

IFC opposes senate stand on affiliation with NSA

The Intrafraternity Council at North Dakota State University voted almost unanimously to go down on record as opposing any affiliation whatsoever with the National Student's Association (NSA). The motion was passed at the group's bi-monthly meeting Sunday.

IFC, by opposing NSA involvement, showed its disapproval of Student Senate's recent unanimous vote to affiliate with the national organization.

"Giving NSA publicity by association would only be hurting the University," stated Brent Jenkins, IFC representative.

Jenkins added "NSA advocates black power, abolition of the draft and the unrestricted use of marijuana — are these the policies which NDSU students are seeking?"

It was mentioned that NSA provided many services that would be of great assistance to students, such as a speaker bureau, travel services and a low cost insurance policy.

In opposition to the services provided, Jim McNally, ATO representative, stated, "The money Student Senate pays to join NSA does not totally apply to the services we obtain. It is also used to promote black power, construct bombs for certain instigated riots and help get Rap Brown out of prison."

Larry Fuglesten, student body president, commented at the senate meeting last Sunday that there appeared to be a lack of communication between Student Senate and other organizations on campus, such as IFC.

Fuglesten stressed the fact that if there had been the proper lines of communication between these groups, the apparent misrepresentation might not have occurred.

Students will have a chance to vote on the issue in a referendum Feb. 1.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. H. R. ALBRECHT were honored by faculty, students and university personnel at a reception Friday in Alumni Lounge. Albrecht leaves for New York tomorrow for his new position with the Ford Foundation.

Senate accepts new constitution

Student Senate voted in favor of adopting the new student body constitution as revised last Sunday. The student body will either ratify or reject the proposed constitution in a plebiscite election Feb. 1.

The new constitution is modeled after the U. S. constitution and provides for the election of senators on an apportionment system, a presidential veto power and the election of the president and vice-president on the same ticket.

Under the proposed constitution student senators will be apportioned as follows:

1. One senator representing each residence hall.
2. One senator representing the University married student's housing.
3. Two senators representing the social and social-professional fraternities.
4. One senator representing the social sororities.
5. One senator representing each of the undergraduate colleges.

6. Three senators representing off-campus students.

The vice-president, elected on the same ticket as the president, will handle many of the duties that the president now has under the present constitution, including presiding at Student Senate meetings, voting in case of tie and appointing members of the individual research committees.

The presidential veto power will function just as the U. S. presidential veto power. Any legislation vetoed by the president will be subject to overruling by the senate.

The new constitution also establishes a judicial branch in addition to the legislative and executive branches of student government.

Exact election procedures will be included in the by-laws. Senate will meet Jan. 28 to vote on proposed by-laws to the constitution.

Blue Key names spring musical

The Rodgers and Hammerstein Broadway musical play Carousel has been announced by Blue Key National Honor Fraternity as its annual spring all-campus production.

Mick Anderson, publicity director for the production, states that Carousel was chosen "because of its universal audience appeal and its exceptional musical score." June is Bustin Out All Over, If I Loved You, and You'll Never Walk Alone are some of the popular songs from this musical.

Anderson added that "Carousel has a large cast, thus giving more students the chance to participate."

Producer for this year's production will be Larry Fuglesten. Director and choreographer will be Miss Marilyn Nass. Steve Ludwig will serve as student director.

Past Blue Key productions include Damn Yankees, South Pacific, Flower Drum Song, Annie Get Your Gun, How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying and Oklahoma.

Tryout dates will be announced at a future time.

Young denies policy change

During the first week of December, 1967 all organizations which are recognized by North Dakota State University received forms from the dean of student's office requesting information substantiating the fact that they are in full compliance with university rules and regulations.

"There is no policy change, only a change in the way in which to determine compliance with existing policies," stated Dean Young, dean of students.

Young

He explained that the measure is being taken to provide a ready source of complete information on all organizations and to eliminate the need for extensive probing into internal affairs of campus organizations.

The forms demanded a statement of the organizations' purposes, descriptions of their membership requirements, and the guarantee that no criteria of race, religion or nationality is employed at any stage of membership selection.

Each organization must also agree on a national level that any person proposed by the local chapter and meeting the membership requirements as stated in the form submitted will be accepted for membership unless a statement indicating which membership requirement was not met is submitted.

The information, signed by both the local chapter president and a representative of the national office, must be submitted to the Dean of Students office by April 1.

Organizations failing to submit the form will lose their university recognition subject to petition and review.

Young commented "This doesn't make any new policy easier to impose." He emphasized that the intent of the procedure is merely for the sake of clarity and easier administration of existing policies.

The university has upheld a non-discrimination clause for all organizations since Sept. 1966. The form requires that organizations reaffirm their compliance with this stipulation.

Young further stated, "the form is aimed at all organizations and not just fraternities and sororities."

When asked if any specific issue had prompted the letter, Young replied that no issue of complaint or violation of existing policies had prompted drafting of the form, but rather administrative convenience.

In reply to the question of the letter being a step toward local autonomy, Young replied that this could be enforced without the form, but insisted that local autonomy itself was not the intent.

THE RISE AND FALL OF BETTY BOYAMIBEAUTIFUL

Betty Boyamibeautiful, high school homecoming queen and winner of her hometown beauty pageants, arrives on the NDSU campus to transfer her claim to fame from the local level to the college level.

She is confident that with her assets and her high school titles she has it made.

To Betty's dismay she soon discovers that of the 50 girls on her dorm floor, 20 of them were homecoming queens at their local high schools. The girl next door is Miss Benson County and across the hall is Miss Geographical Center.

She is definitely not the only one intent on becoming a college queen. She finds her competition in large numbers. But fear not Betty, for at NDSU their are almost enough titles for everyone who wants one.

As a freshman you can look forward to pledge princess selections by a number of our fraternities. In most cases the only qualifications needed for this distinction are better than average looks and a sorority pledge pin. (Well, at least it's a start Betty.)

In logical succession comes the selection of fraternity sweetheart hearts. The exact function of a sweetheart in a fraternity is not known by most of its members — sometimes even by the sweetheart herself. But still, Betty, this is a title and you can't pass it up your way to the top.

Now that you have a fraternity behind you, you have an assured nomination for the various all-college titles that happen annually during the school year.

Fall quarter's Bison Booster Queen, Homecoming Queen, and Bowl Queen Candidate should definitely be on your list. Come Winter quarter there's Little International Queen, Military Ball Queen and Betty Coed to try for. Then you can finish off the year with the dubious title of Greek Goddess.

Well, Betty, you've done it. While superficially portraying the role of average, human, desirable Betty — getting pinned at the end of your sophomore year (as tradition expects) and getting engaged at the beginning of your senior year (as tradition requires), you have captured titles at NDSU that are not bestowed on just anyone — only twenty-four girls a year are so lucky, since there are only twenty-four queens princesses, and sweethearts selected each year. Some day there may be enough titles for everyone. Until then, Betty, you're our girl!

TRAGIC FOOTNOTE

Upon graduation Betty was thrust into a cold, cruel world which was much more concerned about her ability to win with ideas rather than with looks. Discovering that her old assets didn't count, she became very depressed and soon began to let even her appearance go.

Last week a staff member in the alumni office fingering through the files noted a recent change: Boyamibeautiful, Betty to Boyamibeeverlosthersonlyasset, Betty.

Senate passes no-hour system

Student Senate passed unanimously a motion by Senator Bob Hanson, chairman of the senate resident life committee, recommending a system of no hours for junior and senior women and women students over 21 regardless of class.

Adoption of the recommendation will require approval of the Faculty Senate Subcommittee on Student Affairs, Faculty Senate and the Dean of Students office.

Hanson's motion was based on results of a poll conducted on Dec. 18. Of the 1183 poll cards distributed to women students in residence halls and sorority houses, 895 or 75.7 per cent were returned.

Campus-wide results indicated that 61.0 per cent of those returning the polls favored no hours for junior women and 85.3 per cent favored the system for senior women. 93.1 per cent felt students over 21 should have no hours.

First lecturer in SAB series talks tonight

Lionel Rogosin, director and producer of the film Good Times, Wonderful Times, will deliver a lecture tonight at 7:30 p.m. His film has been showing this week and will be shown at 10:20 a.m., 2:30 and 4:30 p.m. today.

Rogosin is the first lecturer in the War and Peace special interest series sponsored by the Student Activities Board.

Louis Bohmrich, member of the International Relations Committee of Council for Christian Social Action who served ten years as administrative chief on the U.S. mission to the United Nations, will deliver a lecture Price of Profits of Peace 7:30 p.m. Jan. 23 in the Union Ballroom.

Bohmrich has given speeches and appeared on TV and radio in 30 states during the 1966-67 season. He spent six years as Assistant Secretary of Embassy Affairs in the Far East, Western Europe and the Middle East.

The War and Peace series will conclude with a lecture by Lars Hydle at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 24 in Town Hall. Hydle has just returned from South Viet Nam where he served in the consular and political sections of the U. S. Embassy in Saigon. He specializes in internal politics and serves as a liaison with South Vietnamese youth and student leaders.

The film Battle of Culloden will be shown at 10:30 a.m. and 12:30, 4:30 and 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 24 in Town Hall. The film recreates the Battle of Culloden of 1746.

The film Journal of a War will be shown 10:30 a.m. and 12:30, 4:30 p.m. tomorrow in Town Hall. The film Building of the will be shown at those times and at 7:30 p.m. on Monday.

The poll indicated that the majority of women opposed a no-hours system for freshmen and sophomore co-eds.

Hanson proposed a plan for implementing the no-hours systems in residence halls.

Women students would verify their class standing or age eligibility through the Office of the Registrar with the Dean of Women's signature. The co-eds would have their pictures taken and placed on a card with the necessary information. Each individual would pay for this, thus, use of the system would be optional.

A bell system would be installed in each residence hall to notify an attendant that a student wanted to be admitted to the hall after regular closing hours. The student on duty, a co-ed taking advantage of the no-hour system, would then check the picture on the card and admit the student.

Sorority houses would be able to set up their own system of enforcement subject to approval by Panhellenic Council.

The system would be controlled by a Board of Control consisting of five women involved in the program and a member of the Dean of Women's staff as advisor. The board would act as a judicial body, making decisions on any infractions incurred under the no-hours system.

Lyceum to feature one-man program

William Mooney will present his one man show Half Horse, Half Alligator as the third lyceum series attraction Jan. 25.

The program is an anthology of Americana, including such writers as Will Rogers, Mark Twain, Stephen Vincent Benet and James Russell Lowell.

Mooney studied at the University of Colorado and then went to New York. He worked at odd jobs in the city, summer theater in Pennsylvania and on plays off-Broadway.

In 1961 he and a number of colleagues assembled a review that became part of Talent '61. They toured six months with the USO in Europe and the Far East with this review.

While working in the Broadway company and road show of A Man for All Seasons, Mooney gathered material that he had planned to anthologize in book form.

The opportunity arose for him to present the material in show form when his wife was performing in Vienna. This show became Half Horse, Half Alligator.

Tickets are available in the Union lobby Jan. 18, 19, 22 and 25. Student tickets are free with activity cards. General admission is $3.00. All seats are reserved.

ANUPAM BANERJI looks at two of his paintings now on display in Alumni Lounge of the Union.

Union shows Banerji works

by Ann Froeschle

The paintings of Anupam Banerji, assistant professor of architecture at NDSU, are on display in Alumni Lounge in the Union until Jan. 31.

There are 17 paintings being displayed throughout the lounge. Most of them are available for purchase from the artist.

Banerji has used a variety of techniques and surfaces in his works. His painting titled Water Bearer is done with oils and a spatula on wood with the pitcher being left in the natural wood. Stampede is one of his paintings done on a foreign newspaper in water colors and expresses much action through its sweeping lines used in sketching the horses.

Many of his works were done with acrylics and a spatula, frequently featuring studies of people with much attention being given to their facial expressions. Backgrounds of these paintings were left white which lends an interesting contrast to his beautiful choice of colors.

Among his larger paintings is one titled Triangle done on burlap in oils. This differed somewhat from the others in that his figures were slightly geometric.

Students will have the opportunity to talk to Banerji at a "meet-the-artist" reception 4 p.m. tomorrow in Alumni Lounge.

LCT TRYOUTS

Tryouts for the second children's theater production of the 1967-68 Little Country Theater season will be held at 4:30 and 7:30 p.m. today and tomorrow in the Circle T Theater, Old Main. The play is an adaptation of Robert Louis Stevenson's Treasure Island.

Ron Mrnak will direct the play which will run Feb. 23-25. There are more than 12 male roles and one female.

for an in-depth question and answer session with Xerox

That's the date you can "brainstorm" with our representative on your campus. Use this interview to find out what's going on in fundamental and applied research, engineering, manufacturing, or programming at Xerox.

Ask him how Xerox fits into the entire spectrum of graphic communications. Probe into the publishing aspects. Inquire about information storage and retrieval. Put your questions on a global basis and relate them to the knowledge explosion that's going on all over the world. And, don't be surprised if you begin to form some new ideas about Xerox. Xerox is that kind of company.

If you want to be a little more specific, question him about LDX (Long Distance Xerography). Find out what it is today and what role it will play in tomorrow's integrated computer/communication networks. From this specific, you'll be able to realize the interplay of chemistry, optics, mathematical analysis and systems engineering in developing new products.

We're looking forward to meeting you and answering your questions. As well as posing some of our own.

NSA: a firetrap?

The Dec. 8, 1967, issue of the "Dakota Student," University of North Dakota's student newspaper, stated that the National Student Association (NSA) defined black power as "the establishment of racial pride, identity, purpose, and direction in order to secure economic, political, social and cultural power and influence for the black peoples in America."

The article went on to say that NSA promotes "the abolition of the selective service system and opposes any system of forced service to the government as seriously endangering human freedom."

A third point stressed that the government should cease "all punitive and criminal approaches to the use of marijuana, a mind-altering, non-addictive drug."

On Dec. 17, 1967, Student Senate at North Dakota State University voted unanimously to support NSA and ask students to approve membership in NSA in a Feb. 1 referendum.

NSA believes that black power is apparently the proper step for the colored people to take in order to "attain self-respect and self-determination, which will unify them for their liberation by any means necessary;" it stresses the abolition of the selective service system; and it promotes the lack of government interference with the use of marijuana. Are these the policies our student senate represents?

Whether or not Student Senate endorses these resolutions is not the major concern; the concern is that it will be affiliating with an organization which makes strong policy resolutions in the names of the universities supporting them.

Senators and officers are elected by students to legislate in areas of student and campus concern, not to formulate collective political opinions in the name of the student body.

Student Senate, apparently willing to identify with a group it hasn't evaluated thoroughly, claims that the services provided by NSA are more important than its political involvements.

This is a narrow-minded view. Membership, while not greatly affecting NDSU, will certainly benefit NSA. Membership, if only for the so-called services, endorses NSA as an organization, which in turn endorses an association which organizes student political thought on a national level.

The directors of NSA certainly do not expect the majority to go along with their controversial policies, but they are well aware that they are receiving a great deal of publicity. From this kind of publicity certain benefits are inevitable.

On this campus it is certain that the majority do not advocate black power, or certain other NSA policies. However, senate, by mere association with NSA, will play right into the hands of the minority, giving it the exact publicity it is seeking.

It is a pathetic situation when one is not able to stand up against something he believes is wrong, but would rather jump in the fire with the rest and reap the "benefits."

Student Senate has too many responsibilities on a more local level to become involved in national and international political issues.

The senate should not be naive when considering NSA. It must be well informed and make a serious attempt to provide the students with an awareness of all aspects of the organization.

A farewell look to the future

It is not easy to say goodbye to the students, faculty and staff of North Dakota State University. An academic setting establishes rather unique relationships between people — they are more on a mind-to-mind basis and rarely anywhere else are hopes and dreams and goals so commonly shared by everyone in the entire community, regardless of his role.

In leaving a university then, one doesn't leave a place; rather, he leaves colleagues and friends.

Any university administrator knows that he can never take full credit for the advances and successes achieved during his tenure in office. Progress in an academic world is possible only to the degree that faculty and student interest and action can be enlisted.

Certainly, here on the NDSU campus, our most notable successes have been registered in those areas where faculty or student participation has been most abundant.

If there is to be any solace gained from saying it, the areas of least progress have been those where student and faculty interest and action have been minimal. The happiest situation in the academic world exists when the bulk of the good ideas are contributed by the students and faculty themselves.

I have full confidence that the people who are at NDSU will continue their efforts to shape the University into one of the region's most effective educational enterprises.

Already the State's largest research center, it will have to do even more research. Its programs in resident instruction and extension will need to be expanded. It will need to enlarge its complement of other educational services.

The reasons are simple — enrollment will grow, more teachers will be needed, development of the State's economy and society will require increased research and educational attention. As North Dakota's Land-Grant University, NDSU is mandated to respond to such needs.

The future will require a continued quest for more funds, faculty, facilities and buildings. The effort will have to be made by those who have made it all along — the community of NDSU in its entirety, the people we serve, the Board of Higher Education, the government in Bismarck and by all means, the Legislature.

For the good of the State and its people there can be no compromise on quality.

A university becomes a very personal thing to everyone ever associated with it — it sort of sticks to one for the rest of his life whether he's been a student, worked for it or been on its faculty or staff.

It becomes a part of the unerasable record of one's life. As a result, its graduates by their performances help build its reputation and the faculty contributes by creating programs which usefully fulfill the intellectual and vocational needs of the students and the off-campus constituency.

The job will, from time to time, require shifts in emphasis, restructuring and constant change, all of which many in the academic world abhor.

But we must encourage and endure these things or we will fail in the task of building a university, a continuing job for the work of a university is never completed.

Herein lies the enchantment of it all — the new things that forever call for attention offer those who will respond a life full of excitement, stimulation and accomplishment.

And the University becomes an object of pride for all who are concerned, a pride which just naturally results in a better teaching and research effort, improved performance by students, increased coordination in planning, more mutual respect among people, more viable and useful extracurricular activities, winning more ball games, more constructive participation in university affairs at all levels and — yes — less cutting across the grass and littering on the show-place campus of the Upper Midwest.

There is so much more one could say and what has been said is probably more personal than profound. Perhaps because we are so thankful to all of you for your help and friendship, it really better this way.

BETWEEN YOU AND ME

by Kevin Carvell

Draft calls are going up again. Predictions are for manpower requests of about 40,000 a month, at least through June. I suspect that this time around college students will be hit a little harder since prior calls have largely depleted previously eligible pools of men. Don't say it can't happen to you! One SU student, married, with average grades and carrying a full load has already been ordered to report for induction at the end of the quarter.

But there is hope! Below is a collection of reliable ways to beat the draft. Despite the fact that this puts me in a position to be prosecuted for aiding and abetting men to avoid the draft, I intend on plunging fearlessly ahead. Move over Dr. Spock!

1. Cut off your ears. In ancient times no animal was sacrificed unless it was a perfect specimen.
2. Roll up to the induction center in a wheel chair. Wave your crutches and scream, "On to Belgrade! On to Belgrade!"
3. Study Selective Service reports on malingering and use the clever methods they describe.
4. Tell them the 13th Amendment outlawed involuntary servitude and you're not going to violate the US Constitution.
5. Demand a trial by your peers — other inductees. Then release each other.
6. Cut off your trigger finger — don't cut off your head or you'll be immediately accepted.
7. Pull the rope off your neck shouting, "I only regret that I have but one life!"
8. Sit in a corner and look very weak and frightened. When they approach you, start sobbing and cry, "Oh, I'm not going to die, am I? Not me. Not me. Please don't let me get killed! Oh, oh, oh, oh!"

9. Dismount and run for it.
10. Stamp all the letters you receive from your draft board — DECEASED.
11. Shout, "The enemy is at home! The enemy is at home!" (Then go home.)
12. Write to the War Resistors League, 6 Beekman Street, New York, NY, 10038.
13. Weep hysterically.
14. Accuse them of operating a slaughter house without a license.
15. Never register.
16. Walk in wearing a big diaper and say, "Well, I still have some problems yet."
17. Have your house mother call up and say you're sick.
18. Proclaim that Ho Chi Minh is the Living God.
19. Proclaim that you are the Living God.
20. Burn down the building located at 225 4th Ave. N.
21. Handcuff yourself to General Hershey and shout, "We shall not be moved."
22. Burn your draft card over WDAY TV.
23. Grow a long straggly beard with maggots crawling all over it.
24. Develop bleeding stigmata.
25. Bring a note from Dr. Albrecht saying you're excused.
26. Tell them you are the wandering Jew and you have to get going.
27. Impress a callow youth in your place.

28. Fill out your draft questionnaire in absolutely maniacal illegible handwriting. When they mail it back and ask you to write clearer, write the same way, only larger.
29. Tell them getting your guts bayoneted out makes you sick to your stomach.
30. Be scared, necessity is the mother of invention. In any case, gather ye rosebuds while ye may. Those of you who attended the slick little come-on given by representatives of Yellowstone Park last Friday might like to know that the picture isn't all as rosy as they painted it. In fact, it's much more like a tumbleweed in the midst of a North Dakota winter. Talk to some of the people who've spent a summer there and you'll find that most of them were pretty disgusted by the whole operation. My comment last week about football jocks breaking training regulations apparently struck home. I received several anonymous phone calls about midnight the day the issue came out. Gentlemen, I'm afraid that crude threats aren't about to work. And calling my sister (who had nothing at all to do with the column) — isn't that a bit of dirty pool?

ROTC CADETS FIRE M-16 machine guns during six-week basic summer camp for those enrolled in the two-year program.

For tri-college students ROTC offers two-year plan

Applications are now being accepted for the Army Two-Year Reserve Officer's Training Corps program at NDSU. This was announced by Colonel Winston E. Wallace, professor of military science.

It is now possible for men attending NDSU, Concordia or Moorhead State Colleges to enroll in the two-year program.

Students with at least two years of academic study remaining, and who did not take ROTC during their freshman or sophomore year are eligible for the program.

Those enrolled in the two-year program attend a six-week basic summer encampment at the end of their sophomore year and receive $95.70 a month plus travel expenses to and from camp.

While enrolled in the advance ROTC program during their junior and senior years, students receive an allowance of $50 a month. During the summer encampment between their junior and senior years, they receive $160.60 a month plus travel pay. Total pay and allowances for ROTC students during the two-year program is approximately $1,400.

Upon completion of college those who successfully complete ROTC are commissioned 2nd Lieutenants in the U.S. Army and spend two years on active duty as officers. Active duty time is the same as if they were inducted.

The three credits a quarter earned for advanced ROTC count toward graduation of students enrolled at NDSU, Moorhead State or Concordia.

Any student interested in the two-year ROTC program should contact the Army detachment located in the NDSU Fieldhouse or call 232-6414, prior to Feb. 1

Residence hall offers scholarships for first time

Scholarships are being offered by a residence hall for the first time at NDSU. Reed-Johnson Hall will offer six $50 scholarships after fall and winter quarters of the school year.

Money for the scholarships will come from the Reed-Johnson General Fund. The hall dues of $4 a year comprise this fund.

The scholarships are open only to Reed-Johnson residents who have attained a 3.0 or better grade point average while carrying a minimum of 15 credit hours for the particular quarter.

Eligible students must apply for the scholarships no later than three weeks after final examinations.

The scholarships will be divided between upperclassmen and freshmen in a flexible ratio based on the number of upperclassmen and freshmen in the hall each year.

Winners will be ineligible for the quarter immediately following the quarter in which they win.

In the case of duplicate winning GPA's the scholarship will be split equally between the winning persons.

Counselors may be eligible for the scholarships if they so decide among themselves each year. They will be included if they must pay the annual hall dues.

ATTENTION SENIORS

All seniors who have not submitted their information list for the Bison Annual should do so by Jan. 27. This list should include, name, home town, college and activities. Information may be left at the Bison Annual Office, second floor of Union.

Depends on the giant. Actually, some giants are just regular kinds of guys. Except bigger.

And that can be an advantage.

How? Well, for one thing, you've got more going for you. Take Ford Motor Company. A giant in an exciting and vital business. Thinking giant thoughts. About developing Mustang. Cougar. A city car for the future.

Come to work for this giant and you'll begin to think like one.

Because you're dealing with bigger problems, the consequences, of course, will be greater. Your responsibilities heavier. That means your experience must be better—more complete. And so, you'll get the kind of opportunities only a giant can give.

Giants just naturally seem to attract top professionals. Men that you'll be working with and for. And some of that talent is bound to rub off.

Because there's more to do, you'll learn more. In more areas.

You'll develop a talent for making hard-nosed, imaginative decisions. And you'll know how these decisions affect the guts of the operation. At the grass roots. Because you'll have been there.

If you'd like to be a giant yourself, and your better ideas are in finance, product engineering, manufacturing, marketing and sales, personnel administration or systems research, see the man from Ford when he visits your campus. Or send your resume to Ford Motor Company, College Recruiting Department.

You and Ford can grow bigger together.

Memorial fund established

The Department of Electrical and Electronics Engineering at NDSU announced the establishment of the "Ernest A. Hoaby Memorial Fund" as a part of the North Dakota State University Foundation.

The fund will be administered by the Foundation under the direction of the staff department. The exact use will be determined at a later date.

At this time it is felt that the fund will be used for establishing awards for outstanding students in the department and if the amount sufficient there will be periodic awards of scholarships.

Professor Hoaby, who came to the department in 1957 as an instructor, passed away Oct. 25, 1967 from leukemia. An Associate Professor, he devoted ten years of service to the department and to his students. An active person, he was the personal friend of many undergraduate and graduate students.

Gifts to the fund will be tax exempt and should be sent to Professor Donald E. Peterson, Department of Electrical and Electronics Engineering, North Dakota State University, Fargo, North Dakota 58102.

Centers to observe ecumenical octave

A joint Ecumenical Worship Service will be held at 8:00 p.m. on Jan. 24, at the St. Paul's Student Center. All students are invited to participate.

This service is sponsored by the Campus Religious Centers in observance of the Unity Octave, a period of eight days (Jan. 18 to Jan. 25) during which Protestants and Catholics pray for the unity of all Christians.

The Unity Octave was initiated in 1908 by Rev. James Wattson, an Episcopalian clergyman and founder of a small religious sect, the Society of The Atonement.

Crusade sponsors New Folk

"Capturing a professional sound in music is not our only aim," said Bob Hoerner, a member of the New Folk which will present a concert of popular and folk music 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 23 in the Union Ballroom.

The New Folk, a group of University of Minnesota students and college graduates from schools throughout the nation, is sponsored by Campus Crusade for Christ, a non-denominational international student movement.

"We travel with Campus Crusade for Christ with the goal of offering real meaning to life in terms collegians understand," stated Hoerner.

The movement started at UCLA in 1951 and has since spread to 200 campuses throughout the United States, while introducing itself to 36 foreign countries. The aim of the Crusade is to make the claims of Jesus Christ known throughout the world.

Headquarters for the Crusade are in Arrowhead Springs, Calif., which hosts an average of 1000-1500 students per week during the summer months.

Tickets for the concert may be purchased at the door. Admission is one dollar per person.

Bison fare well in individual statistics

Statistics released this week by Del Johnson, Sports Information Director, show that the Bison have made 431 of 1057 attempted shots for a percentage of .407.

In the free throw department they're shooting .682 having made 285 of 418 attempts. The Bison point total through the first sixteen games is 1,147. They have limited the opposition to 1,365.

In team rebounding the Herd has hauled down 749 as compared to their opponents 799. Individual leaders for the Bison are Ron Waggoner with 139; Ron Schlieman's 84; Mitch Felchle 76; and Jim Lacey's 74.

Through games of January 13, only two school records have been established this season. Ron Schlieman has set both of them: scoring 50 points in a single game against Houston University on December 7 and the most field goals in a single game, 24, against Houston.

The most points the Bison have given-up in a single game so far is 121 against Houston while their highest winning score has been 85 against Concordia on December 21.

Through the first sixteen games, Ron Schlieman has been highpoint man in half the games, Jim Lacey 5 times, Ron Waggoner twice, and Gene Anderson once.

Jim Lacey is third and Ron

Schlieman fourth in the individual scoring race in the North Central Conference. In the top ten averages in the conference Jim Lacey is third and Ron Schlieman fifth averaging 23.0 and 19.8 respectively.

In individual rebounding per game Ron Waggoner has picked-off 14 twice and Mitch Felchle has grabbed 14 once.

The Bison record now is 2-14 overall. They have won two games at home while losing three and are 0-11 on the road.

WEEKEND SPORTS SCHEDULE ALTERED

Sports action this Saturday at the Fieldhouse will consist of a full afternoon of wrestling and basketball. This will allow all of you basketball followers an opportunity to watch the UCLA - Houston basketball game on television Saturday night.

First on the sports calendar for Saturday is a wrestling meet with the Bison, 1-6-1, going against Mankato State. The dual meet begins at 1:00.

Following the wrestling match, Bud Belk's Baby Bison meet Minnesota Tech. of Crookston. The freshman club is looking forward to extending their undefeated season record to eight games. Starting time for the game is 3:30.

The Bison varsity swings into non-conference action at 5:30 Saturday afternoon when they meet the University of Minnesota-Morris. Morris dropped a close contest to the South Dakota State Jackrabbits earlier in the year after leading SDSU in the earlier stages of the game, so look for this to be an interesting game.

Monday evening the Bison host Oral Roberts University. Prior to weekend action, Oral Roberts University sported a 9-3 record, so it looks as though the Bison will have their hands full again this weekend.

TWO GRAPPLERS WIN A PAIR

Larry Mollins and John Hollman won decisions in their weight classes in both dual meets last weekend.

Mollins, in the 130 lb. class, pinned Dennis Schmidt of Dickinson and decided Bob Mosely, 2-0. Mollins has a season record of 3-4-1.

Hollman pinned Gary Schmaltz in Friday's meet and decided Joe Gibler, 12-8, in Saturday's match. Hollman is now 5-1 with only one loss being a decision at the hands of Gary Pelel of the University of Minnesota.

Schmidt

Bison wrestling captain, Dennis Schmidt, lost a close decision to Dickinson's Dixon Wightman in the heavyweight class, 9-8, in Saturday's meet, 7-0. Schmidt is now 4-3-1 for the season, with two of his wins coming by pinning opponents at the University of Minnesota and Nebraska.

Curt Watson remains the only undefeated wrestler on the Bison squad with a 2-0-1 record.

Following the dual with Mankato State, the Bison journey to South Dakota State for a quadrangular meet on Jan. 25.

I. M. HOCKEY TO VARSITY HOCKEY?

Hockey has just recently been introduced into the intramural program and it seems to be meeting with a certain amount of success, but why not carry the whole thing one step farther? Why doesn't the athletic department make plans for introducing hockey as a varsity sport representative of the University? Within the near future the city of Fargo will have facilities adequate to support such a venture and I am certain an agreement for the use of these facilities could be reached. The time to plan such a program is now, several years from now. What do you think?

TREMENDOUS RESPONSE?

Due to an overabundance of letters to the sports editor, the editor was unable to select from the copious quantities of correspondence an appropriate editorial for publication on the sports pages (Thank you, why the sports editor is inserting this ridiculous discourse in the column-to replace an editorial).

Surely someone who reads this far into the column before turning the page must harbor suppressed sentiments in one direction or the other toward the sports editor, coaches, players, intramural program or whatever, that they would be happy to see in print. Be uninhibited and write!

Bison lose close game 72-71

The Morningside Maroon Chiefs fought back from a 5-point halftime deficit to "sneak out" their first North Central Conference basketball victory of the season. The Chiefs handed the Bison their 4th conference loss. The Bison have yet to win in conference play.

The Bison opened the game with their tip play as Jim Lacey tipped the ball to Schlieman who threw to Waggoner for an easy two. Morningside countered with seven straight for a 7-2 lead. However the Bison fought back to take a 27-26 lead on a basket by Jim Lacey.

Throughout the first half Morningside employed a 2-1-2 zone and a full-court press at various times. The Bison managed to penetrate the Chiefs defense and took a 5-point lead into the dressing room on a basket by Dick Marsden, 35-30.

At the start of the 2nd half the Bison continued to increase their lead on baskets by Gene Anderson and Palma Chandler. The Herd held their biggest lead at 48-38 on a three point play by Jim Lacey.

Morningside came back, mainly on the strength of the long-range sniping of Gayle Knief and Gary Pettit, to tie the game at 66. The Chiefs, down by a score of 66-62, got two quick baskets with the help of two Bison turnovers.

A free throw by Jim Lacey and a field goal by Palma Chandler gave the Herd the edge at 69-68 with two minutes to play. After an exchange of baskets the Bison still held a one point lead with 47 seconds left. Dick Marsden missed three free throws in a row before Morningside called timeout with the ball and 14 seconds of playing time remaining. With just one second of playing time, reserve Chuck George hit for two and that was all as the Chiefs had won their first conference game.

Gayle Knief and Gary Pettit tied for scoring honors with 26 apiece. The Bison were led by Jim Lacey with 24 and Palma Chandler's 18, Gene Anderson and Ron Schlieman had 11 and 10 respectively.

The Bison outshot their opponents for the second night in a row. The Herd hit on 30 of 59 for 51 per cent while Morningside averaged 48 per cent on 29 of 61 attempts.

The Bison are in action at home this Friday against the University of Minnesota - Morris. Game time is 7:30.

USD triumphs

South Dakota came from a 41-point deficit at halftime to defeat the Bison in a North Central Conference basketball game last Friday at Vermillion.

The Bison opened fast taking a 42 lead midway through the first half. However South Dakota came back to within 4 points at 27-23. But once again the Bison pulled up points in a hurry to take a 41-26 lead at halftime.

The Bison played well defensively in the first half, holding the Coyotes to 24 per cent from the field. However the second half was a different story as the Coyotes poured through 50 points overtaking the Bison.

Ron Schlieman was the leading scorer for the game with 23 points. Jim Lacey added 15 for the Herd. Jack Theeler was high for the Coyotes with 18. Art Geand Jim Moore added 16 and 14 points respectively.

Lecture affirms superiority of humans

Human egos were given a boost by Dr. R. Miles in a lecture he delivered Friday afternoon, Jan. 12 in Minard.

Miles, from the University of Colorado and formerly of the universities of Ohio State, Wisconsin and Alberta, has done extensive work in the field of comparative learning ability.

The result, as he showed in his lecture and slides, is that the learning ability of homo sapiens is remarkably larger than that of cats, rats and various species of monkeys.

Miles described one test in which a reward is secretly placed under one of two objects. The subject is then allowed to select that which it thinks is the correct object. Humans and animals both scored 50% on the first trial.

In the second trial humans scored nearly 100%, correctly assuming that if the reward wasn't under the first object, it must be under the second. Monkeys, however, took up to 300 repetitions to achieve anything near the human proficiency. The beasts would idiotically keep picking the wrong object time after time.

"Initial learning behavior had little correlation with intelligence tests, while later learning — the relative improvement — correlated highly," said Miles.

In another test a larger number of objects was used and the reward placed under one in full view of the subject. After a delay the subject was allowed to pick what he thought was the correct one. With five objects and a 15 second delay, severely retarded humans edged out rhesus monkeys by an average of 73% to 70%, while cats scored 50%.

For college honor students, 36 objects were used with a 24 hour delay, yet the students still maintained an average of 95%.

"There is a definite qualitative difference and because of it, I think we humans can consider ourselves superior," said Miles.

Miles did say though, that the quantitative differences in humans and animals are so great that tests of this nature are often inconclusive.

Men's halls adopt new constitution

A new constitution uniting all men's residence halls has been established. Under the new constitution a council has been created which will consist of all dorm presidents and one other member from each dorm.

The council will appoint a member of the council to act as a spokesman for the residence halls.

Any action which is desired by the residence halls is to be presented to the appropriate individual or agency through this spokesman.

Pat Hallock, current spokesman, stated that the council does not represent a new supreme ruler over the dorms, but rather has been set to give the residence halls a greater voice in their affairs.

He also stated that the main objective of this new constitution is that the men's residence halls can now present a unified stand on various problems which may arise.
