

College Bowl Team Meets 375-45 Defeat

The college bowl team returned to Fargo at 9 p.m. Sunday night after their 375-45 defeat to a well-read University of Oklahoma squad that afternoon.

"The questions just didn't fall our way," explained David Knutson, captain of the group. They had a powerful team and they deserved to win. Knutson also predicted that OU will retire undefeated after five rounds.

In an untelevised match immediately preceding the one which was on a national hookup the North Dakota State University scholars jumped off to a 70-0 lead. The men from Norman, Okla., came from a 135-55 half-time deficit to pull out a 240-175 victory.

From the start it was apparent that the quartet from Fargo would not fare well. At half-time they were behind by 180 points.

Knutson explained that while their lights never showed when Oklahoma answered the question it did not mean they had not pressed their buttons.

It was close every time but they were used to the buzzer system and were just a little quicker. The questions as well were not as favorable to the NDSU squad as they were to their opponents. Most of the toss-up queries were about literature and philosophy which were not the North Dakotans' forte.

According to Knutson, the trip as a whole was most enjoyable. They stayed at the Warwick in mid-town Manhattan with the visiting Los Angeles Dodgers and Cleveland Browns. The scholars, Knutson, Larry Hendrickson, Sharon Thingelstad and Christopher Troseth along with their coach, Dr. Catherine Cater toured the island the day preceding their match.

Members of the team together with the four alternates will not be allowed to participate in the annual campus college bowl which will be held on the last Sunday of Oct. They may, though, challenge the victorious local group before they disband.

Negative Motions Prevail In Senate

Get rid of the Rahjas; get rid of the homecoming selection committee; get rid of Sharivar. These were the three main motions at Sunday night's Student Senate meeting.

Student Senate, in its newly gained administrative role as watchdog over campus organizations, delivered seven motions concerning recent controversy over the Rahjah club.

Six of the motions were defeated. They ranged from reducing the Rahjah club to six members who would serve as male cheerleaders to taking away their constitution and university recognition.

Senate finally settled on calling for a policy report and a statement of good intention from Rahjah president Lynn Ferrin. This report will be given on Oct. 16 to Student Senate.

An amendment to the motion stated that if Senate does not find the report to be favorable the Rahjah club will be blacklisted by Student Senate, with recommendation sent to administration that the group have their constitution revoked, thus losing university recognition.

Ferrin reported that he plans to ask Senate just what it is that they have against the Rahjahs. He said he will read the Rahjah constitution to them and explain that enthusiasm is less at the games without the Rahjahs than when they are present.

He said that he does not plan to remove any offensive members from the organization; "A talk with them should be enough."

Dean D. Scott stated that he wants Student Senate to handle the Rahjahs. He did add that if Senate does not take any action the administration can still do so.

Two motions were delivered concerning the homecoming queen selection committee. A motion was tabled which would have the candidates selected by representatives from every housing group on campus and have their qualifications changed, allowing any girl in her senior academic year with a 2.00 overall grade point average to be a candidate.

Randy Buresh delivered a motion which would get rid of the 2.5 qualification for a candidate and have selection done on the old basis. The motion passed.

The new motion does not cover this year's election. This year's candidates still had to meet the old qualifications.

Sharivar has been allocated funds and will be held this year. A motion was delivered to have all Sharivar activities terminated.

A lengthy debate ensued in which Jennifer Roden, Student Senate secretary and last year's Sharivar chairman defended the activity. Vice-president Robert Challey defended the activity by stating that there was a lot of student interest in it.

Buresh then said that the only reason students worked on it was because they were forced to. The motion failed by voice vote.

President Rodger Wetzel reported that the dean's office had received many complaints about drinking at the game. He warned the senators to tell their groups to keep it down at the game.

Freshmen Week Funds

BOA Approved An Unneeded Budget

by Jim Glynn

The first student moneys scheduled to be spent this year after passing through the careful scrutiny of the nebulous student budgeting processes will never be spent.

For freshmen week, $630 was budgeted from student funds through the Student Activities Commission and approved by the Board of Organizations and Activities and also Student Senate. The money was not spent during freshmen week.

BOA is a student-faculty committee that controls student-made budgets for student funds.

The representative for freshmen week from the Student Activities Commission, Bill Daley, AG 3, reported that last year's Dean of Students, Daniel Leasure, had been the source of this budget.

The itemized budget as reported to BOA consisted of: hospitality, $75; speaker, $400; band, $100; refreshments, $50 and supplies, $5. This met with the standards of itemizing set up by BOA.

Daley stated that when he came to campus for freshmen week the people apparently in charge were too busy to see him. He said the dean's office referred him to the office of George Schmidt, assistant dean of students.

His attempts to talk to Dean Schmidt were to no avail. As a result, he did not know how the money he budgeted was spent or if it was spent.

Arlen Johnson, AS 3, Commissioner of Finance for the Student Senate, reported that the $630 was not spent and further stated that after being informed of the situation he would not approve the payment of any bills from the freshmen week budget. Johnson's signature is needed to draw out the money.

Bob Challey, CH 4, Commissioner of Student Activities, whose approval is also needed before the funds can be spent, echoed Johnson's sentiments that the funds would not be drawn upon.

Voting Places Designated; Final Homecoming Plans Set

Immediately following Friday's homecoming convocation, polls will open and students may cast their votes for homecoming queen.

Polls will be located in the library, residence food service corridor, Festival Hall, and in the Alumni Lounge in the Memorial Union. The polls will close at 5 p.m.

Nelson Berg, AS 2, heads the thirty-student election committee, the members of which will man the polls and count the votes.

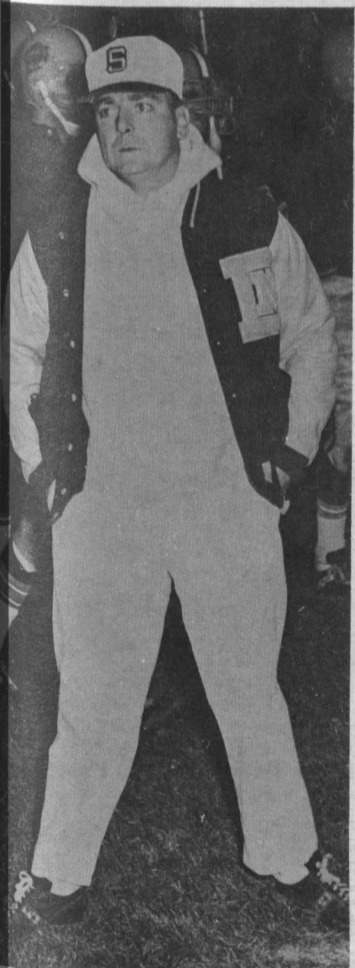

The homecoming queen will be crowned during the intermission of the "Brothers Four" concert on Friday evening. Tickets for the concert are one sale in the Memorial Union.

The Saddle and Sirloin Club expects to serve 1200 at its annual Barbeque, set for Saturday at 10:30 a.m. and running through the noon hour.

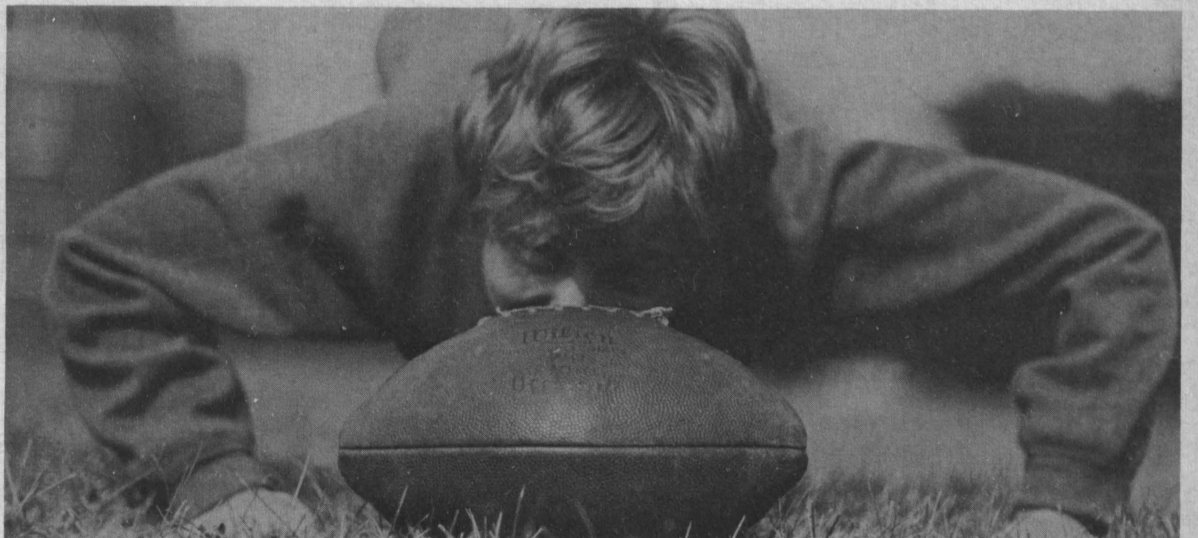

An invention of this year's homecoming committee, two simultaneous dances, will be held Saturday evening.

The "House Rockers" will play at the Field House at the semi-formal event and the "Strangers" will play at the Memorial Union Ballroom.

Sunday festivities are being termed "Parents' Day."

As I See It:

by Tanfield Miller

Two classes have graduated since an aspiring young journalist had his ladder, which he used to look over the back fence, confiscated. In those days it was a weekly ritual for students to rush from class to various parts of our super-scenic campus to see what skeletons Joe Schneider had dug up to reveal in his column.

Much has happened since then. New personalities have arrived, though most of the increased enrollment is made up of bodies and not personalities.

The then-Dean, Dangerous Dan, has resigned to make way for a new Young man with more or less the same old ideas. The athletic teams have been spending more time playing ball on the field and less time having a ball off it.

The once feared Greek-independent split has fizzled mainly because the University's President learned that his title is derived from "preside" and therefore no one will be independent.

While the Spectrum still does not speak to Senate, for that matter no one does, the former group has lost some of its following to another publication, the Rectum.

In an attempt to win back some of this lost readership, though all readers are not lost, I have obtained the consent of the Editorial Board to introduce this new column to the paper.

It was the feeling of that little hated band of editors that the Spectrum of the campus was not being covered adequately enough so this space was allotted to make the publication, for which you pay as opposed to support, more colorful.

The stories, rumors, social bits and pieces and slander presented under the above head in weeks to come shall be my own and do not necessarily depict the feelings of the administration, Spectrum staff or student body in general.

Last weekend our dear old University of Agriculture and Applied Science fielded two national teams: the football herd which rolled to its twentieth straight win and the four scholars who got rolled because they somehow could not come out with a straight answer.

While the squad apparently needed an aspirin they could not think of its name when asked about it. But the team saved the day when it showed that beautiful 67-second film clip from which pictures of Festival Hall, Minard parking lot and North Court were evidently clipped.

The bowled-over collegians did not make it back here in time to comment on the theme for what is coming next weekend. Somehow after Sunday's disappointing appearance "Traveling through the Books of Learning," is an appropriate education experience.

COMING HOME?

It appears that the SAE's and Kappas, while straying from the theme somewhat, have capped the only thing of any value during the traditionally sad homecoming with their decision to depict the "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof."

Although those groups have slithered away from the books to work at their float their parade entry will not float away with all the prizes. The fraternities should not worry though for if all is consumed by the time their wagons reach the judges there will still be prizes left to take in.

Rumor has it that while the TKE's were traveling a little higher than the men who reside by the slew they were having a little trouble getting off the ground. It seems that Robin Hood was not allowed to hand out refreshments to the Greeks at Sherwood so they had to move out of that phony forest.

Though the experience suffered by those poor fraternity men was not too refreshing, neither was the way that the queen candidates were picked.

It is true that the caliber of the coeds who were nominated was representative of the recently acquired name as a University; but then what queen rides in a parade with her grade point and list of activities tacked to her chest.

THE FORWARD LOOK

With this weekend's festivities only two days off you can expect only a few "outsiders" as the posters for the Brothers Four describes alumni; after all North Dakota is said to be a great place to have been from.

Also look forward to the team coming of age with its twenty-first victory before the players go over to their favorite place in south Moorhead to visit the police who are still watching the pad after last week.

While at the game keep your eyes open and report any faculty and visitors who are drinking to Dean Scott's office. He says that he has received many complaints about nipping, which is highly illegal, at Dacotah Field. If the Rahjabs are still around, then you will hear from them.

Aside from that, there isn't much else to separate this weekend from any other or one Bison fan from the one under him, except there will be a larger number of people than usual going home.

Twelve Seniors Compete For Judging Team Honors

A dozen seniors are competing for six openings as judges to represent North Dakota State University at the two national collegiate livestock judging contests this year.

These 12 men are members of last year's two junior judging teams that represented NDSU at Denver, Colo. and Ft. Worth, Tex.

The team is now preparing for trips to Kansas City, Kan. in Oct. and to Chicago, Ill. in Nov. They will practice from six to twelve hours a week in addition to normal class work.

There is more potential for this year's livestock judging team than there has been in previous years according to John N. Johnson, senior livestock judging coach.

Of primary importance to the team is the trip to Kansas City. The six members of this team will be named by Coach Johnson this week.

A tentative schedule for the trip includes stops at South Dakota State University, Brookings, S.D.; Manning and Audubon, Ia.; the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Neb.; Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. and Kansas City.

The judging contest will be held on Oct. 15 with the team returning to Fargo on Oct. 18.

The trip to Chicago will be Nov. 22-29, with numerous stops along the way.

Polls Stall Progress

Student government has developed a new twist to the old political stall veto of pigeonholing, which might be termed "pollholing". The new political maneuver consists of turning an issue over to the commission of legislative research. The commission polls a few students on any aspect of the issue, the poll results are announced, and the matter, having been acted upon, is dropped.

Pollholing runs smoothest when the fewest possible particulars are given to the researchers and the research commission in turn takes a poll with as little validity as possible.

To explain by a hypothetical situation: the Commission of Student Activities argues the advantages of rebuilding the swimming pool in the Field House. The entire commission soon agrees that they do not know enough about Field House swimming pools.

The chairman recommends that the matter be turned over to legislative research for further study. The research commission compiles a questionnaire and asks questions to poll students.

Three senators pick up the list of questions. One of the three remembers he has the questionnaires and hands them to his roommate, who is an athlete, and to three of his fraternity brothers who are in arts and sciences.

The results are compiled and the announcement made that 25% of the students want a new Field House, 25% want a new biology building and 50% don't care. The matter is dropped.

Thus, a great campaign for contributions to a "Splash Fund" to rebuild the swimming pool is avoided. Also avoided is a debate to decide what to do with the collected money after it's discovered that the students can't get the pool rebuilt anyway.

Four students gain a feeling of well-being for their government cares enough to ask their individual opinion. Plus, the records show that government has taken representative action.

I seriously commend this governing body on this ingenious method of ridding itself of wornout, unsolvable issues. For by it much useless debate is avoided, time is saved, students at large are involved in a phase of student government and satisfaction is gained because the matter was studied democratically.

Yet, with such ease is this maneuver accomplished that there arises a danger in its being an easy out for problems which can and must be met and handled within student government.

If opposition to budgeting methods, general dissatisfaction with certain facets of homecoming and necessary major revision of Shariivar are passed over so easily, others outside of Student Senate will make the called-for decisions and student government will lose prestige and power.

Bowl Performance And Film Not Representative

College Bowl performances by the North Dakota State University team and by a short colored film of the University were not representative of our institution.

The team's performance, which was probably most disappointing to themselves, is best summed up by quizmaster Robert Earle's statement at the end of the program. Earle stated, "It must be remembered that team performances are not reflective of the over-all intelligence of the group but rather are reflective of the team's reflexes and power of recall."

NDSU's team's performance wasn't reflective of the team's intelligence and the factors which hindered their performance are numerous. Even less reflective was the colored film which depicted NDSU as an all new University with seemingly unhindered growth.

The University is growing and certainly the new buildings do emphasize the fact that NDSU is in step with the fast-moving pace of higher education; but a point was missed. A nation-wide audience would have listened as attentively to a short explanation of the University's classroom and dormitory squeeze along with the colored film of the school.

Viewers, a large number of whom were watching in North Dakota, could well have been convinced of NDSU's need for more buildings and greater citizen support for higher education. No mention was made of inadequate facilities.

If a point was made by the short film and dialogue it would be that NDSU is undergoing a vast building program. Little did the average viewer know that the four million dollars worth of buildings under construction are more than amply filled and plans are being made for more building requests.

University officials should have used the short film and dialogue for the two-fold purpose of building University relations and attaining public support for future expansion. Image building it seems, interfered with common interest and development.

Letters to the Editor . . .

Purposes Explained

Rahjah Club Takes Defensive Stand

To The Editor:

In answer to the letter in the Spectrum last week, we would like to explain the purpose of the Rahjah Club and its activities.

Our purpose is to promote student spirit and support all athletic events. This year we have been hampered in our ability to do this by a new North Central Conference ruling.

At the fall NCC meeting it was decided that no people other than cheerleaders would be allowed between the opposing team and the stands.

With the help of the athletic department we were able to arrange a compromise and stand in the roped-off area in front of the stands.

This created another problem. Since we were standing so close to the stands we felt we were distracting to the fans in the first few rows.

At the Morningside game we decided to sit in the stands in different areas. As the letter stated last week, the school spirit dropped off considerably.

Because of this we decided to go back out in front of the stands. We feel that the cheering improved and we want to continue standing out front unless we receive too many complaints.

To inform the reader further of our activities we would like to explain the other things we are doing and have done in the past.

For the last two years we have worked with the Fargo Chamber of Commerce, at their request, in the promotion of Bison Booster Day.

This year at the request of the chamber and the communications department, we have collected materials and set up displays in the windows of various business places downtown.

This fall we have tried to arrange pep rallies. Because of the conflicts of student classes, the coaching staff, the team and other school functions, the one we were able to arrange was not successful.

This week in co-ordination with the homecoming committee we will help with the homecoming pep rally on Friday afternoon.

We also select and financially support the Bison mascot and the pom-pon girls.

We sympathize with the writer of last week's letter. If all students had her concern our job would be much easier.

President Lynn Ferrin
Secretary Lionel Estenson

Students Not Deans Should Pick Homecoming Queen Candidates

To The Editor:

Seven women have been selected as homecoming queen candidates. The students can now make their choice; the deans are through with theirs. As I looked over the list of candidates I decided on the excellent choice. The only problem was that she wasn't on the list.

I found out that the coeds were selected by two faculty members and a handful of students; hardly representative of the whole student body. Where was the mayor of married students, president of the independent students? And the list goes on.

Opinion Of Sharivar Given

To The Editor:

Happiness is a sometime thing. Sharivar is back. Again we are forced to put up with North Dakota State University's Spring carnival.

Why couldn't they just give it a good Christian burial and spend the next ten years arguing whether or not it had any merit.

The best news to come out in years was that Sharivar would be terminated. A sigh of relief spread over the campus only to be squelched by the announcement that funds were available.

Sharivar is a ridiculous waste of time and money. It is typical of NDSU's lust for the hideous. I would like to find the meddlesome sadistic idiot behind all this fiasco and put him on display during Sharivar — pinned to a wall like a butterfly to receive the wrath of the students.

This group was informed that if their candidate carried every vote but one she could not be crowned queen whether she was the students choice or not.

All the coeds that were selected as candidates may have made excellent queens, although this is questionable. The only problem is that they are not necessarily the students' choice.

Why should standards be put on women before they can be candidates? Who should have the right to make these standards? This is typical of most University activities; choice is left up to the students only after the administration and some indoctrinated students have made their choice.

The write-in campaign has been called off. It was a good idea but only representative of any group that attempts to buck the establishment.

Last year 30% of the campus voted for homecoming queen. The winner was crowned with a mere 10% of the students behind her. Is this indicative of a homecoming queen; the representative of the University?

Let's put student-representative choice back into the hands of the students. Let each housing group voice its opinion on candidates so that when the candidate is selected we have women who represent the choice of a cross-section of the campus.

Let's elect the best coed for homecoming queen, regardless of her grade point or list of activities or how much favor she has with the deans.

Graduate Experiment Chinese Rice Paddies Around The Red

by Dorothy Holden

A rice paddy proves it. The Red River Valley is capable of growing anything.

Charles Quimby, a graduate assistant in agronomy diked a 16-foot by 30-foot plot last spring and planted rice given to him by the United States Department of Agriculture. He harvested it this week.

An experiment station near Quimby's home in western Colorado tried raising Texas rice with fair success. With this experiment in mind he asked for varieties from the International Rice Institute in the Philippines, which referred him to the USDA.

The department sent him nine varieties, which were cold tolerant, including some from China and Japan. The unusually hot summer prompted two to mature.

A fire hydrant served as irrigation source for the paddy, which was watered two to three times a week all summer. The field is located north of the campus toward the airport.

Quimby, assisted by Elham Talaat, said, "There is no practical advantage to raising rice here. It is unlikely that rice will ever be a commercial crop in North Dakota. The experiment was more academic in nature than practical."

Quimby is leaving North Dakota State University and will turn the seed over to other graduate students.

Kappa Delta Buys House; Future Expansion Planned

The local chapter of the Kappa Delta Sorority has recently purchased the lot and house adjoining its present dwelling at 1261 North University.

Presently the new house is used as living quarters for the house mother, Mrs. R. J. Zentgraf, and eight sorority girls.

Part of the home has been set aside as a study area.

According to KD president Jean Glascoe, AS 4, "Future plans include expanding and building a new brick house on the site."

The new building would be a residence for the active members of KD.

Forget science fiction. We're talking about the "outer limits" of technology. And these days it can be even more exciting than science fiction.

Right now IBM needs qualified men and women to help reach these outer limits. The kind of people who have made IBM the leader in today's fastest-growing major industry: information handling and control. And the kind of people who can grow with us as far as their talents and abilities allow.

The result? Greater personal responsibility and recognition; the dual satisfaction of personal achievement and continuing personal rewards. A pretty satisfying result.

Job opportunities at IBM are in six major areas: Computer Applications, Programming, Finance and Administration, Research and Development, Manufacturing and Marketing.

Officers Appointed To AFROTC Cadre On The Social Scene . . .

Two officers have been appointed to the North Dakota State University Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) for the 1965-66 school year.

Appointed to positions on the NDSU staff are: Lt. Col. Stanford A. Ensberg and Capt. Gerald Hanson, of the U.S. Air Force.

Ensberg, 46, has been named to replace Col. William J. Heiser, who has been reassigned to Davis Monthan Air Force Base, Tucson, Ariz.

Ensberg, who will serve here as assistant professor of Air Science, is a 21-year veteran of air force service. He flew a B-17 in the Southwest Pacific during World War II and flew 110 missions during the Berlin Airlift, 1949-51.

He was transferred to NDSU after serving two years as base director of operations at Pease Air Force Base, Portsmouth, N.H.

Hanson, 28, replaces Lt. Col. Robert A. Hansen, who has been reassigned to Thailand. He will serve as Aerospace Studies instructor to 103 NDSU sophomores in the ROTC.

Hanson, a seven-year veteran, is a 1959 graduate of South Dakota State University. He attended an instructors school from July 2 to August 12 at Maxwell Air Force Base, Montgomery, Ala., in preparation for his NDSU position.

United Fund Drive Starts Campus Collections Today

The North Dakota State University United Fund drive was launched at a kickoff luncheon yesterday in the Memorial Union.

Heading this year's drive is Bill Daley, AG 3, who, with nine other students, will contact all Greek organizations and all students living on campus asking for contributions to the charity fund.

Faculty members, off-campus students and other university employees will not be included in this drive. They will be contacted by other United Fund workers, who will be canvassing the entire Fargo-Moorhead area. The NDSU fund drive is a part of the Fargo-Moorhead United Fund.

The donated funds will be distributed to various charity organizations and other worthy causes.

Dormitory residents and married students will be contacted tonight, and Greek organizations will be approached this coming Monday night.

Working with Daley will be Penny Toman, AS 3, Larry Fugelsten, AS 3, Dewey Kautzmann, AS 3, Jane Bale, HE 3, Jennifer Roden, AS 4, Nelson Berg, AS 2, Jim Hauge, AG 2, and Gene Odenbach, AG 2.

Daley commented, "Although we have set no monetary goals for this year's campus fund drive, we are hoping that students will show their concern for those less fortunate than we by making sizable contributions to a worthy cause."

MEASURING UP is this week's campus cutie Kay Hannesson.

Team Totals

AGD And SPD Win Fall Sports Day

The Alpha Gamma Delta-Sigma Phi Delta team compiled a total of 13 points out of a possible 25 to win the Student Union Activities Board Fall Sports Day contest.

Finishing one point behind the winning team was the Sigma Nu-Kappa Alpha Theta team. Taking third and fourth places, respectively, were the Sigma Chi-Kappa Delta and the Alpha Tau Omega-Phi Mu teams.

The SAE-Ceres hall and the Churchill-Weible hall teams tied for last place.

The contest included five events: a crab race, push ball race, centipede race, three-legged sack race and a bicycle race.

According to Raymond P. Kril, Memorial Union program director, the second annual sports day was "successful," and another "expanded" sports day is being planned for next fall.

Approximately 60 students participated in the events and another 200-300 persons looked on.

One of the spectators, Roxanne

Trieglaff, HE 3, commented, "I was disappointed that more organizations didn't enter teams, but the contests were exciting because in nearly every case the early leaders met with some amusing catastrophe and an unexpected team took first place."

Administrative Posts Are Filled

Three appointments to the Dean of Students office have been made by President H. R. Albrecht.

Raymond Kril has been named as the Memorial Union program manager; Keith Martin, coordinator of men's residence halls and Miss Billie Sherris, coordinator of women's residence halls.

Kril received his bachelor's degree from Montclair College, Montclair, N.J., in art education in 1966. He is a member of Kappa Phi, national arts honors fraternity.

Martin previously served as assistant head resident of Orton Hall at Washington State University.

He received his bachelor's degree in 1963 from Washington State University and his master's in business administration there in 1965.

Miss Sherris completed her class work for a master's degree last year at Claremont Graduate School and University Center, Claremont, Calif. She also studied and did research work at the College Student Personnel Institute there, and served as assistant head resident at Scripps College in Claremont.

She received her bachelor's degree from Harpur College, State University of New York at Binghamton in 1965.

Faculty Appointments Announced

Appointments to the faculties in the Colleges of Chemistry and Physics and Home Economics and the departments of speech and physical education have been recently announced by President H. B. Albrecht.

Joining the staff as an Associate Professor of Physics is Ghaze O. Hassoun. A native of Lebanon, Hassoun holds a doctor's degree in physics.

Appointed as Assistant Professors of Chemistry were Roy G. Garvey and John R. Louma. Both men have their doctor's degrees. Garvey has held National Science Foundation undergraduate fellowships and a National Aeronautics and Space Administration Traineeship.

Mahendra K. Sinha and Paul Ross are newly appointed assistant professors of physics. They have both received their doctor's degrees.

Dr. Sinha is a native of Kanpur, India. He spent two years with the Indian Atomic Energy Establishment in Bombay.

Three new full-time and three new part-time staff members have been appointed in the College of Home Economics.

Mrs. Katherine Holmberg is the new assistant professor of family economics. She has earned her master's degree.

Mrs. Alice Rising, a former staff member, has rejoined the home economics faculty as a full-time assistant professor of textiles and clothing.

Also appointed an Assistant Professor of Textiles and Clothing was Mrs. Beatrice Litherland. She holds a master's degree.

Joining the home economics staff as part-time faculty members are Mrs. Robyne Williams, Rudolf Stohler and Don Berger. All have their bachelor's degrees.

Mrs. Williams is an instructor in textiles; Rev. Stohler is a special instructor in family relations and Berger teaches home furnishings.

James E. Ubbelohde has been named debate coach and assistant professor of speech. He is an ordained minister and holds a master's degree.

Mrs. Joseph Hegstad will teach gymnastics and tumbling in the physical education department. She will also act as advisor to the Women's Recreation Association. Mrs. Hegstad has her master's degree.

Ray Burington has joined the staff of the North Dakota State University News Bureau as its associate editor.

Burington will be responsible for writing news and feature stories about the university and distributing them to the news media.

Joseph M. DeMars has been named as a counselor and assistant professor of education. He has his master's degree.

Seniors Can Get Help Finding Jobs

Graduate and undergraduate students scheduled for completion of academic work this year are urged to register with the Placement Office at the earliest possible date. Job recruiting will begin October 10 at North Dakota State University and will continue throughout the academic year.

The Placement Office assists students in the assembly of employment credentials, personal references and academic records. The office also helps individuals contact companies by mail and will assist with travel arrangements when plant visits are necessary.

The task of keeping education parallel to industry's need is correlated through the employment office. Interviews are among the best media for the college in finding the latest needs of industry.

Many graduates will be employed by industries which are foreign to this area. It will be necessary for a number of students to become orientated to some of the industrial processes, such as those of large aircraft plants or chemical companies.

It is essential to have credential files completed prior to interviewing. Interviewing sign-up sheets are posted approximately a week and a half in advance of the recruiting visit. Interviews are normally scheduled on a half hour basis, and are held in the Memorial Union.

All students scheduled for graduation this year are urged to register with the Placement Office immediately. It is imperative that the credential files be completed well in advance of interviewing.

Placement Opportunities

Mon., Oct. 10—
City of Los Angeles will seek civil engineering graduates for assignments in municipal engineering. Entry salary for graduates will be $715.00 per month.

Thurs., Oct. 13—
Douglas United Nuclear, Richland, Wash., will interview BS and MS level graduates in physics, electrical, mechanical and industrial engineering. Formal training programs and "direct placement" for experienced graduates are available.

Standard Oil Company will offer marketing (sales) positions to all interested and qualified graduates. All degrees and majors will be considered as diversified product lines are marketed by the company. Ag. Chemicals and petroleum lubricants are primary. Mgt. train. programs are available to those who qualify.

Fri., Oct. 14—
Honeywell Inc., Minneapolis, Minn., will be represented by Mr. Duane Gust. The Honeywell organization is world wide with 300 offices in 62 countries. Current openings include design and development, quality control, research and technical sales. Preferred backgrounds of training are electrical, mechanical and industrial engineering. Citizenship is required for most positions.

Tue., Oct. 18—
Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, East Hartford, Conn., design, develop and manufacture of gas turbine, ram jet, rocket, fuel cell and other advanced propulsion systems. Engineering, Chemistry and Mathematics graduates are invited.

Wed., Oct. 19—
U.S. Army Material Command, representing 30 civilian research and development laboratories responsible for design, testing and maintenance engineering of all weapons and equipment used by the U.S. Army.

Koehring Company, Milwaukee, Wisc., design and manufacture a diversified line of heavy construction equipment including shovels, cranes, earth moving dump trucks and paving equipment. They seek civil, mechanical and industrial engineering grads for design engineering, manufacturing and sales.

U.S. Geological Survey, water resources division will seek interviews with agricultural and civil engineering students interested in hydraulic eng. Much work is done in the field measuring the flow of streams through bridges and conduits and aguifers. Office work consists of computing and publishing results of field activities, improving hydrologic techniques and completing hydrological studies

U.S. INAUGURATES DAILY SHUTTLE SERVICE TO MOON

2000 A. D. is just around the corner. Where do you figure you'll be then?

Come the year 2000, you'll be about to retire, for one thing. Will you look back on your career with satisfaction? Or with second thoughts? It'll depend a lot on how you begin your career. And where.

At G.E. you get off to a fast start. Big responsibilities come early. You may find yourself at Cape Kennedy, checking out the Apollo moon shot. In India, installing a nuclear power plant. Or in a laboratory, looking for applications for a new silicone membrane that lets a submerged man breathe oxygen directly from the water around him.

This is a worldwide company that's helping to change the world.

And that's changing with it. Well over half of the 250,000 products General Electric makes today didn't exist ten years ago!

If you think you have what it takes to play a key role in one of the important fields of your time, talk to the man from General Electric. We'll make our first 2000 together.

Japan Trip Explained

Arif Hayat, assistant professor of botany, attended the sixth international Congress for Electron Microscopy in Kyoto, Japan, shortly before the beginning of fall quarter.

The Congress convenes every four years. Scientists from 52 countries, including both the free world and Communist countries, were invited to attend and present papers on their research.

The Congress provided an opportunity to meet with famous scientists from all over the world and to see and test the most modern equipment in electron microscopy, according to Dr. Hayat.

Papers were presented in three official languages: French, English and German. Dr. Hayat presented three papers to the Congress. One dealt with growth hormones which affect cells; the other two were concerned with viruses.

Dr. Hayat was impressed by the attachment of the Japanese people to the concept of peace. "Their attachment to peace probably comes from the tremendous suffering they endured because of the atomic bombs. They have seen and undergone such tragedy that to them there is almost nothing in the world worth killing human beings.

"Everywhere you see symbols of peace — on streets, on signs, on products. You know that somehow they want you to remember that peace is possible for those who have the ability to bring it about; not only for themselves, but for the whole world."

"Cinema 66-67"

International Movies Are Scheduled

by Ann Ludvigson

You say you've never heard of some of the movies that are being shown as part of the Student Union Activities Board "Cinema '66-67" program? It's no wonder — the only place you could see some of them is in New York or San Francisco.

International recognition has shown that these films are not just entertaining but thought-provoking and artistic in their quality as well.

According to Raymond Kril, program director for the Memorial Union, if a person follows the film series, he will get a good picture of the styles in film-making.

Last year the films drew audiences of approximately 80-100 by the end of the series. This year's opening film, Hud, was seen by 160 people. The series will be shown every Sunday evening at 7:30, at $.50 per person in the Memorial Union ballroom.

eliminates or improves the odds on a finesse. It works in this hand.

The bidding is standard, South decides to force to game in either spades or notrump. North is delighted to raise to 4 spades with his excellent support.

The heart queen is covered by the king and ace. West wins the heart return. A third round is ruffed with the spade 10, East discarding the club deuce.

The spade king and ace reveals the even break. A small diamond lead is won by the ace. The diamond return is won by declarer and another diamond is ruffed, leaving:

AJ7	(unknown)
J6	(unknown)

South, before taking the club finesse does some counting. West is counted for 6 hearts, 2 spades and at least 3 diamonds. This leaves him with at most, 2 clubs.

The odds, therefore, are better than 2-1 that East holds the club queen! the result, 4 spades making 4.

When you finesse, why guess? Count and play the odds!

Next: Hold off on some Hold-ups!

Bison Frosh Open Against Concordia

The Baby Bison open the 1966 football season tonight at 7:30 p.m. when they host the Concordia College freshmen football team at Dacotah Field.

They will be out to avenge a 24-14 loss which the Concordia squad inflicted on them last season. It was the only loss of the season for Coach Erv Kjelbertson's team as they finished the season with a 2-1 record.

The freshmen squad, 51 strong, has been practicing since Sept. 8 and will employ the two platoon system.

Coach Kjelbertson is in his first season as freshmen head mentor, formerly serving as freshmen defensive coach.

The finesse is a basic, but much misused play in bridge. It is simply an attempt to make a lower ranking card win from a higher card.

Look at the club suit in today's hand. Looking at all the cards it is easy to win the queen—lead small from the North hand and "put in" or finesse the 10. On a guess, however, you might lead small from the South hand and finesse the jack, losing to the queen.

Counting a hand, in many cases,

SURROUNDED BY JACKRABBITS, Bison fullback Mike is downed in Saturday night's action.

Reserves Shine

Hasbargen Sparks 35-6 Victory

The injury riddled Bison posted their 20th straight win behind the fine running of fullback Mike Hasbargen and the help of a number of reserves who were pressed into starting roles as they downed South Dakota State University 35-6.

Hasbargen had a great night as he barged his way over, around and through the South Dakota State line for 105 yards on 26 carries, and 3 touchdowns, one for 14 yards and 2 on 2-yard plunges.

Injuries sidelined 6 Bison starters, 3 each from the offensive and defensive teams.

Injured half-backs Ken Rota and Vance Conner were replaced by Glenn Nevils and Mike Belmont. Nevils rushed for 80 yards and two touchdowns, on runs of 38 and 5 yards.

Sophomore Orell Schmitz, who replaced the injured Lowell Linderman, caught 5 passes for 59 yards.

Completely dominating the statistics, the Bison rolled up 382 total yards to 70 for SDSU. Rushing, the Bison rolled up 258 yards to 0 for SDSU, a tribute to the Bison defense which was operating with 3 inexperienced players.

It was the defense who set up the first Bison touchdown as they blocked a SDSU punt in the early minutes of the game deep in Jackrabbit territory. Three plays later Hasbargen carried the ball in and the Bison had the permanent lead.

Later in the period, South Dakota State's Darwin Gonnerman took a Bison punt 95 yards for a touchdown to cut the Bison lead to 7-6.

By half-time the Bison had built the lead to 21-6 and added 2 more touchdowns in the second half, to give the final 35-6 margin.

Coach Ron Erhardt was especially pleased with the play of Hasbargen. He stated, "Hasbargen took up the slack in the absence of Rota and Conner."

Intramural Turkey Race To Be Held

An intramural turkey race covering a distance of one and a half miles is planned for Nov. 3 at 5:45 p.m.

The announcement was made at Monday's intramural meeting.

Prizes for the first three places in the race will consist of a 36 lb. turkey for first place, a goose for second and the third place prize will be a dozen eggs.

It was decided that basketball competition will start on Nov. 1, 2 and 3. All organizations must indicate how many teams they will have by Oct. 17, because the schedule is limited to 48 teams this year.

The results from last week's intramural touch football games were posted as follows:

In bracket one, YMCA whopped Sigma Chi 24-2, Churchill forfeited to ATO (1) and Co-op beat Theta Chi (2) by forfeit.

In bracket two, Theta Chi (1) edged the Married Students 6-0, ASCE forfeited to SAE (1) and AGR beat Reed (1) by forfeit.

In bracket three, Wesley Foundation forfeited to Sigma Nu, Kappa Psi edged Stockbridge (1) 6-0 and TKE (2) beat Reed (2) by forfeit.

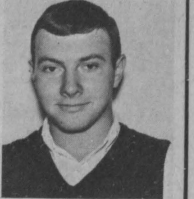

In bracket four, SAE (2) downed Stockbridge (2) 14-0, TKE (1) whopped Johnson 18-0 and ATO (2) waxed Reed (2) 24-0.

Montana State To Test Bison

The Bison, everybody's number one team, will be putting it all on the line again this Saturday when the number three ranked Montana State Bobcats invade Dacotah Field for North Dakota State University's homecoming game.

The Bobcats appear to be the most formidable opponent the Bison have faced at this point of the 1966 season.

As Head Coach Ron Erhardt put it, "It will be our biggest game thus far."

The Bison have been hard hit by injuries in the last two weeks with regulars Vance Conner, Ken Rota, Lowell Linderman, Rudy Baranko, Bob Ercolani and Mike Ahneman watching last Saturday's game from the sidelines.

It was encouraging to see the fine relief roles which Mike Belmont, Glenn Nevils, Orell Schmitz, Del Gehrett, Dave Olson, Dan Olson and Wally McNamee played in the Bison victory.

The Bison will be healthier this Saturday — all the injured regulars are due to start with the exceptions of Baranko and Conner. Linderman is still a question mark.

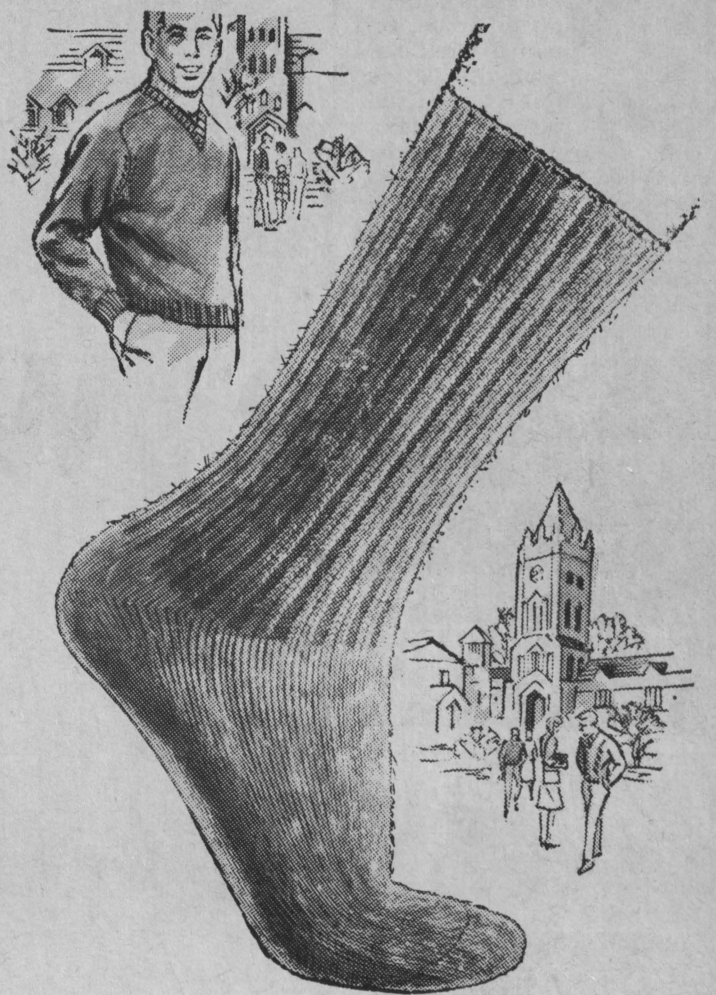

The Bison pulled off a tough come-from-behind 14-7 win over Montana State last season for the Bobcats' fourth loss of their 3-7 1965 record. This season, however, Montana State is bringing a 4-0 record to Fargo including a 55-6 rout of Fresno State.

Montana State Assistant Coach Joe Tiller has this to say about Saturday's game: "I know it's a big one for us. Our kids are looking forward to it. We haven't had the injuries which we had last season."

The Bobcats will be going with sophomore quarterback Dennis Erickson who has come along extremely well this season as a passer and field general. The Bobcat running game revolves around the running of half-back Don Hass, who has gained over 500 yards in Montana's first four games.

"We feel that we have a balanced attack. We try to establish our ground game first and then pass," Tiller stated.

He added, "We feel that if we can get by the Bison we will be the talk of the country in small college circles."

Seven Alumni To Be Recognized

Byron Jackson, administrator at St. Luke's Hospital in Fargo, was chosen honored alumnus for the 1966 homecoming celebration by a joint student-faculty committee.

Another six alumni, chosen by a faculty-alumni committee, will be honored at a 7 p.m. Alumni Awards Banquet Friday at the Memorial Union.

The recipients selected by the committee for the alumni awards this year are:

Albert Doerr, State Pharmacy Board Secretary; Dr. Robert N. Faiman, University of New Hampshire College of Technology Dean; C. Warner Litten, Fargo Clinic Business Manager; Ray Schnell, Dickinson rancher; Dr. W. B. Slabaugh, Oregon State University Department of Chemistry Associate Dean, and Edna E. Sommerfeld, Pennsylvania State University Assistant Dean for Continuing Education in the College of Home Economics.

Committee Drops Plan To Run Write-In Candidate

One thousand newly printed leaflets and 20 posters lie gathering dust in the basement of a fraternity house, never to be used. All the leaflets bear the picture of a North Dakota State University senior coed; would-be write-in candidate for homecoming queen.

Several students last week held a meeting to express their dissatisfaction with the homecoming queen selections. Thus began the soon-to-be-doomed write-in-Bonnie Heskin - for-Homecoming-Queen-Committee.

Miss Heskin, HE 4, and president of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, was recruited by the group. She had nothing to do with its formation nor did she condone the actions of the group, reported Grek Kapoun, AS 3, one of several students involved.

Upon a firm resolution by homecoming central that Miss Heskin would not be crowned if she won and a firm resolution from Miss Heskin that she would not run nor serve if elected, the group terminated its action, too late to stop printing on the 1000 leaflets with Miss Heskins' picture.

John Schneider, AS 4, stated that the movement was to protest the selection committee. He added, "The choice does not reflect the wishes of the majority of the students. The academic standards set by the committee made homecoming queen a reward for meritorious service to the University as opposed to the true idea of a homecoming queen."
