

Model United Nations Convenes Tomorrow

The Model United Nations Conference will convene tomorrow at 1:00 p.m. in the Memorial Union and run through Saturday night.

The keynote speaker of the conference will be the representative to the United Nations from Communist Hungary, Mr. Dsatorday. Dsatorday will arrive in Fargo Saturday morning and will be on campus prior to his evening address.

The once postponed assembly will be made up of 60 delegations representing the major members of the UN as well as several powerful lobby groups. Five colleges other than North Dakota State University, 24 local high schools and 19 organizations from this campus are sending delegations.

The conference will begin with a mock General Assembly meeting Thursday afternoon where policy statements will be read and credentials will be checked. That night the delegates will attend their respective power bloc caucuses and then attend a reception.

On Friday the delegates will attend council and committee meetings which will initiate the proceedings of the Security Council as well as the other councils and committees which handle UN business.

The General Assembly will reconvene Saturday and will end the conference by debating the resolutions brought before it from the committee meetings of the previous day.

At the banquet for participants that night, Mr. Dsatorday will address the delegates on the workings of the UN.

Originally Janos Radvanyi, Ambassador from Hungary, was scheduled to address the conference but last week he was forced to cancel his plans and recommend another member of the Hungarian delegation in the United States.

"Plans went more smoothly than expected," said David Bate-man AS 2, Secretary-General of the MUN. "Several schools canceled their plans to attend when we were forced to change the date of the meeting, but more colleges replaced them. The meeting should be a success," he continued.

All the meetings will be open to students and the townspeople.

Students Deferments Based On Grades

College enrollment may soon cease to be a basis for draft deferment for some North Dakota State University students.

Burton Brandrud, registrar at NDSU, said that he was recently advised by the National Selective Service Office to be prepared to re-instate procedures used during and immediately following the Korean conflict.

"If such procedures are again adopted, male students will be rated according to class standing in their respective colleges. At the end of each academic year these ratings will be reported to the student's local draft board for review," stated Brandrud. In the past, the usual procedure was to reclassify those rated in the lowest one-fourth of their class.

Brandrud continued, "Although there is no change imminent, if military man-power needs continue as at present, students who are not carrying at least 12 credit hours or who are not maintaining at least a 'C' average may soon be in danger of being drafted."

North Dakota State Selective Service officials have revealed that this state is expected to supply 154 men for the January armed forces quota. This figure is the highest since the outbreak of the Viet Nam crisis.

Registrants between the ages of 19 and 26 without children will be taken. A married man who can produce a doctor's certificate stating his wife is pregnant will be deferred.

Schindler Awarded Rhodes Scholarship

Winning scholarships, elections and football games has become commonplace in the life of Jim Schindler, AS 4, who recently received a Rhodes scholarship to attend Oxford University.

Student Body President Schindler is one of 32 students in the nation who received the grant which provides for two years of study at Oxford. The scholar receives $2500 annually for living expenses and tuition.

The highly regarded scholarships are noted for the broad range of qualities which the recipient must possess and for the highly competitive nature of the award.

Along with his recently acquired Rhodes Scholarship, Schindler received the National Collegiate Athletic Association post graduate scholarship for $1000. He is also competing for a Marshall Scholarship.

Schindler has served as president of the North Dakota State University student body since last February. The scholarship winner was elected to the post on a write-in ballot.

While playing varsity football at NDSU Schindler played on Division I teams which won 24 games and lost 6. The athletic prowess of Schindler helped him win the NCAA award which is granted to only 22 scholarly collegiate football players in the United States each year.

Schindler is a name previously associated with the Rhodes Scholarship. David Schindler, Jim's brother, won the same honor in 1963 and is currently in residence at Oxford.

As an honor student in zoology Schindler is a member of Blue Key national honor fraternity, Phi Kappa Phi, a national honorary and instructs a zoology awarded to young men in the United States since 1904. A total of 1798 men have received the awards.

Few Discipline Cases Handled In Dean Of Students Office

Disciplinary action is continuing at its record low pace this year, according to Dean Scott, assistant dean of men. Even the Christmas rush failed to yield its normal amount of shoplifting and malicious mischief by University students.

During the past month, three male students were charged with shoplifting. One pocketed a pair of socks worth 59 cents. For this he paid a $100 fine and received a thirty day suspended jail sentence. Another student met the same fate when he was nabbed while trying to steal a steak from a supermarket.

The number of students charged this year was fewer than last year. "We don't claim that there are fewer incidents occurring this year," said Scott, "but there certainly are fewer getting caught."

"A student apprehended for stealing is liable to both the University and the courts," said Scott. "We do not feel that this is double jeopardy though, since many judges will give the defendant a suspended jail sentence as long as he is allowed to remain in the University. Our normal course of action therefore is disciplinary probation."

During the fall quarter a number of co-eds were allegedly "molested" while studying in the stacks in the library. One such charge brought the police to the building where they detained a student for interrogation. Criminal charges were not brought against the student, but he was held responsible by the University. "Under the circumstances and considering all aspects of the incident and the people involved, we felt that this action was in the best interest of all concerned," Scott concluded.

Students To Travel Overseas As Ambassadors

Student Senate has appropriated $2000 to send two North Dakota State University students overseas as student ambassadors.

Six semi-finalists' applications were sent to national headquarters of the Experiment in International Living program in Vermont, where officials made their recommendations.

Jennifer Roden, AS 3, and Roger Wetzel, CH 4, were selected as finalists. Miss Roden will travel to Finland and Wetzel will live in Israel.

Miss Roden said, "I'm thrilled and anxious to go. I know I'll have much to learn before I go and after I arrive. I hope I can portray some of our culture to them and that they can do the same for me."

"I am looking forward to being in a country where there are two separate cultures," commented Wetzel when he learned of his selection. "Israel is a nation where there is both an ancient and a modern way of life. It is also a nation which is subjected to constant pressures from the outside world which result in a way of life different from that of the U. S."

The other semi-finalists were Lois McKennet, HE 2; Joyce Nelson, HE 2; Nanette Vest, HE 2 and Brady Vick, CH 2. They were chosen by a committee headed by Rev. Robert Siberry.

Among the qualifications were the applicant's interest in people, ability to adapt gracefully to a variety of situations and desire to contribute personally to international friendship and understanding. The applicants also demonstrated initiative and curiosity, leadership in extracurricular activities, ability to get along well with others and a satisfactory academic record.

The Experiment in International Living is a national private non-profit organization in the field of international education. Each year it sends approximately 4500 community and college ambassadors to more than 45 countries on six continents. The ambassadors spend a month living with a family in a foreign country and several weeks traveling informally with their host families or helping at a work camp.

The philosophy of the experiment is that significant advances toward world peace can be made at the individual level by introducing the people of one country to the people of another country through the basic social structure of the family.

"We hope Student Senate will endorse the program again and consider more ambassadors," commented Rev. Siberry. "It is a valuable experience for both the students and the country participating."

Research Begins On Properties Of Linseed Oil

The college of Chemistry and Physics at North Dakota State University is commencing a research project on the properties of linseed oil. The project conducted under the auspices of the Department of Polymers and Coatings, will run four years at the cost of $100,000.

Dr. Alfred E. Rheineck, chairman of the department of Polymers and Coatings said the research would be financed by the State of North Dakota, the National Flaxseed Producers Association and the United States Department of Agriculture.

Plans call for the research to be primarily "basic" in nature, aimed at finding new commercial uses for linseed oil.

Rheineck said that increased knowledge about linseed oil could have far-reaching implications for North Dakota flax growers and for the state's entire economy.

North Dakota ranks first in the United States among flax-producing states, with South Dakota second and Minnesota third, according to 1964 Crop and Livestock Statistics, prepared by NDSU's Department of Agricultural Economics and the USDA Statistical Reporting Service. As a cash-producing agricultural crop, flax ranks fifth in North Dakota.

During the last North Dakota Legislature, the possibility of expanding NDSU's participation in linseed oil research was suggested to Dr. Rheineck by State Representative R. F. Reimers. Rheineck drew up a proposal for the research and Rep. Reimers prepared a bill which resulted in a $40,000 legislative appropriation, to be handled through the North Dakota Economic Development Commission.

At the same time, the National Flaxseed Producers Association also became interested and subsequently granted an additional $20,000.

With the announcement of a cooperative research agreement financed under a $40,000 contract with the USDA, the project is ready to get under way.

Under Dr. Rheineck's direction, the research will be conducted as a post-doctoral research project in chemistry, with other graduate students also participating.

Showmanship Event Open

Students who have not signed up for the showmanship contest for the Little International may still do so by contacting Melvin Leland, manager of the show.

The annual contest, sponsored by the Saddle and Sirloin Club, is slated for Feb. 12 in Sheppard Arena. The contest is open to all North Dakota State University and short course students.

The four divisions of the show are beef, dairy, sheep and swine. All show animals are supplied by the University herds and are drawn for by the contestants.

The division superintendents are Allen Odenbach, beef; Jim Sailer, dairy; Fred Schroeber, sheep and Roger Haugen, swine. These students along with herdsman will be available for help and suggestions in preparing the animals. Fitting and showing demonstrations will be presented before the opening of show.

Quality of the animal does count in this show. Livestock nearly similar in size and quality as possible are selected for division of the contest.

Prizes include scholarships, trophies, ribbons and cash awards. The entry fee of two dollars will be refunded after the animal has been exhibited.

Senate Records Abound With Postponed Actions

Student government is soon to involve itself in the annual din of elections. This seems an appropriate time to review the activities of the Senate, soon to be replaced.

In reviewing the record of this Senate, the most striking action revolves around the topic, "what student senate has not accomplished."

To begin with tired issues: Our Senate has sent letters to state officials, received advice from traffic experts and even counted cars on University drive. Yet people continue to play the daily game of "dodge the traffic on an icy street."

"Buy a blue and white button that says 'Splash'" and help the Senate support the drive to complete the swimming pool. There is still a concrete walled wrestling room in the Fieldhouse.

Teacher evaluation, formerly tested and proved to be of value in actual use, now sits in the committee to which it was referred for further study.

It may seem unfair that these unfinished tasks are the concerns of our present Senate because they were initiated in earlier Senates. Does this justify passing the responsibility again?

We proceed to more recent issues: Based on a poll taken by one of the commissions, Senate passed a motion to split vacation in the Spring between quarter break and Easter. The entire break is now scheduled at Easter only.

Two Senate seats have been vacant since the beginning of Fall quarter. Action necessary to fill these vacancies has been deferred in meeting after meeting. It now appears that the chairs will be left empty until after the next election. This may be practical, but it leaves future Senates without a sound policy to follow; only a bad precedent.

Concerning less important matters: Our campus leaders recommended to move a stuffed Bison's head to a prominent place on campus. The head still rests in obscurity.

This fall the Senate voted in favor of lowering the price of Homecoming dance tickets. This proposal was acted upon and the Homecoming Dance took a financial loss. The Senate was confronted with the problem of making up the deficit. Results: No action taken pending further study.

There are, no doubt, many good reasons for these uncompleted and unaccomplished matters. Nevertheless, these proposals for action passed by the members of the Senate are uncompleted.

But we continue with a statement made in October to the paper by a member on the Commission of Legislative Research, "A new student body constitution may be a reality by the first of the year." Today is Jan. 12.

This editorial does not pretend to give a complete picture of the past year of student government. It serves only to point out the many areas of uncompleted work in the records of the Senate.

It is our hope that the Senate will complete projects now sitting in the committees before the campaigning and elections again dominate student politics. J.G.

Student Leaders Rejected

University, Ala. (I.P.) — "College Reformers: 1965" was the subject of the University of Alabama's Interim Dean of Men David Mathews' speech to student leaders at their recent annual retreat.

Dean Mathews pointed out that in many cases on campuses it is not the elected student leaders that the students follow but a group of unofficial leaders. Less than 10 percent of the students are reformers. To meet their challenge student leaders must be able to see beyond traditional roles, he said. It is really a question of communications.

There are several factors which contribute to the development of student protests, said the Dean of Men. First there is a noticeable change in the educational philosophy of students. Many feel that the principles they learn in the classroom must be proven in real life before they can be believed. Second, students are looking for a better definition of academic freedom. They are looking for freedom to ask for what they feel needs to be taught. Third, and perhaps most important, students are insisting on new political status.

It is our obligation to make an effort to understand the reforming college student, Dean Mathews said. It has been said "the mark of a true university is whether or not it takes its students seriously," and this includes critics and crusaders, he added.

Letters to the Editor . . . Walking Is Dangerous Icy Conditions Prevail On Campus

To the editor:

After almost two years of dragging their feet the administration and Mr. Thorson's Department of Building and Grounds have provided this campus with ice surfaces on which to skate. As a matter of fact, all of the paths and roads around campus as well as the majority of the steps are coated with several inches of smooth solid ice.

Furthermore, the maintenance department is nice enough to keep loose snow off these surfaces so that a student, or professor for that matter, can fall and get killed without being bothered by the cold, wet snow.

The steps of Old Main are made perilous by several inches of ice, the walks leading from the northern dorm complex are submerged by a continuous ribbon of frozen debris, and the roads throughout campus are in no safer condition. Why are salt or sand not applied to the walks and roads to alleviate the icy conditions and why do not maintenance men scrape the steps to keep them safe?

The University, and the state, do not have to worry about death or injury which may occur because of their failure to remove the ice from the walk; they are protected. In North Dakota it is virtually impossible to sue the state even for negligence on their part, so why should they worry about keeping the campus safe?

In a state where temperatures are frequently below zero and where snow falls for half the year, should not a University the size of North Dakota State be better equipped to cope with the hazards which result from winter conditions? Perhaps the University is well equipped and the present state of the campus is due to either neglect or laziness on the part of Mr. Thorson and his staff.

Whatever the reason for the present failure to make the campus safe, the maintenance staff cannot neglect their duty to the 5000 people who live, work and study at NDSU.

The necessary steps must be taken immediately even if the University is not legally responsible for any accidents or if it does not care if these accidents occur, to insure the physical welfare of students who must either walk or drive on campus. These steps, whatever they are, must be taken soon so that the spring thaw does not beat the maintenance men to the campus ice rinks.

NDSU Donations Aid Telecast

To the editor:

As a result of the wonderful generosity of the students and faculty of North Dakota State University, we were able to present a fine telecast of the Pecan Bowl football game between our NDSU Bison and the Grambling Tigers on Dec. 11, in Abilene, Tex.

Naturally, we were thrilled over the results of the football game, however, the tremendous response to our appeal for more telecast the game was equal as thrilling and extremely gratifying. Donations were received from the entire area and a $5,000 goal was achieved. Fifty-nine percent from Fargo-Moorhead alumni and businessmen, 21 percent from out of town alumni and businessmen, 13 percent from NDSU students and percent from NDSU faculty.

Our State University had excellent exposure to about 600,000 television viewers North Dakota and Minnesota.

The primary objective of the Association is to assist in building and perpetuating a great university at NDSU. With your continuing interest and support, many goals we have established will be attained.

Agin our sincere thanks for your generous gifts for Pecan Bowl telecast.

Memberships In Organizations Made Private By Resolution

(ACP)—A resolution asking that students be able to place a hold on the record of their membership in campus organizations was passed Dec. 3 by the Assembly of the University of Minnesota Student Association, reports the Minnesota Daily.

This hold would prevent any release of this information by the Office of the Dean of Students without the student's permission.

The resolution, which originated in an MSA policy statement on academic freedom, was previously passed by the MSA Senate. It must be approved by the Dean of Students before becoming effective.

MSA requested the change in policy because "an organization which seems reasonable to some people may seem subversive or disloyal to others. A student's investigation of ideas must not be inhibited by his concern over the influences society may exert."

MSA Vice-president Howard Kaibel put it this way, "The University is a place separate from society where the student has the opportunity to experiment with ideas. He should have the right to suppress information about his activities if he later feels they're not such good ideas."

The Dean, in consultation with his staff, now has authority to make decisions on the release of information about students, subject to review by the vice president for educational relationships and development.

Both the Dean and his assistant have expressed disapproval of the idea of closing student files on request. Assistant Dean Martin Snoke said he protested "this notion that we have the right to hide a particular aspect of our activity. This is contrary to the essential philosophy of democracy."

Dean E. G. Williams said he wanted time to discuss the question "to find out just how the students propose to improve conditions. It took up five years to form our present position and we think we have some good reasons for it."

"If a member of the FBI comes to me and wants to know whether a student was a member of the DuBois Club, I'll tell him," the Dean said. "Am I supposed to lie? I'm a public official and I have a public responsibility."

The Assembly also mandated the executive committee to take necessary steps toward the adoption of the proposal by the dean's office.

Playboy Research

Survey Reveals Students Support GOP

(Copyright 1965 by Playboy Magazine)—While the large majority of U. S. college students and their faculty agree that President Lyndon B. Johnson will be re-elected to a second term, the students favor a Republican candidate. This is the finding of the Playboy College Opinion Survey covering 200 campuses conducted one week after the election of John V. Lindsay as Mayor of New York City.

The Survey shows that as of today a majority of the students (55 percent) would vote for a Republican candidate in 1968. On the other hand, 66 percent of the faculty would prefer a Democratic candidate.

Despite their preference, however, 91 percent of the students agree that a Democratic candidate would win the election.

Eighty-six percent concede the election to Mr. Johnson while 5 percent think Sen. Robert Kennedy of New York might win.

Among the faculty sample polled, 95 percent believe that the Democratic party will again be victorious, and only 1 percent of these believe it will be someone other than Mr. Johnson.

Of those students who chose Republican candidates, 11 percent cast their ballots for Barry Goldwater, 10 percent for New York Mayor-elect Lindsay, 9 percent for Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, 8 percent for Michigan Governor George Romney, 8 percent for former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, 4 percent for Gov. Mark Hatfield, of Oregon, and 4 percent for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

Among the students who prefer the Democratic party in 1968, 29 percent chose Mr. Johnson as their favorite candidate; 12 percent, Sen. Kennedy; 2 percent, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey; and 1 percent, Gov. George Wallace of Alabama.

Out of the 9 percent of students who believe a Republican candidate might emerge victorious, Governors Romney and Scranton, Goldwater and Lindsay - each are conceded a 2 percent chance. Two percent of the faculty thought Nixon might be a winning candidate, while 1 percent said Gov. Romney had a chance.

The Survey determined that 76 percent of the student respondents will be eligible to vote for the first time in the next presidential election.

The Playboy College Opinion Survey is based on responses from a representative sample of approximately 1000 students from all classes, ages and backgrounds who serve as a permanent "sounding board" on questions of current interest. Another permanent panel of 200 faculty members, one representative of each campus, comprising a wide variety of educational fields, have been polled. The survey also reflects opinions from campuses on a regional basis in the East, Midwest, South, Southwest and West.

No Beer Sold In Iowa Unions

A resolution favoring the sale of beer in the student unions in the state schools of Iowa was defeated by the Iowa Board of Regents.

The resolution would have permitted the three state institutions, University of Iowa, Iowa State University and State College of Iowa, to sell beer in the unions to students over 21.

The proposal was submitted to the Board in October but when time came for the vote last month, only two of the Regents supported the plan.

The originator of the plan received 120 letters and two petitions containing 164 signatures against the resolution. Only two letters were received in support of the plan.

Sorority Policies Questioned

(ACP)—Sororities should be allowed to choose their members on a basis of a coed's personality and how they react to her as an individual, says the Iowa State Daily, Iowa State University. But at the present time, many are not free to choose on this basis.

Ironically, it is not the University which deprives sororities of this freedom, but instead the policies of the sororities themselves as established and perpetuated by their national organizations.

Many sororities require a recommendation from the alumnae chapter before they can pledge a particular coed. This means that if one alumna objects to the coed's father's occupation, her color or her religion, she cannot be pledged even if she has the approval of the members of the individual chapter.

Actually, then, no matter how many non-discriminatory statements the national organization is willing to sign, it is doubtful that a sorority could pledge a Negro, regardless of her qualifications.

The sororities which have this strict recommendation policy should act to remove this requirement or to adopt a more lenient one. This would help to assure the freedom of choice these sororities and their alumnae say they value so highly.

Fourth Loss

Omaha Wrestlers Defeat Bison, 26-8

The Bison grapplers suffered their fourth dual-meet loss of the season Saturday when they lost to the University of Omaha 26-8. Bison wrestlers were successful in gaining two victories and a tie in the meet.

Larry Mollins, wrestling in the 130 pound class, decided his opponent 4-2 in a close battle. Team captain Joe McCormick brought his season record to 5-1 by gaining a 9-4 decision in the 152 pound class, while brother Steve McCormick fought his challenger to a 1-1 draw.

Probable turning point of the meet resulted in the 137 pound class when Willis Jackson was pinned after leading his opponent up to that point. Jackson, a transfer from Rochester Junior College, suffered a reoccurrence of a chronic knee ailment and was pinned giving Omaha an 8-3 lead.

Coach Bucky Maughn reports that Jackson will be ready for the meet with Minnesota (Morris) next week.

Coach Maughn had to shuffle his lineup slightly when sophomore Tom Valentine had to have surgery and was unable to wrestle. Steve McCormick, regular 160 pounder, was moved up to Valentine's vacated 167 pound class and the Bison subsequently forfeited the 160 class.

At this point of the season, the Bison have a 2-4 season record in dual-meet competition.

On Jan. 11 the Bison travel to the University of Minnesota Morris Branch for a dual-meet before returning home to South Dakota on Jan. 14.

Frosh grapplers will host the University of North Dakota Sioux freshmen wrestlers tonight at 6 p.m. in the Fieldhouse.

Coed Bowlers Form League

Excitement is loud and strong every Tuesday night in the Memorial Union Lanes. Tuesday night the women's league bowlers were organized the fourth year of fall quarter. Any women's organization on campus can be presented by a team on the league.

The play-offs will be Feb. 1. At present Kappa Epsilon is the leading team with 18 wins and 6 losses.

Individual trophies will be awarded to the champions of each team members. A prize is given for the highest individual score. The top three scores at present are Leola Kenniche, AS 1, with 174; Sharon Fahlstrom, AS 4, with 155 and Sandy Burley, AS 4, with 154.

An award is also given for the highest total amount of points in a two-game series. The highest women in this series far are Lois Ellingsberg, AS 2, with 298; Sharon Fahlstrom with 284 and Leola Kenniche with 284.

Elsie Raer, associate professor of physical education, and Marjorie Anderson, AS 4, are the advising and coordinating chairmen of the league.

Women's Rifle Team Wins Two

Members of the women's rifle team from North Dakota State University have won first place in two recent rifle matches.

Firing in a shoulder-to-shoulder match with the Fargo Women's Athletic Club and the Fargo Junior Girls Rifle Club in early December the NDSU co-eds compiled a score of 996 of a possible 1200 to win first place.

Teresa Doeling, AS 2, had the highest individual score of 251. Other team members were Ginger Person, AG 2; Sue Carpenter, AS 2; Marilyn Walkinshaw, AS 2; Cynthia Watt, AS 1 and DeLaine Dufault, HE 1.

A rematch during this month is planned by the three teams. The Fargo YW-YMCA is the host of the matches.

In a postal match with the co-eds of Drexel Institute, Philadelphia, the NDSU women's team scored 1300 points to win over the Philadelphia team with 1202.

Mary Pat Wilson, AS 1, was the high scoring individual in the match with a score of 272. Teresa Doeling fired a second place 266.

Members of the NDSU Women's Rifle team are coached by cadre of the Reserve Officers Training Corps on campus. The co-eds are members of the Women's Recreation Association.

Balanced Scoring Sparks Bison Wins

Balanced scoring helped the surprising Bison cagers to two North Central Conference victories when they defeated Augustana, 71-59, and South Dakota State University, 83-78.

The two wins moved North Dakota State University's basketball record to 9-5. The Bison are tied with the University of North Dakota for the NCC league lead with a 40 record.

In each of last weekend's NCC games the Bison cagers had four starters in double figures. Bob Maier, who recently was switched to guard, and Ron Schlieman, a new starter at forward, led the offense with 35 points each in the two games. Gerry Suman and Schafer had 31 each.

Schlieman sparked the Bison's victory over South Dakota State University with 25 points on 11 field goals and 3 free throws. The 6'3" sophomore forward hit eight points late in the first half that cut a SDSU lead from 12 to 4 points.

Maier helped the Bison to victory in the SDSU contest with 17 rebounds although playing guard. Assistant basketball coach Bud Belk commented, "Maier did an outstanding job. He's quick and stole the ball four or five times under the basket."

Belk continued, "It helped our scoring to move Maier to guard and get Schlieman in the lineup."

In Friday's game Maier defended Ed Byhre, who previously had haunted the Bison cagers. Byhre scored only 10 points although he was previously averaging 17.7.

Belk credited the successful weekend to fine defensive play and improved balanced scoring.

Union Plans Tourney

Memorial Union Bowling Lanes is hosting a bowling tourney Thursday, Jan. 15, beginning at 7 p.m. The tourney will include men's and women's competition.

Entry fees for the tourney are $1 and interested students are asked to register at the desk in the Games Area. The tournament manager is Chuck Nelson, AG 3.

Nelson stated, "The tournament winner will receive trophies. The Union joins the American College Unions the winners could advance to another tourney although this is still in the planning stage and indefinite."

Head basketball coach Doug Cowman stated, "After we get off to a good conference start like this, what we really need is greater moral support at our home games. A good cheering crowd can raise the morale and help us win games."

"If our home crowd can become constructive in it's cheering I feel our boys can have a 10 point edge at the start of the game," Cowman added.

Cowman commented further about the cheering of fans. "Some players can be greatly affected by the crowd. Right now our boys could use some support that would encourage our defense particularly."

Bison fans can see the cagers play this weekend when they meet Morningside College and the University of South Dakota. USD is rated as one of the stronger teams in the NCC.

Freshman Play Mayville Friday; Risk Five Game Win Streak

Bison freshmen basketball players get into regular game action again Friday for the first time in 20 days when they meet the Mayville State College Junior Varsity at the Fieldhouse at 5:30 p.m.

The frosh have a 5-0 season record with five games scheduled for January. Freshman coach Bud Belk forsees the roughest competition for his frosh unit when they face the University of North Dakota yearlings during February.

Belk stated, "I have a real good time coaching these boys; they work hard. Our lack of height and occasional poor defense have been problems."

"The main problem coming from coaching frosh basketball players," Belk continued, "is orientating them to one style of play and getting them to work together."

Ron Waggoner leads the frosh in scoring with 117 points in the five contests for a 23.4 game average. Don Kyser, a 6'6" center, leads the team in rebounds with 58, followed by Waggoner with 48.

Palma Chandler, a transfer who played at the University of Cincinnati, recently joined the squad. Belk expects Chandler, a six foot guard, to help his team because of his ability and experience.

The January schedule for the Baby Bison includes:

- Jan. 14 Mayville JV's (Home)
 - Jan. 15 Moorhead Frosh (Home)
 - Jan. 19 Concordia Frosh (Away)
 - Jan. 25 Mayville JV's (Away)
 - Jan. 29 Valley City JV's (Home)
- All home games start at 5:30 p.m.

Nation's Tops Is Second In State

Associated Press writers and sportscasters in North Dakota overlooked the accomplishments of the Bison football team in their 1965 athletic recognition awards. National Champion Bison gridders were rated second as team of the year in North Dakota. In the other selection categories, upset of the year and coach of the year, the Bison were also given little recognition.

The University of North Dakota Sioux basketball team was awarded the North Dakota Team of the Year award which the Bison gridders won with their 10-1 season last year. The state champion Minot High School basketball team finished third in this year's team of the year poll.

While I am not trying to belittle the Sioux cagers' third place finish in the National Collegiate Athletic Association small college finals, the Associated Pressmen nevertheless could have used more foresight. This year's Sioux cage unit seems well on its way to a much better record than last year's, perhaps a small college NCAA title.

With the same nucleus as last year's team, the Sioux have lost only twice. Both of the losses came at the hands of big college basketball teams, Minnesota and Bradley. UND managed to upset DePaul, a big college basketball unit, last week in a game at Grand Forks.

If UND cagers survive their two game series with the Bison in February they could well finish among the top three teams in small college ratings. Presently, the Sioux are rated fifth.

It seems that a North Central Conference title, a Pecan Bowl victory and the number one small college rating in the nation aren't credentials enough for a football team to win the North Dakota Team of the Year title. Not to mention the fact that the Bison have won 16 games in a row and scored the first victory over UND since 1952.

If the gridders didn't deserve the team of the year award, they certainly should have been in the running for the upset of the year competition. The Bison's margin in statistics over the Sioux in this year's football game was more than impressive although the final score was only 6-3—a game, by the way, that 11,000 fans will never forget. Because of Sioux dominance in the rivalry, this year's victory must be rated as a big upset.

The AP writers and sportscasters found Greg Stolt's win over champion George Cram Jr. in the North Dakota Amateur Golf Tournament their upset of the year.

The same AP writers and sportscasters didn't find a place for Bison head football coach Darrell Mudra in their coach of the year selections. Mudra was honored by the National Coaches' Association recently by being named a finalist among the small college coach of the year selections.

Mudra's 24-6 record while coaching at North Dakota State University, along with Mineral Water and Pecan Bowl championships, didn't even get him consideration from the North Dakota AP men. It is common knowledge that one coach alone doesn't build a football program, but Mudra certainly has done most of the planning for the grid power which NDSU now has become.

Considering the accomplishments of the 1965 Bison football ball team and its coaches, one wonders what a team must do to receive recognition from the state's writers and sportscasters.

Flamenco Guitarist To Appear Tonight

Carlos Montoya, Flamenco guitarist, will appear in the first lyceum program of the winter quarter at North Dakota State University. The performance is set for Wed., Jan. 12 in Festival Hall at 8:15 p.m.

Montoya, a Spanish gypsy, comes from a family in which flamenco tradition is strong. His uncle, Ramon Montoya, was the first to use the flamenco guitar as a solo instrument. Carlos, by developing this technique, became the first flamenco concert soloist.

Montoya has had no formal musical training and cannot read music. His performances are in the creative tradition of flamenco. He never repeats exactly any rendition. The essential variations and improvisations of this type of music make each performance original.

Flamenco has strict rules of rhythm and definite chord patterns, but each artist is permitted freedom in his use of these elements. Improvisation does not mean that the selections are created on the spur of the moment, but rather that variations occur in each playing. The artists reactions to his surroundings and the audience account for these variations.

Most of the music Montoya plays bears the simple names describing the traditional dance rhythm dominant in the piece. He prefers these to fancy individual titles.

Tickets for the performance are available at the Information Desk in the Memorial Union and are free to students with activity tickets. Guest tickets may be purchased for $1.50 with an activity ticket. A limited number of tickets for the general public can be obtained for $3. All seats are reserved.

FM Air Date Announced; New Personnel Selected

KDSU FM will be on the air Jan. 17 according to Station Advisor John Abel.

Abel and C. H. Logan, director of education broadcasting, have completed staffing the new FM operation. The staff will include six announcers and six engineers.

"During broadcasting periods," Abel affirmed, "there will be at least one announcer and one engineer on duty at all times. The duties assigned to the announcers will include a minimum amount of operational tasks."

Abel also stated that the FCC regulations require that the actual operation of transmitting instruments be handled by technicians holding at least a second class license.

All six of the student engineers meet this requirement and four also hold first class licenses.

Student studio advisor Al Herr said that the transmitting tower atop Ladd Hall has been completed. The broadcasting range is approximately 25 miles.

Advisor Abel said that the station will broadcast five days a week from 4 p.m. to 11 p.m. According to Commissioner of Radio Bill Wilson, AS 4, the following tentative schedule has been set up.

4:00- 5:00 p.m. classical music

5:00- 6:00 p.m. jazz
6:00- 7:00 p.m. dinner music
7:00 -9:30 p.m. public interest programs

9:30-11:00 p.m. classical music
Some featured programs are planned including "Many Voices" a program of prose and poetry narrated by Leonard Sackett, associate professor of English. Richard Lyons, associate professor of English, will entertain also with jazz and poetry.

Although the actual licensing is not completed the FCC does permit new stations to broadcast temporarily without a charter for engineering evaluation.

This week will mark the end of the present AM broadcast. Technicians and announcers will use the week for ironing out programming difficulties.

Blue Key Award To Be Given

Blue Key will hold its annual Doctor of Service Award Banquet at North Dakota State University Memorial Union, Thursday, Jan. 27, at 6:30 p.m.

The National Honor Fraternity for men will present the Doctor of Service Award to a member of the administration, faculty or staff for outstanding service given to NDSU in addition to the specific duties for which he was hired. Other members of the university community will be recognized for their service to NDSU also. The Doctor of Service Award is one of the highest honors that can be bestowed upon a member of the University by the students.

Formerly the award was presented each spring at the Honors Day Convocation. Last year the convocation was made in a honors day for students only and the presentation of the award at that time was eliminated. Blue Key then moved the presentation of the award to an evening banquet.

Dr. Frederick Walsh, chairman of the speech department, received the award last year. The Donald Bischoff award will also be given at the banquet. It is a Memorial Award given to a junior who has been an outstanding campus leader. Gary Pfeifer was last year's recipient.

Mortor Board, the National Honor Activities Service Sorority, will attend the awards banquet. President Herbert Albrecht and persons who previously won the award will also be present.

sored by various organizations.

The women vying for the crown and their respective sponsors are: Linda Hayes, AS 3, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Susan LaMarre, HE 4, Alpha Tau Omega; Joyce Nelson, HE 2, Theta Chi; Patricia Horner, AS 2, Tau Kappa Epsilon; Lois McKennett, HE 2, Alpha Gamma Rho; Karen Gausemel, HE 4, Sigma Chi; and Susan Hall, AS 3, Engineering Council. The queen will be elected at the dance by those attending.

Tickets are $4 per couple and are available from members of the sponsors of the dance at the door.

Military Ball Theme Chosen

The annual Military Ball, the only all-university formal dance on the North Dakota State University campus, will be held Friday, Jan. 21.

The theme of the dance, sponsored by the Reserve Officer Training department, is life on a southern plantation. Music will be provided by the Strategic Air Command Dance Band.

Queen candidates are chosen from members of Angel Flight and Guidon, women's auxiliaries to the cadet corps, and are sponsored by various organizations.

Leadership Meeting Set

A Leadership Training Conference, sponsored by Student Senate, will be held in the Memorial Union Jan. 29. This conference is for potential leaders rather than established leaders.

Each University organization will send four representatives to the conference.

The day's activities will start with registration from 9:00 a.m. until 9:30 a.m. The conference including a luncheon will last until 3:00 p.m.
