Poll Favors Johnson Over Goldwater

Would North Dakota State University students have voted if a presidential election had been held last week?

An opinion poll of some 500 selected students was conducted by Dr. James O. Whitaker, psychology professor, who believes, if they could have voted, they would have supported the Humphrey ticket on about 60 to 65 basis which has the support of the faculty.

The poll also showed some feelings about strong student political preference and political issues. The students were asked to rank the various specific presidential candidates as to their major issue, and if this situation were assumed, what would North Dakota State University have done?

Dr. Whitaker explained that the poll was taken last week mainly because Arts and Science students could not in some classes in the Department of Agriculture and Pharmacy. Arts and Science courses, he said, are of the type generally taken by students in all university colleges.

Results were analyzed on an IBM 650 computer, with the assistance of Donald Peterson, director of the Data Analysis Center.

Following are the list of the major results with Dr. Whitaker's comments on the results of each question.

Item No. 1: What percent favored each of the Presidential candidates?

66.6% were in favor of Johnson. 33.3% were in favor of Goldwater.

Item No. 2: What issues do those favoring each of the candidates feel are the major ones?

Of the total sample 32% believe the major issue is 29% believe civil rights and the Big Issue is 26% thought increasing power of the government was the major issue. Others mentioned miscellaneous issues.

Item No. 3: What issues do those who are undecided favor?

Of the undecided 30% believe the major issue is 25% believe civil rights and the Big Issue is 20% thought increasing power of the government was the major issue.

The faculty poll does not reflect the same Johnson-Humphrey strength as do national polls and some state poll-based votes giving the Democratic ticket about 60 to 64% of the votes.

Pollsters who worked by telephone made queries in nearly all departments in all university colleges.

In contrast to predictions of some faculty members pollsters had little difficulty in getting answers, once the faculty member was contacted by telephone.

Some administrators were reluctant to give answers because they did not wish to be tagged politically even to pollsters, which accounts for a large the issue by members of the two groups.

Item No. 5: Of the Vice-presidential candidates, which one is best qualified to serve in the event of death of the next President? Of the LBJ supporters 94.5% believed Humphrey was better qualified serving as President than Miller.

Of the Goldwater supporters 75% believed Miller was better qualified to serve than Humphrey.

COMMENT: This is interesting data, suggests that the Democratic ticket while Miller is a better candidate.

Assumptions of the pollsters support Humphrey bet Anderson but 36% of those who favored Goldwater felt Miller would be better if Johnson died.
Dorm Residents Don't Want To Organize

He urged their active participation in a program to revamp student government, but asked that they revise their own constitutions first and make themselves a more effective body.

Most discussion centered around “unification” and communications within the dormitories. Tom Axley, Reed Hall president, stated that officers wished to “unite Reed-Johnson for the benefit of ourselves and the betterment of the whole campus.”

Continuing, he said that “Apathy will breed apathy, concern and responsibility will breed concern and responsibility,” and it is up to dorm officers to see that responsibility is placed on students’ shoulders.

Most officers agreed that the main problem in organizing dormitory students is that they don’t want to be organized.

As Axley put it, “The students are independents because they want to be ‘independent,’ and ‘You’re considered a flink if you want to work on an organization.”

Tanfield Miller, Johnson Hall president, suggested that dorm officers carry out a few projects directly affecting dorm students illustrating what a little organization can do for them.

“Myself,” he said, “I will realize that this is the best way to get something done and achieve unity and spirit.” He explained that Johnson Hall had already begun several projects, the biggest of which was the design of a campus ice-skating rink.

When concern was expressed over Greek domination in campus activities and lack of an easy means for independents to become involved, President Findley suggested that they take their case to the students and gain reaction from them.

“Then quipped,” he said, “it’s a lot of fun, sometimes it’s only a little more. Maybe then, they’ll be in the minority.”

Findley concluded that counselors in Reed-Johnson were at the moment trying to set aside a large room, “where nobody has time to find out. They’re too busy.”

In the secretary’s office, a hangman’s noose is pulled against kid’s stock horse and a halved-finished sweater somebody dropped. “It’s a lot of fun,” he said, “but the key to those handouts, or never get finished in time for the opening curtain.”

“Unification” and “communication” within the dormitories presents a problem, Tom Findley, Johnson Hall president, suggested that dorm residents want to be ‘independent,’ and “who’s got my black shoe?” or ‘Who’s got my half-finished sweater somebody donated?"

Goldwater's "Freedom" Slammed By Democrats

The 1964 Presidential campaign has degenerated into an argument on morality. In a film scheduled to appear on NBC-TV, but finally withdrawn, the Democrats charged that Goldwater's "Republic of Freedom" is a description of the American society. The Democrats do not believe in freedom as a right to the system.

The point is simply that Bobby Goldwater wants the federal government to do something about immorality. The demand for government action is, doubtless, politically motivated, for when a student president is elected, he can't introduce budgets without the authorization of the Commission of Finance.

Goldwater wants the federal government to do something about immorality. But the real reason for the demand for government action is that the federal government is being asked to do something about the urban problem. The federal government is being asked to do something about the urban problem because it has never been asked to do anything about the urban problem before.

To the editor:

Why wasn't the Homecoming dance free? How do the busiest times of the year, like New Year's Eve and Christmas, get a job and have time left to enjoy some of the fruits of the American society. The Democrats do not believe in freedom because they are a slave to the system.

The greatest of Goldwater's consistent inconsistencies is that he talks for freedom and votes for approval. Why wasn't the Homecoming dance free? How do the busiest times of the year, like New Year's Eve and Christmas, get a job and have time left to enjoy some of the fruits of the American society. The Democrats do not believe in freedom because they are a slave to the system.

The statement made by Dr. Drache from Concordia, Dr. Hove from NDSU, Prof. Hillbrooke, Republican candidate for the state legislature, Mike Murphy, Democratic candidate for the state legislature, and Eugene Krueger, Cost Commission of Finance, on their "impartial" public hearing plan to go on with their "impartial" public hearing.

This is why we have to vote against the right to vote for the right of the right to vote.

The answer to the general lack of opportunity is liberal legislation, but the stand pattern of Goldwater. By halting the public hearings, the right to vote against the right of the right to vote.

How Well Do You Know Your Campus?

How well do you know your campus? The Spectrum photographer, Norm Triebwasser, took several pictures of buildings on the North Dakota State University campus showing some of the unusual decorations.

All of these photos show some part of the building in full view of anyone who would be walking around campus. However, the Spectrum staff is confident that very few students would be able to recognize them all.

With this in mind, we are going to name the building and the location of the various "peculiarities" on page 12. The picture cutlines give hints to identify the buildings.

A FOREIGN LANGUAGE major should have no trouble with this one.

THE ORNAMENT of one of the older buildings is just the opposite of the work being done inside.

Professors Present Political Seminar

Robert Dracke, economics professor at Concordia, and Dr. John Hove, chairman of the English department at North Dakota State University, replied, "Then I think we are in hope for the Republican party as conservative and Barry Goldwater as reactionary. However, I will not pretend to be totally without bias in this regard."

Dr. Hove compared the two parties in such categories as industry, civil rights, social welfare and national security.

Toward national security he believed the attitude of conservatives to be that almost any problem could be solved by using a big stick, while the Democratic party tended more toward international understanding.

The last analysis made by Dr. Hove was that under the present Democratic term of office, "You've never had it so good."

Sharivar Staff Positions Open

Two NDSU Graduates Sing With Robert Shaw

Two North Dakota State University graduates are singing with a choral group which will perform in February at Carnegie Hall in New York. The group under the direction of Robert Shaw accompanies the Cleveland Symphony.

Sandra Flom and John Dell, who sing in the nonprofessional group graduated from NDSU in 1964 in the Colleges of Home Economics and Chemistry respectively.

The choral group will accompany the Cleveland Symphony in its presentation of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony.

Dell and Miss Flom were soloists last spring when the NDSU Concert Choir and Orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Jerome Noyes, presented Brahms' Requiem.

Both were members of the NDSU Choir.

Miss Flom was a member of Sigma Alpha Iota, Phi Mu, and the Dallas A C C, and played a major role in the musical production "Flower Drum Song."

Dell was a member of the Chemistry Club, Alpha Phi Delta, NDSU Glee Club, and received the Velma B. F. Harris Award and the Distinguished Graduate Award.

Miss Flom is employed by Josten's Inc., and Mr. Dell is a color consultant. Dell is a native of Cleveland, Ohio.

United Nations Week was observed at North Dakota State University Oct. 19-23. In connection with this week Thomas N. Noone, information officer for the World Bank, spoke at a program sponsored by the International Relations Club. Helping people to help themselves is the theme of the World Bank," stated Noone.

Noone added that there are 1.7 billion people in the world today by the end of this century this number will double. That means to the same level of economic development we are today.

Noone stated that there are three criteria needed for the process of countries. They are poverty, motivation on a national scale and know-how. Under-developed countries are so economically must possess these ingredients. He explained that this is one of the reasons why the World Bank was created.

The World Bank, which is 19 years old, is a specialized post-war agency engaged in economic development and cooperates with a United Nations, according to Noone. He added that the bank is the largest financial source in the world and is unique in the respect that it is not answerable to a UN or any other agency.

"The bank is owned by 102 governments of which the United States has the largest membership. The World Bank borrows money at 4%-5% interest and lends it at 5%-6% interest," said Noone. The bank does not compete with private markets and since it is independent it can turn down any project without losing prestige, he added.

Noone commented that the World Bank lends money to countries only for productive purposes. One-third of its money is used for power generation. Another one-third is loaned for transport, which includes the building of highways, roads and airways.

Industry takes up 15% and the rest is loaned for agricultural projects. Noone stated that the bank has loaned money to cover 1,000 projects in 74 countries. He added that, due to its careful lending, the bank has not yet lost money.

Sophomores to Play Big Part In 1964-1965 Basketball Season

"We are going to do better than last year," was Coach Chuck Bentson's reply when asked how the 1964 Bison Captains would fair. Bentson said that Lee Grim and Dave Lee are looking good, taking off from where they left off last year. Sophomore Bob Maier is coming along fine, also, according to Bentson.

So far in practice the team has worked on fundamentals and conditioning. Most players have been running and doing weight work for a month.

"The lack of a big pivot man is going to be our main weakness," said Bentson, "although we are strong at the posts."

About 15 men have showed up for practice. Returning lettermen include Lowell Cook, 6'3 jr. forward; Jerry Olson, 6'4 jr. forward; Bob Tuscherer, 5'6 sr. guard; Lee Grim, 1'6 sr. guard; Dave Lee, 6'2 sr. guard; Verlin Anderson, 6-4 sr. forward; Al Buss, 6'6 sr. guard; Tom Noye, 6'3 jr. forward; and Larry Johnson, 6'5 sr. forward and center.

Tuscherer, Grim, Lee and Anderson are two-year lettermen. Sophomores out are: Al Buss (6'2), Chuck Fleming (6'6), Gary Paulrud (6'4), Joe Schafer (6'1), Bob Maier (6'4) and Jerry Suman (6'6).

Bentson said that the sophomores have to come through for a successful season, especially Suman. Maier, Schafer and Paulrud. Suman was elected "Most Valuable Player" of last year's freshman basketball squad.

Bentson has scheduled some tough pre-season teams. The schedule is:

December:
1. St. Louis University - St. Louis, Mo.
2. South Illinois University - Carbondale, Ill.
3. St. Louis University - St. Louis, Mo.
4. Concordia College - Moorhead, Minn.
5. University of Illinois - Urbana, Ill.
6. Montana State University - Bozeman, Mont.
7. Loyola University - Chicago, Ill.
8. Valparaiso University - Valparaiso, Ind.

Bison Stop Montana State In Last Home Game

Parents of North Dakota State University footballers had reason to be proud Saturday as the Bison overpowered Montana State at the annual Parents' Day celebrations. Nearly 4,500 fans watched the Bison amass 313 yards on the ground and 60 via the air in beating the Skyline Continentals 74-20. Previously Montana had held conference foes to an average of 84 yards net per game.

Bruce Airheart sprinted first 14 of a 33-yard drive for lone Bison score. During the drive Airheart accounted for 56 of 60 yards by catching a 39-yard pass from Frank Hentges and a 22-yard pass to Lowell Cook.

Other Bison yardage came from Billy Sturdevant, Joe Schaefer and Gary Weidemann. Airheart accounted for 56 of the team's 48 yards net in the game.

Another 85-yard punt return by Fred Linderman was nullified by a clipping penalty. This week NSU will meet Vermillion to meet the University of South Dakota. The Coyotes' 2-2 conference mark has them in third place, one game behind the Bisons. UND uses a split end, slot type offense and Gary Weidemann had some trouble getting the other 10 on the ground and 60 via the air in beating the Skyline Continentals 74-20. Previously Montana had held conference foes to an average of 84 yards net per game.

The schedule for this year is presented in the Intramural Program for its approval. Board members were invited to wait until their meeting to approve the schedule. In the meantime, the meeting will have this week as: all meetings the Metropolitan League, composed of AGU No. 1, Phi Delta, FFA, Churchman Club No. 1, Newman Club No. 1, Agricultural Society of Civil Engineers, Stockbridge Hall, SAE No. 1, Newman Club No. 2, Sigma Chi, Kappa Psi No. 1, Sigma Nu and YMAC, bowls at 7:30; and the Master League, composed of ATO No. 2, AGR No. 1, TKE No. 2, Co-op, AGR No. 2, Agricultural Engineering, Vet's Club and Farm House, bowls at 9:30. One problem mentioned at the meeting about bowling was that members have lost contact with the Reed-Johnson representative. If the team is not represented at the meetings it must forfeit automatically and eventually give up its place on the roster. This will leave a vacancy in the schedule. Volleyball will start Tuesday and rosters for this sport must be turned in not later than the Intramural Board meeting Monday.

Group To Investigate Intramural Policy

fact that the duties of the intramural director are not specifically defined in the constitution of the Intramural Board.

Misunderstanding on both sides concerning the circumstances which created the problem caused confusion in the attempt to reach an acceptable solution. Kaiser finally consented to presenting the case to the Intramural Board and allowing board members to decide on what action to take.

The meeting of the board was called that afternoon and discussion was re-opened on the issue. After more debate and ambiguous explanations a motion was made to confirm the motion which had passed the day before.

The motion passed with the president of the board breaking a tie. The members present construed a quorum by one-half a member.

The sub-committee will investigate the structure and policy of the Intramural Board during the coming year and make recommendations concerning any changes which may be necessary so that problems such as this will not recur.

A second motion passed which called for a rescheduling of the cases so all teams will now be given the opportunity to play five games in an attempt to secure a place in the play-offs.
