Agricultural Club Disbanded For Failure to Comply

Failure to comply with university regulations has meant the disbanding of the American Farm Economics Club on campus. According to Daniel Leasure, dean of students, the club failed to bring their constitution up to date. Leasure remarked that the club was asked to do this work as long as a year ago. Leasure also said that a final letter was mailed to the club on March 4 for the club to acknowledge the request. However, Leasure said, the club had received no such information regarding a constitution.

Wayne Poppus, former club president, said that he had received no such information regarding a constitution.

The club was dissolved. However, "if the club makes a new constitution and petitions again for reorganization they will be in the good graces of the administration once more," said Leasure.

Economics Prof Selected

Thor Hertagard, assistant professor of agricultural economics, has been selected as "Teacher of the Year" by Alpha Zeta, national honorary agricultural fraternity. The selection is made annually from the agricultural instructors at North Dakota State University. The announcement was made at the annual Alpha Zeta banquet May 11. Hertagard was presented with an inscribed plaque by Eddie Dunn, president of the fraternity.

History Of Graduate School Reviewed

by Alan Cecil

In the amalgamated self congratulatory speeches that are popping up all over campus during the 75th Anniversary one arm of the University community tends to be missing... the Graduate School.

Graduate students were enrolled for the first time in 1895 and according to the Graduate School Bulletin it awarded the first Masters degree in 1899. Since the number of programs open to the graduates were limited the school had no more than three participants until 1923—That year the enrollment rose to eleven. On July 1, 1954 the graduate school was given the formal approval of the North Dakota Board of Higher Education.

It was at this time that the present Dean of the Graduate School, Dr. Glenn Smith, initiated his administration of the graduates. Dr. Smith stated that the Graduate School offers advanced degree programs in all departments of the six colleges.

"The Chemistry graduates tend to make a large portion of the distinguished graduates," said Dr. Smith, "probably because of the excellent opportunities afforded them by the North Dakota State University chemistry staff."

Dean Smith went on to explain that "NDSU is one of the few universities in America where an entire college of chemistry exists."

college construction if the bond issue is unconstitutional.

Federal construction funds are provided for physical and natural sciences, mathematics, modern foreign language and library facilities through the Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963. North Dakota matches every dollar of federal aid with two dollars from state funds.

NEW FACILITIES

Considering the fact that the bond issue should be declared constitutional, Dr. Raschke was asked—What institution of higher learning will receive or benefit from the $3 million for college construction not already allocated? To this question and another concerning the possibility of NDSU getting a new field house and receiving a classroom building, which was cut by the budget board, Commissioner Raschke said, "The board has not and will not consider where this money will be spent until it is received."

New System

Counselor Duties Outlined

Best good counselors should result from a new counselor system for the men's residences, according to Dean Scott, assistant dean of students.

The new system, which will go into effect next fall, will replace one-half of the present number of counselors with assistant counselors. This would result in having one counselor and one assistant counselor on each floor.

"After the first year we will be able to choose our counselors from the most satisfactory assistants," Scott explained. "This will give us at least one year to train the assistants in the philosophy of the administration, and to prepare them for the responsibilities of a counselor."

Don Dell, counselor-coordinator, outlined the duties of the counselor under the new system as follows:

- He will be responsible for maintaining the floor government.
- He will be responsible for floor government.
- He will be responsible for maintaining an atmosphere conducive to study on the floor.
- He will be responsible for keeping the floor bulletin board up to date.
- He will be responsible for discipline and maintaining an atmosphere conducive to study on the floor.
- He will be responsible for assistance in personal counseling of the students on his floor.
- He will assist the counselor in maintaining good study conditions and discipline on the floor.
- He will be responsible for posting pertinent information and keeping the floor bulletin board up to date.

Dell said the primary limitation of the assistant counselor is "the most satisfactory assistant." Scott explained. "This system will give the assistant counselor a chance to attain experience without the pressure of full responsibility."

Air Force ROTC

has now been updated to fit into today's busy undergraduate schedule.

Here are the facts about the new two-year AFROTC Program.

Who is eligible for two-year AFROTC? Any male undergraduate who still has two years remaining in college. It's an especially good break for junior college students who plan to complete their baccalaureate requirements as a four-year institution.

What's the curriculum like? It's been thoroughly revamped. You won't find pat answers and traditional ritualized solutions to problems. New instructional methods teach the student to arrive at his own conclusions, and to test them against those of his classmates and instructors. Symbolic of the change is the new title - Department of Aerospace Studies.

How will students for the new program be chosen? First, you must pass the Air Force Officer Qualifying Test and have a medical examination. Then you meet with the interview board of senior Air Force officers, who will decide whether you are to be selected to attend the Field Training Course. This will be held during the summer before your junior year. Its purpose is two-fold; to let the Air Force judge you and to let you judge the Air Force. Only after you are both satisfied will you be enrolled in the program. So you see, you have everything to gain and nothing to lose by applying now. But you must act fast - applications will be closing for next year's juniors. Forms are available from the Professor of Aerospace Studies, or from Headquarters Air Force ROTC, Maxwell AFB, Alabama.

As an AFROTC cadet, will I receive pay? Yes, you will be paid for the Field Training Course which will amount to approximately $120. During the school year, you will be paid $40 a month, and you will also get free uniforms.

Will I have a chance to fly while I am in AFROTC? Senior graduates are eligible for the Flying Instruction Program. This involves 36 hours of flight training and 35 hours of ground school. Successful completion earns you a civilian private pilot's license.

Spectrum Spring: Successful; Editor Suggests Research

North Dakota State University's Big Spring event is over. On the eve of this event, the Spectrum staff, the committee of university senators, the Saalstra administration and the student body all planned and worked towards solving the problem - using whatever techniques, channels or other devices available and at a cost that the University can afford.

The program at hand should be carried out for a period of time and then re-evaluated. From the evaluation, changes in the program should be made accordingly. If no changes in content are needed the program can always be modernized.

We admit we do not know whether Sharivar is worth the trouble or not. We do not know that we would like to see some facts gathered scientifically. Such facts would reinforce the truth cries of "Yes" andenson silence of others.

With the increased growth of the University, parking is becoming more and more of a problem. The ultimate goal is paved lots for students. We agree with the $5 parking fee for students. Last year two faculty lots and the Memorial Union visitor's lot were paved; the costs for these projects depleted funds needed for other purposes. Such parking fees and fines and required additional money appropriated from other funds.

This year, at the suggestion of a member of the Board of Higher Education, the committee discussed permitting faculty members to park in the student lots.

As members of the press attending this meeting, we voiced our objections by stating that such inequitable treatment of students is not by the NDSU Board of Publications, State University Station, Fargo, N.D. 58102.

To the editor:

Dear Editor

I am a staff member of the NDSU Department of English. In your issue of May 1, 1965, the article "Proposed Fee Inequality" appeared on page 4. After reading this, I felt that the editorials were a waste of space. I believe that the students of NDSU are entitled to equal treatment.

I would like to state that I am against the proposed fee inequality. The students of NDSU should be treated equally, and the University should provide equal opportunities for all.

Sincerely,

Lynn Johnson
Assistant Professor of English

In last week's issue of the Spectrum, the letter to the editor "Congress Not Following Constitution" by Robert Dresser deserves careful study. His letter attacks the current Federal Voting Bill being considered in Congress.

Dresser, as a lawyer, feels the bill is unconstitutional because it takes away certain rights of states in administering voter requirements.

I recommend that Dresser take another look at his law book concerning constitutional law. The writers of the Constitution state very plainly that the Constitution gives to the states the law of the land and will take precedence over any state law that might conflict.

Keeping the above fact in mind, let us examine Dresser's statements on the 15th amendment. Congress feels it has the power to make the new voting bill and draws its authority from this amendment. Dresser very ably cites Section I of the amendment in support of his argument that "Neither in this amendment nor elsewhere in the Constitution is there a clearly defined line of rights to the determinations of the states in this area."

For some unknown reason, Dresser fails to cite Section III of the amendment. It states, "The Congress shall have the power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."

The power to make the new voting bill is in Section II because a majority of the congressmen feel that some states have misused their powers in order to keep certain minorities from voting. Dresser is right when he says the Constitution shall have the power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

What students realize after studying the Constitution is that most laws and limitations drawn from the Constitution have been interpreted by our congressmen and Supreme Court. The Constitution is a very excellent document because of its great generalities which the writers used when putting it together. The writers knew they couldn't write details and regulations and the document was to withstand the changes and growth sure to come about in this new country. The Constitution then is a living document that will continue to be interpreted with the years necessary.

Nick Jones, AS

Dear Dean,

I am writing to you because a majority of the students have expressed the opinion that the appointment of Dr. Albrecht for President should be opposed. It is the opinion of students and faculty members that the present system of administration is unnecessary and that a President should be elected by the faculty, staff and students.

I would like to know if you have any plans for the future of the University. I do not mean a successor to Dr. Albrecht, but a new plan for the University. I would like to know if you think the University is on the right track.

Sincerely yours,

John Johnson

Dean of Colleges

Mr. Dean,

I am a student of the University and I am writing to discuss the matter of student representation in the University Senate. I believe that students should have a greater say in the matter of the University's policies, and I would like to know if you agree.

Sincerely yours,

Mary Smith

Support Claimed For Model UN

To the editor:

Wishing to call your attention to an article entitled "Student Finance Commission Rejects Model U. N. Proposed Budget," published in last week's Spectrum, I would like to clarify certain misconceptions regarding the proposed Model United Nations Assembly at North Dakota State University.

According to Lionel Estenson, as the budget was turned down because "the sponsors had not shown concrete evidence" that such a conference would arouse enough interest on campus. In the same article, Estenson mentioned the unanimous endorsement of the project by both the University and Student Senate, wonder what was meant by concrete evidence? I also wonder why, at the time the budget was discussed, there was no question asked regarding student support?

Had the commission bothered to ask, it would have discovered that, to date, the project has been strongly endorsed by the Governor of North Dakota; Dr. H. R. Albrecht, Dr. James Nicker- son, Dean Seth Russell, Dean Daniel Leasure and Rev. Robert Wherry, and have all agreed to involve themselves directly by serving on the Board of Directors.

More than 50 students, within the first week after the project was announced, agreed to work actively in the program, most of them unsolicited. This number includes four student senators and the President of the Student Body. I think that this response, judged by any standards, is obviously indicative of interest in the project.

Dr. William Dinunso, finance commission advisor, made the statement that "there was little active support in the University Senate." I find his statement strange and uncalled for. The resolution to endorse the Model United Nations Assembly was introduced by Dr. John Hove and seconded by Dr. Donald Schwartz, then passed unanimously. If I read Dinunso's expected that the members of the University Senate should have given a standing ovation or pounded on their desks (there were no desks available) to show their active support, then I would have to agree with his statement.

For the last two decades the UNO has been serving to alleviate international strife, providing vital international services, and enabling people around the world to enjoy a more meaningful way of life.

The purpose of the Model United Nations Assembly is education through participation. Student delegates who attend the proceedings will gain an increased knowledge of world affairs, international diplomacy, the structure and function of the UNO, and the use of parliamentary procedures. I believe this kind of program to be most beneficial to an institution of higher learning.

Pedestrian Survey Made

First results of a pedestrian survey under the direction of the Student Senate indicate that a stoplight between Twelfth Avenue and Thirteenth Avenue on University Drive is impractical.

The survey was under the leadership of Tanfield Miller, commissioner of legislative research. Miller said that statistics show that one-fourth of the students crossing University Drive at the intersection of that street and Thirteenth Avenue. Miller stated that the most densely crossed period was between the hours of 11 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Student senators were positioned on a two hour rotating basis, at observation points between the corner of Twelfth Avenue and Thirteenth Avenue.

University Drive is both a city and state highway. In planning any sort of traffic regulating device on this road both governing bodies must be consulted.

Miller says that any action taken will occur within the next two weeks. Two proposals to be presented by Miller and Marvin Skodje, associate professor of civil engineering are:

- Laying white pedestrian strips across University Drive.
- Erecting of yellow crossing lights to warn oncoming cars of the walkway.

Transferring Student Problems Discussed With NDSU Deans

At present a student can take up to 50 per cent of the required graduation credits at BJC and transfer to NDSU with relatively little problem of losing college credits.

Werner said that the meeting was primarily held so that faculty of BJC could get acquainted with faculty members of NDSU.

The student transfer situation at Bismarck Junior College and North Dakota State University is fine, according to Ralph Werner, dean of BJC.

A MEASURE TO ROTC COLLEGE MEN

If you've got what it takes to be an Army officer, stay in the ROTC

Being an Army officer is a challenge. Officers must be leaders...able to take responsibility...get important jobs done.

It isn't easy to win a commission as an Army officer. But if you are taking the Basic Course in ROTC you're well on your way—provided you can measure up to the high standards required for admission to the Advanced Course.

As a student in one of the 247 colleges and universities offering senior ROTC training, you are in a privileged group. There's no better way for any college man to get the training and skills needed to be an Army officer than the on-campus program created specifically for that purpose—ROTC.

Here you learn to be a leader...to develop the qualities that add a vital plus to your academic training...qualities that will pay off for the rest of your life in whatever career you choose to follow.

There are other advantages too. Pay, at the rate of $40 per month during the Advanced Course plus allowances for summer training and travel. Fellow­ship and social activity. The chance to work with modern Army equipment, and perhaps to qualify for Army flight training if it is offered at your school. And then gold bars and a commission as an Army officer.

Why not talk to your Professor of Military Science now. Let him know you're interested in signing up for the Advanced Course. Then if you pass the Physical Fitness Test, and get to make the opportunity to join, don't pass it up. It's the program that's best for you...and best for your country.

If you're good enough to be an Army officer, don't settle for less.

Knudson Lends Power To Bison Baseball

One of the brighter spots on the North Dakota State University baseball scene this season has been the power hitting of Andy Knudson, 220-pound Bison catcher. While the Bison are having a mediocre 4-9 season, Knudson has hit four home runs and has been the deciding factor in many games.

The switch-hitting Knudson recently powered the Bison to a sweep of a North Central Conference doubleheader against Augustana by hitting two home runs and having four runs batted in. Knudson finished the day with three hits in five trips.

Knudson’s athletic ability has been demonstrated in other yellow and green uniforms. He is probably best known for his outstanding end play on the Bison’s NCC championship football team.

Assistant Football Coach Buck Nystrom said, “His size and speed give him the qualities necessary to play both the offensive and defensive phase of the position.”

Knudson played tight end both ways throughout the season after earning a starting berth during fall workouts.

“He played as many minutes as anyone on the team,” stated Nystrom. “Knudson should be an important cog in our attack again this year, but we won’t play him both ways, if we can find a replacement.”

Knudson hopes to play professional football after graduation.

Al Peterson - Mudra Offers Explanation

Like flowers and old soldiers the swimming pool issue has practically faded away. However, before it completely settles, some clarification is needed. In my last of several conversations with Athletic Director Darrell Mudra, regarding this project, he did give me this statement, "To set the record straight on the swimming pool, we the athletic department, must assume the responsibility for failure to complete the project. Dr. H. R. Albrecht obtained permission from the Board of Higher Education to complete the pool with funds that were to be raised by students and donations. This failed by a considerable sum." He continued, "No funds are available for this project through University appropriations at this time."

DUCHARME LANDS COACHING JOB

Former NDSU 3-sport star, Pierre DuCharme has been named assistant football coach at Fargo Central High School. In addition to his coaching duties Pierre will teach English and speech. DuCharme earned seven letters while at NDSU and was partially responsible for much of NDSU's athletic success. Fargo Central will profit from NDSU's loss.

DuCharme will be playing one more game on the NDSU campus however, before he leaves, he will be sharing the quarterback duties with Frank Haggard. More alumni are expected to report as the week progresses.

Leading hitter on the Bison nine thus far is first baseman, Ray Ellingrud. Ellingrud is rapping the ball at a .460 clip, Andy Knudson leads in doubles with four.

Israel Farmer

Exchange Delegate Arrives

Yoram Levine, the first of four International Farm Youth Exchange delegates, will arrive in North Dakota May 12. Levine, a farmer from Kibbutz Negev, Israel, will spend the next three months in North Dakota. "You IFYE from the United States will visit Israel in the exchange," said Mrs. Gladys Hansen, associate state 4-H leader, who is in charge of North Dakota's program.

Levine, 27, has lived for 23 years on a 3000 acre farm, of which 1,000 acres are irrigated. He is especially interested in our irrigation methods, particularly in relation to potatoes, sugar beets and cotton production practices.

A past member of the Boy Scouts in Israel, Levine is also interested in amateur theatre. His native language is Hebrew but he speaks fluent English. Levine has completed six years of secondary school. Before going to visit another state Levine will visit a number of different farm homes in North Dakota.

This year 33 countries will participate in the program with over 100 two-way exchanges.
