

Winter Quarter Will Provide Something For Everyone

Glenn Solberg

Whether you like sports, music, politics, drama, social events, poetry, controversy, Spanish dances — or all of these — winter quarter will undoubtedly provide something to satisfy your outside interests.

Basketball promises to be exciting with the Bison being a top contender for the North Central conference title. The first home game will be December 13 with the Bison facing Concordia. Grand Forks might be an interesting place to be on February 18 as the Bison play last year's title-winning University of North Dakota Sioux.

The recent cold wave should bring some snow; thus satisfying North Dakota State University's many ski enthusiasts who are anxious once again to visit the slopes of nearby Val Chatel at Park Rapids, Minn.; Detroit Mountain at Detroit Lakes, Minn. and Sugar Hills at distant Grand Rapids, Minn.

Louis Armstrong's concert on December 8 will provide entertainment for both the music connoisseur and the average listener.

For the more serious listener the NDSU concert choir and Oratorio society are performing Handel's "Christmas Messiah" and Giannini's "Canticle of Christmas" in their annual Christmas concert on December 18.

"Rally 'Round the Flag' Boys!" will be staged on February 8 and 9 by the Little Country Theatre. This is a full-length comedy based upon the novel by Max Shulman. Tryout schedules will be announced shortly.

On campus political scene, MUN will convene January 26, and the discussion of international affairs might be but a prelude to the local campus debates which will take place during the campaigns for student government positions.

Campaigning for student senate, student body president and student body vice president will begin around February 1 followed by the elections on February 13.

Along the lines of politics and controversy, the Student Activities Board is planning to sponsor what they call "Sitting Bull-In." These will be held every Thursday afternoon and will resemble the widely publicized "bitch-ins" staged at many of our nation's larger campuses. Here, students and professors will openly complain about and debate any topic so desired.

Balancing off these heated discussions will be the continuation of "Poetry North," and a lyceum series performances of Spanish dances by Jose Molina and the Spanish Dance Company.

Socially, SAB is planning a "Snow Ball" on December 17, which is to be followed in the new year by a Playboy Party, Casino Night and a surfing party. The board is also planning "Winter Weekend" for one of the first weekends in February.

Fraternities are busy scheduling numerous parties, for winter quarter is the one in which many of the fraternities' sweethearts are picked at their annual formal.

But the quarter must come to an end, and we can once again start cramming for the final examinations which are scheduled for February 27 through March 3 followed by the UND - NDSU basketball game on our home court on March 4.

Model United Nations Is Main Event

The second annual Model United Nations Conference will be held at North Dakota State University January 26-28, 1967. The Conference is organized to function just as the United Nations itself. Each of the 121 member nations may be represented by a delegation.

Approximately 70 nations have already been selected by student delegations from NDSU, out-of-town and local colleges, and local high schools. Each delegation will consist of three to five delegates.

Out-of-town registrants include Gustavus Adolphus College, Dickinson State College, Lake Region Junior College, University of North Dakota, Southern State College and Valley City High School. Both Concordia and Moorhead State Colleges are working with NDSU on conference plans and will be sending several delegations. Students from these two colleges are serving on various committees and their faculties are represented on the Board of Directors.

Many NDSU organizations have registered for delegations. All six sororities, eight of the 11 fraternities, several dorms, social science classes, religious organizations and other groups will represent countries. No organization sponsorship is required, however. Any students interested in participating in the conference may form their own delegations.

The fee for each local delegate participating in the conference is $3.50. This covers registration, all events during the conference, and the banquet and keynote address on January 28. Amin Hilmy II, ambassador of the United Arab Republic to the United Nations, and John T. Neumaier, president of Moorhead State College will address the conference.

The conference includes General Assembly sessions, meetings of the Security Council, bloc meetings and political meetings. Representatives of the various countries must maintain the position of that country in the United Nations at the conference.

A meeting of all local participants will be held before the conference to inform students of the events of the conference and the roles they are to fill. Each delegation will be asked to submit resolutions for consideration in the bloc and political meetings and the General Assembly. Sample resolutions will be provided to serve as models.

Positions are still open for parliamentarians and general staff members. 41 delegations are available for representation. Any one interested can contact Dale Buchanan, delegations chairman; Jim Glynn, Lois McKennett, chief coordinator or Marilyn Mathison, executive secretary for further information.

Arab Ambassador Will Address Group

Fin Dooley

International speakers will highlight the major event of the winter quarter, the Model United Nations Conference January 26-28. The conference will convene in the Union Ballroom.

Two days of MUN general assembly debate will be held in the ballroom and the conference will conclude with a banquet in the Ballroom.

Delegates from colleges and high schools in four states and Canada will represent the 121 countries of the United Nations.

Amin Hilmy II, ambassador of the United Arab Republic to the UN, and John T. Neumaier, president of Moorhead State College will address the conference.

Hilmy will speak as a ranking official of a neutral nation. He has represented his country as ambassador to several nations before his appointment to the UN. Hilmy's address will expose the philosophy of a leading neutral nation of 24 million.

The ambassador has recently addressed the General Assembly of the UN speaking for the Arab world against this November's Israeli attack and destruction of Samu, Jordan, which had a population of 4,000.

As the ambassador of the most populous nation in the near East and of the most powerful Arab nation, Hilmy's comments on foreign aid, colonialism, foreign business investment, communism and the creation of the Jewish state, Israel, will be a valid expression of the Arab viewpoint.

John T. Neumaier, Ph.D., was born in Franfor-on-Main, Germany. He attended schools in Frankfurt, Germany; Lausanne, Switzerland; Milan, Italy and Dunstable, Bedfordshire, England. He received his Ph. D. from the University of Minnesota. His major is philosophy and his minor is sociology.

In his eight years as president of MSC, Neumaier has overseen the erection of a Fine Arts center, (Continued on Page Two) a library, several dorms including a high rise dorm and a natural science building.

Neumaier's address will be a metaphysical treatise of world problems.

MUN is a student organization chartered independent of the Student Activities Board. It is financed by student fees.

The organization is responsible to a board of directors made up of President H. R. Albrecht; Miles Canning, Bell Telephone Company; Arif Hayat, president of the NDSU conference; Frank Kendrick, chairman of the department of political science, MSC; NDSU Vice-President Laurel Loftsgard; Martin Lutter, professor of international affairs and political science, Concordia College; Seth Russell, dean of arts and sciences; Robert Siberry, director of international student affairs; Edward Stern, Fargo businessman and David Young, dean of students.

In its first year MUN was the focal point of a long-running debate printed in the Spectrum. The debate included several campus personalities Olu Osiname, a foreign student from Nigeria, Mrs. Ann Dillon, conservative and patriot and Isole Lashun, high school drop-out.

Mrs. Dillon began the debate by labeling the Soviet Union the most brutal, bloody, tryannical member of the UN. She warned against Soviet domination and advocated the ejection of that nation from the UN.

She was especially concerned that a MUN law requires the delegates to represent their nation's policy exactly or lose their credentials. This she pointed out required students to attack their own nation's policy.

A letter from Isole Lashun agreed with Mrs. Dillon and condemned MUN along with the UN. He said, "The conference's real purpose is to destroy the American way in the minds of students." He concluded, "Patriots arise!"

Yet MUN 1966 supported by

Olu Osiname, President Albrecht and the Young Democrats survived.

This year, with one year of experience the MUN student steering committee has hopes for a larger conference and more comprehensive general assembly debate. The committee is made up of ten subcommittees, such as a tri-college coordinating committee, a resolution committee and a finance committee.

The steering committee began work on the coming conference last May. They are now attempting to fill the last delegation positions. Organizations and independent students may assume responsibility for any of the remaining national delegations.

To encourage involvement in debate by the greatest number of student delegations, each delegation is required to submit at least one resolution. This resolution must deal with an international problem of immediate interest to the sponsoring nation. The students have also been encouraged to write speeches and policy statements to use in debate.

Work Starts On Big Little "I"

Saddle and Sirloin Club has set the 41st Little International for February 11-12, according to Roger Halverson AG 4, manager of the show. Queen candidates will be nominated at the next meeting and the Man of the Year in Agriculture will be selected.

The Little International, patterned after the International Livestock Exposition, is expected to attract 250 entrants and 3,000 spectators.

Students participating in the showmanship contest draw lots for sheep, dairy, beef and swine from North Dakota State University's flocks and herds. They fit and train the animals and show them Saturday night.

Winners of each division vie for Grand Champion Showman. Judging is based on the quality of showmanship rather than quality of the animal.

The first show was held in the Field House in 1924. In 1953 it was moved to the newly-constructed Sheppard Arena. In 1939 an agronomy division was added and in 1951 agricultural engineering and home economics divisions were added.

The Hall of Fame Banquet honoring the Man of the Year in Agriculture will be Friday, Dec. 11.

Bert Morre AG 6, will be master of ceremonies, Assistant Manager of the show is Gary Markegard AG 3.

Committee heads are: hall of fame, Fred Schroeder AG 4; publicity, Bob Cook AG 4 and Tom Nikolaisen AG 4; catalog, Tom Cook AG 4 and Ron Hofstrand AG 2; advertising, Brian Sundsbak AG 3; arena, Scott Dau AG 2 and awards, Lawrence Wollmuth AG 3. Business Manager is Roger Haugen AG 3.

FLAG SEWING for the second annual Model United Nations are Mary Froeschke HE 2 (left) and Lois McKennett HE 3.

Predictions Made On Student Senate's Future

by John T. Schneider

The highlight of student government during winter quarter will be the all-campus elections on February 13.

This year for the first time students will elect a student body vice president along with the president and 12 senators. There will also be several constitutional changes on which to vote.

Larry Fuglesten AS 3, is currently the only announced candidate for Student Body President. Other prospective candidates from senate include Mike Anderson AG 3, Bill Daly AG 3 and Greg Kapaun AS 3. All have displayed an interest but haven't decided as yet.

The way it looks now Fuglesten and Anderson will vie for the presidency with Kapaun and Daly seeking the number two spot. This of course depends on the possibility of write-in candidates.

Despite the incompetencies, senate will face the next quarter with more power than they have enjoyed before. The administration has decided to give senate more say in student organization and finance.

University regulations concerning dormitory hours will be one of the major considerations before senate in the next few meetings. It is predicted that women's hours will be extended to midnight on week nights and 2 a.m. on weekends.

Open house in both Greek houses and dormitories is another issue to be considered. No matter how the idea of open house sounds, some students would prefer to have their Sunday nights for studying and resting.

The commission of student activities is going to conduct teacher evaluation during winter quarter. Results will be published and copies made available to students. This has been done several times in the past with little participation or success.

Dissatisfaction with the Rahja club has reached its peak. In the making is a new rally organization. This will probably be a male pep club which will have organized gymnastics and cheers at athletic contests.

Senate will move around campus holding their meetings in different housing areas to bring more student participation. Senate will also decide merit of organizations, reviewing their constitutions and making recommendations.

Senate may be developing into the organization it was ideally set up to be. The success of the body will depend not upon the actions of its members but on the support of the student body.

Cagers Enter 1966-67 Campaign With Depth And Experience

Neil Thomas
Over-all balance and depth highlight the Bison basketball team as it prepares for what looks to be one of the most even North Central Conference races in years.

The University of North Dakota Sioux have been tapped as the favorite in the NCC this year with South Dakota State and the Bison close behind.

Last year the Bison five finished with a tie for third place in the NCC after being tied for the conference lead with the Sioux during most of the season. Only one starter was lost from last year's edition and some fine candidates have come up from last year's freshman team.

Leading the Bison this year will be last year's regulars Bob Maier, Ron Schlieman, Gerry Suman, Joe Schaefer and Kerry Griffin, who was a starter for several games last year.

Maier, who played a lot a guard last year, led the Bison scorers with 16.9 points per game and ranked fifth in the NCC scoring. The 6'4" senior was an all-state performer at Carrington High School which was the number 3 ranked class B team in North Dakota during Maier's senior year. Maier also played football and baseball while in high school.

Maier, in Coach Doug Cowman's words, "Has the ability to come up with the big play."

An English major, Maier plans to teach and coach after graduation.

Also at a guard spot is 6' senior Joe Schaefer. Schaefer played his prep ball at Minot Ryan High School where he was an all-state player. Schaefer also played football while at Ryan.

"Defensively he's very pesky and does a good job at forcing enemy turnovers," stated Cowman.

Schaefer, who is majoring in math, plans to teach and coach.

Forward Ron Schlieman turned out to be a pleasant surprise last year as a sophomore. He placed eighth in NCC scoring last season but "his most valuable asset has been fine offensive rebounding and he also has the knack of being in the right spot when he has to be," according to Coach Cowman.

The 6'3" junior had the distinction of being the only class B player to be on the 1964 North Dakota all-state team. During his four years at Makoti the basketball team had a 84-13 won-lost record.

Schlieman also played baseball in high school and is presently majoring in physical education at North Dakota State University.

The tallest man on the squad is last year's honorary captain and most valuable player, Gerry Suman. The 6'6" senior center stood sixth in NCC scoring last year.

"Gerry has been doing a real outstanding job," said Cowman.

Suman was an all-district and all-regional player at Bemidji High School and was picked to the WCCO radio all-state team in Minnesota. Suman is an electrical engineering major.

Kerry Griffin, an economics major, was a part-time starter last year at guard. The 6'1" senior transferred to NDSU from Rochester Junior College in Minnesota. Griffin was an all-state honorable mention player at Holme High School at Covington, Ky. Holme High had a 20-4 basketball record during Griffin's four years.

Griffin, Suman, Schlieman, Schaefer and Maier are five of the eight letterman named last year. The remaining three are Bob Erickson, Dick Salvi and Gene Anderson.

Erickson, a 6' junior guard, is from the Bronx, N. Y., and was an all-city pick at Power Memorial High School. Power Memorial High was ranked number one in the state of New York and had a 50-6 record during the four years Erickson attended.

While in high school, Erickson also played baseball; he has pitched for the Bison baseball team.

Erickson transferred to NDSU after attending the University of Wyoming for one year.

A business economics major, Erickson plans to be a pilot after graduation.

Dick Salvi "has the knack of getting the timely basket and also the clutch rebound," in Cowman's words.

The 6'3" junior plays at both center and forward spots. A native of Valley City, Salvi is a chemistry major and plans to do research in that field upon graduation.

Coaching or public relations work are Gene Anderson's post graduation plans. The 6'6" junior hails from Battle Lake, Minn., and plays at both forward and center.

While at Battle Lake, Anderson captained the basketball team his senior year and received all-state and all-American honorable mention. Battle Lake had a 72-15 record during Anderson's attendance. Anderson also played football and baseball there.

Coach Cowman said of him, "Gene has real fine strength and aggressiveness."

The remaining senior on the team is 6'1" Charles (Butch) Evert. A guard, Evert "can work real hard in practice and then sit on the bench through much of the game but can go in and do the job when needed," states Cowman.

While at Kindred High School, Evert was an all-district pick in basketball. A 54-22 record was compiled at Kindred during Evert's years there.

In addition to basketball, Evert also played football and was on the track team at Hickson.

Evert attended Mayville State College before transferring to NDSU where he is a biological sciences major.

Coaching and teaching are Everts' future plans.

The remaining upperclassman is 6'4" junior Gary Ness. Ness put in two years at the State School of Science at Wahpeton before coming to NDSU.

Ness played his high school ball for Lisbon and was on the football and baseball teams as well.

Ness is a political science major and plans to be a pilot.

Up from last year's freshman squad are Palma Chandler, Bob Parmer, Don Kyser and Ron Waggoner.

Chandler is a former cager from the University of Cincinnati and had a 14.5 scoring average for the Baby Bison last year.

The 5'11 1/2" junior guard is from Cincinnati and is majoring in chemistry.

Bob Parmer is 6'2" and plays at a forward spot. The sophomore Fargo native was a member of the Bison cross-country team this past season. Parmer, a pharmacy major, also played football and was on the track team at Fargo High.

Kyser, who is one of the taller members of the team at 6'6", was the third leading scorer for the freshman team last year. While in high school Kyser played center for 1965 state champion Minot High.

Kyser is a civil engineering major.

Leading scorer for the Baby Bison team last year was 6'5" forward Ron Waggoner who had a 21.7 game average. An all-state high school pick Waggoner lead New Town High School to a second place rank in 1963 and the school rolled up a 111-10 record while he was there.

Waggoner, who also played football and participated in track during his prep career, is majoring in economics.

Goals Of The United Nations Explained

by Arif Hayat

Too often people misinterpret the goals and accomplishments of the United Nations because of lack of understanding of the world organization.

The preamble of the U.N. charter says — "to save succeeding generations from the scourge of war, which twice in our lifetime has brought untold sorrow to mankind, and to reaffirm faith in fundamental human rights, in the dignity and worth of the human person, in the equal rights of men and women and of nations large and small, to promote social progress and better standards of life in larger freedom."

It is in this context that we should regard the world organization and its attempts to work out an improvement, if not a solution, to the problems that come before it.

The objective of the Model U.N. Conference is to provide students the opportunity to discuss, debate and examine dispassionately the issues that concern world peace and human dignity, equality and justice. It is an attempt to familiarize students with the vital role played by the U.N. in eradicating hunger, disease and hopelessness (actually, 84% of the U.N. staff is exclusively engaged in non-political affairs of the world).

Any student who displays indifference to the issues and problems that confront mankind today will stay uneducated and thus, unfit to exercise his rights with responsibility as a member of our democratic system. Any student who spends all his time and energy getting good grades is wasting four most important years of his life in terms of learning how to live.

The concept of education in a university should not and cannot be restricted to completing a degree. If a student fails to learn how to live, he fails in his education. The conference is a small step forward to accept the idea that almost every issue has two sides and our side is not always the right one.

I must emphasize that most of the evils and suffering are caused by ignorance and lack of tolerance for other's point of view.

We must accept the unpleasant fact that no man or nation is innocent and therefore we must pause before indulging in condemnation from the point of view of righteousness. This self-evaluation might make the world a little happier than it is.

Christmas Concerts Set

Two major choral works will be presented at the North Dakota State University Christmas Concert at 8 p.m. in Festival Hall December 18, according to Robert Godwin, choral director.

The Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah" will be sung by the NDSU Oratorio Society during the first half of the program, and will be followed by "The Cantic of Christmas" during the second half.

Bruce Foote, one-time member of the famous National Theatre of the Air radio show from Chicago, will be a guest soloist in the program.

"The Cantic of Christmas" by contemporary composer Vittorio Giannini, is written for baritone soloist, chorus and orchestra, and will feature Foote and the NDSU Concert Choir.

Performing in the "Messiah" will be Foote, soprano Marie Ledet, Fargo; contralto Bonnie Lestina, Fargo; and tenor Joe Miller, Buffalo.
