Findley Asks For Senator's Resignation

Student Body President Bill Findley asked for the resignation of a student senator. Reason given for the request was excessive absences of the senator at student meetings.

Findley would not release the name of the senator. He said that the senator has not shown up for the first meeting of the current semester. Findley also said that he had reached the maximum number of absences allowed by Student Senate.

Last spring senate agreed to allow two members excused and three unexcused absences. Senator Anderson's record showed five unexcused and seven excused absences for this school year as of several weeks ago.

Upon releasing these names, Findley commented, "I am not calling these members of senate on the carpet. These letters are simply to notify them of their absences."

It is further noted from Student Senate's records that Senator Anderson has contributed little to discussions during senate meet­ings.

Anderson is a two-year senator. He was chosen in the election two years ago and is therefore serving out the end of his term of office. During his time in Student Senate he has never presented a bill to the senate.

Explaining his own actions Find­ley said, "I feel it is a responsibility of my office to endeavor to in­sure some effectual action on the part of Student Senate and by allowing stu­dents on a Student Senate or a Student Senate operation to work their re­sponsibility, this objective is im­possible until some student and their constituents would agree with this point."

Grim Quit Last Week

Lee Grim has resigned as chair­man of the Legislative Research Committee. He gave the reason that he has too many studies and that it would conflict with his basketball playing.

This is one of the several com­mittees that Grim has resigned or quit during the past year. He is carrying 16 hours of class this quarter and basket­ball practice has been practice.

Grim said that he took on these committee jobs in hope that he might find time to do them but that recently he is so pressed for time that he was forced to quit.

The Legislative Research Com­mittee was set up by Sherry Bas­sin in 1962 when he was Student Body President. The first person to act as chairman was Bassin's campaign chairman.

Functions of this committee were to set up a teacher-evaluation committee, investigate student parking and student government and check into student officers on campus to see whether or not they were working up to par and recommend pay increases or de­creases.

Little or nothing was done in any of these fields during the first two years of the committee's exis­tence.

Grim took over this committee in hopes of accomplishing some of its outlined purposes. He felt that committee members got nowhere with student parking, student government has not been checked into and so far no student workers have been investigated.

He said that some progress has been made in teacher evaluation, and the Fletcher, Pharmac., is the head of this group.

Another research chairman has come and gone and no program has been made.

Authority On Negro Music, Problems, Will Give An Address At Convocation

Dr. Zelma George, sociologist and authority on Negro music, will be the guest speaker at a student body convocation at North Dakota State University in hopes of accomplishing some of her outlined purposes. He felt that committee members got nowhere with student parking, student government has not been checked into and so far no student workers have been investigated.

The motion, which would have established a distinguished careers center for her performance in the United States Department.

Dr. George has also gained re­cognition in the theater as an ac­trix-singer. In 1949 she earned "The Medium" in Cleveland. The opera later was revived on Broad­way with the same cast.

Maided Students' Request Refused By Senate Members

A motion by Frank Lantz, fi­nance commissioner, requesting $77.70 for a married students' chil­dren's halloween party was de­feated by Student Senate Oct. 27. This was the most time-consuming item brought on the floor at that meeting.

Frank Manderfeld, Ag-st., repre­sented the married students in discussion supported the motion. Manderfeld explained that ser­vice organizations had sponsored such parties for the children be­fore, but said he thought that the parents could conduct a more suc­cessful party since it was their children who were being treated.

Several senators protested by stating that Student Senate was not obliged to donate to charitable causes and that they considered this such a cause. One senator said that "If we give money to this group, any organization on campus could come to us request­ing money for their parties."

The motion, which would have made available money for such items as pumpkins, horns and ap­ples, was defeated with only one affirmative vote.

Other business brought up out­side of reports was a motion by Rodger Wetzel, commissioner of inter-campus affairs, requiring all students to attend a training session of parliamentary procedure and Student Senate's operations to be conducted by the Commission of Campus Affairs.

The motion was carried unanimously.

Opening the meeting, President Bill Findley outlined the proced­ures that have been established to in­crease efficiency in conducting the meetings. A printed agenda will be prepared and all motions will be written out on a form sheet which is to be on Findley's desk by 5 p.m. the evening of the meeting.

Senator Mearl Hodgson moved that senate adjourn and so it did.
The Threepenny Opera Opens Tonight

Tonight is opening night for the Threepenny Opera, and past two months an energetic crew of people have been working to ensure this night’s success.

For more than two weeks girls on the technical crew, and who were offstage during a particular scene and even some men have been sewing gigantic maps of London on some 140 yards of percale curtains. The project is somewhat like hemstitching a tent.

Stage and properties crews have been sawing, hammering, painting the entire stage, a roomful of handcuffs, crates, and several costumers who were not nimble enough to do the job. The result is only to illuminate the stage, but to create a which reflect and contain the action. And, Bob Adams and his crew warm glee on Jenny’s fair front, put you in a dungeon. Bob Adams, bring a full moon up over Dock Street.

These talented and industrious people have created an effective machine on the crowded stage of the Little Country. And all the moving parts are meshing smoothly, the controll as we“hand, tonight, this quietly pulsating machine will move into gear. We predict a totally successful run.

It is frustrating, however, to contemplate the crowded track chances of collision are too great.

Friday night the Threepenny Opera will compete Peter Nero in Festival Hall and with the New Chester Strelets. The minstrels are booked into the Civic Auditorium according to the usually unreliable sources, they will be cut with the Smother Brothers during Moorhead State College week, so perhaps the contrast will not be damaging. Still, it would seem there could be more cooperative scheduling between the three colleges in Fargo-Moorhead as Civic Auditorium. It was to be everyone’s advantage to a doubling up on events.

The situation on this campus is more puzzling. Peter Nero, The Threepenny Opera will be going on simultaneously across the campus from one another. The only possible way to see it is running during intermission of one, to see briefly the other. But probably, as with television commercials when one can switch channels to avoid deodorant harangues and merely eaves drop on the merit of another’s product, there can be a quaver on the merits of the other. If the run is to succeed, the limiting times will be coterminous.

To be sure, The Threepenny Opera will run Wednesday and Saturday as well as Friday, but Friday night is Daly the most desirable for the college student. Friday night, it seems, is date night. The conflict is real; a choice must be made.

Scheduling of student events on this campus, formerly handled through the office of Dean of Students, is now channeled into the union of Deans Students, is now channeled into so many other social and cultural aspects of our University education through the megalithic Memorial Union—specifically, “The co-ordinator of student events.” The Memorial Union has also booked it’s excellent film series has already been mentioned.

Its job is not only to illustrate the stage, but to create a scene which reflects and contains the action. And, Bob Adams and his crew warm glee on Jenny’s fair front, put you in a dungeon. Bob Adams, bring a full moon up over Dock Street.

Its music listening room is a delight, which if you haven’t you must. For students who crave music when they study, it’s more fun than party line. And you can switch to a channel you have never heard before.

If you are the curious type, try a little channel hopping. You can find out what sounds other people listen to; try to put the appropriate listener.

If that shy fellow with the thick glasses listening to Bartok or the boisterous one playing Charlie Mingus? It’s more fun than party line. But you can also switch to a channel you do which is not in use, close your professor’s text, smile beastfully your date, lean back and listen to nothing—absolutely nothing.

Just a few steps down the hall from the listening room is the Hults Lounge which currently displays a fine set of photos It’s called Impressions of Russia, done by E. Demarast Petersen. This display is worth careful study. Petersen is interested in people and you will discover that Russians don’t have horns at all, as some splinter groups would have us believe. They’re honest.
Regional Union Conference Scheduled Here

The region ten conference of the Association of College Unions International will be held here on Oct. 27 to 30, according to Andrew H. Andrews, assistant director of the North Dakota State University Memorial Union. North Dakota State University was selected as conference site because of recent additions to the Memorial Union, both physically and in program expansion.

Eve Kolvaat, ACU president, expects 300 delegates from 60 colleges and universities from the area of Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota to participate in the annual conference.

Delegates will discuss mutual problems and exchange ideas to further develop the role of college unions.

Max H. Andrews, director of the Loeb Student Center, New York University, will keynote Thursday evening. He will speak about "The Program Dilemma" and establish the goals of the conference.

Regional Billiards League Plans Fail

A meeting called Oct. 27 to organize the league billiards was canceled because of lack of interest. No one showed up for the meeting that was scheduled for the Memorial Union. No one showed up because of recent additions to the Memorial Union.

Wehrle stated that the purpose of the meeting, which had been advertised on campus, was to organize those students who were interested in participating in league billiards as a competitive sport.

The leagues, which were to be organized by the Association of College Unions regulations, would parallel those of the bowling leagues. Wehrle stated that most people interested in participating in league bowling did so because the game room included bridge facilities of the game room.

Since ACU regulations require that sport coats and ties be worn during competition, Wehrle hoped that this would eliminate the connotations that go with it.

Wehrle said that another reason for organizing league billiards was to encourage a wider use of the game room by students.

Dennis Moffatt sought a job with responsibility

Dennis Moffatt, B.A., Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, '57, joined Western Electric in 1961 after two years of graduate work at the State University of Iowa and two years with the Army. Most important to Dennis was the fact that WE offered him the chance to move ahead . . . fast. Dennis started at Western Electric's Hawthorne Works in Chicago as a Staff Trainee in Industrial Relations.

After only a year with the Company and the completion of one of WE's training programs for college graduates, Dennis became a Personnel Placement Analyst. Advancing rapidly, Dennis was recently promoted to Section Chief, Employment and Placement, Systems Equipment Engineering.

If you, like Dennis Moffatt, want a career with a company that will recognize your skills and abilities, and have the qualifications we seek — let's start talking. Opportunities for fast-moving careers exist now for liberal arts, physical science and business majors, and for electrical, mechanical and industrial engineers. Campus Leaders Hold Too Many Positions

A motion was made in Student Senate last year which would limit a student to no more than two campus offices. Of course, it failed. However, we sometimes wonder whether or not this motion has its good points. Its author intended it to limit the number of positions individuals had so that they could have the chance to hold campus positions.

There is a limit of more than one or two responsible positions they have the tendency to slack off of at least one of their jobs. It is often found that campus leaders are too busy to spend so much time on extra-curricular activities. Studying demands most of their time and energy and they have no time to participate in Student Senate. Phil Wattles resigned his position on the governing body because he didn't have enough time to contribute his time to Blue Key and an active member of other organizations.

Grill and Wattles shouldn't be criticized for quitting Student Sen­ ate. At least they realized their limitations. Students are often in the same situation, but often they do not want the chance to be held responsible.

The deadline changed because of several reasons. For one, it is a machine that cannot be able to get a copy of the Spectrum on Wednesday than on Friday. Also, our news would not be delayed if we could control the previous week's activities.

The deadline is determined by the amount of news we are going to have for that issue. This is important because then we have a good idea of how many pages we're going to print. If we have more than we can possibly get done, we will need to cancel some of the items that we normally print.

Second, this deadline gives our copy-editing staff a chance to check the story and make sure it is correct before sending it to the printer. After we know the amount of copy, the editor and business manager can determine the number of pages of advertising in the spectrum. If the copy has not been sent down Thursday to do a poor job in all their activities.

It is a shame that so many campus leaders depend on student's extra-curricular activities instead of the job they perform within them. Perhaps if we had more time we would see more students involved with a larger number of leaders.

This happens will go away any executive organizations and a few students loaded with all the work performing their jobs. We too along with the idea of limiting the number of positions that an individual may hold on this campus.

Wednesday Distribution Of Spectrum Explained

What are the advantages in having the Spectrum distributed on Wednesday instead of Friday?

This question has been asked repeatedly over the past years. The Board of Publications changed the daily distribution two years ago. Main complaint against the present system is that organizations cannot get their materials ready in time to be printed and published line. Also, the Spectrum is unable to print the “yellow sheet” of coming weekly activities in time.

The deadline change came about for several reasons. For one thing, we believe that more students would be able to get a copy of the Spectrum on Wednesday than on Friday. Also, our news would not be delayed if we could control the previous week's activities.

Another reason is the advantage of being able to work on week­ends.

At present we require a Thursday deadline for material to appear in the following issue. The reason for this deadline is two-fold. First, it gives us an idea of the amount of news we are going to have for that issue. This is important because then we have a good idea of how many pages we're going to print. If we have more than we can possibly get done, we will need to cancel some of the items that we normally print.

With the ratio in mind, they arrive at the number of pages which for financial reasons (a ten-page paper costs almost as much as a twelve-page one) must be either a four, twelve or sixteen pager. Then the ads are made up and sent to the printer along with the copy material. Any material that does not go to the printer that evening cannot be set in type and returned to the office Friday night. The printer sets these and then returns the “proofs” to the Spectrum office and gives us a “proof” of each story.

After these proofs we arrange the middle eight pages of the paper and proofread the printed copy to double check for errors. Any story which has not been sent down Thursday to do a poor job in all their activities.

If the copy is pasted on the pages headlines are written and pictures placed. Sunday night the layout pages, along with proofs, headlines and pictures, are returned to the printer.

Thus Monday, Tuesday night the final layout sheets are the stories to be set in type for the first, second, and twelve pages. These are sent to the printer Monday night for Monday night's layout session. Thus Monday night is the latest copy may be used for the next week's paper.

Tuesday morning the editor and copy editor return to the printer for the final proofreading session before the paper is printed.

Since the Spectrum that has been predominately a twelve-page paper, it requires more time to layout and proofread than an eight-page one. Therefore, we have enough time to do this work.

And so a Thursday deadline will remain. A newspaper runs on a series of deadlines and we cannot afford to be an exception.

Letters to the Editor

Republican Philosophy Contrasted With Democratic Editorial View

To the editor:

I would like to make some comments on the letter by Mr. Bjorje.

To be sure the moral issue has arisen in the campus and I don't really blame Estes, Baker and Jenkins on Senator Goldwater?

To a certain extent any man is judged by the company he keeps. Bear in mind also that the film you make a big todo about was postponed. You neglect to mention those joyous little concerns of Mr. Goldwater's that picture Goldwater as a man of virtue.

Using your method of reasoning this means that the hero is labeled a nobel of moral virtue, or a nuclear nuts who would interfere with the security of the nation. The issue that will decide campaigns and most probably Mr. Johnson's in a close clear issue and not the moral issue. This would seem to be a great deal more evidence.

On civil rights: We seem to be a certain amount of justification for blaming the rights difficulties on the De­ nver.

It's not even convenient to remember that for the past years or so every attempt at inte­ gration for or enforcement of rights has been by Democrats. Granted that is Democracy created in 1960. I don't mean to malign Kennedy a racist because of his votes, but those of whose memories go back four years find it difficult to determine when a peace­ party can be labeled the right one.

Along the same line when looked at closely, the civil rights issue is closely related to a little more complex of political propaganda, that is the promotion of one political party over another. This was clearly shown in 1962.

Now, he is a Democrat and that Kennedy a racist because of his votes, but those of whose memories go back four years find it difficult to determine when a peace­ party can be labeled the right one.

As Kennedy talked of rights in Israel this past week, he is in fact fine but so extended the issue of the federal government is the areas of employment and hous­ ing. Where have the liberal des­ cants been since 1962?

They had the authority to hold the rights of all citizens and they did not use it? And we would have had a communist state.

Could it be that after one votes that every man should have the same rights and especially the neutral of his fundamental right to vote, the Democrats took away these votes and acted accordingly.

Are we to think that if it seems this might be the case.

One last comment and this returns the topic of discussion that bothers me most. You seem to love that and K. Juan America can be cured by pin the deprived enough mar terms since according to you, the democ pragmatic deprivations is the cost of all evil.

Even if your discussion of brand­ you mention voting, it is always a column, a job and some free­ time.

Nowhere do you mention that right to act as an individual, right to respect the freedom of choice, the freedom to vote one of the basic freedoms that have made America different and an ideal to the world.

Most conservatives believe that our government should ensure that all citizens are free to have the rights they have and that we have to get one equal through stifling this we are not eradicating the vote. Large or small the government at the expense of future generations are a price we must pay.

Only when all citizens are free to vote and have equal access to the rights and responsibility will our system of government be as demor.

Our Mailbag Runneth Over

Freedom For Farmers Stressed Again

To the editor:

To the people who say that North Dakota hasn't subsidized the wheat growers in other states, I say this:

Why has there been such a tremendous increase in the number of acres planted to wheat in other states if it has not been profitable for them to raise wheat?

Over a period from 1939 to 1961 the percentage change of wheat acreage allotments for different states is as follows:

- Texas: -19%
- New Mexico: +52%
- Arizona: +17%
- Idaho: +22%
- Mississippi: +56%
- Alabama: +73%

Meanwhile the area which raises the quality wheat, North Dakota, Minnesota and South Dakota, have lost -11%, -6%, -7% respectively.

It doesn't make economic sense that these farmers would start to raise wheat unless there were a profit in it. Where was the profit at a time when there was already an oversupply of wheat on the market?

The farm program is what made it profitable for these farmers. We've encouraged them to keep on growing wheat.

If we in this area give up some of our wheat acreage because of a government program so that a farmer in Mississippi can grow wheat for the first time in his life, aren't we subsidizing him to grow a less-demanded wheat?

Why should we in this region advocate a farm program just for the sake of "common objectives," when it is clear that they would stand to lose the most from it?

If the Democratic Party is such a champion of the farmers, why hasn't it kept its promise to restore parity to 100%, instead of letting it go below the average of the Eisenhower years, to the present low of 74%?

It's disheartening to see your column appear recently with the question: "Are IBM's computer programs any better than those of a small company?"

If its farm programs are as fair, why, in the drought of 1961, did the cattle feeder have to pay 114% of parity for barley while the man with stock cattle could get it for about 86% of parity?

This is what the Secretary of Agriculture thought was fair.

Farming today is a business, and as businessmen, the farmers follow the market and invest their land, labor and capital in whatever is going to bring them the most money.

Too many people, some farmers included, think the farmer is incapable or too stupid to manage his own farm efficiently. I think farmers are some of the sharpest businessmen the United States has.

Let the government treat us like businessmen instead of some person who is not capable of running his own business.

Sincerely,

Alan Buts, Assoch.

One of the six agencies participating in the 1964 North Dakota State University Campus Chest Drive to provide funds for 1965, is the Children's Village.

The Village, located at 1721 South University Drive, is one of the three children's residences in Fargo serving the entire state.

The Village provides three services. They are: child care at the agency, placement in foster and adoptive homes, and counseling.

A staff of 15 under the direction of Jim Baccus plans for about 300 children yearly. Baccus is a graduate of NDSU.

The agency, which is non-sectarian and non-governmental, is financed by United Funds and Chests, by memorials and bequests, foundation giving, by gifts "in kind," such as clothing, and by the sale of its services to "customers," both public and private.

"Public" customers include judges, juvenile commissioners, welfare directors and other public officials.

Children's Village considers itself a treatment-oriented agency with a structured setting with emphasis on academic, personal, and social adjustment.

Children's Village has an annual budget of about $100,000, according to Baccus. The agency employs six social workers, child care parents and clerical staff, and also uses consultative services of psychiatrists and psychologists.

Committee Sets Campus Collection Goal At $2,000

Campus Chest Drive Committee has set a goal of $2,000. The Chest Drive will begin Nov. 9.

It will end Nov. 14 with the Alpha Gamma Delta Ugly Man's Dance. Money raised from this dance will be counted as part of the Chest Drive goal.

The Chest Drive is conducted by a committee set up under the direction of Inter-campus Affairs. Chairman of this year's committee is Rodger Wetzel, Chem-jr.

From past campus drive reports committee members discovered that the solicitation of off-campus students has been a weak point in the drives.

Of the money received $120 will be given to the Save American Youth Fund. This organization is designed to give impoverished American youth clothing and supplies so that they will stay in school.

The committee also plan to improve the publicity of the drive so that throughout the week students will know that the drive is taking place.

A daily progress chart will be set up near the information desk in the Memorial Union. Three old chests will be placed in various places on campus to remind students of the drive.

Chairman Wetzel suggested that each student should contribute at least one dollar. Students should remember that this is the only charity drive that Student Senate authorizes to be held on campus during the school year.

Remaining money will be given in equal amounts to each of the following:

1. The Crippled Children's Home in Jamestown.
2. Harbor School in Moorhead for mentally-retarded children.
3. Opportunity School in Fargo for handicapped children.
4. Children's Village in Fargo.

5. World University Service for Kennedy Memorial Fund and libraries in needy foreign countries.

With increased publicity and carefully planned solicitation Chairman Wetzel said that "This year we are going to try to reach every student personally in order to make the drive successful."

PERCHED ON FUND BOX is Rodger Wetzel, Campus Chest Drive chairman.

WORKING WITH HIM on solicitation are Joe Schmit, Chem-jr.; Randy Pasum, AAS-jr.; on publicity are Gary Powell, AAS-jr.; and Florence Bernard, HE-jr.; and on research are Judy Moor, AAS-soph., and Robert Moe, Ph-jr.

Organizations involved in the solicitation will be Libra, Circle K, residence hall governments, fraternities and sororities. This year they will place a special effort on contacting off-campus students.

HELP YOUR FRIENDS SHAKE THE CIGARETTE HABIT THE EAGLE WAY:
WEAR A TROMBLEE!

ONE school of motivational theory holds that the popularity of button-down collars stems from fear that somebody will steal your necktie. If that is so, what better way to keep friends from snitching your cigarettes than a button-down pocket, too?

So don’t delay: "A Tromblee in time saves nine," and occasionally the whole pack.

If you yourself are still trying to stop or cut down, try a Tromblee. It beats the hell out of will-power.

The first step is to buy a triple* button-down Tromblee, for about $7.00; in white and various conservative colors and stripes. * As to the name, it is to honor Mr. Douglas Tromblee of Baytown, Texas, where it is no-coat weather oftener than not. Over the years he has become an authority on using shirt pockets to carry things in. We therefore sought his opinion on button-down flap pockets. He thought it was the worst idea he had ever heard of. Having decided to fly in the face of his judgment the least we can do is name it for him. So there’s a Tromblee in your future if not in Tromblee’s.

Peace Corps Members Find Job A Challenging Task

Have you ever been followed down the street by some animal eating at your clothes? Nan Borton, Peace Corps volunteer to Turkey, found this to be an ordinary experience.

Mrs. Borton said she has been followed by water buffalo and once a goat ate half her skirt as she was walking to the Turkish school where she taught.

Jim and Nan Borton recently completed a two-year Peace Corps assignment in Turkey. They now are on a six-month appointment for the Peace Corps recruiting staff with headquarters in Washington, D.C.

As part of the tour Nan and Jim were on the North Dakota State University campus Oct. 26-28. During this time they had booths in the Library and Memorial Union. They talked to classes of mostly juniors and seniors, showed a film about the Peace Corps and administered a Peace Corps test.

Nan Borton graduated from Smith College in Massachusetts in 1962 and Mr. Borton from Harvard College in 1962. Both majored in English. Mrs. Borton said, "We graduated from college, married and joined the Peace Corps all in the same week." They met each other in high school.

"Asked why they joined the Peace Corps, Mrs. Borton said, "When we finished school we wanted to use our knowledge to do something important, travel and have adventure."

After training at the University of Maryland the Bortons went to northwestern Turkey for their first year.

The Bortons taught English at the junior and senior high school level. Mrs. Borton said, "We found the Turkish students very receptive although they did create situations to test us. We had to earn their respect."

"Although the Turkish language is a difficult language to learn, she said, "at the end of two years we had become quite fluent."

"About the school conditions, Mrs. Borton commented, "The schools were overcrowded. There were generally 90 or more students in each class room. The method of discipline was to hit the child."

"The students have a deep respect for the teachers. If there was a teacher within a mile the students would stand, button their coat and salute."

"The students were warm and friendly," Mrs. Borton summed up. "We found her impression of the Turkish students by saying, "They were good kids."

"I tried milking a cow by hand, but it didn't work," said Dorothy Heintz, home economics freshman. She is North Dakota's Dairy Princess for 1964-65.

"Miss Heintz became dairy princess last July 2. Since then she has attended fairs, meetings and other gatherings representing the Dairy Association. One of these events was Flowville, and she and the National Dairy Princess were hosstees at a hospitality booth.

During June, which is dairy month, Miss Heintz will be a paid employee of the National Dairy Association. Her job—promoting dairy products. At the end of June she will go to Chicago for the national dairy princess contest.

Miss Heintz said that one of her rewards has been meeting so many new people. She also earned $150 wardrobe of her choice in spring.

Dairy Princess Unable To Milk Cow

When Miss Heintz isn't studying or promoting dairy suits, she may be found horseback riding or reading books.

When the Bortons were assigned to Turkey there were 23 Peace Corps volunteers there. Today there are over 200. Mrs. Borton said the nearest Peace Corps unit was about one-and-a-half hours away.

When Borton was asked what most memorable experience in Peace Corps, he said, "Leaving credit card—and in this case I just lost it."

Dakotah Inn Has Little Student Trade

The largest and most modern food service in North Dakota State University's history is now operating. Food service plans have been realized under the management of Bancroft's, Fargo's, University food service director.

Most significant additions are the food complex, designed to feed hundreds of students a day, and the Dakotah Inn, NDSU's first dress-up restaurant.

These two areas along with the vending machines and Bistro, State and Valley Rooms in the Memorial Union are serviced by 51 full-time workers, catering to about 200 students who work part-time.

The food is prepared on campus. The machines are filled with sandwiches and pastries which are prepared in the kitchen. All baking is done in the food complex. Two animal housing students do the meat cutting.

Last year all purchasing was done through local merchants. This year to cut the expense of the middle man all food is purchased directly from the respective companies.

Any profit realized at the end of the year goes back into the food service. The food service runs on a self-liquidating basis.

Initial cost of the food complex, for instance, will not be paid for another 30 years. Eating areas in the Memorial Union are rented from the Union and profits are shared.

The food service does not, however, have to answer to the Union regarding its policies. The two interests do work together on projection plans.

James L. Thomas, Union director, was largely responsible for the Dakotah Inn's construction.

Main purpose of the Dakotah Inn, Bancroft explained, is for an attractive place for visiting guests and alumni to go. "The Bison Room isn't exactly the right atmosphere for entertaining guests."

The Dakotah Inn so far has not received much student trade. Reasons given were that it is not known well enough and that students regard the prices as being too high.

Recently four items priced at 82.25 were added to the menu. They include two kinds of steaks and two varieties of ribs. Most expensive item on the menu is a 16-ounce steak for 84. Every day a special, moderately-priced dinner is offered.

Almost all work in the food complex is done electrically. Food is cooked by the most modern devices available. Plates are heated and ejected through machines. They are then sent down a conveyor belt where workers put on one item at a time and are relayed to the counter where students pick them up. A machine washes the dishes.

Main complaint regarding the food complex is that it is a long walk from the center of campus. Bancroft has tried a plan in which 94 women were given meal tickets to eat at the Union.

If this is successful the Union may become a second food center where those under board contracts may eat.

"We are trying to run an efficient and pleasing program for all," Bancroft said. "Whenever a complaint is registered we try to do something about it."

Bancroft also urged students who are dissatisfied with any facet of the food service to inform one of the staff.

Bancroft's food service assistants are Robert Schleier, Union food service manager; Mrs. Gladys Estinger, assistant manager in the Union; Miss Margaret Ranger, manager of food service in the food complex; and her assistant, Miss Margaret Zahns.

There's more than fabric superiority in Gant. In addition, "needled-into the warp and wool of every Gant shirt" — there's flair-fit show — three vital inerests that make all the difference when a man wears a Gant.

We chose Gant because they take shirt making seriously. They're hard to please (like we are) when it comes to fit of collar, its roll, its profile — how much it shows above the suit collar. They're fastidious about the way the body of the shirt drapes and folds. All must integrate to achieve that viable ingredient which gives comfort and aplomb.

In substance, Gant shirts are keyed to the discerning tastes of well groomed men who appreciate quality. These men are our customers.
NDSU Trips Coyotes To Clinch Share Of NC

North Dakota State University found the key to success Saturday as it clinched a share of the conference crown by tripping the University of South Dakota 14-9. It was the Bison football team's first taste of a championship since 1939.

State College of Iowa and the University of North Dakota are the other contenders and have one conference game left; NDSU has completed its conference schedule.

USF struck first on a 34-yard field goal by Cal Stukel with about four minutes left in the first quarter. Stukel's kick came after NDSU had elected to go for a fourth and one situation on the USD 41 and failed.

One first down and an advancement to the 27 allowed Stukel to split the posts and put USD ahead, 3-0.

Fullback Terry Sturdevant then scored across for the first Bison touchdown on the third play of the second quarter. This Bison drive covered 63 yards. DuCharme converted to give the Bison a 7-3 lead.

NDSU missed two scoring opportunities later in the second quarter when USD stopped the Herd on the four and nine yard lines.

In the third period the Bison recovered a fumble on the USD 34-yard line. On a fourth and fourth situation Billy Sturdevant cracked the left side of the USD line to give the Bison a 14-3 lead.

Coyote quarterback Fred Gehlhart scored the lone South Dakota touchdown on a five-yard run with only 25 seconds left in the game.

Stalwart Bruce Airheart again led Bison backs as he picked up 31 yards against USD. Bison defense held Coyote backs to a total of 94 yards on the ground and the same in the air.

NDSU failed in its only pass attempt of the evening.

This week the North Central Conference champions will travel by plane to Pocatello, Ida., to meet the Idaho State University Herd.

Both NDSU and Idaho State have beaten their only common opponent, Montana State.

UND and SCI both title tenders, will finish their conference action this weekend. Sioux play Augustana at Sioux Falls and State College of Iowa at Vermillion.

Bison Seek Cross Country Title At Sioux Falls

North Dakota State University's cross country team dropped a dual match to Mankato State at Mankato Saturday.

NDSU's cross country Captain Roger Groeters won individual honors in the meet by covering the four mile course in 20 minutes 26.2 seconds. Roger Olson was the only other Bison runner to place in the top seven.

Coach Pat Novacek expressed disappointment over the outcome of the meet and stressed that Bison runners will be working hard this week to prepare for the conference meet Saturday.

Coach Novacek and his seven team runners will travel to Sioux Falls Saturday for the annual conference meet on the Augustana campus. Expected to provide the stiffest competition for Bison harriers is favorite State College of Iowa and last year's Champion South Dakota State.

Earlier this season SCI defeat- ed the Bison 20-42. South Dakota State is down from last year but must be considered for the top spot.

Last year's cross country Captain Chuck Offerdal won individual honors in the cross country meet and paced the Bison to a second-place finish.

This year's Captain Groeters is likely choice for capturing the individual honors and will try to improve last year's second-place finish.

Regarding Bison chances Coach Pat Novacek said, "A definite improvement over the Mankato meet is necessary if we are to win the conference."

He continued, "I feel we are capable of winning; however, success depends on how much boys want to put out when we travel to Sioux Falls."

Winner of the conference meet will travel to Wheaton, Ill. for the NCAA National Small College Meet. Novacek said that any runner from NDSU placing in the top ten would also make the trip.

Airheart Repeats As Back Of Week; Lineman Of The Week Is Gebhards

South Dakota, earning the "Back of the Week" title for the third time this year.

Airheart romped for 119 yards in 28 carries, giving him more than half the Bison total of 171 yards, as the team defeated USD 14-9.

Gene Gebhards was named the "Lineman of the Week" as he played his best game of the season, according to Defensive Coach Ron Erhardt. The coach considers the 6 feet, 230-pound junior an aggressive defensive player.

"If Gene hadn't been hampered by injuries in the first part of the season he would have been one of the conference's top middle guards," noted Erhardt.

In the Idaho State game this Saturday the Bison will rely on Airheart's and Gebhards' support, when they invade Pocatello in an attempt to improve their status in the bowl polls.

TKEs Win IM Football

Tau Kappa Epsilon proved to be the best snowmen on Wednesday of last week as it edged the Alpha Gamma Rho 60 to 40 in intramural football championship.

The title game was played during the first snowfall of the season. TKEs scored their only touchdown on a ten-yard pass play from Ray Ellingrud to Jerry Ahlberg.

The game was basically a defensive battle with neither side showing much offense.

The TKEs tripped the Alpha Gammas. Their defense whipped the VMCA to gain admission to the title game.

ATAConCEDED THIRD PLACE

Losers of the first play-off games were scheduled to play for third and fourth places; however, the YMCA entry was short five of the eight team members necessary. Therefore, it conceded to the ATOs.

Outdoor sports this week include volleyball and bowling.

Tennis Courts Done Soon

The tennis courts will soon be completed. The usual completion date which has been changed during the past few weeks is still tentative.

October seems to be a good month for finishing tennis courts. The weather during the past few weeks has been quite favorable.

This was for Oct. 19, 1963. Oct. 17 came and the dedication was held with Outstanding Alumnus and Gebhards presenting a check of $2000 to President Albracht.

Gebhards gave his regrets that the courts were not finished as originally planned but said that they should be completed the following spring.

The courts were not completed and another article appeared in the spectrum this fall which stated that the tennis courts would be completed within two weeks. Completion date would have been mid Oct. 1.

It is now November, which is considered a good month for playing outdoor tennis, and the tennis courts are not yet completed.

Groundwork has been laid, however, and the courts are almost ready for use pending the addition of a protective coating and a paint finish.

The alumni have done their part; they have built the courts. Now, fences and equipment are to be supplied by student government.

Jerry Lingen, alumni executive vice-president, reminded Student Senate that $200 was put into a fund for this purpose when he was in senate four years ago. Student Body President Bill Findley said he had never heard of that fund.

No one else seemed to remember the four-year-old fund but Finance Commissioner Frank Luntz, learned by investigation that $2,500 was deposited at the Metropolitan Savings and Loan Association under a "Swimming Pool and Tennis Court Fund."

Al Peterson - Hail The Bison

It's been a long time a waitin' but North Dakota State University finally found football fortune. It was 19 years ago when NDSU last won a football championship.

Two years ago NDSU's football team failed to win a game in 10 outings.

One year later Darrell Mudra was hired to change the football fortunes at NDSU.

The man from Adams State did not want any time. In two years Mudra equipped an inadequate coaching staff, provided the Bison with their longest winning streak in 18 years and turned a losing football team into a conference champion.

TKE CAPTAINS EXPRESS FEELINGS

Reactions among the tri-captains after winning the conference championship varied.

Tom Holmgren commented, "As a team we are proud and happy. We are still hoping for a bowl bid and also feel that SCI may have a hard time against us..."

Ardell Weigandt was elated over the victory but expressed disappointment at the poor student reaction.

The last of the tri-captains Bill Sturdevant said, "Credit our success to our great depth and a very fine coaching staff."

Assistant Coach Ron Erhardt commented, "Being from North Dakota I am pretty excited. The kids did everything we expected of them and we are real happy that they came through in only two years."

ANOTHER CHAMPIONSHIP WITHIN BISON REACH

NDSU's cross-country team will be highly regarded when it travels to Sioux Falls for the conference meet.

Last week's performance against Mankato was not typical for Bison runners as two of NDSU's aces, Jim Svobodny and Brian McClaren, finished out of the top ten in the dual meet.

Continued strong performance by Roger Grooters and an improved showing by other Bison runners could bring another conference crown to NDSU.

Tickets $3.50, $3.00, $2.50, $2.00, $1.50, $1.00

Intramural Head Clarifies Position

“All the facts were not revealed in the previous article in the Spectrum.” These were the words of Ervin Kaiser, intramural director, when asked to comment on the article concerning intramural policies in last week’s paper.

He thought that if both sides had been aware of all of the facts concerning the issue there would have been no misunderstanding.

Kaiser clarified the responsibility of the intramural director by quoting a portion of the Intramural Sports Handbook. It read, “The Intramural Sports shall be under the supervision of the Intramural Director. (A) The Director of Intramural shall formulate the policies and be responsible for the proper conduct of the Intramural Activities.”

He then commented, “The Intramural Board drew up and approved this constitution,” and “We’re just doing what we’re supposed to.”

He contested the legality of the proceedings of the meeting in which the motion was made, which he vetoed, concerning intramural regulations.

“That meeting was not valid because neither the president nor vice-president were in attendance,” he said. Since the constitution does not provide for a presiding officer if these two are absent, a meeting cannot be held.

Therefore the first decision of the board was unofficial. He also explained that he had announced the protested ruling at a previous meeting and it was accepted without any argument.

He then raised the question, “If trophies were eliminated, would the interest be as high?”

“We’re not trying to take advantage of anyone,” he said, “we just do not have time to run a round-robin tournament, which we try to do in the other leagues. Inclement weather usually limits the football season to a month and a half. Kaiser pointed out that the decision of the Intramural Board that was finally accepted was illegal. Members present at the special meeting did not constitute the two-thirds quorum necessary to conduct official business. Only 13 of the 25 member organizations were represented. He did, however, go along with the decision.

Kaiser closed his comments by stating that “Nothing was actually accomplished because exactly the same teams gained entrance into the playoffs as would have the other way.”
