Freshman Eligibility -- Former Rule Adopted

Official of the North Central Conference voted to adopt a former ruling on freshmen eligibility for participation in spring sports.

This spring freshmen with a cumulative grade point average of 2.0 are eligible to participate in varsity sports. At a recent meeting in Minneapolis the seven-member NCC board voted four to three in favor of eliminating future freshmen from participation in varsity sports.

Tuition Raised

The secretary of the conference said that officiaIs now gived 42 such grants in football.

A new rule has gone into effect that forbids the 11-year-old Pamela Weizhaar of Moorhead and 13-year-old Ron Diament, Fargo, to be the guest speaker.

Gary Cossette, AG 4, a cadet major with the Army Reserve Officers Training Corps Unit at North Dakota State University received a Distinguished Military Student award recently from Col. E. G. Chapp, Jr., professor of military science.

The award is presented to senior students who have excelled in ROTC program who have excelled in classroom work and scored high in other ROTC activities. Cossette's award is the sixth to be presented at NDSU this year.

Goal Set At $347,000

Group Formed To Raise Theatre Funds

Interested Fargo citizens, North Dakota State University alumni and friends have organized to raise funds for a new Little Country Theatre. Fred Scheel is general chairman of the Little Country Theatre project.

"We recognize the need of strengthening the arts at NDSU. The new theatre can become the foundation for an increasingly important fine arts program at NDSU," said Scheel.

The newly formed group has set its goal for fund raising at $347,000. They hope to raise $100,000 in Fargo alone. The money will be used to build the new Little Country Theatre on 12th Avenue North, between the library building and the navel armory just southwest of Minard Hall, with construction slated to start in the Fall of 1965.

The proposed plan would allow for classroom and office space for educational training. The theatre would seat 420 persons and could be used as a major classroom in the daytime.

The stage opening would be 30 feet compared to the 18 foot stage opening in the present Little Country Theatre, located on the second floor of Old Main. The building would allow for lobby exhibits, convenient restrooms, dressing rooms, costume storage, scene and property shop and adequate parking facilities.

The Little Country Theatre has guided productions from the small-town patriotic pageants to the recent outdoor dramas OLD FOUR EYES at Medora and TRAIL WEST at Mandan developed by Dr. Fredrick Walsh, chairman of the NDSU Speech Department.

Dr. Walsh said, "Tomorrow we will strive for greater goals through a permanent repertory company, expanded children's theatre, stronger summer theatre programs and touring dramatic groups."

"There is a Unicorn in the garden." "You are a booby and should be put in the booby hatch." (Fanciful harp and interjection of sounds of fracas.) Moral: Don't count your hoobies before they are hatched.

Comment: Hopefully, this hashed paraphrase will remind you of Thurber's deff FABLES FOR OUR TIME, and the story of the man who saw a Unicorn, dainty beast, but was denied several times by his wife, dumpy broad. The wife called the caps, the man refused to speak, heigh-ho the mercy. He cast the wife overboard. Good-bye. There's a Unicorn in our garden, too, and look now, he might be peer, or might you.

"He is a very small animal like a kid, excessively swift; one horn in the middle of his forehead, and no hunter can catch him. But he can be trapped by the following stratagem. A young girl is led to where he lurks, and hence he gets caught. Our Lord Jesus Christ occupies the Unicorn spiritually. The Unicorn often fights with elephants, and conquers them by wounding them in the belly."

Comment: White's translation of THE BESTIARY reveals the delicacy, theological implications and the fierce determination of the beast. He sings madrigals, and translates Moliere; he sings Easter cantatas, and writes plays about Noah; he keeps free for six years, and he refuses to be dismissed as a mythological beast. Are there any elephants in Fargo?

"The Unicorn Guild ... was founded in recent antiquity; its more precise. In the years since its origin it has devoted itself to putting on concerts, plays, and parties at which it has honored itself. It also turns out occasional recordings. The guild has further distinguished itself by having one of the few choruses in existence which has never gone on any kind of a break anywhere. Its dramatic wing might be compared to the Corned Beef and Cabbage. Whereas that august group has for centuries done the definitive productions of the dramatic works of Moliere, the Unicorn Guild has done the definitive works of Jerome D. Lamb; it has fact done almost the only productions of those works."

Comment: He doesn't take himself seriously. We should. Jerem has done, writes Bill Weiler, people sing, people act. It's a pleasure to hear them, it's a privilege to be among them. Say, as that, The Unicorn plays at St. Paul's Student Center, I don't know when. Sometimes. He has two records. One is called "Bound East for Cardiff," the other is called "Riders To The Sea," and it's funny, Dick Kasper sells these records at the Varsity Market when he's not singing tenor with the Unicorn.

Tryouts for nine one-act plays will be held this afternoon at 3:30 p.m. in Room 206 of Old Main. About 40 parts will be casted.

The traditional textiles and clothing style show is the biggest event. Students, who are members of the Home Economics department, have been involved in planning and coordinating the event for the last year.

"There is such a contrast between those waistlines and those of the shift shape which show no waist at all in most of today's styles," said Carol Anderson, co-ordinator of the Home Economics department.

The style show, free of charge, is presented May 7 and 8 at 2:30 p.m. in the Memorial Union ballroom.

Dresses characteristic of this era were of satin and hand-drawn for bound by 18 inch waistlines. We are having trouble finding gowns to match those dimensions," Anderson added.

By solving problems in astronautics, Air Force scientists expand man's knowledge of the universe. L.T. Howard McKinley, M.A., tells about research careers in the Aerospace Team.

(L.T. McKinley holds degrees in electronics and electrical engineering from the Georgia Institute of Technology and the Armed Forces Institute of Technology. He received the 1965 Air Force Research & Development Award for his work with inertial guidance components. Here he answers some frequently-asked questions about place of college-trained men and women in the U.S. Air Force.)

Is Air Force research really advanced, compared to what others are doing? It certainly is. As a matter of fact, much of the work being done right now in universities and industry has its beginnings in Air Force research and development projects. After all, when you're involved in the development of guidance systems for space vehicles—a current Air Force project in Texas, for instance—you're working on the frontiers of knowledge.

What areas do Air Force scientists get involved in? Practically every area. As for course the principal aim of Air Force research is to expand our aerospace capability. But in carrying out this general purpose, individual projects explore an extremely wide range of topics. "Side effects" of Air Force research are often as important, scientifically, as the main thrust.

How important is the work of a recent graduate? It's just as important and exciting as his own knowledge and skill can make it. From my own experience, I can say that right from the start I was doing vital, absorbing research. That's one of the things that's so good about an Air Force career—it gives young people the chance to do meaningful work in the areas that really interest them.

What non-scientific jobs does the Air Force offer? Of course the Air Force has a continuing need for engineers—pilots and navigators. There are also

Tuition Charges Rise, Varying Averages Found

North Dakota legislators, always conscious of the needs of higher education,的要求 the State Board of Higher Education to take an average of similar institutions and carry that average, according to a Columbia University study. The study revealed that the State Board of Higher Education must be no less than the average of Montana, South Dakota and Minnesota universities.

We believe that this will give the state colleges as well, their increased tuition also apparently came about because of an increase in student membership. The newly raised fees, effective in the fall, are $320 a year for resident students and $1,680 as an out-of-stater. For an increase of $60 a year for in-staters and out-of-state students face a $120 raise.

Kenneth Raschke, commissioner of the State Board of Higher Education, and the president of the State University of South Dakota, Mont. and Minn. He used the University of Minnesota's tuition costs for resident students $750, while both South Dakota State and the State University of South Dakota charge $466 and the Montana universities average $498. Unless the law specifically states that an average of the three states must be used, Mr. Raschke said that he arrived at $498 and cast an average of the five figures arriving at an average of $466 plus the combined cost of the two Montana universities $498 making a total of $534. Unless the law specifically states that an average of the three states must be used, the in-state tuition cost was $534. The Montana university's average is $570.

Renting Books Saves Student Dollars

A week ago, we printed the history of the Spectrum with a statement of its policies which were inaugurated in years past. Perhaps this timely return to these former policies, but this is far from being true. The belief that the first and main responsibility of a news paper is to get the news and pictures to the public in time to meet our Thursday deadline.

We are often asked to send a reporter and photographer to cover events which we neglect to do. We lack time and staff members and consequently delegate this responsibility to the better news people. We give the responsibility to the better news people. We give it in time to meet our Thursday deadline.

The pattern in both freshmen and sophomore year's approximately 4.5 million, the nation's freshmen set decade ago. The capacity of the nation's fraternities and the intense loyal of fraternities and the intense loyalty they once enjoyed. These are the findings pub particular to colleges and the influx of students is a tribute to the human resources project.
Vandalism Reflects Student Attitudes

From pool table tops, broken glasses, car accessories stolen, to name writings scribbled across walls and mirrors — these are small acts of vandalism that have occurred throughout the year in men's dormitories on campus, Gene Smestad, manager of Stockbridge Hall, said, "Last year $300 was spent repairing dorm pool tables, and now one year later, the tops are completely ruined." He said that it is a small minority of students that take part in these acts and that the majority are more interested in securing a diploma.

A resident reported having both headlights stolen from his car while it was parked in the dormitory lot. Also, there have been cases of broken mirrors and aerials on residents' cars, according to Smestad.

Don Dell, counselor-co-ordinator, said that there have been cases at Churchill Hall where windows were broken from bulletin board enclosures, crayons were smeared across the walls, and holes were poked in the ceiling tile. A trophy case was broken into and a trophy and plaque were stolen.

"These acts are generally perpetrated by an irresponsible, immature minority," said Dell. "My two major points of concern," remarked Dell, "are that these immature few are infringing upon the rights of the other residents to have a reasonably quiet place to study and also they are affecting the economic position of the other residents since the entire hall is held responsible for damages."

Each resident pays dorm dues at the beginning of the year and these dues are designed to cover resident functions during the year such as dances or exchanges with other groups. "It is from this fund," said Dell, "that the money is taken for damage repairs caused by these acts of vandalism."

"In the majority of cases, most acts are a result of impulsive motivation and maybe would not have occurred if the person had thought for a few seconds before doing it," concluded Dell.

Nammars Bolster Bison Tennis Hopes

A new brothers combination at North Dakota State University? "It's a possibility," stated Bison tennis coach Buck Nystrom while watching Dave and Jake Nammars prepare for Bison tennis competition.

Dave Nammars

Dave, a two year tennis letterman, won the North Central Conference singles title as a sophomore and currently holds the singles title at the annual NDSU tennis invitational. Nammars has won singles competition in both the Fargo tennis tournament and the North Dakota Champions.

According to Coach Nystrom the Nammars have the distinction of being the Bison athletes for the first time from home. "A family here in Fargo invited me to go to the tournament," Dave continued, "and following." Nystrom explained, "Dave has lost the NCC singles last year to Weber of Austin. We could change that around with increased aggressiveness year.

"At present, Dave Nammars and Jake Nammars play together in a doubles team of Davis Cup but have no other doubles team. "Dave" Nammars plan to play mixed doubles with a girl named Beth in the NDSU doubles tourney.

Johnson Offers Resignation

Don Johnson, backfield coach of North Dakota State University's football Bison, has accepted an administrative position at Fargo Central High School. His resignation, effective July 1, follows eight years of service to the Bison grid teams.

Johnson has been called the "dean" of the football coaching staff since coming to NDSU as the backfield coach in 1957. Johnson is only practicing with the varsity team next year although he held in the Jerusalem, Israel, YMCA.

Bison End Indoor Season With Victory

Trackmen from North Dakota State University moved outdoors Monday when they participated in the Corn Palace Relay in Mitchell. The annual D. T. Tuf from South Dakota has no overall winner. The Bison track team ended the indoor season last Tuesday and Sunday by winning a twin in the inter-city meet held at Moorhead State's Alex Linderman Fieldhus. The NDSU men won with 64 total points to 53 and Concordia's 33.

"Our sophomores are showing up improvement," stated Bill George, halfback for the Chicago Bears of the National Football League, and Saturday they will journey to Sioux City to play a North Central Conference twin bill against Morningside.

ON HIS WAY to a new Alex Nenzek Fieldhouse record is Lowell Linderman, Bison pole-vaulter. Linderman cleared 13 9/16 for a new fieldhouse and inter-city record.

Baseball Team Loses Twice

State College of Iowa made its North Central Conference debut, beating North Dakota State University in a doubleheader marking scores of 3-2 and 2-0. Wet grounds forced the games to be played at Concordia instead of on the NDSU diamond as originally scheduled.

In the first game the Bison were menaced by diminutive southpaw Tom Simpson, who struck out twelve Bison, and in the second game were shutout behind the speed pitching of SCI's Phil Johnson, who struck out thirteen.

Bison pitchers Gene Bakum and Russ Auen turned in good pitching performances. Bakum, who relieved Stuarden in the first game, gave up two hits, walked none and struck out six batters. Auen, pitcher in the second game, gave up eight hits.

Bakum's first-sockey Bay Ellingrud collected three hits in the first game.

The Bison are now 2-2, having defeated Offutt Air Base at Omaha.

Two double headers are scheduled this week for the Bison. They play Minnesota today and Saturday they will journey to Sioux City to play in a North Central Conference twin bill against Morningside.

Al Peterson
$1700 Collected
$13,000 Left

Last spring a drive was initiated by students, faculty and alumni to secure enough money to complete the swimming pool in the fieldhouse. This project, like many others, started with great enthusiasm, gradually lost its momentum, and has since died. The $1700 collected during this drive is an account at the First National Bank in Fargo. Head Basketball Coach Chuck Bentzen and Dave Mott, former commissioner of athletes, are in charge of these funds. Approximately $13,500 more is needed to finish financing the project.

SWIMMING POOL IS NEEDED IMMEDIATELY

NDSU is in dire need of a swimming pool immediately. No longer does anyone have to play the waiting game with the state legislature regarding the new fieldhouse. Already we have been turned down for this year and every legislator appropriated money for a fieldhouse at their next session, the sooner we could expect the completed building would be, conservatively estimated, about seven years.

NDSU can't wait that long for a swimming pool. It's virtually inconceivable that a school with over 4000 enrollment that does not have a swimming pool. It's ridiculous that swimming courses, which are required for a physical education major, must be taught at a neighboring high school.

Where can finances be obtained and what can be done to expedite completion of this project? State aid is impossible now that the legislature is not in session. To expect students to kick in $14,000 for five years of work is unreasonable. A plan, for this pool, should be presented to the Board of Higher Education that money be appropriated for the completion of this pool. The other alternative would be to turn the financial burden over to the alumni association. Last year the alumni contributed $700 to the cause. Interest was only slightly better than the proper pronunciation by this group our swimming pool could become a reality.

The need is urgent.

AROUND CAMPUS

Bill George, linbacker for the Chicago Bears of the National Football League, will speak at the annual NDSU football picnic to be held in Mandan Friday. Highlight of the clinic will be an interrogated game between offensive and defense. All Bison players and Assistant Track Coach Pat Novacek reported that Bruce Airheart ran the last leg of the mile relay in 4:35 at the Corn Palace Relays held last weekend.

Twenty-nine freshmen were among the 60 men who reported for spring football practice at NDSU last week.

Early History Antiques Displayed By Coeds

Coeds in Ceres Hall discovered dusty relics of North Dakota State University's early history. A display of these finds had been made for the 75th Anniversary of NDSU.

A trunk which contained books, copies of several playlets and a page from a scrapbook with Christmas greetings from honorary societies, were found. An antique sewing machine, estimated to be over 75 years old and used in Ceres when it was the Home Economics building was discovered. Deep tin cup and saucer sets, overlaid with gray enamel and used in the cafeteria, were also found in the clean-up. Included in the display is an old-fashioned dress, donated by Patricia Kiefer, HE 1, to be worn by a dummy that was used by girls in Home Economics 75 years ago.

You Don't Have To Die To Collect On Life Insurance

Here's what we have to offer

• Insurance cash values that provide money when you want it for emergencies, education, business opportunities and retirement income.
• Service that is as close as your telephone or campus representative. A contract that is easy to understand. You don't have to puzzle your way through fine print. (Rated 3rd in readability nationally)
• Participating policy - paying dividends allowing you to share in the profits of the company.
• Rates based on new CSO table.
