Ordinance to limit housing up for approval

by Andre Stephenson
A new city ordinance limiting the number of persons in a housing unit is expected to be presented to the Fargo City Commission for approval later this month.

The ordinance, currently being drawn up jointly by the Fargo City Attorney and the Fargo Planning Commission, would restrict the number of unrelated persons in a unit to three.

Concern over the deterioration of the central city prompted city officials to suggest the limit, according to Jerry Schimmelfennig, community development specialist.

Schimmelfennig defines the central city as everything between 12th Avenue North and 13th Avenue South.

Numerous complaints have been received by city officials over the past few years concerning noisy neighbors, congested parking and use of the alleys. In addition the city was seeing an increasing demand on such services as garbage collection and water and sewer.

Schimmelfennig explained that after long consideration of the problems, an increasingly high population density in the central city was cited as a principal cause.

Increasing SU enrollment and increased job opportunities of the last few years caused landlords to convert many old houses designed for a single family to multiple-family rental units.

The new ordinance defines "family" in the traditional sense as we know it plus says a family cannot have more than three unrelated persons. Similar ordinances in other cities have been upheld by the Supreme Court.

The most active opposition to the proposed ordinance comes from the F-M Apartment Association, a group of Fargo-Moorhead landlords.

Bill Powers, secretary-treasurer and past-president of the Association, argues that "a house a man built in 1918 for his wife and five kids still has the capacity to house seven students."

Powers feels the ordinance will result in "tremendous inefficiencies—at a time when the national trend is toward conservation."

He explains that limiting each unit to three persons would require "heating two half-empty houses instead of one filled to the capacity it was designed for."

According to Powers, the ordinance would force a lot of SU students farther away from the school, causing them to drive farther and, thus, use more gas. He feels this is a needless waste of resources.

Referring to the ordinance he said, "This is going to affect a lot of innocent, well-meaning people."

Schimmelfennig concedes that the law may aggravate the housing shortage problem that has existed in Fargo for some time.

But he emphasizes, "Only for the short run." Our purpose here is long term—30 years down the road. We want to prevent a slum. Look at what happened to some neighborhoods in Minneapolis. We don't want that to happen here."

This new ordinance is not the only means the city is using to fight the high population density in the central city. A new ordinance requires all new construction to provide two parking spaces for each housing unit, up from one-and-a-half parking spaces.

Schimmelfennig also said the Fargo Planning Commission is also looking into the possibility of "down-zoning" certain sections of the city, therefore making the larger multi-family units illegal.

Neither Wind, Nor Rain,

The fourth ranked Bison football team took on the second ranked Wildcats from Northern Michigan on Saturday, September 3. Wind and rain predominated the weather as the Bison came out on the top end of a 38-18 score. Shown here are three of the many fans who braved the elements to watch the game.

Overflow students placed by October

by Reed Karaim
Hopefully most students now in overflow housing will be placed in a permanent residence during the next month said Norm Seims, SU's director of housing, last Friday.

Presently 12.8 per cent of the students who contracted with SU for housing are in overflow, Seims said.

"We wanted to make sure that everybody who wanted to come to school could be housed," he said.

As in past years single rooms are being made into doubles and doubles are being made into triples as SU attempts to accommodate the large fall influx of students.

"Most of the students who find themselves in temporary housing seem to look at it as a challenge," he said.

Seims was pleased with the way things had worked out for students in the Graver Inn, in downtown Fargo, which was purchased last year as additional housing.

"Things seem to be going pretty well down there," he said, "We believe the Graver offers a unique college experience, we realize it's not like living in a dorm but many of the fellows who lived there last year came to prefer it."

This year 180 men are being roomed in the Graver, Seims said. Also, thirty-five women are being housed in Ceres Hall.

Seims explained the reason SU does not plan to build any additional dorms is that enrollment is expected to decline in the future.

"Predictions seem to indicate that we can handle what's coming," he said.

Seims indicated that processing housing is complicated by the number of students who sign up for their dorm rooms in the spring but fail to show up in the fall. He said he believed many students sign up for a room on campus just in case they won't be able to find an apartment.

"We don't find out whose cancelled out until Aug. 10 and then we don't have much time to get things ready before school starts," he said.

New tickets for concert available

Replacement tickets for the rock concert "Foreigner" are available today at the Union listening lounge.

An estimated 1,200 tickets were stolen Wednesday from the locked car of John Bjornson, Campus Attractions (CA) concerts chairman.

The robbery is believed to have occurred sometime in the afternoon.

"I was going from store to store selling ads all afternoon so it really could've happened anywhere in Fargo," commented Bjornson. The tickets had been in Bjornson's briefcase and he says the thief may have had access to his car through a window where the latch is broken.

Bjornson noticed his briefcase missing about 6:30 p.m. and after checking with the stores he visited in the afternoon, he reported the robbery to CA and Fargo police. The tickets are valued, at $7,000.

To avoid possible problems, CA officials decided to recall all tickets already sold and exchange them for new tickets. All persons holding a red ticket for the concert are asked to come in and exchange it for a new gold one.

Bjornson says only the gold tickets will be honored at the concert. If persons attempt entry with a red ticket, the numbers will be checked to see if it is legitimate. Stolen tickets are numbered from 2301 to 3500.

Other locations where tickets may be bought or exchanged are Team Electronic, Young America, Country House, and Davy Bee's in Fargo and Mr. Musicman and Marguerites in Moorhead.

GI benefits for veterans will be received later

GI Bill Educational Benefits for SU veterans will be received a month later this year than in previous years.

Recent changes in the law have discontinued the practice of advance payment. Checks veterans receive on the first of the month will no longer be an advance payment for that month, but will instead represent payment for the preceding month's attendance.

September checks should arrive the first part of October, according to veterans officials. The new law says that the school must now certify a veteran's enrollment after the fall term starts.

Enrollment certification forms are being mailed this week from the Registrar's Office and the Veterans Administration says it could take up to 30 to 45 days to process the forms and issue the checks.

Veterans who requested and received advance payment will receive their next check Dec. 1, covering November's attendance.

SU enrollment tops 7,300 for fall quarter

Early projections on the total number of students that will attend fall quarter classes at SU, range as high as 7,400 with more cautious officials predicting more than 7,300.

Both figures would represent a record enrollment and exceed the total enrollment of 7,159 a year ago.

The number of students accepted for admission surpasses by more than 100 the total number accepted at this same time a year ago, according to George Wallman, director of admissions. Increases are largely represented by women freshmen and transfer students.

"The last couple of years students have been applying for admission earlier and earlier," said Wallman. "I detect less anxiety in students about investing their time and money in a university education today than I did a few years ago."

Wallman observed that the College of Engineering and Architecture appears to be heading for the largest increase in students and predicts that college will see an all-time record enrollment this fall.

Dr. Joseph Stanislaw, dean of the college, predicts a final fall quarter enrollment of more than 1,400 students in engineering and architecture programs, or at least 200 more students than were enrolled in 1967 when the college reached an all-time record of 1,220. The college has recovered from a low enrollment figure of 782 in 1974 and the new projections will nearly double that total.

"This tremendous increase in enrollment can be largely attributed to the fine teaching capability of the University as a whole, and, more particularly, to the faculty of our college." Nationally, enrollment in engineering and architecture schools is expected to be up about 5 or 6 percent, paralleling economic trends, according to Stanislaw. He indicated that students today can more readily see the applicability of an education in engineering or architecture to such things as city development, construction, and the total socio-technological environment rather than only to the isolated jobs of the aerospace industries.

The National College Placement Council reported in August that employers made 41 per cent more job offers than a year ago at the bachelor's level, 43 per cent more at the master's level and 33 percent more at the doctoral level to college graduates seeking jobs.

Most of the action was for candidates in technical disciplines, particularly at the bachelor's level. Employers made 53 per cent more offers to engineering graduates than a year ago and 37 per cent more offers to students who majoring in the sciences. Candidates in business disciplines received 27 per cent more offers and those in the humanities and social sciences attracted 21 per cent more.

SU housing officials predict no major problems in housing the predicted record number of students. Some 2,578 students have been assigned to regular on-campus housing, including the Graver Inn in downtown Fargo, now owned and utilized for housing by NDSU. Some 300 students have been assigned temporarily to overflow quarters with another 40 such spaces available. These include some lounge areas that were originally built for student housing. Some rooms that were built to house three or four students and now typically house two or three have been converted back to house the larger numbers. No more than six students will be housed in any given overflow area.

Handicapped persons program set Oct. 12

The Lutheran Social Service's TOUCH program will be presented from 6 to 10 p.m. Oct. 12 in the Memorial Union at SU.

The program, designed to give persons with handicaps an opportunity to discuss their feelings, needs and goals with non-handicapped persons, is sponsored by the Governor's Committee on Children and Youth in cooperation with the SU College of Home Economics and the Support and Education Program for Parents of Handicapped Children.

The meeting is open to the public.

Dr. Harriett Light, SU associate professor of Child Development-Family Relations, is a new member of the Governor's Committee on Children and Youth.

SPECTRUM

EDITORIAL

After three months of vacation it's time to get back into the middle (muddle) of things for another fun-filled year of waiting in lines, spending money you never seem to have and doing such terrible things as attending classes.

For those of us returning "old-timers" nothing much has changed, so before long the routine is back and it's the same old thing again. But there are some of you out there who are trying to get the feel of things—where to go, what to do and who's who on campus.

One of the easiest ways to meet people when you are a freshman or new student is to join a club or organization (who are always looking for people who would be willing to do a little work and have some fun). Now if you sit back and decide to wait it out and see what happens because you don't want to feel dumb or out of place attending a meeting where you don't know anybody don't worry about it.

After the initial shock of getting to the meeting and seeing absolutely no one that you know, you'd be surprised how fast you meet people (especially when there's work to be done!)

There are clubs and organizations on campus for almost every college or department. The first of the year is a good time to get started in these Clubs are always a little unorganized at first and people with new ideas can be a welcome sight. Don't sit around feeling like you want to be a part of something but don't know how to go about it.

We were all new here sometime or other—don't expect us to admit it since we like to think of ourselves as being too old to remember that far back (all of two or three years!).

The Spectrum is always looking for people who are willing to learn the ropes of our "fine" office. The office is located on the second floor of the Union along with student government and Campus Attractions. If you are interested come up and wander around the second floor. Stop in and talk to people in the office, they would be glad to give you some information.

Most of the clubs around campus have organizational meetings in the beginning of the year and that's a good time to get involved with them. Just attend the first meeting—it's as easy as that. If you're not too keen on the idea of going alone take a friend and you can brave it together! You'd be surprised how easy it is!

by Reed Karaim

The first appearance of Backspace is traditionally one given over to welcoming all of you back from wherever it is you go in the summer.

Since I had been stuck with the task this year, I originally began this column with "Welcome Back!" It looked pretty good there on the page, so, satisfied, I prepared to go on.

But looking at my typewriter I realized that, this early in the year, I had nothing more to say. Since Backspace has to be a little longer than that I began again: "Welcome back to campus," I typed. Although it had twice as many words I decided it still wasn't much of an improvement.

The third time all I managed was "Welcome Back Everyone." It was then I realized that this was going to take a major effort.

Taking a deep breath I gave it all I had, "Welcome back to campus sophomores, juniors and seniors and welcome freshman, or any students who are attending our fine campus for the first time, hope you like it here, don't take things too seriously, have fun, meet people, if you're on food contract have someone taste your food before you eat it, let us know with a letter if anything really bothers you."

I wasn't sure that sounded good either but I decided to leave it. What the heck, I thought as I pulled it out of my typewriter, it's too early in the school year to write anything that requires a person to think. Whoever writes this column next time can write a serious editorial.

Union changes room numbers

Rooms in the Union have been renumbered to be compatible with rooms on floors adjoining from the Family Life Center.

All room numbers on the main floor of the Union are now in the 200 sequence and rooms on the second floor are now in the 300 sequence.

Formerly Room 203 is now numbered 306 and has been named the Plains Room. The room now features a mural of wheat.

Formerly Room 233 has been renumbered 325 and a name has not yet been designated.

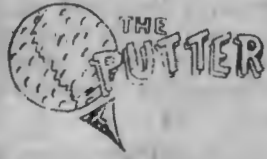

Denise Johnson, Fargo, a recent design graduate in the College of Home Economics, has painted a mural in the hallway outside of the Placement Office. Johnson also did the signage for the changeover.

Town Hall, renamed the States Room, will feature the Ralph W. Smith Collection, paintings representative of all 52 states.

In the Recreation and Outing Center, the bowling machines have been overhauled and the billiard tables have been recovered.

In other changes during the summer, a new curtain has been constructed for Festival Hall.

A campus guide for the beginning SU student

by Reed Karaim

This article was put together for the incoming student who may occasionally find he doesn't know what's going on or what to do. We know this won't answer all of your questions but we hope under the subheads below you find something that helps you.

Dropping or adding classes.
If it happens that Anthropology 201, which you were just sure was the general survey class, turns out to be a study of the mating habits of the Tanzanian pygmies, we suggest you drop the class. (unless of course your girl or boyfriend happens to be a Tanzanian pygmy.)

The way you drop, or for that matter add, a class at SU is not that complicated. But it can be irritating if you're not sure what you're doing.

The first thing you need is a drop-add slip, which the department of your major, or your adviser should have.

After you've filled that out and had your adviser and the Dean of your department sign it, (if you're in Humanities and Social Sciences or Math and Science somebody in the office of Academic Affairs must sign it instead, you then need to pick up the card for that class. You get an English class card from the English department, etc.

Then take your drop-add slip and your class card and journey to Old Main where if you've waited past Wednesday Sept. 19, you first check in to the Business Office and pay a schedule change fee, which is a dollar.

Then with the receipt from your payment, your drop-add slip and your class card still clutched in your hand you journey right around the corner to the Registrar's Office where some nice people will take everything from you and you're all done.

The people in registration will make the necessary changes in your records and you can start attending your new class. Nothing to it right?

Entertainment:
Leave campus.
Entertainment for those stuck on campus:

Actually there are quite a few things to do at SU. The Music Listening Lounge on the second floor of the Union has a wide selection of albums they will be happy to play for you. All you need is your student I.D.

The Games Room also in the Union, has a little bit of everything: bowling, foosball, pool, and pinball. The snack bar in the high rise complex has foosball and pool.

The Art Gallery in the Family Life Center is a nice place to spend a little time. The exhibits are usually excellent. Even if you've stayed away from this kind of thing before give it a try, you might find something that interests you.

For the athletically minded the Fieldhouse is open to the student on a fairly regular basis. If interested look at the Fieldhouse schedule somewhere in this issue. You need your I.D.

And of course the fraternities and sororities are constantly throwing parties. There are free movies in the Union on Sunday nights, and big-time bands, the first being Foreigner, will be dropping into SU from time to time for concerts. (All this and more brought to you by those wonderful people at Campus Attractions.)

If none of this interests you and you're still looking for a few laughs, attend a student senate meeting. You'll find a close resemblance to a three ring circus—one comprised of nothing but clowns.

Frats and female frats

SU's fraternities and sororities are holding their fall rush this week. I understand it's something they've been working very hard on, so if they get ahold of you listen to what they have to say. (You can call them too if you want.)

Fraternal organizations mold upstanding young men and women who become the upper crust of our American society. (This was told to me by a fraternity member as he chugged a beer.)

Actually, all I really know about these organizations is that they do lots of things for the community and for charity, like an eating for epilepsy contest.

The people in them seem to have fun. Maybe you would too.

Other organizations

There are too many to mention. There is everything from a chess club to intramural football teams to a society of women engineers. Look around, there should be something that interests you. If you have no particular interests or ability in anything, run for a position in student government.

Options concerning grades.

Unknown to many beginning students you do not have to take every class for a grade. Many classes can be taken Pass-Fail, which may be just what you're looking for if you find you don't want to spend a lot of time on the class but don't want to drop. Check with your adviser though, before you try. It can't be done with some classes.

Also unknown to many students you do have a recourse if you receive a grade from a professor that you believe was unjust.

The first step is to talk to the professor. If he remains obstinate then talk to your Dean. If he won't listen your last recourse is the Grade Appeals Board. If they won't change your grade you were probably wrong in the first place.

That's about it. If this article hasn't answered your questions about campus then I suggest you run down to the Union bookstore and buy the small booklet "A Beginners Guide to SU," which is lying stacked on the check cashing counter and costs only a quarter.

It was made by last years Communications 341 class, many of whom are Spectrum staff members and is amusing and informative. (They forced me to say that.)

Rick Haenke relaxes to some soothing tones played over the headphones in the Music Listening Lounge. New area rugs and furniture have improved the easy listening and studying atmosphere. (photo by Gary Grinker)

SU annual available

After an absence of four years, the Bison Annual has returned to SU.

Students who paid for their annual with tuition last winter may pick up their reserved at the Activities Desk in the Union. Extra copies are on sale for $5 on a first come, first served basis.

"We were surprised at how well it turned out. It's hard to believe it even got done on time," commented co-editor Nancy Ziegler. Ziegler and co-editor Joan Waldock took command of the annual staff last April.

"It started out as the return of the traditional yearbook with group photos, mug shots and pictures of the colleges.

"But we also tried to develop the newsbreak section of last year's major events," added Ziegler. The annual also has sections on campus activities and feature stories.

While the 1977 Annual is being disbursed, plans are being made for next year's annual.

Next year's annual will be larger, 9 inches by 12 inches high, and will contain 264 pages, longer than this year's 224 pages.

"In some ways we'll have to stay traditional, like the group and mug shots," Waldock said. "This is for the historical aspect, so 20 years from now you can look back and see who was here."

"We'd also like to do more feature things and have more copy in the book," added Waldock.

There will be an informal meeting for students interested in working on the next annual at 7:30 tonight in the Annual Office in the Student Union.

SU receives grant to eliminate discrimination

A project designed to assist 15 public school districts in reducing and eventually eliminating sex discrimination in their schools has been federally funded and will be administered through SU's Division of Continuing Studies.

Sandra Holbrook, project coordinator for a current sex desegregation institute at Su, will serve as project director of the new program operating under a federally funded grant of $63,334 awarded by Region VIII Office of Education, Denver.

SU plans to provide assistance by both cen-

SU plans to provide assistance by both centralized training for school personnel from all districts and on-site meetings with personnel from each district.

The project will work toward the accomplishment of two primary objectives:
teaching school personnel-especially administrators, teachers and counselors-to identify and be aware of types of sexism most common in public schools, and identifying resources and means for development and-or use of nonsexist curricula and instructional materials related to various subjects taught in schools.

Those districts requesting assistance represent 27,265 public school pupils and approximately 1,646 professional public school personnel in North Dakota.

The participating districts will be Balta, Bismarck, Colfax-Richland, Columbus,

Fargo, Fessenden, Garison, Inkster-Midway, Jamestown,
Kenmare, Kindred, Rhame, Souris, West Fargo and Woodworth.

During the 1976-77
academic year, SU's Division of Continuing Studies was funded to conduct a Title IX sex desegregation institute.
The involvement in this project has enabled SU to develop experience and expertise in working with public schools to reduce sex discrimination not generally found among institutions of higher education in the upper midwest.

Based on this year's experience, Holbrook said most schools consider themselves to be in compliance with Title IX but the greatest concern has been with the letter of the law (Title IX) rather than the spirit.

Holbrook added that requests from school districts wishing to participate in the project clearly state a desire to receive help but, for the most part, do not clearly identify the type of help needed.

Areas of concern which oc-cured most often include/

Physical education: integration of classes and curriculum planning for co-educational classes.

Awareness and understanding of sexism in education:
the desire to administer schools in the spirit of Title IX, not just the letter of the law.

materials: selection and-or

SU receives program grant for parents of handicapped

A grant of $8,000 has been made to the Child Development-Family Relations Department in the College of Home Economics at NDSU from the Fargo Opportunity School Board.

Announcement of the grant has been made by Katherine Burgum, dean of the College of Home Economics, and Richard Weltzin, SU Development Foundation coordinator.

Made through the Development Foundation, the grant will provide for an Educational Support Program for Parents of Young Handicapped Children.

The proposal for this grant was developed cooperatively with members of the Opportunity School Board, Mrs. Mark Traynor, chairman; Burgum, and SU faculty members of the CDFR Department, Dr. George Rowe, Dr. Harriett Light and Dr. Marian Marion.

Light will be the director of the program which has three major purposes: to provide psychological support for parents as they face unique problems of having a handicapped child, to provide information about handicapping conditions and how to deal with everyday situations that arise, and to provide parents the opportunity for fellowship with other parents experiencing like situations. The program is directed toward parents of handicapped children and is not designed to provide services for handicapped children.

Mrs. Yvonne Hanzal will serve as the program coordinator. Confined to a wheelchair due to poliomyelitis in 1962, Mrs. Hanzal graduated from the Crippled Children's School in Jamestown and received a master's degree in speech pathology and audiology from Moorhead State University in 1975.

A team of consultants has been engaged for their expertise in special problems. They include Mary Johnson, former director, Opportunity School; Rhoda Erhardt, occupational therapist and director of the Easter Seal Mobile Unit; Ronald Sandness, social worker, Lutheran Social Services; Cathy Sandness, mother with a handicap; Darrel Burkland, social worker, St. Lukes Hospital; Marjorie Sanders, consultant in Child and Adolescent Services; Cindy Koons, parent of a child with a handicap; Sandy Anderson, certified occupational therapist assistant; Katherine Staples, nutritionist, and Dr. G. Wilson Hunger, medical doctor.

The first meeting of the program is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 20, at the North Dakota Lutheran Social Services 1325 11th Street South, Fargo (behind the Olivet Lutheran Church).

All interested persons are welcome to attend. For further information about the program contact Mrs. Hanzal at 235-1980.

Humphrey appointed to head ag communications office

Dr. F.C. Humphrey has been named to head the North Dakota Cooperative Extension Service Communications Office at NDSU.

The appointment of Humphrey as an assistant director, communications, and assistant professor of communications in the extension service has been announced by Dr. Kenneth Gilles, vice president for agriculture. Humphrey replaces Dr. Robert A. Jarnagin who retired June 30.

In his new post Humphrey will be responsible for the overall direction of agricultural information services for the extension service and SU Agricultural Experiment Station. He will be responsible for all agricultural publications, news releases, other media programs and public relations activities. Both internal and external communications programs will be under Humphrey's direction.

Formerly the extension sociologist and an assistant professor of extension, Humphrey returned to SU from the University of Wisconsin, Madison, in 1973, where he was a project assistant in the Wisconsin Cooperative Extension Service while completing his Ph.D. in extension education.

He earned a B.S. in agriculture in 1964 and an M.S. in agriculture in 1969, both at NDSU.

Prior to beginning graduate studies at the University of Wisconsin, Humphrey served SU as an assistant county exension agent in Ramsey County from 1966-1968, and associate county extension agent in Cass County from 1969-1970. He served as an assistant county supervisor for the N.D. Farmers Home Administration from 1964-1966.

Humphrey has written extension publications on "Program Development, Management by Objectives," and the "Social Impacts of Coal Development." He also has conducted community attitude surveys in Oliver County and at Oakes, N.D. His professional and research interests are in the area of communication strategies in the diffusion of new farm practices.

Humphrey is a Major in the U.S. Army Reserve and served on active duty in Vietnam from 1964-1966.

A native of Verona, N.D., Humphrey is married to the former Judy Schulz, Jamestown. The Humphreys and two sons, William, 9, and Paul, 5, live at 2506 Evergreen Rd., Fargo.

INTER-VARSITY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship (IVCF, IV) is a non-denominational Christian organization. "To know Jesus Christ and make Him known" summarizes IV's purposes. Opportunities in fellowship, study, teaching and training are available.

Small group Bible studies are the heart of the chapter. These small groups (5-8 people each) meet weekly all over campus for Bible Study, prayer, and encouragement. Large group chapter meetings are every other Wednesday, at 7:00 p.m. in Town Hall, Student Union. The other Wednesdays, family groups (5-7 small groups) meet for singing, sharing, and teaching. Other highlights are retreats, socials, workshops, and special events such as coffeehouses. Prayer meetings are also held throughout the week.

IVCF is student led and provides practical training in leading small groups, using creative methods for Bible Study, communicating effectively with people, and serving people and God.

Imagination '77

A variety of sights and sounds greeted the people attending this year's Imagination '77 in Island Park. Held last weekend, "Imagination" activities ranged from potting and painting to concerts and crafts.

In conjunction with Serendipity Days in Moorhead, "Imagination's" diversity attempted to meet the interests of all ages.

For children, Serendipity Days included a children's art fair featuring puppet shows, face painting and finger weaving.

Children were set loose in an area complete with paper and paint in Island Park. Swathed in huge white aprons, they offered their "art of self-expression" to the day's events.

The warm sun and the surprising lack of wind allowed the artists, largely from the Fargo-Moorhead area, to display their work along the sidewalks of Island Park this year. Perhaps the good weather also contributed to the increase of artists in attendance at "Imagination '77."

Ruth Landfield coordinated "Imagination '77" this year and termed it a "success."

"Imagination '77" is sponsored by the Lake Agassiz Arts Council and is a combined effort by the Fargo and Moorhead public school systems, Fargo-Moorhead poets and by the member organizations of the Arts Council.

Top Right-The refreshment stand was a popular place on Sunday as Island Park was jammed with people.

Right- Pottery making was one of the more popular crafts, here the potter's hands, some of his works and the potter at the wheel are shown.

P. 17 left- Maria Genne and Sidney Anderson of the Dance Studio performed along with juggler Larry Olson to the music of Skunk Hollow.

P. 17 Right- Sunday people gathered on the Second Avenue Bridge for the second Bridge Concert and were treated to this dance.

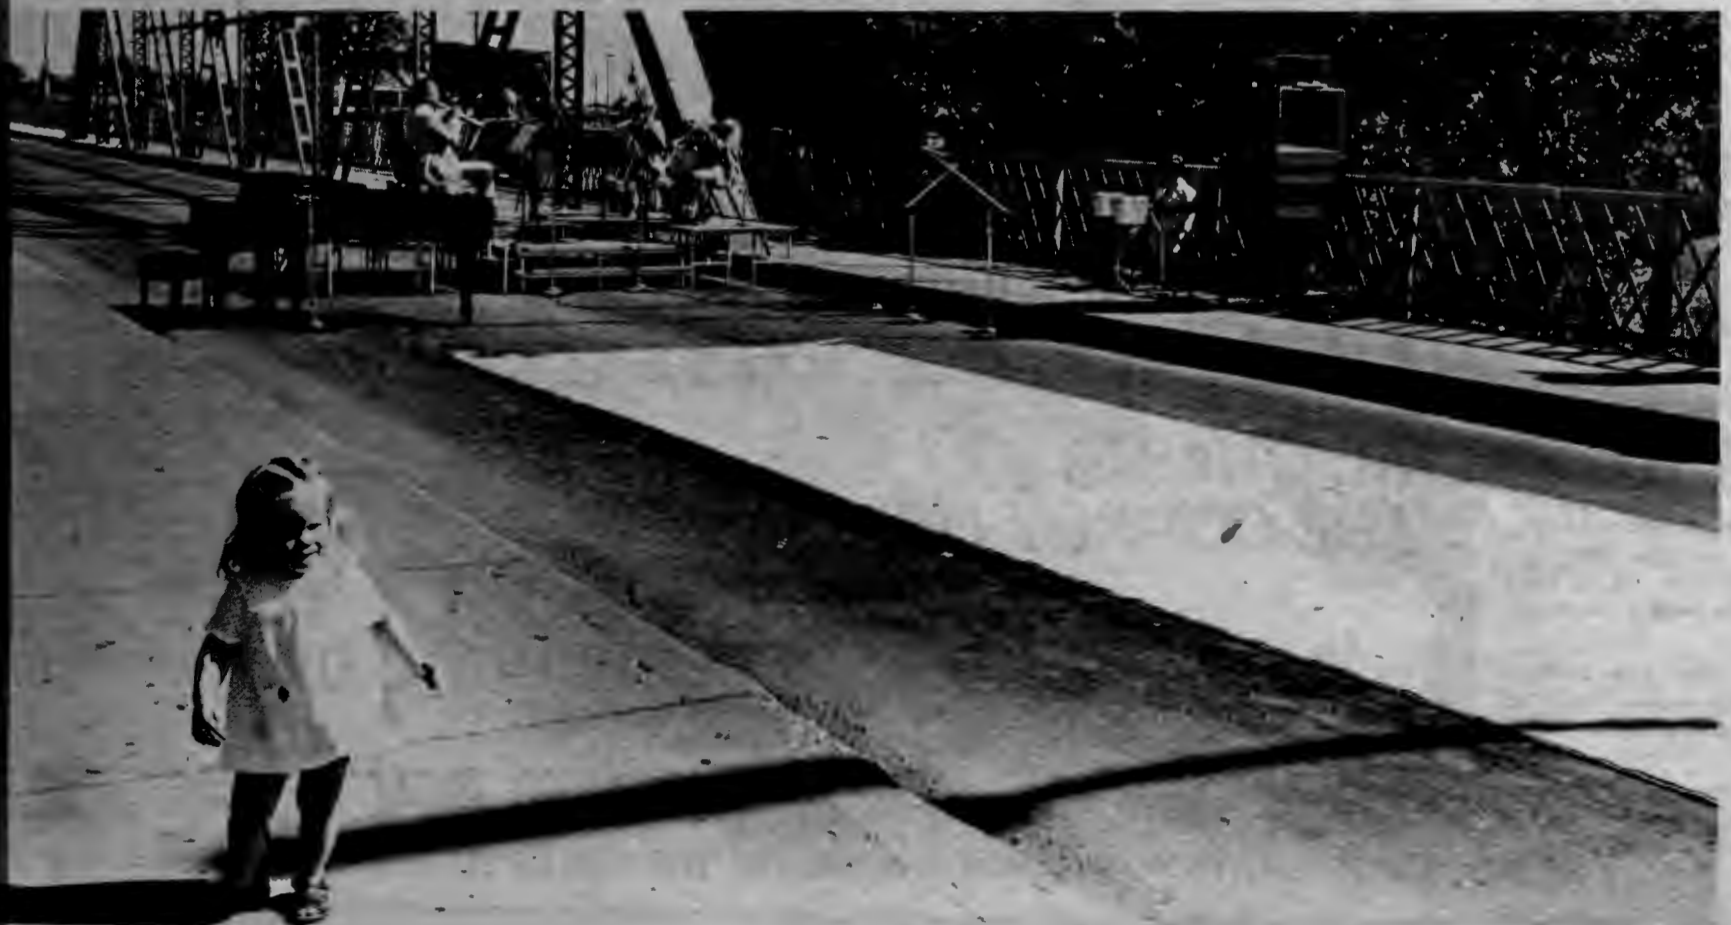

p. 17 Bottom- This youngster enjoys herself as six members of the F-M Symphony Orchestra performed.

Dear Mom, . . .

Dear Mom,

Everything's fine here. Just met my roommate yesterday. Let's just say she's "different." I met her after dragging my suitcase up five flights of stairs to my room. She was real nice. She showed me where the elevator was. Then.

I couldn't believe it. The room was already filled with boxes and boxes of her stuff. Mom, I found out we didn't manage to get everything I'll need in my suitcase. Could you send down a few more things?

my food contract receipt (air mail!!)
my left tennis shoe
an adapter for my three prong alarm clock

Jimmy's new address

Frank's picture (the one with the tree)

My Sonny and/or without Cher posters

Teddy

My tapes (YES, she has a stereo, but the right speaker's a little funny and hums a lot)

blue jeans (they wear them all over here)

my winter coat

some socks

desk lamp

my dictionary

my blue purse

some more check blanks

my Popeye glass and toothbrush

everything else I forgot

Tell Dad I'll write him tomorrow during history. Say hi to Bob and Jim and tell them they can have the candy I forgot in my top dresser drawer. If Frank calls say I'm not speaking to him. (He hasn't written once.)

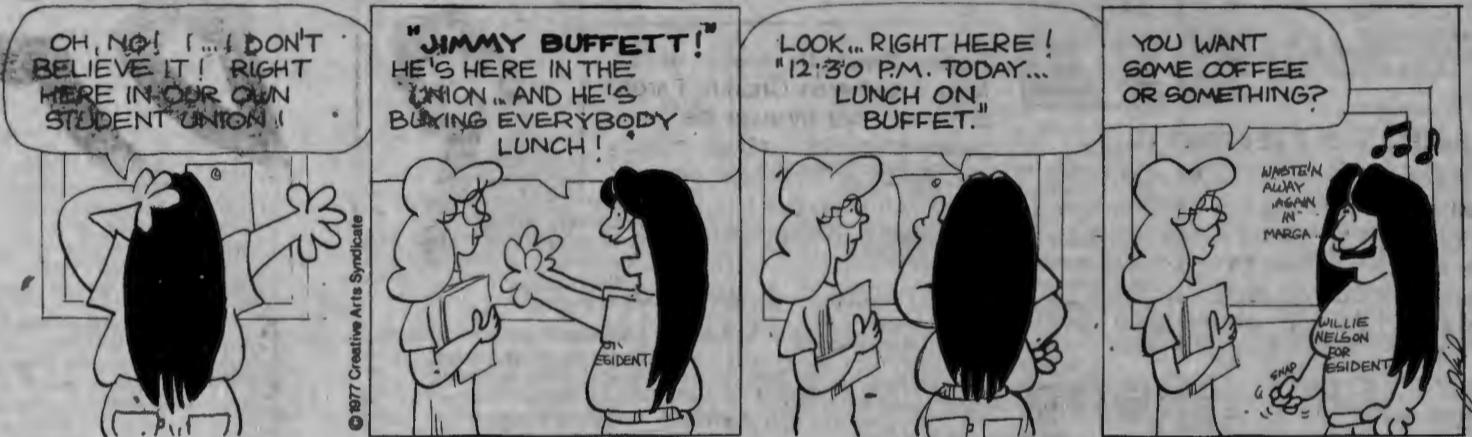

Please check my checking account when it comes in. I just might be a bit overdrawn. I might come home the weekend after next if I can talk Carl into giving me a ride. Please write.

Love,

Sue

P.S. If Frank calls, be sure to give him my address before you hang up on him. Just in case.

GROWTH OPPORTUNITIES are offered for your self enrichment and personal growth. All offerings are free — no grades — no tests. Groups involve one hour and will meet at the University Lutheran Center unless otherwise indicated. Charges for materials may be made.

Paul H. Almquist, pastor at Pontopidan Lutheran Church, Fargo, provoked by the prevalent moods of gloom and despair in our society, spent a year at Luther Seminary studying hope theology.

THEOLOGY OF HOPE

Through lecture and discussion class members will look at the Biblical roots of the concept of hope, its meaning for Christian living including its application to suffering, life in the church, vocation, and life's decisions, as well as examining its similarities and differences with secular movements of hope. Wednesday, 3:00 p.m. Beginning Sept. 21 for 6 weeks.

Joseph Amundson, chemical salesman for 39 years has been involved in the Bethel Bible Series since 1961 as a member of First Lutheran Church, Fargo. To him pursuing Bible studies is "like cracker jack; the more you eat, the more you want."

BETHEL BIBLE SERIES — OLD TESTAMENT

Creation — evolution — myth — mystery — history? How do we read and understand the Old Testament? These questions and others will be answered through a discussion type overview study of the Old Testament. Monday 4:00 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Beginning September 19 for 6 weeks. Bethel Bible Series material — $5.00 (optional). Sponsored by First Lutheran Church.

John and Nancy Elverum, in addition to their involvement in the Couples Communication Program, have been leaders of a couples' growth retreat. John is pastor at Hope Lutheran Church, Fargo; Nancy is a homemaker and a partner in a nursery school.

COUPLES COMMUNICATION PROGRAM

Couples will experience an enrichment program — a skill building process, not a therapy group — that will increase self awareness and communication skills for dealing with day to day issues. The first session, in which goals and expectations will be presented, will last 1 hour, instructional sessions 2½ hours. Monday — 7:00 p.m. Beginning September 26 for 5 weeks. Limited to 8 couples, marrieds given first consideration. Materials used — text ALIVE AND AWARE and the COUPLE WORKBOOK — cost $11.95.

Clint Erickson, pastor of Our Savior's Lutheran Church, Moorhead, enjoys getting together with students on a subject "where all the answers aren't already cut and dried."

GENESIS, THE BOOK OF ORIGINS

Can't trace your genealogy back more than two generations? Embarrassing?! Here's a chance to zero in on your spiritual "roots" and try to put it all together. Discussion type Bible study covering the roots of the Judeo-Christian faith — including creation, nature of sin and evil, covenant, promise and study of key people. Thursday — 4:00 p.m. Beginning September 29 for 6 sessions.

Douglas E. Lindgren, pastor/housing manager, is a "Worker Priest", providing his own income while developing a ministry in the area of his workaday situation.

NEIGHBORHOOD MINISTRY

The experience will involve participating in an experimental ministry — a covenant community — a group of individuals from various church backgrounds who have come together to become involved in a ministry in a neighborhood setting. The group meets for theological reflection and response to the local situation. They try to put theology, compassion and everyday language together in a Christian lifestyle. Wednesday — 7:00 p.m. till they decide to quit. Beginning September 21 for 6 weeks. 702 S. 23rd St., Fargo. Limited to 3.

Marlo B. Miller, PH.D., pastor at St. John Lutheran Church, Fargo, enjoys exploring contemporary philosophies and psychologies and applying them to Biblical interpretation.

STUDIES IN THE GOSPEL OF JOHN

The Gospel of John, of the 4 gospels, perhaps, is the most controversial. This is because of the question of historicity, its dualistic and parochial tendencies to mention a few problems. These and other issues will be discussed in the examination of selected key passages. The final session will be concerned with how a modern day existentialist theology is utilized to interpret the 4th gospel. Monday 11 a.m. Beginning September 20 for 6 weeks. Room 233, NDSU Memorial Union.

Roger Prescott, pastor at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Fargo, proposes that through the interaction of popular music, culture and theology "perhaps we can make the church a more vulnerable lover of the human family."

THE THEOLOGY OF POPULAR MUSIC

The class will listen to and discuss words and music of popular recording stars while striving for Biblical insight and "Koinonia". Many of our human perplexities and aspirations are mirrored in today's music. Popular music communicates according to its own logic and beautiful truth. One of the purposes of this course will be to help us develop new openness to truth not conveyed through typical theological/ecclesiastical media. Thursday — 12:00 noon. Beginning September 22 for 6 weeks.

Merrill D. Ronning, pastor of First Lutheran Church, Fargo, having "fumbled so many years" with the idea of who God is, would like to shorten the time it takes others to know what it means to be a Christian by opening up the scope of God.

"WHO IS GOD?"

Within our own images of God we often create and build for ourselves a God that meets our standards and needs. But isn't God more awesome and powerful than this image? The group will explore more closely God's revelation of Himself through His written word. Tuesday evening — 7:00 p.m. Beginning Sept. 20 for 6 weeks.

Mike Stokes, FRIENDS coordinator for Lutheran Social Services, who was left with three girls, a changing career, and faced with rebuilding his life when his first wife died of cancer in 1971 is willing to share the process he's been through of living with death. Others who have unique contributions to make will also serve as resource people.

DEATH — "MAGNIFICENT CRISIS"

The theological, psychological and practical aspects of death will be explored in an informal presentation with question and answer, brainstorming, a major consideration. How it affects the dying and those who love them, the "grief work" which must be faced and lived through and rebuilding — on to live authentically — will be dealt with in the 6 sessions. Monday — 1:00 p.m. Beginning September 19 for 6 weeks. Room 233, NDSU Memorial Union.

News Briefs*Gas pipeline across Canada

A 2,700-mile pipeline across Canada to bring natural gas from Alaska to the lower 48 states was agreed to Thursday by U.S. and Canadian officials.

The $10-billion pipeline, the largest private energy project in history, will carry up to 2.2 billion cubic feet of natural gas a day, 4 per cent of present U.S. consumption, when it is completed in 1982 or 1983.

Part of the proposed pipeline will cross the southwestern part of North Dakota.

Senate approves farm bill

The 4-year compromise farm bill was approved by the Senate Friday by a vote of 63 to 8.

The 300-page bill increases commodity support prices and includes changes in the food stamp program and is expected to cost more than $11 billion a year.

The House is expected to vote on the bill this week.

Storm strikes Jamestown

An estimated $1 million in damages were caused late Thursday when hail and high winds whipped through Jamestown.

Wind gusts up to 102 miles an hour were clocked at the Jamestown airport where about a dozen aircraft were damaged and a hangar door blown in.

Jamestown police said at least three trailer homes were destroyed and a dozen others damaged. Trees and power lines were blown down and the roof of at least one house was blown off.

Golf ball size hail and heavy rain broke windows and caused water damage to dozens of stores and homes.

Flying debris injured at least 10 persons who were treated and released from a local hospital.

Congress defeats B1 bomber funding

Final congressional approval to President Carter's decision to halt production of the B1 bomber was gained Friday when the Senate completed action on the $1 billion defense bill.

Funds for the B1 were among the appropriations.

Thursday the House voted 202 to 199 to cut funds for the bomber. North Dakota congressman Mark Andre voted in favor of the B1.

Power companies allowed condemn land

Two Minnesota power companies building a high voltage transmission line have the right to condemn property in North Dakota, District Court Judge Larry Hatch ruled Linton last week.

Construction crews working on the 400-kilovolt power line from the Crook Creek generating plant near Underwood, N.D., to the Twin Cities stopped north of east of Milnor, N.D., this summer when they came to land on which easements had not been signed.

Wisconsin judge loses recall

Madison area voters chose to reject Dane County Judge Archie Simonson in a special recall election Wednesday and replace him with a woman attorney, Monica Krueger, who had a strong feminist backing.

Judge Simonson gained national attention last year when he sentenced a 15-year-old boy convicted of rape to the custody of his parents. Simonson said the permissive sexual climate and women's provocative clothing made rape a normal reaction in a young man.

Under the new project, a series of workshops will be conducted at SU beginning in September and continuing through February. Follow-up meetings will be held in each district during March and April. In May schools will submit final reports comparing goals from a fall meeting with actual accomplishments.

Chief cooperators in this project will be Gene McMan, director of the Equal Educational Opportunity Program for the State Department of Public Instruction. Cowan has indicated that various resources of the State Department such as curriculum specialists will be available to the project.

The SU Department of Education also will cooperate in the project by helping to recruit a qualified graduate student to serve as a curriculum assistant and by providing a faculty adviser in curriculum for the student.

The project also will make extensive use of the materials and services of the Resource Center on Sex Roles in Education, Washington, D.C., and the General Assistance Center for Region 1.

A full-time field coordinator will be hired to work directly with the schools in identifying their individual objectives for the year and developing the workshops based on the schools' needs. Qualifications for this position would include a master's degree plus graduate work and teaching experience as well as knowledge of the problems of discrimination in education.

In the workshops are developed, consultants with expertise appropriate to the workshop objectives will be used to make presentations and provide information to participants. A consultant in instructional design will be used in the development of the workshop instruments.

Overall supervision of the project in terms of university administrative policy and procedures will be provided by Dr. Neil Jacobsen, dean of the College of University Studies, and Virgil Gehring, associate dean and director of the Division of Continuing Education.

For school districts interested in the project are encouraged to contact Holbrook at SU Division of Continuing Studies for further information.

Why tomorrow's professionals choose Hewlett-Packard's first family of advanced calculators today.

They're proven performers. In space. On Everest. In the labs of Nobel laureates. Since we built the first, back in 1972, our advanced calculators have been tested by millions worldwide, and they've passed.

They have staying power. Today's classroom problems quickly grow into tomorrow's on-the-job problems. HP calculators are designed and built to handle both. They're investments in a future that happens fast.

They're straightforward. "Advanced" doesn't mean "complicated." It means "uncomplicated." HP calculators are, above all, straightforward.

They're easy to use. HP calculators not only grow with you; they grow on you. They feel natural, comfortable, because we designed them to work like you think.

They're efficient. HP calculators take the direct approach. All feature RPN, a time-saving, parenthesis-free logic system. All programmables feature a memory-saving keycode merging capability.

They're personal. Professionals design their own ways to solve their particular problems, and they expect their calculators to be versatile enough to accommodate them.

There's a variety. To say we offer a full line is an understatement. We offer a choice. That's why we publish a unique "Selection Guide" that spells out the capabilities of each. Your HP dealer has your free copy.

(800) 648-4711. The number to call for more information and your HP dealer's name and address (unless you're in Nevada, in which case you can call 323-2704).

Arrangements for the series are made by the SU Public Events Concert Committee, a group of students, faculty and administrators.

'Black Comedy' casted

The Fargo-Moorhead Community Theater has announced the cast of its opening show for the season, "Black Comedy" by Peter Shaffer, with performances scheduled for Sept. 29 through Oct. 2 and Oct. 6 through Oct. 9. The play tells the farcical story of a struggling young sculptor's attempts to cope with his love life, his neighbors, and the imminent arrival of a possible patron while a blown fuse has plunged the building into darkness.

Martin Jonason, Fargo-Moorhead Community Theater's resident director, will be directing the play and costumes will be designed by Jean Mogle. David Phillips will create the set.

After opening in Britain, "Black Comedy" was greeted with praise and popularity during a ten-month run on Broadway several years ago. Many critics acclaimed it as one of Shaffer's best works. Shaffer is a British playwright who has more recently gained recognition for his drama "Equus," which is now in the process of being cast for its upcoming performance by SU's Little Country Theatre.

Smith collection on display at SU

The Ralph W. Smith Collection of "America the Beautiful," a collection of oil paintings representing each state in the United States, has been hung in a permanent exhibit at NDSU.

The paintings are located in the State Room, formerly known as Town Hall, of the Union.

The late Mr. Smith based this collection on his travels throughout the country. The collection was donated to the Union in 1961 and was displayed in 1962 and again in 1968.

Three North Dakota scenes include the Peace Garden, New England Grain Elevators and a North Dakota sunset.

Smith began painting scenic studies following his retirement as an agronomist at the Dickinson Experiment Station of SU in 1948. He had studied art 50 years previously while attending the Stanbury Normal School in Missouri but renewed his interest when he began tinting portraits in Dickinson. He started painting North Dakota Badlands scenes in oils and had many of these works displayed in his La Mesa, Calif., home where he resided after retirement.

His oil paintings have been on exhibit in North Dakota for several years in the Memorial Museum on the Capitol Grounds in Bismarck. The North Dakota Historical Society commissioned the collection of 23 oil paintings which includes portraits of early pioneers and historical scenes. Another painting of "Old Main" in 1906 was donated to the SU library when it was first built.

Smith is the father of Dr. Glenn Smith, retired dean of the SU Graduate School and currently a professor of agronomy.

Wallman named assistant to vice president Worden

George H. Wallman has been named assistant to Dr. David Worden, vice president for academic affairs at SU. Approval of the appointment change, effective immediately, came during a meeting of the State Board of Higher Education July 14 at Valley City.

Formerly director of admissions and an associate dean in the SU College of University Studies, Wallman's new title is director of admissions and assistant to the vice president for academic affairs.

"This change has been planned for some time," said Worden. "Since the director of admissions carries University-wide responsibility, we believe that person should Wallman was named director of high school relations at SU and an associate dean in the College of University Studies in July 1973. He became director of admissions in October 1975.

Before joining the SU administrative staff, Wallman served as director of admissions at Luther College in Decorah, Iowa. He first joined the Luther staff in 1964 as an area representative of the Admissions Office in Illinois, and served as an assistant director before becoming director in 1968.

TCU changes bus fare

Students who ride the Tri-College University (TCU) bus this year will pay 10 cents in cash instead of purchasing the bus tickets used last year.

According to Margot Peterka, who coordinates the bus service for TCU, students must have exact change when boarding. She said the rule was made to keep the bus from falling behind schedule while the driver made change for students.

Students rode free Thursday and Friday (Sept. 8 and 9) to give them a chance to learn about the new fare collection system; fares were charged beginning Monday (Sept. 12).

The bus schedule is the same as last year's, except for the addition of several early-morning stops at SU. The pre-7:30 a.m. stops were added at the request of students living in University Village. They can now board the bus at the north end of campus, rather than dashing to Festival Hall to catch the bus at 7:30.

SU has again subcontracted with TCU to provide transportation to and from the SU campus for residents of the Graver Inn, SU's downtown Fargo housing facility. In addition to the regular TCU bus stops listed below, the bus stops at the Graver twice each hour enroute to and from SU.

Printed bus schedules are available from the driver and at the SU Memorial Union information booth.

TRI-COLLEGE UNIVERSITY BUS SCHEDULE

- NDSU Minard Hall
- NDSU West Dining Ctr.
- NDSU New Fieldhouse
- NDSU University Village

SU wins opening game; Wildcats Omaha in NCC opener

by Craig Sinclair
 SU's football team scored an impressive 38-17 victory over No. 2 ranked Northern Michigan and played to a 17-7 tie against Nebraska-Omaha in a NCC conference opener.

The Bison blazed to a 24-0 lead in the first 17 minutes in Sept. 3 season opener against Northern Michigan at DeCade Field.

An estimated 7,300 rain-soaked fans watched Bison running safety Paul Newell recover a fumble by quarterback Steve Mariucci on the end play of the game and the Herd started from the Wildcats 24. Quarterback Steve Campbell led the Herd's ground attack with a 44 yard run and the final 1 yard plunge into the end zone for the first tally.

In the following Bison offensive series, Jay Klein recovered a fumbled Wildcat reception on the Wildcat Campbell immediately hitting back Ross Baglien in the middle for the second time.

Campbell hit Bill Nutton on passes for 44 yards to kick the third touchdown drive. The second pitch to Nutton, on a crossover pattern, was good for 32 yards to Northern Michigan 5.

Again Campbell bulldozed over the 1. Mike McTague booted a 41-yard field goal two minutes into the second period to make it 24-0. It was his 11th career field goal and a school record.

The Wildcats got on the board as Mariucci pitched to Zachary Fowler for an 18 yard touchdown on fourth down.

Then he hit Fowler once again with a 49-yard bomb and the Herds' lead was cut to 24-14 at the half.

A personal foul penalty against SU after a fair catch of a Bison punt put Northern Michigan on the Herd's 47.

The drive stalled as the Wildcats settled for three points via a 31 yard boot by Glen Boettcher.

The Wildcats, down 24-17, were driving for the tying touchdown midway in the third period when Mariucci failed on a fourth-down pass from the Bison 7.

The Bison defensive unit gained momentum with the play and all that was left was for Jim Baudry to wrap the game for the Herd with two fourth quarter touchdowns. Baudry scored on runs of 15 and 30 yards and was the leading rusher with 17 attempts for 132 yards.

In Saturday's contest at Nebraska, Nebraska-Omaha scored two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to tie SU.

The Maverick's Dan Fulton caught touchdown passes of 3 and 46 yards to cut the 17-3 advantage that the Bison held.

The two teams traded fieldgoals in the first quarter as the Herd's Mike McTague kicked a school-record 49-yard field goal.

Mark Rudrud took over the helm of the Bison offensive unit as starter Steve Campbell suffered an injury midway into the second quarter. Rudrud promptly marched the Herd 85 yards in 11 plays for a touchdown and a 10-3 lead at the half.

Ross Baglien scored on a 7 yard pitchout in the third quarter on a nine play, 62 yard drive to cap the Bison scoring.

The Bison attempted to break the tie in the last few moments of the game but a 52 yard McTague field goal effort fell short.

Rudrud filled the shoes of Campbell amply as he led the rush with 118 yards on 26 attempts.

Nebraska-Omaha is a new entry in the NCC conference.

The Bison meet Montana State next Saturday night in a home contest. Montana State was last year's national champions in Division II of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and is currently ranked No. 1 in an associated press poll.
