Vehicle Registration Revisions Include $10 Parking Fee Increase

Student parking regulations were approved by the University Senate for next year. The changes include the following:

- All motor vehicles registered in the University system will have to pay a $10 registration fee in addition to the regular university parking permit. This fee will apply to all non-student vehicles as well.
- Permits are required for all vehicles, including those driven by students.
- Violators will be subject to a $25 fine.

The law of the land will operate on campus, and any unpaid fine will result in the withholding of student funds.

The change was decided to help alleviate the financial strain on the university. The increase was not0, $50,000 for the construction of a new theatre. The total cost is approximately $347,000.

The theatre has been named "The Lawrence Welk Theatre.

Theatre Benefactor Donates $55,000

A personal gift of $55,000 has been given by the student-faculty contributions it is hoped the goal of $15,000 will be reached.

Dr. F. G. Walsh, chairman of the speech and drama department, is expected to announce the purchase of the theatre. The cost is approximately $347,000.

The theatre is intended to serve primarily as a training facility for students.

Lawrence Welk will be at North Dakota State University May 29 to receive an honorary Doctor of Music degree during commencement. His orchestra will not accompany him.

Kappa Kappa Psi, national professional honorary band fraternity at NDSU, will also present him with an honorary membership.

Welk, a native of Strasburg, N. D., has won national recognition through his weekly musical program on ABC-TV, now in its tenth year. Born in 1903, Welk left home on his twenty-first birthday. He has lived in the same house throughout the years because Strasburg was a German-speaking community.

Panel Discussion Held During Greek Week; Speakers Emphasize Fraternity Concepts

"What is a fraternity?" was the topic discussed at the Interfraternity Council Greek Week panel discussion held April 27 in the Memorial Union ballroom.

Members of the panel were Robert Crom, director of communications and university regulations, Dr. John Hove, professor of English, Student Body President Jim Schindler, James Gulseth, AS 1 and Bob Hendrickson, AS 3.

Crom talked briefly on the administrative concept of the fraternity and emphasized that the University should be thought of as being primary to all other campus organizations.

Dr. Hove spoke on the faculty concept of the fraternity and pointed out that too much emphasis was being placed on "the six P's," which were in his words, pledging, pinning, parties, picnics, prestige and profits.

Schindler said that many freshman entering school think of a fraternity as a "drinking club," but pointed out that one cannot judge a fraternity by a few individual members.

Speaking on the pledge concept of a fraternity, Gulseth said that a fraternity places an emphasis on scholarship thereby giving freshman pledging a fraternity a better chance to develop scholarship.

Hendrickson spoke on fraternity rushing and pointed out that rush was necessary to convey a feeling of brotherhood and objectives of the fraternity to new freshmen.

Presidents of the ten fraternities on campus made up the panel moderated by Al Redman, AG 4. This panel functioned and discussed problems brought up by the five-member panel.

Library Receives Shipment Of Books

The largest shipment of books ever received, in the memory of D. Stallings, university librarian, arrived at North Dakota State University Wednesday, April 28. Seven boxes, approximately 330 books, valued at $3,585 were left for Mrs. Maxine Anderson, order librarian, to unpack and prepare for cataloguing. Mrs. Anderson said that the average shipment is about two or three boxes, or about 100 books.

The most expensive book was "Plant Physiology" with a price tag of $149. There were two "Grass Species" books which cost $225 and a 15 volume "Botany Subject Index" that was listed at $900.

Stallings said there were two reasons why there was such a large shipment at this time. The various departments of the University are in a big rush to spend their share of the library fund before the unspent money is confiscated at the end of the school year. Also publishers, bringing their files up-to-date, filled the library's back orders of 1964 plus the recent orders, all at one time.

The library orders its books from A. C. McClurg & Co. who in turn order from many different publishers. The library gives 75 per cent of its book budget to different departments of the University according to their need. The funds range from $200 given to agricultural economics to $2000 given to chemistry and physics. Stallings said, "$200 would be more than enough to cover cost of publications for agricultural economics where $20,000 wouldn't be enough for chemistry and physics."

Mrs. Anderson said the order department was moved to larger quarters just in time. Three weeks ago the order department, which shared limited space with the cataloguing department, moved into the vacated faculty lounge.

Student Costs Increase; Greater Effort Needed

Fargo’s Mayor Herschel Lashkowitz, at a Young Democrat’s meeting, challenged the editor of the Spectrum to tell him how to get the State to provide adequate appropriations for North Dakota State University.

We have stated previous editorials that the state is now paying the student “stipend amount” and a further increase in state revenue by direct taxation seems highly unfeasible. We have also stated that the increased funding of higher education is needed. At this time, we do not have a plan to offer Mayor Lashkowitz or any other legislative member.

We ask Lashkowitz and other state legislators to follow the rules. And we ought to know that there are two reasons for these increases: (1) no one on North Dakota campuses seems to be concerned with the increases and (2) student costs all over the nation are rising.

We feel that the state and land grant institutions is $292 this year, as compared to $280 last year. Average non-resident student costs all over the nation are rising.

Such thinking forces a decision. Shall we work for a certificate in high school or post-high school in a community college or university? Shall we work for a certificate in high school or post-high school in a community college or university?

Lashkowitz Challenges Educators

Herschel Lashkowitz, mayor of Fargo and state senator, challenged the editor of the Spectrum to tell him how to get the revenue needed to provide appropriations for North Dakota State University at the NDSU Young Democrat's meeting April 22.

Lashkowitz quoted an editorial from the Spectrum which stated that NDSU needs a $5 million appropriation. Lashkowitz replied, "You need a $10 million appropriation. Help us find the revenue."

Lashkowitz told of sending letters to student leaders and educators all over the state, asking them for suggestions about educational action that the legislature could take. The response to his letters was "poor and unfruitful."

Students and educators were challenged by Lashkowitz to "stick your necks out for education." He stated that "educators must stick their necks out and take a stand if education is to grow. I was not afraid to stick my neck out for education."

Lashkowitz sponsored the only classroom construction bill put before the legislature this year. His plan called for a $100 increase in student fees. "This was over and above the $60 increase already proposed by the legislature."

"The main problem," stated Lashkowitz, "is that people don't want to pay for the benefits that they get. Those enjoying the benefits should help share the cost. We must face our role as responsible people and pay for the benefits we want."

"The same people who complain about taxes are the ones who are in Bismarck asking for appropriations," remarked Lashkowitz, "You are a great guy when you are holding the purse strings."

Lashkowitz stressed the necessity for educators and students to get involved in the issues. He said, "in social science men and women can't afford to dissociate themselves—they are involved."

He suggested inviting the legislators to convocations and questioning them to find out about their actions. He concluded "Every one, the board of education, administrators, teachers and students must be more daring."

Student Finance Commission Rejects Model UN Proposed Budget

Plants for a Model United Nations to be held at North Dakota State University next December were dealt a severe blow when the Finance Commission unanimously defeated its proposed budget at their weekly meeting April 27.

"The commission felt," according to Commissioner Lionel Estenson, "that, despite the unanimous endorsement given the project by both the University and Student Senates, the sponsors had not shown any concrete evidence that such a conference would arouse enough interest on campus to warrant such an appropriation from student funds."

The conference, proposed by Dr. Arif Hayat, assistant professor of botany and Dean Nordquist, AS 4, was scheduled for next December 9-12 and would have involved an estimated 500 students from regional colleges. Last week in the University Senate the project was unanimously endorsed, but as Dr. William Dimunsohn, advisor to the commission, reported, "there was little active support."

"It was the same way in the Student Senate," commented Roger Wetzel, CF 3. "Senate was willing to back such a project as long as it was not directly involved. The proposed budget would not have run in excess of $1,000."

Commissioner Estenson pointed out, "In spite of the fact that we turned down their request they can still take their budget directly to Senate. In order to get money from Senate, however, they will have to show there is a definite interest for a Model United Nations on campus."

In other business, the Commission of Campus Affairs brought up three budgets requesting $8,400 in student funds. "Last year," according to Commissioner Robert Hendrickson, "we only received $4,000 but we had an additional income of $3,000 not available to us this year."

The budget, one each for Homecoming, Sharivar and Freshman Orientation, represented a significant increase in expenditures over last year.

Freshman Orientation was allotted $760 to pay for a speaker. "Previously," Hendrickson commented, "money for this annual orientation has been gathered by University Senate from a variety of sources other than the Finance Commission."

While the newly approved homecoming budget is almost $500 less than the past one, it was necessary to request a larger portion from the student fees. Commissioner Hendrickson explained that "last fall each student had to pay for the concert thus giving us additional income. This year the concert is being handled as a lucreum at no cost to the students and we have budgeted for enough money to handle a big same band. The deficit will be made up from the student activity fees. The Sharivar request is virtually identical to this years."

The Finance Commission, after investigation, also approved a request from the Dairy Science Club for $350. The Commission of Inter-campus Affairs was allotted $585, "most of which," according to Commissioner Gary Powell, "is earmarked for the recently joined Associated Student Government."

"Due to our late start we still have a considerable number of requests to review," said Estenson, "but we are making progress and should be caught up within a week."

GRADUATION AWARD

Those gold bars mark you as a man apart from other men—a man able to work with others—to inspire them. They mark you a leader.

An Army officer's commission is proof to the world that your country places its trust and confidence in your judgment and ability—proof that you have what it takes to make a decision and then act on it.

These are qualities built by Army ROTC training...qualities that will pay off for the rest of your life, no matter what your career—military or civilian.

If you're good enough to be an Army officer, don't settle for less. Stay in ROTC.
