off-set non-resident tuition loss

State Board considers proposed tuition increase today

by Gary Grinaker

A tuition increase is being discussed today at the State Board of Higher Education meeting in Williston.

The increase will take place either this fall or next fall, according to Commissioner of Higher Education Kenneth Raschke.

The Board has to either raise tuition or rearrange the budget to make up for projected losses in non-resident tuition income.

The Board is hesitant to cut programs, which would be the result of rearranging the budget, so a tuition increase is the only usable alternative, Raschke said.

Although the tuition loss will begin this fall, the Board might wait until the fall of 1978 to raise tuition.

By then the Board will know how much of the 1.2 million dollars earned annually in non-resident tuition will be lost.

If the tuition increase is delayed a year, the Board will know exactly how much to raise tuition to offset the loss in income.

The loss in non-resident tuition is the result of the ruling made by U.S. District Court Judge Paul Benson last March.

The ruling struck down a state law that defines which students are eligible for in-state tuition. The law prohibits students under 21 whose parents live out of state from establishing residency and paying in-state tuition.

The law violates equal protection rights by discriminating against students between 18 and 21 years old, Benson held.

So a bill to redefine residency requirements, proposed earlier by Rep. Tom Matchie, was resurrected and passed by the state legislature.

Under the new law, a student that can show residency for a year after turning 18, can be a resident for tuition purposes.

Because the ruling was made near the end of the legislative session in Bismarck, no additional monies were allocated to higher education to make up for the loss.

So the problem of how to handle the deficit has been left up to the board.

Investigation pending of Sevrinson break-in

by Maggie Morth

A break-in at Sevrinson Hall during Easter vacation is now under investigation by campus and Fargo city police.

Sue Drummond, a Sevrinson resident, reported Sunday that someone gained access to a set of her keys and entered the room the previous night, taking articles of clothing, 8-track tapes, about $3 in cash, and other items.

Drummond said that the keys had been used by a friend on Friday and left in her roommate's mailbox. The burglar is thought to have broken the glass on the mailbox to obtain the keys.

"I was in my room until 6 p.m. Saturday night," Drummond said, adding that she returned at 11 p.m. and saw that her roommate's jacket had been moved and also noticed her tennis balls missing.

"There have been some little kids around the dorm the last few weeks, and I thought that they got in and took my things," she said. She left campus and returned about 1:30 p.m.

While making a phone call, Drummond heard a key in her locked door, and expecting to see one of "the kids" enter, she saw a man wearing a shirt and belt.

As he started to run away, Drummond "jumped him" and tackled him to the floor. He broke away, and Drummond pursued him down six flights of stairs until she slipped near third floor and injured her ankle.

A list of the missing items includes one shirt, three pairs of pants, a pair of black gloves, a pair of white belts, a box of crackers, a curling iron, tennis balls, and a bottle of prescription pain killers.

Drummond said she recognized the burglar as a resident of one of the dormitories, and on Sunday went to his room hoping to recover the missing items. She found the money can that had held the still missing $3.

Pending completion of the investigation, police are withholding names and official reports.

Student salaries discussed at Bison Board

Student salaries, an issue that has enjoyed a long wave of popularity at SU, was again discussed at the Bison Board meeting Wednesday.

Student Senator Jim Johnson presented a five-point Senate resolution that allows for a $210 maximum for student salaries. This effects only two salaries, the Spectrum editor and business manager, who now receive $240.

The resolution's purpose, said Johnson, is to "provide guidelines for Finance Commission and other organizations to follow in setting salary rates for student positions."

The $210 figure, according to Finance Commissioner Ross Sutton, is based on the financial aid office's estimated student expenses for an academic year, estimating that a student can live on campus and meet school expenses on $210 a month. The recommendation is that no student salary should exceed his or her monthly expenses.

Johnson also suggested the possibility of changing SU from the quarter to the semester system, particularly for the advantage of getting into the summer job market earlier in May.

Pros and cons are numerous, according to President Loftsgard, who said that SU considered this change several years ago. At that time, Loftsgard said, the legislature passed a resolution that all North Dakota schools be on the quarter system, with the exception of UND.

"The other thing that enters in," said Loftsgard, "is that we wanted a common calendar with MSU. Changing to semesters would be adverse to Tri-College. That's a high consideration."

In other discussion Loftsgard spoke of the Library Building Committee that he will appoint next week. The committee, including library director K.L. Janeczek, heads of University Senate and the Academic Resources Committee, and the student president, will look at the question of building an addition to the present library or building at a new location.

Vice president Dean Bentson reported that a student police patrol was recently initiated at SU. The force, said Bentson, includes six students who each work from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. two nights a week, patrolling on foot, equipped with walkie-talkies.

With temperatures in the mid to upper sixties, many people, both male and female, took to the outdoors, some wearing nothing more than a swimsuit. (Photo by P. Kloster)

Fargo City Commission re-instates 14th St. N. parking for TKEs

by Joanne Tiedemann

Effective immediately, TKE's and all residents along 14th St. N. have their street parking back. Fargo's City Commission voted unanimously in favor of reestablishing parking along 14th St. N. between 11th and 12th Avenues at a meeting April 4.

Fourteenth Street residents had their street parking privileges removed last year when one resident, Robert Kadera, circulated a petition asking Fargo to not allow parking on 14th St. N.

The parking problems surrounding SU came under scrutiny in a lengthy letter from Kadera which was read at the meeting. Kadera told the commission he is concerned with the inadequate parking SU provides for its students and staff.

But the commission, after delaying action from a March 20 meeting, eventually voted to re-install parking.

Delayed action was necessary, Commissioner Roy Pedersen pointed out, to give all concerned a chance to air their opinions.

A recommendation from the city's traffic engineer regarding a petition submitted by the SU Student Senate wanting representation on the Traffic Advisory Committee was read at the meeting.

Curt Langness, traffic engineer, advised against allowing a SU representative on the Traffic Advisory Committee because the committee is an inhouse agency and decisions should rest with elected officials.

City Commission accepted Langness' recommendation but encouraged Student Senate's input and attendance at committee meetings and suggested a liaison be set up between the Traffic Advisory Committee and Student Government to notify SU of future meeting agendas.

CA tries to recover 'Kiss' money

by Don Stoenber

Campus Attractions (CA) is in the process of recovering about $4,100 from Art Newberger and Amusement Conspiracy resulting from the sale of tickets to the "Kiss" concert, which was cancelled.

CA has been refunding the purchase price for these tickets both by mail and at the office. While CA is not obligated to refund for any tickets that were sold through the efforts of Newberger, it was decided to honor any refund request Newberger arranged for ticket sales in areas outside of Fargo and says he has placed the receipts for them in escrow. It is these funds that CA is trying to recover.

Presently Dick Crockett, legal adviser for SU, is awaiting the delivery of this money as was indicated in a telegram received stating that the money would arrive by April 7.

As of April 13 there was no sign of these funds.

In a telephone discussion, John Bjornson advised, "In the future we will carefully consider the reputation of the promoter for any concert!"

Bjornson was the chairperson for the "Kiss" concert, and indicated that he was very pleased with the way in which CA handled the refunding of the tickets.

There are perhaps several things that should be noted from this experience. It has led to more careful selection of the promoter to be involved with future undertakings.

Loftsgard to Speak

SU President L.D. Loftsgard will discuss "The Effects of the '77 Legislature on the SU Campus" at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 19, in Meinecke Lounge of the Union.

The talk of has been scheduled by the SU Scholars Program as part of an annual lecture series, the Tuesday Evening Forum. The public is invited to attend at no charge.

Management Workshops Planned

A management consultant from Minneapolis, Marie Panger, will conduct two workshops Tuesday and Wednesday, April 19 and 20, at SU.

"Interpersonal Communications" is planned for Tuesday. "Women in Management" is planned for Wednesday.

Both workshops will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in Meinecke Lounge of the Union. The fee is $30 for each workshop.

For further information contact the SU Division of Continuing Studies, Box 5595, State University Station, Fargo, or call 27014.

MS Researched

The disease multiple sclerosis has effects on memory as well as on motor coordination and sensory perception, according to researchers at SU.

Dr. Patricia Beatty, associate professor of psychology at SU, and Jan Gange, a former SU graduate student, have published results of a research project conducted with the cooperation of 26 persons in the Fargo-Moorhead area who have been diagnosed as having MS.

An article by the researchers, "Neuropsychological Aspects of Multiple Sclerosis," has been published in a recent issue of "Journal of Nervous and Mental Diseases."

Treks Plan Black Hills Trip

The YMCA of SU Treks scheduled a camping trip to the South Dakota Black Hills during May 28 to June 4.

Participation will be limited to eight persons. SU students will have preference until April 15, when registration will be opened to others of first come—first served basis.

Travel will be in a large model, 12-passenger van. The cost is $100 or $90 for YMCA members, which includes food, transportation, permits and insurance.

For further information contact Catha Fields at YMCA of SU, 235-8772.

Information About Taxes Available

The Library has acquired a four-volume tax service titled "Federal Tax Guide," published by the Commerce Clearing House.

The guide is designed to provide accurate information on all tax needs including planning, tax deductions and special tax savings. The guide also contains the complete official tax texts of income tax regulations.

The Library also has a loose-leaf volume containing the various taxes for the State of North Dakota including the principal levies. The volume is brought up-to-date weekly.

The information is available in the Reference Department of the Library.

Geology Club

The Geology Club field trip is scheduled for May 15 through May 15 to the North Shore of Lake Superior. The cost is $20 for transportation. Food and camping expenses are not included.

A sign-up sheet is in the basement of Stevens Hall. Students are welcome to join.

Due process being abused

The parking situation on this campus seems to have improved in some cases but worsened in others. Since the Fargo Police started issuing parking tickets they have been paid and this seemed to solve one problem the campus police couldn't. But in the long run we're sacrificing our right to due process.

When the campus police issued tickets a person could appeal if he or she thought it was unfair. The Traffic Board of Appeals was set up to investigate allegations. Now it seems that with the city doing the ticketing there is not much of an appeals process left.

One of the reasons given at the time the decision was made to let the city take over ticketing was that it would provide a more impartial appeals process. But it seems that the city is sending back any student appeals to the chief of the campus police. How can an appeal be made to the very person in charge of ticketing?

This kind of action seems to be defeating the purpose of the city handling the campus parking problem. We seem to be back to the problem of not having any way to get an unbiased decision. We're not getting the impartiality of a judge for appeals and yet we're giving the city all the money for the tickets. They have been issuing between 3,000 and 3,500 tickets each month and that adds up to a lot of money SU is losing and we are not getting much in return. The campus police are ticketing and not handling the appeals too. So what is the city doing besides sitting around and collecting a lot of student money?

Although the city has been effective in reducing the number of unpaid tickets it should not be at the expense of due process. Appeals should not be sent back to the campus—the city is getting plenty of money to more than justify the use of the court system downtown.

Not to be left out of the competition for best bronze body of the year, the male population on campus is also getting into the act. Shirtless softball players, frisbee throwers, and suntanners seem to be coming out of hibernation and their long underwear.

For those of you who were contemplating suicide because of the cold weather syndrome, it looks like once again the sun has decided to give a few of you. Now the talk on campus for the athletic oriented usually shifts from snow skiing to biking, (both pedal and motor), and water sports.

For people like myself, (although some people, like my mother, call us fools), now is the time to brave the icy waters and start getting ready for the upcoming waterski season.

After this coming weekend, I suspect my voice to raise at least one octave, but that's just one of the many sacrifices one has to expect when having a good time. The trick is to down a quart of anti-freeze before you start. Then you can usually stay relatively comfortable.

Hopefully the ice will go by today, which will help greatly in eliminating the problem of dodging ice flows while you're trying to concentrate on your skiing.

To those of you who will probably find something much more constructive to do this weekend, like get blasted in one of the many parks in town, have a good one, and don't forget, we all have to go back to school next week. (sometime)

to the editor:

In a recent "Backspace," Political Editor Andre Stephenson accused the Democrats in the legislature and particularly Governor Link of slashing social programs and failing to support ETV and public kindergarten.

I would like to take issue with Mr. Stephenson's statements.

The Democrats consistently supported social programs throughout the legislative session, including ETV, kindergarten, binding arbitration for public employees, human rights legislation, increased foundation aid payments to schools, increased transportation payments, special education funding and free textbooks for school children.

The Governor also consistently supported such programs; included both ETV and kindergarten in his executive budget and urged Democrats in the legislature to support these important educational programs. He also spent much time and effort securing adequate state funds for these programs and balancing his budget so he could justify the expenditures to the legislature.

It seems, instead, that it was the Republican-dominated Senate that tolled the death knoll for many of the social programs Stephenson supported in his column. The Republican controlled Senate Appropriations committee recommended a DO NOT PASS for state supported kindergarten, a recommendation that was followed by the Senate. And, Senate Majority Leader David Nething (R-Jamestown) included both kindergarten and ETV on his so-called "kill-list," a compilation of programs Nething and the Senate Republicans said the state could not afford. Indeed, the Senate tried to kill ETV but was stopped by a strong non-partisan effort of House supporters of ETV.

I think Mr. Stephenson should reassess his political judgments.

Finance Commission cuts budget requests from student organization

After a week vacation Finance Commission (FC) was back to business as usual Tuesday night busy cutting requests totalling $3,200 down to $957.

The four-hour meeting was exceptionally long for only four small budgets as the commission debated several difficult philosophical issues.

Agricultural Economics

One of the most controversial of the questions was posed by the Agricultural Economics Club budget of $1,310.

After quickly cutting funds for a field trip and banquet, the commission was left with a $450 request for the Agricultural Economics employment brochure.

The brochure contains a picture and short biographical sketch of any interested Agricultural Economics student within three quarters of graduation.

It is then sent to about 400 employers throughout the country to help find these people jobs.

Last year about 45 seniors were included in the brochure and paid $6 each. FC threw in about $190 to defray expenses.

FC's decision was whether to fund it again this year and spend student activity money to find students jobs.

The final vote was two for funding the brochure, two against and one abstaining. Commissioner Ross Sutton broke the tie by voting against funding the brochure.

FC left Agricultural Economics with $90 for a speaker at its spring banquet and $13 for pamphlets advertising the club to freshmen at orientation.

Chess Club

A second sore spot was with the Chess club, which wanted $602.

The commission quickly cut the $63 requested for 12 chess sets and boards and half of the $82 requested for four chess clocks because it was felt these were primarily needed for a newly-formed chess class taught by the Physical Education Department.

FC thought it should be funded by the athletic department.

But FC also cut the $300 in tournament entry fees and $88 for travel and lodging for Bismarck and Grand Forks tournaments, principally because chess is an individual sport and not a team sport.

The commission noted that when chess players compete in out-of-town tournaments, they compete as individuals and don't represent SU.

The commission granted the club $41 for two clocks and $60 in fees and publicity.

Veterinary Science

A sticky issue with the Association of Veterinary Science budget was the $400 requested to bring two admissions officers to SU to speak on getting into veterinary medicine school.

The club wanted $100 each for travel and $100 each for speaker's fees. The commission could not understand paying someone $100 to answer questions for an hour after paying his expenses to here.

FC finally compromised $200.

The commission also cut out money for films, homecoming float and a Life International booth, as it has been doing with all groups.

Veterinary Science was given $250 of the $555 asked for.

Crops and Soils

The Crops and Soils Club asked for $196 for its Life International Crop Show which generates about $150 income, and was given $150.

It also asked for $690 to take two people to Los Angeles for the National Agronomy Convention.

The commission was loathe to spend $608 on air travel when it is about $200 cheaper by car.

FC gave them half the convention request and will have the club make up the rest.

The total grant was $503.

Here are the results of last week's Finance Commission meeting.

American Indian Student Association

The commission cut the budget for the American Indian students' Spring Symposium from $3,000 to $1,000 and gave the group $800 of the $1,100 requested for Winter Art Exhibit. The group's total request was $4,888 and it was granted $2,475.

Horticulture Club

The Horticulture Club requested $1,874 but FC did not grant funding for the group's field trips. The commission did fund the $275 for its Christmas arrangements project and tomato seed project because they are money-making ventures.

Rodeo Club

The Rodeo Club requested money for its annual rodeo and for trips to 13 out-of-town rodeos. The commission granted the request of $10,274, $7,455 by funding 10 of the trips.

Student Art Selection Committee

The Art Selection Committee requested $7,683 for art for the Union but was granted nothing. The committee still has more than $10,000 left in its budget from previous years.

Arab Student Association

One Contingency Fund request for money this year was made last week by Arab students for $350 to help with expenses for Arabian Night to be held during Spring Blast. The money would be used to hire a band and a belly dancer.

The commission granted them nothing yet to have time to find out more about it and because commission members had heard Campus Attractions was helping with costs from its Spring Blast budget.

Ice Fishing in the Banana Belt

by Jack Fay

Early April in Minnesota and North Dakota holds many surprises. In the past, the Easter season has often been welcomed by both blizzards and thunderstorms.

But on this particular day in early April, a blazing sun pushes the temperature above 80 degrees. Ice and snow seem to be things of the past. Well, almost.

On Leech Lake, about 120 miles east of Fargo-Moorhead, a few hard-core anglers trudge out for what is probably the last ice-fishing of the season.

Leech Lake, located in north-central Minnesota, is one of the largest lakes in the state, and one of the last to lose its winter coat of ice. Although portions of the lake are unsafe to venture on, the "main" lake, on this particular day, is still surfaced with three feet of ice.

A few days of summer-like weather and high winds can quickly break up the ice and push the heaving chunks on to unsuspecting shores.

The fishermen realize this and so, armed with fishing gear, a few dozen fat-head minnows, an ice-auger, a few sandwiches and beers, they trek out on the lake, just off Stony Point.

The wind sweeps over the snowless expanse creating a refrigerating effect. Nevertheless, it is almost shirt-sleeve weather on the ice.

A member of the fishing party puts the auger to work, drilling through the still firm ice. Fishing lines baited with minnows are quickly dropped close to the bottom, some 15 feet below.

The mighty perch, the object of all this activity, is soon pulled up from the depths. The perch, a feisty relative of the walleye, is smaller in proportion and not as renowned. However, many argue that on the dinnertable perch are as fine as walleye.

The sounds of returning ducks and geese are muffled by distance. The noise of hungry crows looking for an easy meal, are more predominant. Once in awhile, the ice itself sounds off with reverberating grumbles.

Nearing the far horizon, the sun creates crystalline images on the ice. And after a few hours, the fish stop biting, but there is already a pretty good catch "on ice."

So the fishermen pack up their gear and slowly head towards shore. The sun is setting anyway.

Nelson, cellist

M Symphony season ends with weekend of concerts April 16-17

weekend of concerts on April 16 and 17, under direction of J. Robert Hanson, leads up the current season of the Fargo-Moorhead Symphony.

The final concert of the season 4 p.m. on Sunday at Concordia College will feature a performance of Dvorak "Concerto for Cello in B minor." The program will also include an overture to the secret marriage by Cimarosa and Paganini's "Pines of Rome." The concert is admission-free and open to the public.

The second generation of a distinguished Russian musical family, Nelsova was born in Canada, educated in England, and is now a citizen of the United States. Since her debut with the London Symphony Orchestra at the age of 12, Nelsova has performed extensively throughout North and South America, Europe, Asia, and Australia, with all of the major orchestras on these continents, in addition to giving solo recitals. In 1966, she was the first American cello soloist to tour the Soviet Union. In New York City, she has performed at Carnegie Hall, Avery Fisher Hall, Town Hall, Alice Tully Hall, Hunter College, and the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

In the Fall, 1975, a recording of Nelsova performing the "Dvorak Cello Concerto" (which she will be performing here) with the St. Louis Symphony, Walther Susskind conducting, was released by Vox Records.

Nelsova plays a 1726 Stradivarius, known as the "Marquis de Corboron" and called "Tony" for short by the cellist, which was bequeathed to her several years ago by an old friend and amateur cellist in London.

In 1967, the artist was the recipient of Canada's Centennial Medal of the Confederation "in recognition of valuable service to the nation."

Immediately following the Sunday concert the Symphony Association will hold its annual meeting and all members are invited to participate.

The Sunday concert is supported by the North Dakota Council on the Arts and Humanities, the Minnesota State Arts Board with funds appropriated by the Minnesota State Legislature, and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Deadline Extended

The deadline for applications for summer orientation leaders has been extended to April 22. Applications can be obtained in the Music listening lounge or the Counseling Center.

Watson, Ellingson gain points in first rodeo

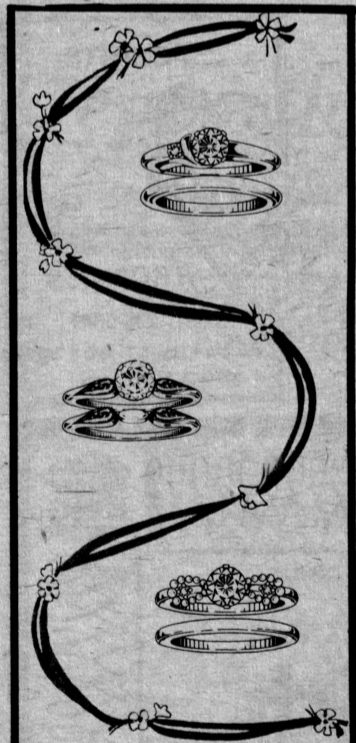

by Becky Tescher
The SU Rodeo Team members made it to the finals of their first rodeo of the season in Lincoln, Neb., last weekend. Two men on the team totalled up valuable points for the SU rodeo team. The Lincoln rodeo was set for a long and a short go-around. The long go being a contest for all the cowboys and cowgirls entered at the rodeo. The short or final go is a competition of ten individuals from the long go coming back to compete for the average. Watson, a sophomore from New Rockford, placed second in the average in the calf roping. Watson is presently leading the Great Plains region in that event.

Kemp Ellingson, a sophomore from Scranton, won the bull riding in the long go, but accidentally slapped his bull in the finals putting him out of contention for the average. Ellingson still gave the team 35 points.

Other members to make the finals were Don Johnson, a sophomore from Lemmon, SD, in the bareback riding and Roberta Jefferies, a sophomore from Holly, Minn., in the girls breakaway roping.

The teams next rodeo is in Curtis, Neb., this weekend.

Gordon Lightfoot appears Sunday with Koloc in New Fieldhouse

by Bill Stine

Gordon Lightfoot will tell his tales and spread his messages for all willing to listen Sunday in the New Fieldhouse at 8 p.m. Appearing with Lightfoot will be Bonnie Koloc.

Tickets are $5 for students and $5.50 for non-students and are available at the music listening lounge. Tickets will also be on sale the night of the concert at the door.

Like most writer-musician's, Lightfoot's success did not come overnight, but through years of hard work. His ten-year career includes 18 albums and about 400 songs.

If a songwriter's talent is judged by the people who perform his songs, then Lightfoot must be judged well. Such stars as Bob Dylan, Johnny Cash, Elvis Presley and Judy Collins have sung his songs.

Lightfoot has had an impressive string of hits over the years such as "If You Could Read My Mind," "Sundown," and more recently "Race Among the Ruins" and "The Wreck of the Edmund Fitzgerald."

In his latest album "Sum-meritime Dream," Lightfoot combines a whole range of emotion from the warmth of the title cut "Summertime Dream" to the sorrow of "Spanish Moss."

His style is a combination of two styles. First he is a story-teller in the mold of Jim Croce.

He unites feeling and strength with fact in his song of a tragic Great Lakes disaster "The Wreck of the Edmund Fitzgerald."

He is also a man with a message to tell the world like Bob Dylan. "Protocol" is a reminder to us of the things we do in the name of duty of hide in shame.

General Shea visits SU, inspects ROTC facilities

General Shea, commander of the Fourth Army ROTC Region, visited SU Thursday, April 8, during his annual inspection tour. He inspected the facilities, talked with the cadre, and visited with President Loftsgard.

He started the day working out with the students in preparation for summer camp, which will be held at Fort Lewis, Washington, Shea's center of operations.

He remarked that there had been a considerable change in the program since he went through the ROTC program at Washington College.

Then, ROTC was mandatory for all freshman and sophomores, and there were no women in the program.

"I especially remember drilling. The funny thing about having a mandatory ROTC program is that you don't have to make it enjoyable," Shea commented.

In recent years there has been an attempt to do different things. On a backpacking trip you can develop the same skills for organization and leadership that maneuvers develop, he said.

"Now, there is some thrust to cut down programs that are not cost effective. Schools have very few ROTC students. But that should not affect SU," he said.

Nationwide, ROTC enrollment has been increasing by 12 per cent per year since enrollment bottomed out in 1973. "We think the trend will continue," Shea said.

Little Country Theatre announces cast members for 'A Hatful of Rain'

Cast members have selected for the next Little Country Theatre production at SU. The Little Country Theatre will present Michael V. Gazzo's realistic drama, "A Hatful of Rain," at 8:15 p.m. April 27-30 and May 1 in the newly-constructed Annex Theatre in Askanes Hall. Dennis Wall, a sophomore from Forbes, N.D., will portray Johnny Pope, a Vietnam War veteran whose injuries have made him rely on drugs.

Nicole Dostert, a freshman from Fairdale, N.D., plays the wife, and Dan Camburn, a graduate student from West Chester, Pa., plays the addicts brother. Bob Weber, an agronomy major from Watkins, Minn., has been cast as the father.

Others featured in the cast are Rick G. Johnson and Jon Skunes, Fargo; Tim Messmer, Mott; Jack Fay, Bismarck, and Annette Narlock, Forest River, N.D.

The play is directed by Dr. Carolyn Gillespie, SU assistant professor of speech and drama. Don Larew, SU assistant professor of speech and drama, has designed the flexible arena setting for the first production in the new annex. Janis S. Cheney, a graduate student from Baldwinville, Mass., will assist the director.

Tickets will be available at the Little Country Theatre box office beginning Monday, April 18. Box office hours are from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. General admission is $2, and SU students are admitted free with an activity card. Call 237-7969 for reservations.

record review

Bonnie Koloc
Close Up

By Dean Hanson

In case her name sounds unfamiliar, Bonnie Koloc is the artist who will be appearing in concert this weekend with Gordon Lightfoot. If this album is any indication, her part of that concert should be a pleasant experience indeed.

Like Lightfoot, Koloc's music is on the mellow side, with roots (judging from the two songs on the album written by her) in the folk tradition.

Unlike some folk singers who have gone on to fame, fortune and a slicker, more commercial style, Koloc, at least so far, has retained a good share of undiluted folk in both her lyrics and vocal style.

In addition to Koloc's two songs, the album contains songs by John Prine, Hank Snow and Steve Goodman, among others. Goodman actually plays guitar on the song he wrote.

Musical styles also run the gamut from countryish to rock to jazz, blues and, of course, folk, all flavored with Koloc's sweet, sometimes sexy, voice.

Arrangements are simple, unadorned, but effective. Backup musicians, though not household names, are nonetheless skilled performers. All this makes a successful live appearance that much more realizable.

Pleasant as the album is, there are times when Koloc's voice can come across with an edge that may strike some as harsh, particularly noticeable when she hits a high note or sings a loud passage.

But this criticism comes to mind immediately only on the first two or three playings. After that it becomes less obtrusive and more acceptable as part of Koloc's style.

movie review

Airport 77
Cinema 70

By Craig Sinclair

Take a large quantity of has-been movie stars, add a Boeing 747 and the Bermuda Triangle. The mixture makes about 2½ hours of sheer boredom.

Jack Lemmon pilots the 747 that takes the friends of a wealthy millionaire (played by James Stewart) to a reunion.

The plane's hold carries a quantity of valuables for Stewarts' mansion which is being turned into a public museum in conjunction with the reunion.

An attempt by hijackers to gain possession of the valuables leaves the airplane and its passengers trapped underwater in the Bermuda triangle.

Billed as bigger and better, the third rendition of Airport is a bigger flop than the previous two.

The movie drags due to a short plot that is held together by subplots that fail to develop.

About the only excitement in the film occurs when the Navy gets into the act and turns the show into a Jacques Cousteau underwater special.

It seems the only apparent reason the long list of stars are on the airplane is for the ride and to fill the advertisements with their names. As for leading actor, it is a toss-up between the 747 and Jack Lemmon.

England, the rich, prolific environment that has generated many super-groups of the rock world, has succeeded in producing one more. Its latest creation is Queen, a group which is unceasingly breaking new ground in the frontiers of rock opera and electronic gadgetry.

Their music has been steadily removing itself from the realm of rock, and their recently released recording, "A Day At The Races," is no exception.

The album is an excellent example of operatic rock. The music reflects great sensitivity and emotion, usually involving many meter and key changes within each cut. Their music also illustrates many powerful dynamic variations. Queen's music lacks the rhythmic pulse which is typical of the majority of rock music much of the time.

Queen gets an unusually full sound considering there are only four musicians that perform throughout the recording. They include: Freddie Mercury—lead vocals and piano; Brian May—guitars and vocals; Roger Taylor—drums, percussion and vocals; and John Deacon—bass.

Queen A Day At The Races

By Steve Larsen

Deacon adds acoustic guitar lines on the cut "I Want to Run" and Taylor plays rhythm guitar on the track "Drowse." Mike Stone appears as an additional vocalist on the cut "Guitar Solo." Old-Fashioned Lover Boy.

The reason for Queen's sound is that they are masters of studio re-recording and other electronic gadgetry. They add extra lines, especially guitar lines, by recording the extra lines on each track. They also use an echo-delay device which adds more depth and color to the vocalizations, along with other electronic effects techniques.

The big plus for this recording is the excellent treatment of the vocal lines. The harmonies of the vocalizations are interesting and effective and there is excellent interplay between lead and background vocalists on most of the cuts.

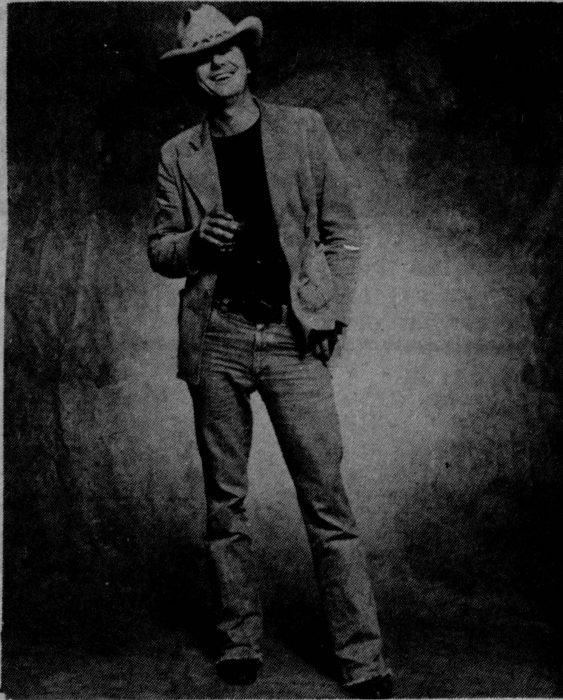

Unlike most rock groups, Queen also uses their percussion lines very effectively including bal and gong effects.

Featured on the album are such cuts as: "You Take Me Up to the Peak of My Bliss" which makes use of acapella voice treatment and has great sensitivity and feeling; "Millionaire Waltz" which has a very active bass line and is probably the best written of the recording; "Somebody To Love" which makes use of a gospel-spiritual sound; "Teo Torriatte (Let Us Clap Together)" which has a very emotional guitar effect and excellent vocalizations.

One question arises in your mind when doing this review of Queen. As I have said before, Queen uses a lot of gadgetry and gimmicks. It is fine if it is used for a certain effect that is wanted by the songwriter.

But in my mind, many musicians are using the electronic effects in order to cover-up for their inadequacies as performers. Any performer can be made to sound fantastic if he has a good studio technician.

American Indian Symposium features art exhibits, dances, film

by Bill Stine

A view of contemporary Indian art forms as well as traditional art forms and crafts will be sponsored by the American Indian Student Association at this year's American Indian Symposium.

Events in the three-day symposium running April 14, 15 and 16 include films, guest speakers, art displays, Indian dancers and a Pow-Wow feast.

A documentary film titled "The Longest War," taken inside and during the takeover of Wounded Knee, will be shown free of charge in Room 120 of the Family Life Center at 1:30 p.m. on Friday.

Students from the Wahpeton Indian School will be performing both group and individual Indian dances in traditional dress at 2 p.m.

Following the dances a question and answer period will be held. Members of the student association and Oliver Pease from the Wahpeton Indian School will be fielding questions from the audience.

A social hour will begin at 5 p.m. Friday in Town Hall of the SU Memorial Union followed by a banquet at 5:30 p.m. Tickets for the dinner are $2.50. Following the dinner there will be a presentation by the Wahpeton Indian School dancers.

An Indian dance contest is scheduled for Saturday, during the all day Pow-Wow at Moorhead State's Nemzek Gym. Prizes will be awarded to the dancers.

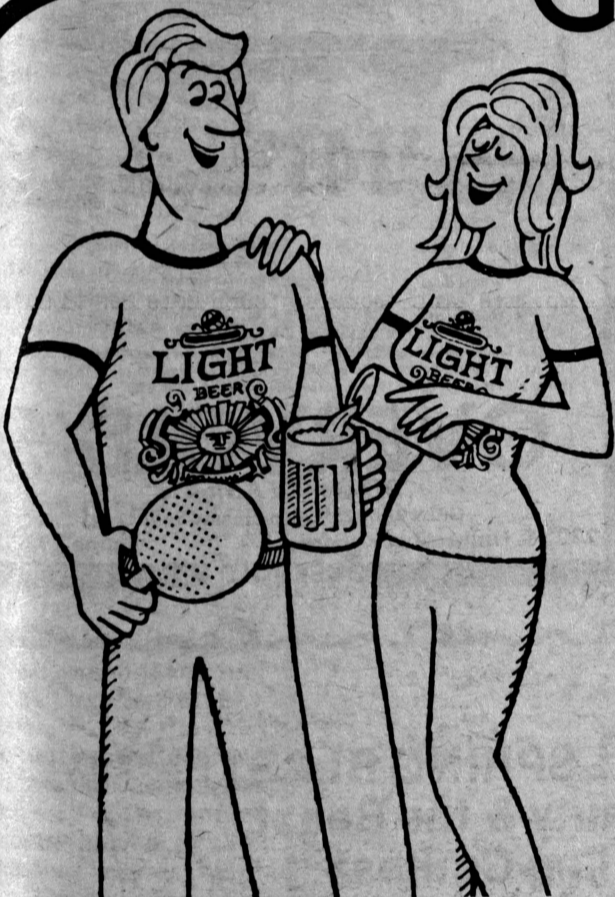

The all day Pow-Wow will also include a traditional Indian feast free to the public. "The feast will have such dishes as corn soup (boiled meat with corn and homine added later), Woz Api (gravy made from boiled fruit), cake, fry bread (deep-fat fried bread) and beverages," said Michelle McNeill, a Concordia student.

Displays from the Four Bears Museum at Fort Berthold will be on exhibit in the SU Art Gallery Friday. The hall galleries of the Family Life Center will have displays of artifacts collected by individual students of the association. Arts and crafts will be sold in the Memorial Union student lounge on Friday.

SU tracksters open outdoor season

by Terry Dahl

Tuesday, SU and Moorhead State opened their 1977 outdoor track seasons at SU in the annual Intercity Track Meet which was won by MS.

Moorhead, the winner of the meet, nipped the Bison 81 to 73 in a close meet not decided until the final event.

Moorhead State grabbed an early lead in nearly perfect weather conditions as they swept the shotput under the leadership of Bince Henderson's 51 foot 1 inch put.

SU then battled back to an 11 to 7 deficit with the help of John Holt's 6 foot 6 inch jump and Brian Campbell's 6 foot 4 inch jump in a one-three finish in the high jump.

In the 400-meter relay the Bison took first in 43.08 seconds to narrow the point spread to five.

Then All American Mike Bollmann, in his green and gold bionic socks, obliterated his opponents in the 1500-meter run in 3:53.75. Bollmann, who set a track and school record, was followed by Curt Bacon in 3:57.50.

Larry Raddatz finished first in the 110-meter high hurdles with a time of 15.10 seconds to bring the Bison within 4 points of MS.

In the 400-meter dash it was disaster again for the Bison as it only garnered a third place finish from Dave Sorum with a time of 50.4 seconds.

It was the same tune in the 100-meter dash as the sprinter-lacking Bison could only take a second with Larry Raddatz's 11.3 second effort.

The Bison, now down 50 to 36, began their final rally for the title when Bollmann led a trio of Bison in the 800-meter dash. Bollmann received his second gold with a time of 1:54.7 seconds, another track and school record. Bollmann was followed by Todd Peterson in 1:55.4 seconds and Ken Swank in 1:56.0 seconds.

The Pole Vault gave the Bison a 57 to 56 lead as SU shut out MS with the efforts of Custer Huseby, Russ Docken and Doug Osland, who finished first, second, third respectively with jumps of 14 feet 6 inches. Huseby had fewer misses.

Jeff Anderson qualified for the NCAA Championships in the 400-meter intermediate hurdles with a track record time of 52.87 seconds.

MS then swept the 200-meter dash and it was up to Bollmann again.

The race started slow, but with 700 meters to go Nordland raced past Bollmann and the others. In the final 300 meters it was Bollmann again annihilating his opponents with a brutal finishing kick and another first third of the day in 14: another track record.

Docken and Osland first and third in the javelin with throws of 205 feet, 162 feet 3 inches and 162 feet 3 inches bring the Bison within 10 points again.

The Bison needed a 100-meter relay victory to win the meet. The relay team were nudged by MS 3:18.66, another track record. The Bison relay team of Anderson, Dave Sorum, Solum, and Paul Hemmings finished a successful afternoon with a school record of 3:20.

The Bison will have their next meet on April 19 at 7 p.m. against SDSU.

Women's softball team begins season today

The SU women opened their softball season at Fargo's Mikkelson Field Thursday against Mayville State College.

The Bison split four games with the Comets enroute to a 6-7 overall record last year. Bison pitcher Mary Goebel and first-base player Autumn Ross are the key returnees from that team.

SU also lists three other returning starters. Sophomore Elaine Heidecker and junior Heidi Bakke will rotate at second base while junior Ardell Olson holds down third base. In addition five upperclassmen are new to the Bison team, but according to coach Judy Strachan possess a lot of needed softball experience. Versatile senior Linda Degerness will join Goebel as captain and also serve as back-up pitcher when not stationed at first base.

The junior newcomers are Sheryll Kane in centerfield and Robbyn Dicerson serving as a substitute pitcher and first-base person. The rookie sophomores are Jane Brakke in right field and Pam Mooney playing either at third or in the outfield. Freshmen Irene Blilie and Jane Voss are expected to be in the starting line-up. Blilie plays shortstop and Voss catches.

Coach Strachan is looking forward to the Bison schedule with its 14 regular season games in addition to four tournaments. The highlights are the SU 10-team Invitational April 29 through 30 and the North Dakota Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women state meet May 6 through 7.

Friday the Bison travel to Grand Forks for a game against the University of North Dakota at 3 p.m. The Sioux did not field a team last year.

Fifteen teams enter weekend Red River Valley tournament

The SU Volleyball Club will host the third annual Red River Valley tournament this Saturday at the Old Fieldhouse.

Fifteen teams are entered in the men's and women's double elimination tournament. Play starts at 9 a.m.

SU's men's team is the defending champion of the tournament.

On Saturday, April 2, SU's Co-ed team won the Minnesota State Co-recreational Volleyball tournament.

SU scored a victory over the Anoka No. 1 team for the title.

The co-ed team was composed of Cliff Bell, Bruce Westbrook, Ruben Sam, Heidi Bakke, Wanda Zacher, Debbie Beller and Steve Arnold.

"We're pushing hard for Varsity recognition," said Bruce Westbrook, men's team captain. "This is the third year that we've been in existence and there already is a women's varsity team. We would be in much the same league as the women's varsity team, the Minn-Kota conference."

Last week, the men's team defeated UND while the women fell to UND three games to one.

Other members of the men's and women's Volley Club are Robert Minch, Doug Schroeder, Matt Praksh, Donnie Lauf, Lind Petterson, June Miller and Jana Hove.

Bison wrestlers set record in standout season

may have been a young wrestling team but it also was one of the best mat teams in the history and it speaks well of the future.

The 1976-77 Bison wrestling team hung up the records earlier this month with an outstanding 11-1-0 dual meet record, a second place finish in the nationally sponsored NCC, and a fifth place finish in the NCAA Division II national championships. Along with it went a school record.

The Bison claimed the best score ever in a dual meet match with a 57 to 0 beating of crosstown rival Moorhead State University.

That erased the 55 to 0 score the Bison posted against Augustana in 1971-72.

Four SU wrestlers finished with 20 or more victories in the 1976-77 campaign. Three were sophomores and one a junior. Sophomore Mark Reimnitz of Bismarck was 27-5-0 for the season and the leading Bison winner. He captured the NCAA Division II national title at 150 pounds along the way, the seventh individual title to come the way of a Bison.

Other 20-match winners include sophomore Lon Brew (142) at 25-6-0, sophomore Steve Martinson (134) at 23-7-0, and junior Mark Anderson

(126) at 22-5-1. Anderson won the NCC title at his weight.

That sophomore trio of Reimnitz, Martinson, and Brew finished first, second, third in pin victories with 13, 12, and 10 respectively. Only one Bison wrestler finished with an undefeated dual meet record. Doug Weisz at 118 pounds put together an 8-0-1 dual chart. The top dual meet winner was Brew with an 11-1-0 record.

Four Bison won All-American awards. Aside from Reimnitz, Weisz, Martinson and Brew all finished fourth in the nation and were accorded that All-American status.

Baseball team defeats MSU, travels to SDSU this weekend

U's baseball team upped record to 3-11 with a 10 to 6 victory over Moorhead State in last Monday's intercollegiate battle.

The Bison jumped off to a 7-0 lead on Ken Hammer's two-run homer. Ross Henrich scored two more runs on bases loaded double.

U upped its lead to 9 to 3 in the second inning.

Moorhead added one more run in the fourth and two runs in the fifth on an infield error and bases loaded walk to Bob Snow. Moorhead finished with three runs in the eighth on a two-run double by Chuck Henrich and an error.

Jeff Waletzko was credited with the victory and is 2-2 for the season.

Moorhead State is 1-10 overall.

The Bison travel to South Dakota State for games today and tomorrow.

Letters host eight-team invitational

The SU men's tennis team will host an eight-team invitational Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

Dargo's Southgate Racquet Club will serve as tournament quarters with some matches to be played at the Fieldhouse and at Alex Mazek Hall on the Moorhead State campus.

Stavus Adolphus College is the entries, bringing an "A" and "B" squad to the tournament. SU, Moorhead State, and Concordia College will also be on hand in addition to Augustana College, SDSU, and UND.

Soccer club hosts invitational Saturday

SU's soccer club will open its 1977 season by hosting a six-team invitational tournament starting tomorrow at 11 a.m. at Dacotah Field.

"Depending on the success of the tournament, there's a strong possibility that a league will be formed from the teams present at the tournament," said Besa Amenuvor, SU soccer club originator.

The double elimination tournament includes the UND, Concordia, Moorhead

State, St. Cloud State and Brainerd Community soccer clubs.

SU's 35-member squad will open tournament play at 11 a.m. with the opening round action concluding at 5:30 p.m. Play continues Sunday at 1 p.m. with championship game slated for 2:30 p.m.

There is no admission charge.

The soccer club will travel to UND on April 23 for a match.
