

Music building construction to be delayed for another year

The construction of SU's new music building will be delayed for at least another year, said President L.D. Loftsgard. Loftsgard was notified last Thursday morning that the state's general construction fund does not have sufficient funds to construct the building, although Loftsgard has had assurances in the past few months that there would be enough money.

The money comes from the construction bill passed by the legislature last spring. The bill allows any money above $148.6 million in the state general fund on June 30, 1979, to be transferred to the construction fund.

The state general fund's adjusted cash balance, figured last week indicated that almost $4.1 million would be transferred to the construction fund. SU's music building requires only $3 million.

However, Dennis Ohlhauser, the state's executive budget analyst discovered a previously overlooked adjustment that had to be made before funds could be transferred from the general fund to the construction fund. This adjustment transferred over $1.9 million from the agriculture experiment stations and the agricultural extension service at SU, money the SU agricultural experiment program probably won't need.

The transferred money "is only a cushion," Ohlhauser said. It can only be spent on an emergency basis during this biennium, that is, if the agency's revenues are less than anticipated and the normal budget falls short of meeting expenses.

Doyle Transit offers free service to SU students

Effective from Friday, September 14, Doyle Transit company put a new policy in effect with NDSU. All NDSU students who show a student ID can ride the Fargo Bus System at no charge. This new arrangement does not affect the Tri-College Bus, which is entirely separate from the city bus system. It also does not apply to bus routes into or from Moorhead. Route 3 of the Fargo Transit System serves NDSU, with transfer points in Downtown Fargo to other routes. Weekdays, the first bus will leave from the north end of Old Main (across from Festival Hall) on about the hour and half-hour from 6:30 a.m. to 9:45 a.m.

Due to the addition of service to the airport and 25th Avenue North, from 9:45 a.m. to 3:15 p.m., pickups at Old

This transfer of funds is required by law...one sentence in an appropriations act passed by the 1977 Legislature.

That sentence provided that the experiment stations and extensive service were not subject to the law requiring agencies to return unspent general fund appropriations.

The state general fund's balance is now figured at $150.9 million, which allows 2.3 million to be transferred into the construction fund.

Although the construction fund is only $706,528 short of the $3 million mark, no money will be released for the music building. Nor will any money be released for construction of five other state buildings because of stipulations written into the bill.

"The $2.3 million will sit there until next June 30," said Ohlhauser.

The other five buildings waiting for construction, in order of their ranking, are: a shop for the State Industrial School in Mandan--$635,000, a library addition for UND, Grand Forks--$4.5 million, a food service, laundry and commissary complex for the San Haven State Hospital near Dunseith--$1.3 million, a maintenance and storage building for the State School of Science,

Wahpeton--$930,000 and residential cottages for the State School for the Deaf, Devils Lake--$345,000. The entire bill totals to over $10.7 million. In June 1980, there will be another attempt to fund the buildings. The construction bill requires any money in the general fund above the $110.5 mark on June 30, 1980, will be transferred to the construction fund. However, there is no guarantee there will be enough money to fund the music building or any of the other projects.

Main will be at about 5 minutes to and 25 minutes after every hour. It is emphasized that these times are approximate until experimentation with the new run is completed.

From 3:15 p.m. until the last bus at 6:45 p.m., pickups again will be on the hour and half-hour. Week-end service runs only once every hour from 9:25 a.m. to 6:25 p.m.

Detailed information may be obtained by consulting a new bus schedule or phoning Doyle Transit at 235-4464. After hours, inquiries can be directed to Doyle Cab at 235-5535. You can also call these numbers to get information concerning the "Fun Bus," which will link the campus to Downtown or West Acres on request. Service for the "Fun Bus" is Friday and Saturday nights.

If there is enough money, SU still has to face another problem. Loftsgard estimated the cost of the building will increase by 20 percent during the next year and during the 18-months needed for constructing the music building.

Since the construction bill specifies $3 million and more for the music building, this additional cost would have to be paid by the state or by private donations.

If the 1981 Legislature decides to provide those extra funds, it would also have to decide if it will do the same for the other five projects and if the priorities will remain the same.

However, if the legislature decides to provide only part or none of the needed funds, or of them SU will have approach the public for donations.

Already, the public has donated $2 million for the music building. However, a percentage of that has been pledged on the condition SU receives the state funds. Until the state funds are received, the pledges remain just that, pledges.

"I'm shocked...extremely disappointed," said Loftsgard Friday about the turn of events concerning the music building. This project belongs to the whole campus, he said. So much effort has been put into it, especially from the students, he added, he's very disappointed to see it being put on hold for another year.

Thursday afternoon Loftsgard met with the architect who was drawing the final plans for the building to stop operations. An architect can't keep working without assurance that he will get paid, he said.

Loftsgard also put a halt to the plans for shop work, which were ready last January and were waiting for funds, and to the plans to bid the music building to subcontractors. Now, Loftsgard said, nothing can be done until the state releases the money.

Selection begins for Homecoming royalty

Nominations for SU's 1979 Homecoming King and Queen candidates may be submitted to the Student Affairs Office beginning this week.

All dorms, Greek houses and recognized student organizations are eligible to nominate one King and Queen candidate who will be interviewed by a committee of students, administrators and representatives of each college Tuesday, Oct. 2.

The panel will select six queen candidates and six king candidates who will be expected to participate in numerous Homecoming activities that have been planned for the week of Oct. 8-13.

Students will vote for king and queen finalists Thursday, Oct. 11, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in West and Residence Dining Centers and from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Union. To be eligible for voting, a student ID card must be shown.

Coronation of the 1979 Homecoming King and Queen will be Friday, Oct. 12 at the Blue Key Homecoming show.

All nominations for candidates must be submitted to Jackie Ressler before 4:30 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 2, in 204 Old Main.

Curriculum changes set by SU Faculty Senate

The Faculty Senate approved a number of curriculum changes earlier this month. The changes included the establishment of a Communication major to be used in the Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics as well as the College of Humanities and Social Sciences. This major will be valid only when combined with another major.

Also approved was a proposal from the Department of Horticulture to add two options, one in Arboriculture and Landscape Management and the other in Parks. The options will be added to the undergraduate major program.

The curriculum changes were explained by Dr. Margaret Lacy and proposed by Dr. David Berryhill of the Academic Affairs Committee.

assistant to director of the library and chief liaison between SU and the construction contractors.

The information given concerning progress toward construction of a new music center at SU has since been dated by a decision of the State Budget Department to hold up funding. It is dealt with in detail in the above article.

Steel Band challenges SU soccer club

The members of the Trinidad Tripoli Steel Band, the featured artists at Thursday's Fine Arts Series program, have challenged the SU soccer club to a game at the SU soccer field Thursday at 4 p.m.

The group is known for challenging college soccer clubs to matches at the universities and cities at which they perform.

The group, which performs various musical numbers on oil drums, will be performing Thursday evening at 8:15 p.m. in Festival Hall.

A hot air balloon was spotted drifting lazily over campus on Saturday night heading to nowhere in particular.

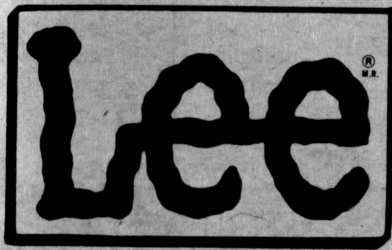

Workshop to be offered to SU nursing students

A workshop, "Communications Skills for Nursing Personnel," has been scheduled from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m., Friday, Sept. 28, in the States Room of the Union.

Teaching the workshop will be Elayne Shapiro, lecturer in the SU Communications Department. Shapiro developed a course, Communications for Community Health Workers, while a graduate student at the University of Minnesota. The workshop is co-sponsored by the SU Division of Continuing Studies and the Department of Nursing. Pre-registration is requested by Sept. 24. Perhaps it seems a bit early to begin a potshot or two at the Finance Commission, but...why not?

Soon, the Student Senate will be commissioning students to be a part of this infamous group. For all you unsuspecting freshmen, the Finance Commission is the group of individuals that collectively control that $34 per quarter you and the 7,767 other students on campus pay in for "student activities."

This money is "fairly and justly" divided among Campus Attractions, Spectrum, Student Government, campus recreation, athletics and over a hundred small organizations.

Most of the Tuesdays and Thursdays of spring quarter are devoted to the disbursement of these funds by this committee, with the committee hearing explanations of how the requested money would be used. After the representatives leave, the group casually destroys the group's credibility (if no one on the commission is involved with the group) or fully funds the group's budget (if someone on the commission is involved with the group.) It is rather simple, once you know the process.

Members of student government, Finance Commission, and other people who claim to be "in the know" are probably wondering what ol' FC could have done wrong already this year.

Well, here's my gripe. Why do part-time students pay activity fees as part of their tuition costs, yet receive only an identification card in return for these fees?

Every student, whether part-time or full time, pays some portion of his tuition to the student activity fee. If a student takes 5 credits, for example, approximately $14 of the total $85, about 16.5 percent of the total cost goes to Students Activity fees. Yet these students are given a card with absolutely no privileges attached. No return on their money at all.

Their only compensation is tickets for the Fine Arts Series. These, though, have little value to part-time students, who usually work or have other activities taking up the rest of their time.

Some type of system could be set up to accommodate the part-time student with their money. Cards with some of the numbers punched out could be used in response to students being only part-time students.

Just because a student doesn't go to school full-time shouldn't have to mean they become a one-way money source.

This topic, I realize, must be presented to the Student Senate for action. But Finance Commission, being the handler of these funds, can put a tremendous pressure on the Senate.

Finance Commission—start the year off right. Do something for students instead of to them. Give the part-timers a fair shake.

The most galloping disease in the country, particularly the nation's campuses, is not one which can be treated in a public health clinic with a dose of penicillin.

It is a perverted sense of values manifested by those who are more concerned with the outcome of the next football game than the next election.

It is an apathy that leads people to cast their ballot for the first candidate who displays the nicest "trust-me" smile, irrespective of the fact that their genuine position on the issues may be 80 degrees away.

It is the easy-way-out attitude that brings the public to place total confidence in a TV news announcer or newspaper, rather than listening to a differing opinion and weighing the facts for themselves. The same syndrome kept the Romans enthralled by brutal events in the public sports arena while barbarians invaded the empire from without and politicians robbed it from within.

Granted, it is a little harder to clean up a mess in city hall than holler while two half-baked men pound each other with fists for an outrageous price. Yes, it is even more difficult to pick a trustworthy candidate than guess at an inconsequential football poll. But, the results of a decision in the government lasts more than a week-end. Background information on candidates for higher office takes work, but it is not impossible to obtain.

For example, had the public taken the time to research Jimmy Carter's record as governor of Georgia (which was bad enough to even keep him from running for a second term), they would not now be ruled by a man with the lowest approval rating in history.

On the local level, had NDSU students displayed more vocal support of music, it would not be denied peanuts while the athletic programs grab virtually all they want. At the risk of incurring the wrath of every jock on campus, one more example should be expounded. Athens stressed the arts, Sparta thought sports most important. The contributions of Athens to civilization are too numerous to mention, those of Sparta are practically nil.

Therefore, though there is certainly nothing wrong with cheering the football team on to victory, might it also be suggested that it is at least as important to participate intelligently in student government elections to support KDSU or The Spectrum with some feedback or to attend the high quality musical, dramatic and cultural productions on campus.

Ellig resigns as BOSP Business Manager

Todd Ellig, BOSP Business Manager, announced his resignation Friday, Sept. 14, at the first SU Board of Student Publications meeting. Ellig, chosen by the Board last April, is resigning because he is no longer a student at SU. Ellig will remain with BOSP for another month and a half in order to give the board a chance to find a successor.

The BOSP meeting commenced Friday with an approval of the old minutes by Nancy Jo Rustad, BOSP Chair. A progress report on the Bison Annual was presented by Kim Madsen, the Annual's editor.

Ellig requested a raise in pay for the darkroom technicians employed by the Annual and the Spectrum from the current $2.30 to $2.90 per hour. Nancy Schultz, BOSP elected representative, moved that the raise be granted as stated. The motion carried by a unanimous vote.

Ellig also presented the financial statements of the BOSP administration, the Annual and the Spectrum for the year ended June 30, 1979.

Jeanne Larson, Spectrum Editor, reported on the success of the Spectrum's freshman supplements. She also discussed the possibility of a pay raise for the Spectrum editor.

As no further business was brought before the Board, Rustad adjourned the gathering. Other members that were present included Robert Sullivan, faculty representative, Chuck Bentson, student affairs representative, Ray Burington, Spectrum advisor, Jerry Richardson, director of communications, and Peggy George, BOSP Office manager.

The next BOSP meeting is set for Tuesday, October 2.

DR. BETTIE Stanislaw, chairman of the Department of Food and Nutrition at SU, conducted a week-long series of one-day workshops in Grand Forks, Minot, Bismarck and Dickinson this month concerning federally subsidized hot lunches. Stanislaw, who is also nutrition education and training coordinator for the state's private schools, presented four and a half hours of intensified training and explaining the new federal regulations for Type A school lunches. By following these regulations to the letter and keeping careful records, a school can become eligible for federal reimbursement.

NEWS BRIEFS

More Vietnam

Vietnam warned Sunday that tension along the border with China has almost reached the breaking point. An editorial printed in the Vietnamese Communist Party Newspaper, and broadcast by the Vietnam news agency, claimed that intrusions involving hundreds of Chinese troops have occurred almost daily along the border since the beginning of the month. The editorial also charged that the Chinese are in collusion with the United States.

Defectors

According to a September 16 AP release, four adults and four children escaped from East Germany in a homemade hot-air balloon. The balloon had been pieced together from bits of nylon and bedsheets. The balloon landed on the town of Naila, West Germany, near the East German border. The refugees' first question was to ask whether they had made it to the West. Two police officers had assured them they had made it.

More Storms

A tropical depression in the South Central Gulf of Mexico, with winds up to 35 miles an hour, is about 300 miles east of Tampico, Mexico. Weather forecasters say it could become another hurricane later on.

California Forest Fires

The U.S. forest Service has put a ban on all open burning by campers in all of southern California's four National Forests. The ban was imposed as firefighters continued to battle ten fires which have burned across more than 30-thousand acres, from San Diego to just north of Los Angeles. The Forest Service also closed wide sections of the forests to any public use. More than 30 fire trucks arrived in Los Angeles this morning, from as far away as Sacramento, to help battle the forest fires.

A.C.L.U.

The Philadelphia chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union has gone to court in an effort to block the use of public funds to help pay for an upcoming visit by Pope John Paul. Mayor Frank Rizzo, a Catholic, wants to use tax money to pay for a 27-foot high platform from which the Pope will address worshippers. The ACLU claims the plan is in violation of the constitutional separation of church and state.

Rail Problems

The Rock Island Railroad is no closer to a settlement following a meeting Friday in Chicago. The conference included officials from the Departments of Labor, of Transportation, and of Justice. The bankrupt line has been idled by a strike for 18 days. It is also causing problems on the farm front. Agricultural Secretary Bergland says if there is not a settlement seen, it could cause problems in shipping this year's soybean and grain crops.

F-M Theatre ro open with "Charley's Aunt"

"Charley's Aunt," one of the most humorous farces in the English language, is slated to open the 1979-80 Season at FM Community Theatre, Sept. 20-23 and 27-30.

Written by Brandon Thomas, "Charley's Aunt" was first staged in 1892 and has since delighted audiences for many generations.

There have been at least 49 translations of the play including Japanese and Zulu. It has helped launch the acting careers of such notable performers as Rex Harrison, Ray Bolger, and Jose Ferrer.

The Thomas comedy is a series of burlesque situations revolving about an Oxford student's wealthy aunt from Brazil who fails to arrive in time to chaperone two young couples at a party, and who is therefore impersonated by another daring student.

Production director is Martin Jonason with scenic and lighting design by Curtis Selby, and costume design by Dean Mogle.

Curtain time is 8:15 p.m., with Sunday showings at 7:15 p.m. Admission is $4 for adults and $3 for students and senior citizens. Tickets are now on sale to the general public.

Further information and reservations may be obtained by telephone from the FMCT Box Office, 235-6778, open weekdays from 1 to 5 p.m.

FMCT receives grant for children's production

FM Community Theatre has been awarded a grant of $2,500 from Dayton-Hudson Foundation for support of "Saturday Morning Live," an ongoing theatre education program for children.

According to Robert J. Myers, FMCT general manager, the grant will be applied toward funding of an additional instructor for "Saturday Morning Live."

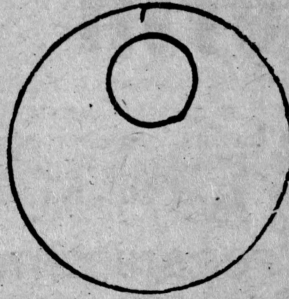

"We are especially appreciative of Dayton's generosity," noted Myers, "since it will allow us to continue the expansion of an arts education project with such a positive effect on the community."

"Saturday Morning Live" is open to all individuals of ages 8-18 and consists of a series of classes designed around the theatre idiom to enhance the mental, physical, and emotional development of young people.

F-M Symphony Orchestra to present free public concert

The Fargo-Moorhead Symphony Chamber Orchestra under direction of J. Robert Hanson will present its first concert of the season on Saturday evening, Sept. 22, at 8 p.m. at the Knutson Center Centrum on Concordia College campus, Moorhead, Minn. Concert is admission-free and open to the public.

Featured soloists for this September concert will be Concertmaster Robert Strava and Assistant Concertmaster Amie Casey who will be heard in Bach's "Double Concerto for Violins." The program will also include Mozart's "Symphony No. 25" and Stravinsky's "Pulcinella Suite."

The Symphony concertmaster, Robert Strava, joined the Concordia College music faculty and the Symphony in the fall of 1974. His first major appearance as soloist with the Symphony was January, 1978. Since 1976, he has also been a member of the artist faculty of the Sewanee Summer Music Center, University of the South, Tennessee.

Strava received his B.M. from Arizona State University where he was a student of Eugene Lombardi and his M.M. from the Catholic University of America in 1971, studying there with Beri Senofsky. He received his D.M.A. from the University of Iowa where he studied with Allen Ohmes. He also has studied chamber music with Emmanuel Bay, William Kroll, John Simms, and members of the Stradivari and Amadeus String Quartets.

In his years of performing, Strava has been a member of the Phoenix Symphony, the U.S. Navy String Quartet, violin soloist with the U.S. Navy Band, Associate in Performance at the University of Iowa Center for New Music, and member of the Tri-City Symphony and the Bela Trio.

Amie Casey, the Symphony's assistant concertmaster, has been a member of the music faculty of MSU since Fall, 1978. In addition to directing the college's orchestra, she is a violin and viola instructor. She also has served as concertmaster of the F-M Civic Opera Orchestra.

Casey received her undergraduate degree from the University of Cincinnati, and received her B.M. and M.M. from the Cleveland Institute of Music. Prior to accepting her position in Moorhead, she played with school orchestras and chamber groups, was a member of the Canton and Akron Symphonies, and performed in a piano quartet for the Cleveland Chamber Music Guild.

Both Strava and Casey have been members of the Symphony String Quartet this past year, and have been involved in other chamber programs.

The Symphony Chamber Orchestra, comprised primarily of 30-35 professional musicians within the full Symphony, was newly formed last season to present musical offerings to the community through program expansion and to build a repertoire of chamber orchestra music. This will also provide additional performing opportunities for the musicians, including run-out and tour concerts for both the chamber orchestra and ensemble groups within it. This new program was initiated last season with grant support from the North Dakota Council on the Arts and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency.

This concert is partially supported by the Lake Agassiz Arts Council, the North Dakota Council on the Arts, the Minnesota State Arts Board with funds appropriated by the Minnesota State Legislature, the National Endowment for the Arts, and the Cities of Fargo and Moorhead.

SU Soccer Club beats GF Air Force Base

The SU Soccer team took on Grand Forks Air Force Base at the MSU soccer field for their first game of the season Saturday afternoon.

The action switched from one end of the field to the other as neither team could maintain control of the ball, the defense being loose for the first game of the season.

Eventually, SU pulled ahead for a 10 to 6 point win.

In further action, the soccer team meets Concordia on Sunday afternoon.

The teams were evenly matched throughout the game for a close loss to Concordia, 2 to 1.

The SU Soccer team will be playing a special game this Thursday against the Trinidad Steel Drum Band, which is performing for the Fine Arts Series Thursday night. The game will be at 4 p.m. on the soccer field south of the New Fieldhouse.

TR-Paul Fendt rushes in for a winning point against GF Air Force Base. BR-Wayne Welken maneuvers the ball away from the opposition. BL-Wayne Welken had a penalty shot in the second half against GF Air Force Base. A fake to the right had the goalie off balance and it was one point for SU.

SU rugby team defeated by UND 40-0

The SU rugby team was sampled in the hot sun Saturday morning when UND won the match by a score of 40-0. The team is awarded four points for a try (a goal), five for an extra point conversion, three for a drop kick, and three points for a penalty kick. It took UND about five minutes to score, but they went on to three more tries before the half. The Sioux missed two of their four extra point attempts, so the score at the end of the first half stood at 20-0.

The second half was much the same as the first as UND manhandles the Bison and equalled their first half scoring. The Sioux came up with another four tries and once again missed two out of four extra points. The game was fairly rough throughout and two UND backs suffered injuries, one with a separated shoulder, the other a sprained ankle. The SU rugby team now travels to Grand Forks to play the Sioux again on Sunday.

George Ellis is new SU head baseball coach

The SU baseball program got some new blood when George Ellis took the reins as head coach on July 1. Former head baseball coach, Rolf Kopperrud, resigned to devote his full time to recruiting players for basketball's coach Erv In-niger. Next spring the SU baseball team will travel south to get in some playing time while Fargo is once again under water. On this trip, the Bison will be playing against some competition in Division I AA teams such as the University of Kansas, Kansas State, University of Tulsa, Oklahoma City (one of last year's top 20), and Oklahoma State University, which won the Big Eight last season. Ellis is looking for a better finish by the Bison this year; their last NCC championship was in 1973. In order for the Bison to win, he says, they will have to play good defense and get good performances from the starting pitchers. The team will have a complete field of returning starters and four starting pitchers from last year will be back this spring.
