35 cents.

Plate breakfasts, planned by the Community Nutrition students, are now offered in the cafeteria to make the students aware of the best nutrition available for money spent.

To help students become aware of the importance of good breakfasts and to understand the contributions of an excellent breakfast to good physical and mental health are the prime objectives of the class. Posters, table signs in the Union and Ceres Hall Cafeterias, hand-outs on breakfast and displays pertaining to breakfasts can be seen in many of the buildings on campus.

Class members surveyed the vending machines in the residence halls and other University buildings to check the type and amount of food which could be received from them. From these observations four recommendations have been proposed which are being directed to Mr. Bancroft, director of NDSU Food Service, for consideration. These recommendations are as follows:

1. That all residence halls have fruit juices supplied.

2. That Reed-Johnson Halls have some fruit supplied, such as apples and oranges.

3. That multi-purpose food machines, especially in the dormitories, be filled earlier (possibly by 7 a.m.) and, if possible, that they be filled twice a day.

4. That a multi-purpose machine and a milk machine be placed in Minard Hall.

ceiving bracelets were Jan Dunlop, Alpha Gamma Delta; Mary Kay Groth, Gamma Phi Beta; Kris Callenbach, Kappa Alpha Theta; Patty Bernd, Kappa Delta; Karen Dietrich, Kappa Kappa Kamma; Bonnie Brekke, Phi Mu; and Carol Gilbert, independent.

We'd like to say some nice things about America's young adult drivers

And we think we've got good reason! Last January, we selected twenty 18- and 19-year-old young men and women through the Junior Achievement program to drive our team of Chevrolets in the Mobil Economy Run, April 3-9. It was the first time any company had relied entirely on drivers with limited experience in this exacting competition.

We brought these young adults—most of them college students, some from the business world—to Arcadia, California, in late February. For six weeks, our expert teachers trained them in the skills of economy driving.

Then, on April 3, they set off on the Run, 3,243 miles from Los Angeles to New York.

We were going against the grain. It takes high proficiency to win the Mobil Economy Run. Competition is tough. Why did we rely on drivers with such limited experience?

Chevrolet wanted to give the Chevy Teen Team a chance to prove in front of the nation that they and the 6.5 million licensed drivers in their age bracket are safe, sane people behind the wheel. We felt the Run offered a splendid chance.

The Corvair, Chevy IIs, Chevelles and Chevrolets driven by the Chevy Teen

Team in the Mobil Economy Run did remarkably well compared with the class winners in overall miles-per-gallon figures. The final results are a tribute to the high degree of driving skill displayed by the Chevy Teen Team representing the youth of America.

No wonder we're proud of America's young adult drivers. We couldn't have a better reason.

Group Honors Shakespeare

James Glynn

In honor of William Shakespeare's birthday the Unicorn Guild, a local amateur group of actors and singers, presented Moliere's three-act farce Scapin. It was presented May 1, 2, and 3 in the St. Paul Newman Center's hall.

In the play, Scapin is a wheeler-dealer who agrees to guide his masters son and the young man's friend out of their calamity. Both young men have fallen in love with and plan to marry girls who have not been approved by their miserly fathers, who are away on business.

The fathers' return several months earlier than they are expected, they hear their sons' plans, and they threaten to disown them.

The sons are caught between their complete dependence on their fathers' money and their love for their girls.

Into this serious situation steps the cunning Scapin. By his clever antics he obtains the needed money from the slow-witted fathers for the boys. The fathers soon discover that they have been tricked, but along with this discovery they find that their sons have both fallen in love with the misplaced daughter of the other family. With this action, both fathers gladly approve of the marriages of their sons and daughters.

All the family problems are solved, and only one small detail mars the gaiety for the planned celebration; both fathers are intent on having Scapin hanged for tricking them. At this point Scapin is brought in on a stretcher, with his head bound as if on the point of death. He begs forgiveness, which he obtains; whereupon he jumps from the stretcher to join the banquets.

To this confusing plot of misplaced characters and mixed-up families, the Unicorn Guild players added such modern props as a golf club, a wheelchair, and switchblade plus a great amount of good acting talent. The result was a variety of good humor.

On The Social Scene

Frank Bernhoff

At last it can be safely said—picnic weather is here to stay! I was inspired recently listening to a cohort reminisce about many memorable picnics that he's enjoyed while attending NDSU. He believed that nature prompted him to join the crowds journeying to the parks. He heard the singing birds, listened to the quietly-chirping crickets and watched the leaves mysteriously budding.

After being entertained at the park, nature would again return to rest him further. He heard the BARKING birds, the quietly BUD-DING crickets, and the CHIRPING dogs

But enough trivia.
Spring Sing

Those judging last week's Spring Sing were definitely displeased with some of the entertainment, namely the fraternity skits. We can only agree that some of the skits were in rather bad taste.

Webster defines a skit as "a short piece of satirical or humorous writing; a comic theatrical sketch, as in a revue." If we were to become technical, it would then seem that really all of the men's skits were acceptable according to the definition. A skit is still a legitimate skit even if it verges on poor taste. However, satires on a capital offense, virility, etc., should be barred to give the judges a better impression of the Greek organization which they will pass on to the community. Let's seek an improvement in quality for next year.

We agree that the trophy for fraternity skits should not have been awarded.

Kappa Psi and Kappa Kappa Gamma received plaques at the IFC Ball for winning their respective divisions.

Sigma Chi Derby Day

Derby Day will be campus-wide for the first time. Greeks and dorm residents will be encouraged to enter the action planned for Sat., May 16.

Dacotah Field will host the activity on Saturday which includes a balloon shaving contest, a derby hunt and a mystery event for the coeds. The men will compete in a tug-of-war, a keg put, pie eating contest, and also a mystery event.

There's a hootennany in the Fieldhouse Saturday evening followed by a dance.

Derby Day Candidates

John Wayne, a Sigma Chi alum, will receive information and pictures of the candidates for Derby Darling and will choose from the following coeds: Bunny Charlson, Weible; Ann Ehlis, Dinan; Mary Lou Darkenwald, Burgum; JoCarol Brand, AGD; Georglyn Lamphier, Gamma Phi; Lois Schlicting, KD; Sara Gallagher, KKG; Elsie Schlenk, Phi Mu; and Kathy Keogh, Kappa Alpha Theta.

Zoology Professor Gets Assistantship

Orrie Stenroos, instructor of zoology, recently received a teaching assistantship at Florida State University at Tallahassee, Florida.

His assistantship amounts to $2,400 for ten months teaching in addition to getting tuition waived, approximately $130 per trimester.

Stenroos obtained his Bachelor of Arts Degree from the University of Minnesota, Duluth branch. He got his Master of Science Degree at North Dakota State University under the direction of Dr. Irwin Goldberg, assistant professor of zoology at that time. Stenroos did his work at NDSU under a teaching assistantship and his thesis was on "Protein, Lipoprotein, and Glycoprotein Separation by Paper Electrophoresis and Colorimetric and Gravimetric Total Protein Estimation of the Serum of Rana Pipiens."

Gross' Cross-Campus March Was Not The Right Answer

Our sheltered bubble has been broken.

Last Wednesday Steve Gross, organizer of a protest group, led his followers on a march across the campus in much the same manner as protest groups across the country have done.

They were protesting to the administration; and in particular, to President H. R. Albrecht, in response to the new rules concerning contract feeding and freshmen living on campus. This same issue was protested by Greek students several weeks ago, with the administration and the Inter-fraternity Council arriving at a compromise.

However, there were many Greeks in the protest group who fell for Gross' line that the fraternities hadn't really gotten anything at all. They eagerly joined with the independents in voicing their disapproval of the administration.

The student body president, Bill Findley, rallied behind Gross' three-point demand (somewhat changed from the first demands he asked for from the administration) and called a special Senate meeting last Thursday night.

Senators made a point of noting that they did not support Gross' demonstration, but instead, they were only agreeing with his three-point demand.

Although it is encouraging to note that the student government on this campus has finally voiced the opinion of the student body, we criticize its manner.

Gross, if he has any convictions in his idea, and if he is not leading this demonstration for the purpose of building up Steve Gross, should have gone to Student Senate before he organized his group.

At that time, if Findley had believed in Gross' sincerity, he could have urged Senate to support it.

Of course, a person must be realistic and remember that this ideal approach wouldn't have worked. A week ago Gross didn't have his "finished" three-point demand drawn up; therefore he couldn't have presented it to Senate before the demonstration.

We are also wondering why a student like Gross, who is from Fargo, has never lived in a dormitory, and will not be affected one way or another by the new rules, should be the leader of the demonstration. We doubt the sincerity of his motives.

If President Albrecht had any inclination to allow students a quarter system of signing for residence halls, he has probably forgotten it.

The only results of the demonstration have been a "panty raid;" one student in the hospital destined to carry scars on his face for the rest of his life because he followed a mob and ran through a window, mixed reaction from people across the state; and, if some of the administration predictors are right, fewer incoming freshmen next year.

The Greek students who took part in the demonstration can think about this, because their compromise for students to feed comes only from the holdover area; the fewer students there, the less they will get.

We strongly doubt that a demonstration is the right answer.

E.J.S.

Lack Of Communications Results In Campus Problems

The majority of student-administrations misunderstanding arises from a lack of communication.

For the last three years, since the arrival of Dr. H. R. Albrecht from Penn State, this comment has been circulating among students, faculty and members of the administration. No one is absolutely certain of what the President will do next.

We believe Dr. Albrecht has been an asset to NDSU and to North Dakota. He came to a stagnant campus. He was faced with the problems of the old administration and the job of making changes. He has improved this University, but his methods may be a little drastic.

It doesn't make good relations within a college community to make decisions affecting students, faculty and administration if these groups believe the wool is being pulled over their eyes. Before introducing a change they must be informed of its necessity and the manner of its development.

Dr. Albrecht seems to have failed to do this. He announced the new plan of having freshmen live on campus more than a month after the contracts were drawn up. We see no reason for the delay in informing the students. If this had been done, earlier, we believe that a demonstration would not have resulted.

We believe that students are more than willing to go along with the administration's plans for growth, as long as they do not think they are being slighted in the process.

All it would take to ease hard feelings is an improvement in communications between the administration and the students. E.J.S.

Albrecht Commends All Sharivar Participants

To the Students and Faculty of NDSU:

The past two weekends gave tangible evidence of the dedication of students and faculty towards the building of a greater North Dakota State University.

The success of Sharivar 1964 and of Band Day sprang from the creativity, energies and willingness of hundreds of students and faculty members. Thousands now know NDSU better as a University of consequence academically and research-wise. Thousands now know that through cooperative effort we can also build better Sharivars, stage more successful Blue Key productions, and conduct more meaningful Greek Weeks. All who participated helped to demonstrate publicly that we have at NDSU the two essential ingredients without which no university can hope to gain eminence - an exceptional faculty and an exceptional student body.

The "U" in NDSU is larger because you helped.

President H. R. Albrecht

Letter to the Editor . . .

Instructor Calls Students Apathetic; They Live In An "Intellectual Ghetto"

To the editor:

A situation on this campus has prompted me to write my first letter to a newspaper. I wish to comment on a sub-species of the ever-popular topic "apathy." I have no quarrel with the "suit-case student" who has graced the pages of the Spectrum for the past few years. His week-ends are, I believe, his own responsibility. My polemic is directed rather to the "non-involved student" who seems determined to spend his or her school week in avoiding discourse, ideas, or, in fact, any activity that might be construed as intellectual exercise.

The lack of involvement that I speak of might be illustrated in several ways; to spare the type-setter I will take my examples from only one area of the campus community - the student religious programs. More specifically, I would like to comment on the lack of participation by students (and to a lesser degree, by faculty members) in the weekly coffee hours sponsored by the UCCF-SEA and the campus 'Y.' In explicating this problem, we are by no means restricted to these examples - there are many others that would serve equally well.

Each week, qualified, articulate and provocative speakers are on hand to present meaningful and thought-stimulating programs. Almost without exception, these programs are not attended by more than one or two students. In fact, those attending are usually 'regulars' and total attendance rarely exceeds 0.3 per cent of the campus population. This is, in my opinion, a deplorable situation! Deplorable because it is insulting to the speaker, frustrating to the program director and most importantly, it indicates that the vast majority of the student body is either ignorant of, or oblivious to, the purposes of a University.

The University is committed to the pursuit and dissemination of truth and is charged with the responsibility of producing students who can think. Appended to these responsibilities are the functions of professional preparation, leadership training, service work, the communication of information beyond the campus and a host of others. To imagine that one can emerge from the college campus after four years with a sheepskin clutched in his hot little hand, without committing himself beyond compulsory attendance in a series of classrooms, is an abysmal absurdity. Listening to the required lecture and reading the textbook assignment is not, by itself, education. The educational process - the thinking process - takes place to a great extent after one leaves the classroom, not in it.

To live in an intellectual ghetto, isolated from new ideas and experiences, is to deny the possibility for such a process to take place.

This loudly-registered complaint is, of necessity, superficial; we are dealing with but one symptom of a contemporary disease. In fact, this, I suppose, is what is troubling me most. The current breed of collegian, if we can believe the reports received from other college campuses, refuses to become involved (and hence identified with a position).

Even more disturbing is the evidence that middle-class America is infected with the same malady. The mass exodus to the suburbs by the rising middle-class is surely a related phenomenon. I assure you that I have no particular animosity for split-level ranch homes, or barbecue pits, or even that venerable institution known as the commuter train. What I do object to is the "suburban mentality" of our times that seeks to solve the problems of the world by fleeing from them.

Surely there is a relationship between suburbia and the current campus situation - a relationship that demands attention, study, and hopefully (from my viewpoint) - correction.

Cornell Students Register Gripes In All-University Questionnaire

(I.P.)—A large group of Cornell University students recently had a golden opportunity to gripe where it counts. Some 2000 students were invited to fill out a questionnaire concerning their attitudes and opinions toward their undergraduate experience when they registered for the spring semester.

Results of this random sampling, taken of students from all areas of the undergraduate program, will be tabulated and evaluated with a view toward improving the entire undergraduate program on this campus.

The questionnaire has been pre-tested to improve the quality of the questions and the range of topics used. It takes approximately one hour to complete. Early results based on the pre-testing seem to indicate that students feel the need for closer contact between faculty members and students.

In commenting upon the questionnaire, which was prepared under the direction of the Student Alumni Leadership Committee of the Cornell Council, John Summer-skill, vice president for student affairs, said, "Each of the 2000 students who answer the questionnaire will be making a significant contribution to future planning. In a real sense," he said, "each will play an active role in the formulation of the undergraduate program for succeeding generations of Cornell students."

Included in the "opinionnaire" are questions concerned with student opinions on the general academic program, special academic programs, relationship between students and faculty and other staff, participation in the Cornell community, extra-curricular activities, housing, leisure time activities, fraternities and sororities, and the general student attitude toward the University and its program.

It is anticipated that the findings of the study, some of which will be tabulated as early as the fall of 1964, will be of interest to many groups. Results will be widely disseminated when they become available.

Gross Leads Student Demonstration

Steve Gross, AAS-soph., (1) organized and led a crowd of about 300 students on march, May 6, protesting the administration's new ruling concerning contract feeding and housing.

Starting at 5:00 on the NDSU mall, Gross and some followers carrying picket signs marched to the Administration building where they paraded in protest. Shortly thereafter Gross, standing on the steps in the letterman's jacket, gathered his followers around him. (3)

The crowd, increasing in size, moved to Dr. H. R. Albrecht's home and on to University Drive. Arriving at the corner of University and 12th Avenue, Gross had demonstrators sit down blocking the heavy 5:00 traffic.

The group then swarmed to the Memorial Union on campus where they found President Albrecht addressing a Sharivar banquet.

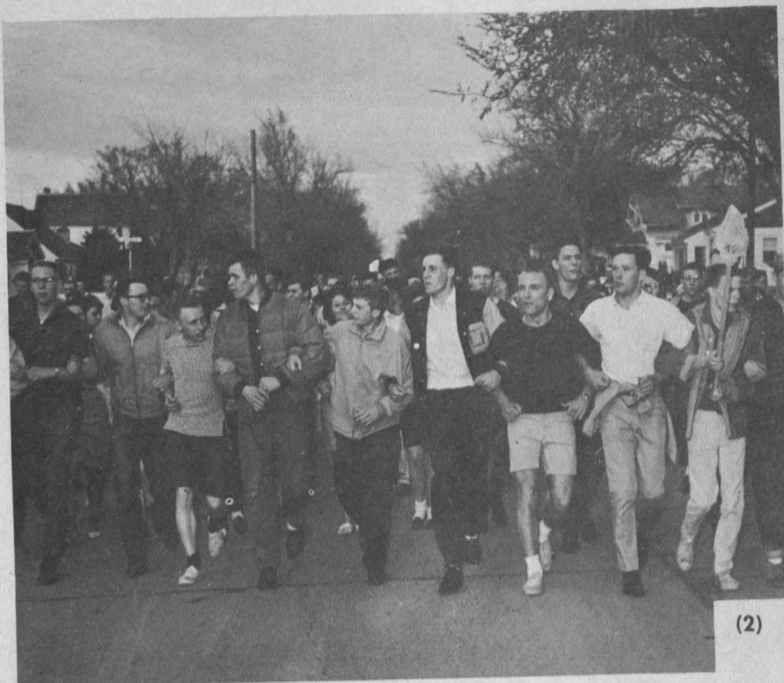

They left the Union, stopping to turn on a fire hydrant in front of the building before marching to the North Complex. One sign, (4) carried by a student read "He came from Penn State to make this a state Penn."

Leaving the residence halls the students, led by Gross (2) started downtown. Marching along Broadway they turned off this street heading for the WDAY television station (5) where they staged another sitdown, asking to be put on television.

From there Gross led the students back to campus where they met at Albrecht's home again. The demonstration broke up at about 7:30 only to be followed by less formal ones.

Scientist Describes Antarctic

A public lecture was presented last Monday, May 4, by Dr. Campbell Craddock, the 4th annual visiting geoscientist sponsored by the North Dakota State University geology department.

Craddock, a University of Minnesota geologist and expert of Antarctic, presented his ideas to an audience of about 50 people. His topic was "Antarctic, a Geological Frontier."

Among the ideas presented by Craddock was the one of "continental drift." This theory assumes that the southern continents were at one time together and drifted apart. The rocks and structure of the southern continents support this theory. Craddock hopes to discover more proof of this in Antarctic.

Also discovered in the rocks of Antarctic were fossil representatives of ancient plants and animals. From these fossils, it is possible to date the rock structures and formations.

Dr. Craddock pointed out that during the last few years many things have been discovered about Antarctic. It was during the National Geophysical Year that interest was first generated in Antarctic. The research of the recent years has been a carry-over of the research of the past. As Craddock pointed out, there is much to be done yet in all areas. He stated that the geologists of his party found it necessary to make maps of the area because of the lack of knowledge of the area.

During his lecture, Dr. Craddock showed slides of the things they discovered and the phenomena they observed. His research was sponsored by the University of Minnesota.

IRC Sponsors Freedom Week

A Freedom Week sponsored by the Inter-Religious Counsel will be held May 11-17.

The IRC has decided to sponsor the week because of the widespread interest in civil rights and to take part in the nation-wide Freedom Week taking place on many college and University campuses.

The Freedom Week project has three main goals: to inform NDSU students about civil rights, to raise funds for the Mississippi Summer Project and to carry out a mass letter writing campaign to President Lyndon B. Johnson asking protection for the teachers and students taking part in the summer project.

The first goal will be accomplished by having a discussion May 14 at 8 p.m. in the Memorial Union ballroom with people who have studied the Civil Rights Bill that is now before Congress. Speakers, both for and against, will be present.

The second goal is fund raising for the Mississippi Summer Project. The MSP is a project sponsored by the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee. They are asking for 1,000 volunteers to work in Mississippi this summer. Their effort is concentrated on voter registration, freedom schools and a law project.

The voter registration project will involve contacting the Negroes and getting them registered. The freedom schools are being set up to compensate for the poor education afforded the Negro in Mississippi. The law project involves the study of state and city laws that they feel are illegal, in hope of testing them in court.

The third goal for Freedom Week will be the letter writing campaign to President Johnson. This is necessitated because of the killing of eight Negroes and the beating of many others for taking part in the Freedom Movement.

Cadets Tour Bases

A group of Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps cadets from North Dakota State University made a spur-of-the-moment trip to Nebraska and Texas May 1 to tour Air Force installations.

Capt. Eugene Hegland, a member of the AFROTC teaching staff who accompanied the cadets, explained that trips are dependent on the availability of aircraft and are made on a strictly voluntary basis.

The group spent 1½ hours touring Offutt Air Force Base near Omaha on Friday, where they viewed a museum collection of famous aircraft including the B-17, B-29, B-25, B-47, and KC-97.

Arriving at Carswell Air Force Base, near Ft. Worth, Tex., they toured the base and were briefed on operations of the B-58 Hustler aircraft. They spent the night in Fort Worth and returned to Fargo on Saturday.

Cadets making the trip were Jerome Buckey, Brian Canestrari, Neil Henn, Darrell Tuntland, Donald Herbster, Lionel Johnson, Richard Kaercher, Donald McNulty, Gary Reddig, Gaylon Swanson, Larry Wilkinson, Joseph Busek, John Gebhardt, Ronald Hall, Roger Klask, Gerald Mitchell, James Klusman, John Pluth and Paul Randall.

DIRECTING one-act plays as a final class project are these three NDSU coeds, Judee Perkins, Raetta Hankel and Patricia Lenihan. They are pictured on the Western Night set.

Coeds To Direct Plays As Part Of Class Project

As a final project for a class in directing, four North Dakota State University coeds will direct four one-act plays on May 14, 15 and 16.

The four plays are "Western Night," directed by Judee Perkins, AAS-jr.; "The Old Grad," directed by Linda Trautman, AAS-jr.; "From Paradise to Butte," directed by Patricia Lenihan, AAS-sr.; and "The Return," directed by Raetta Hankel, AAS-jr.

Three other class members are directing plays at Moorhead High School. They are Ellen Stanton, AAS-jr., Sue Soland, AAS-jr., and Mrs. Kay Payne.

Writer of the four western plays is Robert Finch, formerly of Dillon, Montana. He was raised on a cattle ranch near Dillon and attended the University of Montana where he became interested in the theatre. While at the Yale drama school he was a classmate of Elia Kazan and Van Heflin.

Tickets for the plays are 75 cents and can be purchased in the Little Country Theatre office in Old Main. The first play starts at 8:15 p.m. in the Circle-T Theatre.

Airheart Smashes Records

Outstanding dashman Bruce Airheart of North Dakota State University smashed two records in the Bemidji intercollegiate invitational track and field meet held at Bemidji Friday. NDSU was fourth in team standings behind winning Mankato, Aberdeen Northern, and St. Cloud.

Airheart sped to a time of 20.9

in the 220 yard dash clipping a full second off the old record time. He reeled off a record time of 47.5 in the 440, beating the previous record of 50.7 by over three seconds.

Bison who placed in the meet include: Tom Holmgren in the shot put, Lanny Oxton in the hop-step-jump and in the broad jump, Roger Grooters in the mile and in the half-mile, Gary Ness in the half-mile, Chuck Offerdahl in the three-mile and the mile relay team.

Other records set during the meet include a 1:31.8 time for UND's 880 relay team. Bemidji's John Kopari in high hurdles, Mankato's Ed Roepke in the 440 hurdles, Aberdeen's Jerry Schlekeway in the shot put Mankato's Robert McAlpine in the pole vault Aberdeen's Barry Erickson in the broad jump and Bob Bower in the mile run.

Baseball Team Loses Thriller

The faltering Bison baseball team dropped an extra inning thriller to Bemidji State College at Bemidji Friday. The Beavers winning run came on a bases-loaded single with two out in the twelfth. The winning hit ended a fine pitchers duel between North Dakota State University's Wayne Haberlach and Bemidji's Mike Gerbich. Haberlach had 11 strikeouts.

Conference play will resume this week.

Oxton Helps Track Team

"Lanny Oxton is the most methodical person on the squad. He is one of our better performers," said Coach Tom Neuberger.

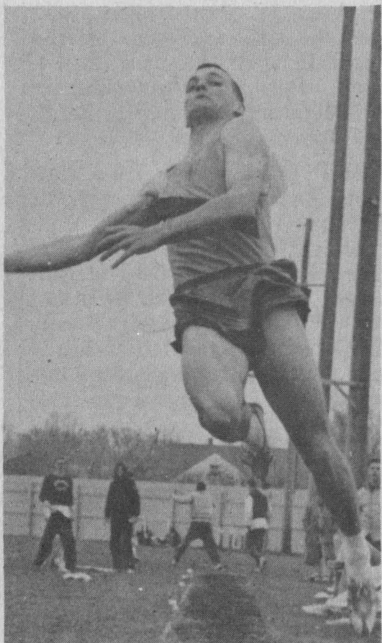

While at Jamestown high school, Oxton lettered twice in track and basketball and once in cross-country.

As a freshman Oxton set two records. He jumped 20' 8 1/2" in the broad-jump and 41' 5" in the hop-step and jump.

This season as a sophomore, Oxton has won five first places and eight second-places for the Bison.

This is the first year that Oxton has run the hurdles. He ran the 440 intermediate hurdles in 57.8 seconds and the 60 yard indoor lows in 7.4 seconds.

Oxton considers the broad-jump his speciality. His best jump this year has been 22' 1/2". He feels that he could break the school record in the broad-jump if he lost ten pounds and gained two-tenths of a second on his 100-yard dash time.

The hop-step and jump record is another of Oxton's goals. So far this year his best jump has been 52'6". "I hope that I can break the school record in the hop-step and jump either this year or next," commented Oxton.

Oxton says that his biggest thrill came when he broke the broad-jump record at the Jamestown Relays this year. The old record was 21'5" and Oxton's new record is 21'10 1/2".

Bison Win On Western Tour Twice

Bison golf team won two out of three dual matches and placed 18 out of 23 schools in the Pikes Peak Invitational before returning home on Saturday.

Ed Anderson of NDSU won medalist honors with a 73, as the Bison defeated the University of Wyoming 15 1/2-5 1/2.

The match with Colorado State College was called off until the Pikes Peak Invitational where the two schools matched cards for the first 18 holes. The Bison won the first 18 holes 4-1.

At the University of Colorado the Herd lost 17 1/2-3 1/2.

Bison Lose Four

North Dakota State's tennis team dropped four dual matches on their Western trip.

The Bison lost to the University of Wyoming 7-0, Colorado State University 5 1/2-1 1/2, the University of Colorado 7-0 and to Denver University 7-0.

NDSU and UND will be co-favorites in Friday's North Central Conference meet at Grand Forks.

THE 1964 BASEBALL TEAM meets conference leaders Morningside this weekend. The Bison team has a .181 batting average and a fielding average of .897, the lowest in the conference.

Leavens Levels

by Lynn Leavens

The moment of truth arrives this weekend in the North Central Conference. Both the golfers and the tennis players have their annual conference meet at Grand Forks.

North Dakota State University must go into these meets rated no lower than co-favorites to cop the conference crown.

Track - Coach Tom Neuberger takes his troops to the conference championships this weekend. Unlike the golf and tennis teams, the NCC meet does not end the season for the track boys.

Some individuals are getting close to their top form and NDSU will be well represented at the conference meet. Bruce Airheart, Lanny Oxtan, Gary Ness and Roger Grooters are nearing their peaks. They will pick up a few points for SU, but we haven't enough depth to win.

University of South Dakota and the University of North Dakota both have two of their star track performers out with injuries.

Football - Representatives from seven professional football teams viewed Bison spring football drills just completed. The Canadian Football League will be forced in the future to look much more closely at the players in the NCC. They are having trouble competing with the National Football League and the American Football League for the big name stars.

Baseball - NDSU's chances seem to have gone out the window. League-leading Morningside puts their undefeated record in NCC play on the line this week when they meet the Bison here.

We feel that Morningside will have little trouble keeping their undefeated record intact. In fact, if Morningside increases their win-loss record to 8-0 as we expect, they just about have the NCC crown in the bag. Morningside would then only need a split in their last conference doubleheader.

Coach Vern McKee seems to be doing a good job with the talent available, but you can't win all your games with just the pitching staff.

The Bison team batting average in North Central Conference play has dropped to a lowly .181 and we expect it is even lower if all games were taken into account. The team fielding average is the lowest in the conference at .897.

Tennis - Dave Nammar, last years singles champion, leads his mates into this weekend's conference title tilt. Nammar should repeat.

Pat McDonald and Mike Yahna could also get very tough in the doubles, if they get hot.

State College of Iowa will be tough. The Panthers and the Bison go into the conference battle as co-favorites.

Golf - Coach Erv Kaiser takes his linkmen to Grand Forks this weekend to regain the conference crown that they lost last year to UND.

The Bison and the Sioux have to be rated as co-favorites—the Bison because they have a well-balanced squad and they seem to like the Sioux's home course; the Sioux because they have a strong powerful squad and they are defending champs.

Arnuod Campus: Jim Driscoll, co-captain of the '63 edition of the thundering herd, will be teaching and coaching at St. James of Grand Forks this coming school year.

Freshman athletes Lowell Linderman, Vance Connors, Ron Evenson, Dick and Bob Sciacca are showing their versatility these days. They are competing in two or three sports.

The Bison frosh baseball players wind up their season May 15 at UND with a doubleheader against the Sioux yearlings. Both games will be seven innings.

Bison outfielder Jerry Rivinius is fourth in the NCC statistics in total RBI's so far this year.

Bison hurler Wayne Haberlach has pitched more innings than any other pitcher in the conference after six games. He is also second in strike-outs behind SCT's Tom Simpson.

Closing Notes: Tom Simpson and Duane Josephson, SCT's ace battery, had a hand in all the individual statistics categories in NCC baseball play-through last Saturday.

Bison Prepare

Members of North Dakota State's golf and tennis teams are hard at work this week in preparation for the conference meet at Grand Forks on Friday.

The five-man golf team of Ed Anderson, Bob Cram, Bob Dahm, Ed Fitzgerald and Mark Mathison will likely go into Friday's North Central Conference Meet as co-favorites with the University of North Dakota.

The five lettermen on NDSU's tennis team will give favored State College of Iowa a battle for the conference crown. The lettermen will be led by last year's singles conference champion Dave Nammar.

Assistant Named

Douglas Palmer, a 1959 graduate of the University of North Dakota, has been named assistant basketball coach at North Dakota State University.

The announcement was made today by Darrell E. Mudra, director of athletics at NDSU.

In 1956 Palmer entered UND and played three years for former Sioux cage mentor Louie Bogan.

Following his graduation in 1959, he took a coaching position at Bowman, N. D. He moved to Lisbon, N. D., as head basketball coach in 1961 and in 1963 accepted a graduate assistantship in the department of mathematics at NDSU. His Lisbon teams won 35 and lost 12 under his tutelage.

While working on his advanced degree this past year, he served as assistant to head Basketball Coach Chuck Bentson. "I'm extremely happy to have Doug," related Bentson. "His qualifications and interest in building a good basketball program at NDSU are just what we need." This is the first fulltime assistant coach Bentson has had in his 16 years at SU. Previously the post has been held by graduate students.
