As I See It...

Homecoming is a time to remember. Not that the current in-mates of our beloved institution should recall anything in particular about last weekend but it is the time for the nostalgic old grads to return to their alma mater to reminisce about times they never really had.

No sooner had our friendly alumni returned home, and the majority of the students returned to campus, when it became the student's turn to remember. Only every boring professor has said, in they have to remember what every boring class the last four weeks so that they could regurgitate it in the form of mid-terms. But never fear, for as bad as this week will be the five days following Thanksgiving will be worse.

Then we have to face that obnoxious period of time known as finals. This represents another first for our tremendous calendar.

To some homecoming weekend was more than adequate, while to others, the Brothers F o u r included, the several days proved to be rather rigorous. That latter condition can best describe the mad scramble for seats to the Friday evening concert.

The energetic persons who arrived at the Field House the night before the quartet appeared may have gotten decent seats, but anyone else would have been better off staying home listening to the Mitchell trio on the stereo and slobbering over a picture of Rock Hudson. Why the already proven reserved seating arrangement was scrubbed seems incomprehensible, but any committee can not do everything perfectly.

When time did roll around to the counting of queen ballots, Lois Schlicting won the halo of personality and purpose in every tie by Rivetz. "hand: in neckwear circles, the feel... the traditional... the precise... the combination that puts personality and purpose in every tie by Rivetz."

Farmhouse Completes New Addition

Farmhouse expansion has become a reality. Three years of planning resulted in a three story structure at 1144 College Street this fall.

"The new addition could not have become a reality without the many hours of planning and help by our alumni association," commented Dan Kopp, AG 3, business manager for the fraternity.

The new structure is designed to hold 36 members compared to the old structure which housed 19. Kitchen, dining room, living room and housemother's facilities have been more than doubled to accommodate the largest recordedin membership in the fraternity's history at North Dakota State University.

A new television room will separate the "Batman" fans from the bookworms, and a game area will accommodate up to 100 people at house social functions. "We feel that with the new facilities we will have much more to offer present and prospective members and also visitors who may drop in from time to time," stated Gene Hetler, AG 6, rush chairman for the fraternity.

Queen To Represent 'SU In Intercollegiate Rodeos

Jackie Pfeiffer, HE 2, was chosen 1967 North Dakota State University Rodeo Queen on Sept. 28. The ten entrants were judged on appearance, personality, horsemanship and knowledge of rodeo. Her attendants are Kathy Sandberg, AS 1, and Beverly Ness, HE 1.

As queen, Miss Pfeiffer will represent NDSU and the Rodeo Club in national intercollegiate rodeos. Miss Pfeiffer commented, "The duty of any rodeo queen is to promote rodeo and to add color to the boots and blue jeans world of a cowboy. I'm glad to have the opportunity to further interest of rodeo at NDSU."

She has received other honors in connection with rodeo. Miss Pfeiffer was the 1965 North Dakota Quarterhorse Association queen and represented the association in horse shows throughout North Dakota and Minnesota. She is presently Miss North Dakota Rodeo Princess.

Lynn Weishaar, AG 2, was chairman of the rodeo queen contest. "The reason for choosing a rodeo queen," he said, "was to publicize rodeo and create campus interest. This was our first queen contest but we plan to make it an annual event."

Letters to the Editor . . .

To the Editor:
Every Wednesday we are reminded of the apathetic conditions found on this campus. That such a condition exists is certainly not a revelation. Reminded of that, the situation exists — but why?

Many theories have been propounded as to why apathy seems to flourish here, i.e. lack of communication, suitecase college, etc. Many of these theories have pointed out that they fail to reveal the underlying cause.

We contend that the Spectrum, through its choice of material, language and editorials, plays the major role in causing student apathy.

Negatives never seem to pervade the entire paper. Let us consider the last Spectrum as an example. To quote the front page, "College Bowl Team meets 375-45 defeat"; "Negative Motions Prevail in Senate"; and "BOA Approved Unneeded Budget."

On the editorial page we learn that polls can never measure student opinion. Whether I take a course, care less is a subject for further discussion.

We also find that a 47-second film showing the qualities of NDSU to the entire nation to preach — it seems something worthwhile can be presented without the Spectrum throwing dirty water on it. Returning to a front page quotation, it has been called to our attention that Student Senate presented "negative motion concerning the Raise," that coming and Sharivar. Exemptions, ignorance, or just that we have been derided is that there is no such animal as a "negative motion." It seems only logical that any motion presented has a positive action against a negative opinion.

When we consider the often repeated and true statement that the Spectrum is the most essential organization on campus, it is not surprising that a student wants to do anything.

Paper Is Accused Of Causing Apathy

Purposes Are Noble; But Program Is Weak

Efforts to improve Sharivar are made; important changes are made (a new alumni banquet menu, displays moved one place to another, a different motto, etc.) and Sharivar is still the same as the years before.

The same Sharivar might be fine; but then why all the dissatisfaction, such concern to change, so many rejoicing at rumors of abandoning and so few lamenting over the same rumurers.

The trouble with Sharivar is like the weather. "Everybody talks about it, but nobody, etc." For it seems nothing constructive can be done about Sharivar's troubles, and it also appears that the program will not be abandoned.

I find the best things about Sharivar are its four objectives. The purposes are noble but the program is weak.

One year's program suffers, research has to be time to plan and develop the program, Sharivar will be improved. By more time, I mean one year longer. Let's hold Sharivar once every two years. (Not that I am so much for that the actual work would stand a year earlier, although the planning might. At least we will eliminate the now prevalent attitude in departments, "Oh, Sharivar time again, we might as well cut down on research for a week and see some students into helping us throw up a display.")

With the objectives of Sharivar suffering from a two year program?

I think not. The objectives of the Spectrum:

1. Acquaint community of Fargo and state of North Dakota with what NDSU is doing.
(An acquaintance can be made every two years and NDSU would much more keep pace with the world today.)
2. Facilitate, administration and students at NDSU see what other NDSU colleges are doing.
(Students have a four year term, some are around just two and those at that are around less do not usually take an opportunity to be acquainted with the University anyway. Faculty and administration terms run much longer.)
3. Acquaint parents of NDSU students with campus.
(Parents are more inclined to come to a bimannual event than an annual one.)
4. Introduce high school students to NDSU.
(Albeit both juniors and seniors. If Sharivar makes the change is much to the same to Sharivar when I was a high school junior and not when I was a senior. By Sharivar time during my high school senior, I and most of my classmates who were college bound had already decided where we were to attend and we had dorm rooms already reserved.)

With the same purpose to be interrupted and other activities neglected every year? The same fines Sharivar objectives could be reached every year and reached more effectively.

To the Editor:
Last week I was pleased to receive the Spectrum, and in this morning have again had the pleasure of reading its columns.

The form of this paper as a weekly issue lived up to the life and spirit as shown by its contents are much to be commended. As I opened the wrapper in which the mail was mailed last week I could barely contain myself could be the North Dakota State. The Spectrum — and indeed, it is not the one of last year.

Though the Spectrum of times now passed filled a certain requirement, the end result was certainly keeping pace with the rapid growth of the institution which it represents.

To those who have been in close contact with the Spectrum during its development and are yet deeply interested in its welfare, the indications of great prosperity and wholesome growth are especially pleasing.

The constant and rapid progress of NDSU proves that it has earnest purposes and efficient supporters, and with the great young and prosperous state of North Dakota has if the future of the institution is assured.

It is natural, therefore, that the Spectrum should greatly improve in favor of those of us who have passed out of active touch with the life and happenings of the institution, such a publication is very advantageous.

Football as reported by the Spectrum seems to be in healthy condition as it has always been, and the victory over Montana State was a very decisive one. May the SJ's colors be high in the season's games.

I shall take much pleasure creating the future Spectrum they find their way across many miles intervening between the last and wish to assure you of my friendly intentions.

As Advisor
Albrecht Set To Leave For Nigeria

A survey team, including President H. H. Albrecht, has been named to aid in the establishment and development of an agricultural research institute near University of Badan, Nigeria. The institute is being developed by the Rockefeller and Ford Foundations and, upon recommendations by the team of advisors, will receive a grant from the United States Agency for International Development (AID).

The objectives of the team are:
1. Surveying and making recommendations on the institute's curriculum in agriculture.
2. Recommending methods by which research programs between the institute and the University of Badan may be effectively coordinated.
3. Gathering information to be used as a basis for the obtainable grants from AID.

The survey was to have been made last March, but due to Nigeria's internal political problems, the Nigerian government would not give clearance to the foreign members of the team.

Other members of the team are O. S. William, past president of Oklahoma State University, Glenn Beck, vice-president for agriculture at Kansas State University, and G. H. Bell, director of the Plant Breeding Institute at Cambridge, England.

Albrecht will leave for Nigeria near the end of October and will return to Fargo approximately one month later.

United Student Aid Program Offers Low Cost Financing

Low cost loans for higher education are being provided by the United Student Aid Funds for students who need help in financing their college expenses. North Dakota State University is an approved organization for use of the funds. Students can fill out applications with the help of Wayne Tesmer, financial aid director.

If students are under 21, their parents must sign but need not assume financial liability for the loan. The school certifies the student's standing and makes recommendations.

The student then takes the forms to his hometown bank for approval; if approved, he signs promissory note forms. The bank will then send the applications to USA for endorsement. After the USA endorses it, the bank will issue a check to the student.

Amount of the loan is determined by NOSU, the student's bank and the student. Undergraduates can borrow up to $1,000 per year. Monthly repayments are not more than $100 nor less than $25 and begin the first day of the tenth month after the student leaves school.

Interest, no more than six percent simple interest, starts when the loan is made. The Federal Government will pay six percent interest until repayment begins and three percent while the student is repaying the loan. No collateral is needed.

USA is a nonprofit, private corporation which provides low cost loans through hometown banks to deserving and needy students.

Cast Chosen For Theatre's "And People All Around"

The cast has been announced for "And People All Around," the Little Country Theatre's major fall production, according to Frederick Walch, director of the production. Performances are Oct. 19-22 at 8:15 p.m.

Students and faculty participating include: Clive Rosenzweig, graduate assistant in speech; Larry Sprunk, graduate assistant in speech; Ron Mrnak, speech instructor; Robert Miller, AS 2; James Leintz, AS 2; John Winkleman, AS 4; Elizabeth Thompson, AS 2; Judy Reminger, AS 3; Marie Therolm, AS 1; Mary Elizabeth Stern, AS 4; Adele Tivis, AS 3; Carl Graefe, AS 1; Paul Hatchett, AS 1; Tom Osborn, AS 1; Allan Mosbach, AG 1; Robert Kuckrowski, AS 1; Allan Undem, PH 1; Jane Triebold, AS 1 and Margaret Urshahl, IE 1.

"And People All Around" has been selected by the American Playwright's Theatre as the play of the year.

Written by George Sklar, the drama is being held from Broadway for a year while colleges, universities and community theatres throughout the country have exclusive production rights.

The premiere production was given at Tufts University in Massachusetts. The Boston Traveler described it as: "high drama...shocking...sometimes brutal.

"Experiment" Supported

This program, initiated last year and sponsored by Student Senate, offers 2 students the opportunity to be active participants in another culture, while at the same time helping to create better understanding between this country and the country abroad.

The Senate believes that one of the most effective ways of knowing another culture is living in it for a month as a member of a host family. By doing this, the student will discover the real meaning of the phrase, "experiment in international living."

Rodger Wetzel, CH 6, and Jennifer Roden, AS 4, 1966 College Ambassador representatives, have written articles for the Spectrum on their experiences. Both students will be available at an open forum to respond to any questions regarding the program. The time and place of this meeting will be announced later.

Apply now to be one of NDSU's 1967 College Ambassador representatives. Application forms are in the International Activities Lounge, 2nd floor, Memorial Union.

UNESCO Art Is Exhibited

United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) watercolor reproductions are being presented in the Memorial Union.

The Student Union Activities Board opened the second in a series of art shows Oct. 11, at 7:30 p.m. in Hultz Lounge. Invitations were sent to various organizations and housing facilities on campus.

A varied selection of watercolor and oil reproductions is included. The exhibition reflects a new interest in watercolor as an art form.

The paintings are mostly European works of the last 150 years and a few Oriental masterpieces. Among the artists represented are Georges Braque, Paul Gauguin, Paul Cezanne, Marc Chagall, Honore Daumier, Lionel Feininger, Pierre Bonnard, Pablo Picasso, W. J. M. Turner, Toulouse-Lautrec and masters of the T'ang, Sung and Ming Dynasties.

Student Personnel Program Instituted

Recently incorporated into North Dakota State University's graduate school personnel work is a master's degree program in college student personnel work. Specialty areas within the program are college union management, college counseling, foreign student advising and general administrative work, which includes such activities as residence halls and health center administration. The department of education cooperates with the office of the dean of students and the program. Upon completion of the prescribed course work, the degree Master of Science in Education with emphasis in one of the four special study areas will be received.

While enrolled in the program, students will take education, psychology, political science, economics, art, speech, philosophy, history and religion courses in the 400-500 series, along with required special topics and seminars in the specialty fields. According to George Schmidt, assistant dean of students and director of the Memorial Union, the program has a special feature which places NDSU as one of a few colleges in the United States to offer specialized study areas of college union management. The program has been developed in cooperation with the office of the dean of students.

The intern will spend one academic quarter in each area and one summer session in the field of his particular interest. During his internship the student will take up to nine credits of course work and will be paid on the same basis as graduate assistants in other university departments.

According to Schmidt the entire personnel program has been in planning for over one year. All courses required for completion of any one of the four areas of study are presently listed in the university catalog, but they have just recently been correlated into a prescribed course which meets master's degree requirements. At present there are two students enrolled in the program.

Join the Peace Corps... or join General Electric

Let's face it, the Peace Corps isn't for everybody. (Neither is medicine, law or social work.) But you can get a lot of the same kind of satisfaction from a job with General Electric. Because we, too, are trying to make life on earth more livable. That can mean a job designing a new satellite to forecast weather. Or supplying nuclear reactors to generate electricity more cheaply than ever before. Or controlling smog in our cities and pollution in our streams. It can mean better lighting to cut down crime. It can mean new rapid-transit systems to unclog traffic. All it takes is brains, imagination, drive and a fairly rugged constitution. These qualities can get you a job with General Electric — or with the Peace Corps.

If you choose the Peace Corps, we'll understand. But when the day comes that you leave the Corps, remember us. You'll still be young, and at General Electric, the young men are important men.
Coeds Compete For Miss Fargo Title

Claudia Peterson, AS 3, the present Miss Fargo, will give up her crown on Saturday evening, Oct. 15. She was named first runner-up in last year’s Miss Fargo pageant.

Gnae Olson, a former North Dakota State University student, was named Miss Fargo and later Miss North Dakota. Miss Peterson then replaced Miss Olson in the Miss Fargo title.

NDSU will be represented by 14 women at the Miss Fargo competition.

The pageant, sponsored by the Fargo Jaycees, is the first step to the Miss America Pageant.

To qualify for Miss Fargo, the entrants must be between 18 and 28 years. They must have been a Fargo resident for at least six months or a student in Fargo.

Contestants must be single and a high school graduate by Sept., 1967.

Contestants are judged in talent, evening gown and evening gown group competitions. They also meet with the judges for individual interviews.

The new Miss Fargo will receive a $250 scholarship and gifts from local merchants. Other prices include $150, $100 and two $50 scholarships.

Because of the large number of contestants entered, competition will be held on two evenings, Oct. 14 and 15. Miss Fargo will be crowned on the evening of Oct. 15 in the Ben Franklin Junior High School Gymnasium.

Contestants representing NDSU are:
- Danielle Churchill, AS 2, sponsored by Kappa Kappa Gamma. Her talent for the pageant is dancing.
- Jan Eklund, AS 2, is sponsored by Kappa Kappa Gamma. Jan will perform a dance in the pageant.
- LaRitta Johnson, HE 2, sponsored by Kappa Alpha Theta, will present a dramatic reading in the competition.
- Colleen Kakela, HE 1, will present examples of her sewing for the Miss Fargo Pageant.
- Judy Konesol, AS 3, will present a baton routine in the pageant.
- Diane Anderson, Fargo, sponsored by Kappa Kappa Gamma. Jan will perform a dance in the pageant.
- Judy Konesol, AS 3, will present a baton routine in the pageant.
- Randi Merger, HE 1, is sponsored by Bur gum Hall. Randi will present a piano and song routine.
- Nanette Vest, HE 3, sponsored by Kappa Kappa Gamma. Jan will perform a dance in the pageant.
- Nancy Severson, HE 1, will present a dance in the competition. She is sponsored by Ceres Hall.

Sherry Stagl, HE 2, is sponsored by Kappa Alpha Theta. Sherry will sing for the competition.

Sanette Vest, HE 3, is sponsored by Gamma Phi Beta, will sing in the Miss Fargo Pageant.

Gloria Wilhelms, HE 1, is sponsored by Ceres Hall. She will play the piano during the competition.

Other candidates from NDSU who are unsponsored are:
- Jeraldine Roach, HE 1, will present either a piano solo or a dramatic reading.
- Renee Gail, HE 4, has chosen art as her talent in the competition.
- Linda Hason, AS 2, will dance in the Miss Fargo Pageant.
- Candidates not from NDSU are:
  - Delia Alm, Fargo, who will sing in the pageant. Miss Alm has no sponsor.
  - Diane Anderson, Fargo, sponsored by Joseph’s School of Hair Design. She will present a dance for her talent.
  - Sandra Anderson, Fargo, is a vocalist. Miss Anderson is sponsored by Flair Beauty Salon and Mandell’s Clothing.
  - Sharyn Knudson is sponsored by Interstate Business College.

Miss Fargo will be chosen by the Miss Fargo Pageant.

We prefer North's bid to South's holdup play.

Declarer is too hasty at trick one. He should reason that West is quite likely to have the diamond ace and seven spades for his vulnerable bid. The club king is of no consequence! If West holds it, the contract is safe.

Mjos Has Big Night

Freshmen Impress "In 27-7 Victory"

by Neil Thomas

The Baby Bison football team put together a strong offensive and defensive effort to overwhelm the Concordia freshmen 27-7 last Wednesday night. Led by the running of halfback Tim Mjos and his backfield counterparts, the Baby Bison rolled up 245 yards rushing. They scored a single touchdown in the second quarter and two in the third.

The final Bison tally came on an 87-yard touchdown run with an intercepted pass by Steve Krumrei, left cornerback. Mjos had a big night, gaining 97 yards on 20 carries and two touchdowns; one on a 14-yard pass from quarterback Bruce Grasamke and the other on a one-yard run.

Fullback Brian Veale scored the other Bison touchdown in the second period on a one-yard run and totaled 42 yards rushing after replacing starter Ron Kobosky. Kobosky left the game with an injury at the end of the first half after gaining 40 yards.

The kicking duties were handled by halfback Mike Consemies who converted three of four extra point tries and picked up 48 yards rushing.

Concordia's only score came on a 30-yard run by Chuck Olson in the third period. Freshman Coach Erv Kjeldberg praised the play of quarterback Grasamke and the running back Grasamke and the running back of Mjos.

He stated, "Mjos is one of the finest running backs we've had on the freshman team since I've been here. I was more than pleased with the offensive unit as a whole."

The defensive unit received the compliment, "They did a better than average job for the amount of work put in at practice."

Bruce Grasamke was at quarterback with Tim Mjos and Mike Consemies at halfback and Ron Kobosky at fullback. Brian Veale and Dennis Ridgeway also saw considerable action at fullback and end respectively.

On Oct. 22, the Baby Bison will host the University of North Dakota freshman team at DaCOA's Optimians, Inc.

Bison Are Victorious In 35-23 Contest

Neil Thomas

Bison retained their undefeated status and number one ranking by virtue of their 35-23 win over Montana State last Saturday in the North Dakota State University homecoming game.

Bison gridders were forced to move from behind in the tense last minute as left linebacker (33) falls (middle left). Belmont eludes first attempt and faces the left defensive halfback (43) as the right linebacker (40) follows up (middle right). The defensive back (43) stays with Belmont as the safety (18) appears, (lower left) and brings Belmont down (lower right).

Consider Colour

Carefully

Colour, in diamonds, is one of four factors affecting price. Those with "body colour" of blue or white are more valuable than those showing yellowish tints.

The untrained eye does not readily detect these colour variations, but as experienced jewelers, we can show you these differences, and explain why price varies with colour.

DMS Distinction Given To Outstanding Cadets

The four students are Blair P. Conway, AS 4; Sheldon J. Haken­sen, MK 4; Martin L. Hellickson, AE 4 and Michael J. Kihne, PH 4.

In order to be designated as DMS, a student must meet the following criteria:

1. He must possess outstanding qualities of leadership, moral character and must demonstrate a definite aptitude for the military service.
2. He must have attained an academic standing in the upper half of his class, though this requirement may be waived upon attainment of a military class standing in the upper ten percent of his military class.
3. He must demonstrate leadership ability through participation in recognized campus activities.
4. He must attain a standing in the upper third of his military class.

Designation as DMS entitles a cadet to apply for a Regular Army or Marine Corps commission.

"Room is a success in its first season. The event, and writers, modern dancers and poets served three years in the U.S. Army before enrollment at the University of North Dakota, where he became editor of the school newspaper before coming to NDSU in 1962, he worked for various publications in North Dakota and was editor and owner of the Student News Bureau, Bison annual and the Spectrum.

He is married and has the children. Mrs. Chambers teaches in the University nursery in the child development department.

Redecoration Completed

"Designers put new make-up on the face of the Union," said George Schmidt, director of the Union.

Schmidt added, "The Bison Room is a prime get-together place for students and the bland atmosphere and poor lighting weren't very inviting."

"The grill wall was painted pur­ple, blue, light blue, shades of green in geometric patterns. The décor was done in fashionable colors and in line with what is going on in the arts, according to Schmidt.

An alternate plan of carpeting and paneling the Bison Room was abandoned because of the risk of flooding.

Dish carts, which weren't used, have been removed. Access to the dishwasher has been changed.

Alterations have been designed to reduce cleaning problems.

In the State Room a green was placed in front of the dish room and the meal line was re­configured. Tables were added.

Lights can be dimmed in the Bison Room to accommodate activities such as the Gaslight Cafe. Musical groups, poetry readers and writers, modern dancers and any other entertainers are invited to perform in the Gaslight Cafe.

Gaslight Cafe Returns As Union Feature

The Gaslight Cafe has returned to the Memorial Union after a successful first season.

The event, sponsored by the Student Union Activities Board, is intended to provide a change of pace from the usual daily meal routine.

Every Wednesday afternoon the Bison Grill in the Union undergoes a transformation from its regular setting into the Gaslight Cafe.

This is accomplished by creating the proper atmosphere. Lights are dimmed, tables set, candles lit and entertainment provided.

Plans have been made for the entire room to undergo a complete transformation each week and to include folk singing, poetry reading and perhaps some dramatic sketches.

Persons or groups wishing to perform for the Gaslight customers are asked to contact Mary Robson, AS 3, of SUAB.
