

Price for parking errors jumps over summer

By Keith Willy

If you have recently parked overnight in the high rise circle, which is a fire lane, and expected a $2 ticket, you were probably surprised.

Tim Lee, head of the traffic and security department, warned faculty and students of a fee-schedule change for parking tickets.

Lee explained all parking violations are processed through the Fargo Police Department. The fee schedule change recently adopted by the city also applies to the SU campus.

Last year all parking tickets were $2. Now, because the city feels more stringent policies are needed to ensure compliance with parking regulations, fees range from $3 to $10, the latter being applied to violators who park in a fire lane or in spaces reserved for the handicapped.

"The state does not want people without a handicap to park in spaces reserved for the handicapped," and that, "areas have been designated as fire lanes because they can be critical in an emergency situation," Lee said.

He hopes the fee schedule change will help keep the wrong people out of those areas.

Another change in the campus parking situation is an increase in hourly rates charged at the visitor's parking lot. Users of this lot will now pay $.50 for the first hour and $.20 for each additional hour with a maximum charge of $1.50 per day.

The previous rate was $.25 for the first hour and $.15 for additional hours. Lee reasoned the change will help provide parking for parents, lecturers and businesspersons visiting campus.

Some relief is in sight for students and personnel who need parking on campus. Though he did not set a date for its completion, Lee said plans have been made for a parking lot south of Memorial Union. These plans will include the installation of parking meters to be "used by anyone who pays," Lee said.

Lee would like to explain the overselling of student parking permits. There are about 5,000 permits sold with only 2,500 lot spaces available.

Lee says that one reason for overselling is some permit holders register for up to four cars. Thus four permits are sold for the one space.

Also, the traffic department reasons not all students are on campus at one time. He said his office patrol and count open space parking lots regularly.

Lee said parking spaces available for students with permits. The problem arises when violators take spaces paid for by permit holders.

SU's 1983-85 budget approved, salary hikes not included

NB-In July SU requested and gained approval from the State Board of Higher Education for a 1983-85 biennium budget of $74,595,842, up 18 percent over the 1981-83 biennium budget.

As approved by the board the budget does not include any increases in salaries as directed by the state office of Management and Budget.

Any increases will have to come later through the Governor's Office, the Office of Management and Budget, or the Legislature, according to H.D. Stockman, vice president of business and finance.

Gov. Allen Olson has called for all state agencies to present budgets that are to provide for funding at the 90-percent level of the current 1981-83 biennium, to maintain programs at their current levels and to provide for program enhancement (new positions, remodelings, new programs, etc.).

Stockman indicated that to meet second-tier funding needs, or to maintain the university at its current level of operation, would require $4 million more than the 1981-83 biennium funding of $62,892,490 or nearly $67 million.

Under the three-tier system SU would get roughly $56 million if funded at the 90-percent level of the 1981-83 biennium, the lowest tier of the budgeting approach.

This would fall more than $18 million short of what university officials feel is needed for the 1983-85 biennium. SU's faculty now numbers 423 and is already short 52 positions going into the second year of the current biennium.

The 90-percent budgeting formula would compound the problem by reducing the total number of faculty to 365, putting SU 116 short of where it should be in terms of positions prescribed by the student-faculty formula for the 1983-85 biennium.

SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING MAJORS: TAKE OUT INSURANCE NOW

How about an "insurance" policy that your science or engineering degree will really be used? It would be nice. Especially considering the work you put into such a degree.

The Air Force will use your talents. We have openings for young men and women majoring in selected science and engineering academic fields... like Aeronautical, Aerospace, General and Electrical Engineering, Mathematics, Physics and Computer Technology, and many more.

One way to get into these openings is through Air Force ROTC. Our AFROTC scholarship can help you financially so you can concentrate on getting your degree. AFROTC is a great opportunity to help yourself through college, and the Air Force is a great opportunity to really use what you learn.

Look into the Air Force ROTC program at your campus. It's good insurance.

YEARLY COLLEGE COSTS SINCE 1974

College costs jump 13 percent around country

(CPS)—The total cost of going to college—including tuition, room, board, supplies, transportation and personal expenses—has jumped by as much as 13 percent for some students this fall, according to a survey by the College Board's College Scholarship Service.

The survey of some 3,300 colleges predicts students at four-year public campuses will spend an average of $4,338 to go to school this year, a 13-percent increase over last year's expenses.

Private college and university students will spend an average of $7,475 to make it through the 1982-83 academic year, an 11-percent hike over 1981-82, the study found.

Soaring tuition rates are the main reasons. Tuition is up an average of 20 percent at public colleges and 13 percent at private colleges.

The average public college tuition this year will be $979, compared to $815 in 1981-82. Private college tuition has hit $4,021 this year, up from last year's $3,552.

Two-year colleges registered similar increases. Public two-year colleges are charging an average of $600 in tuition, up 18 percent from a year ago. Private two-year colleges averaged 11-percent increases in tuition, up to $2,486 this year.

College Board also found room and board charges will be up 8 percent over last year's averages, while other costs—transportation, supplies, personal expenses—will rise by 7 percent.

Some officials argue students are lucky the increases won't be higher.

"Although tuition and fee charges have gone up more than overall costs, the total increase is somewhat smaller than observers had predicted for this year," said Kathleen Brouder, who directed the study for the College Board.

"It may not be a lot of consolation to students or parents facing the bills," she acknowledged, "but we think it's remarkable colleges have been as successful as they have at containing costs."

Brouder attributed much of the increases to the need to update and remodel aging facilities, to the continuing effects of a decade of unrelieved inflation and to federal and state education budget cuts.

"In absolute terms," she noted, "the public sector has been harder hit than the private but in absolute dollar terms, of course, average tuitions are still substantially lower in public colleges and universities."

To counter rising costs, Brouder said, students should continue applying for financial aid and apply the eyes of a cost accountant to planning their educations carefully, at minimum wastage of time and money.

"Know what you have to do, when you have to do it and do it right the first time," she advised.

Perfect Roommates.

Sometimes you find the perfect roommate. Someone who shares more than just space. Someone whose lifestyle matches yours. Who likes the same people. The same food. The same clothes. The same music. But different enough from you to make life together interesting and fun. Whose passion for racquetball balances with yours for pottery. Who'll sit up for hours to help you with your tax forms — because you spent four hours teaching her how to play cribbage.

That's a perfect roommate. And one thing you both agree on is that your modest little residence would be much more attractive and pleasant if you had a nice stereo system.

Above:

Sherree and Jean with their Perfect Roommate: NAD 7020 receiver, NAD 5025 turntable, and Boston Acoustics A-70 speakers. System price: $749.95 (cabinet not included).

So, not having a great deal of money but wanting the best that is available in sound and service, you went shopping to see where you'd get the most for your dollar.

And you found it.

The Roommate. From Stereo 1.

Small enough for nearly any dorm room, but large enough for an apartment or small home. A substantial investment that will hold its value for a long time, but still economical enough for the two of you to afford. Attractive enough to please even her mom, and enough power to impress your brother.

It's just right for both of you. So move-over. And make room for another perfect roommate.

EDITORIAL

Did you think I would forget something like this? A promise from our last issue to write an editorial in favor of nuclear war is as good as a binding contract.

Just think of it. It could solve many of our national problems. Unemployment would virtually vanish.

The economy would flourish as American companies scurry to fill those fat military contracts.

Companies that used to make oven cleaner could convert production to Agent Orange to help wipe out enemy survivors. And they wouldn't even have to advertise the effectiveness of their product.

Nuclear war could take care of overpopulation and world hunger in one swift blow.

With weapon stockpiles rapidly depleting we would need new workers to build more.

Maybe the first attack could wipe out government and everyone who knows how to make refrigerators with ice and water dispensers. You know, all those favorite products you are made to think you need because "bigger is better."

Besides, what better way than to prove to the world you really do hate those commies! Better red than dead.

Survivors could rebuild the simple life from scratch. Maybe a few thousand cans of Chunky Soup could be found to feed themselves until someone finds a book telling him how to grow wheat, corn and other goodies.

No, Snickers bars do not come from trees, but the peanuts do grow under the ground.

"Common Cause," a magazine which wants you to send in the postcard to the right to The White House, Washington, D.C., doesn't favor nuclear war.

In a recent issue it states United States and the Soviet Union have nearly 20,000 nuclear each.

Most of these are many as lethal as the ones used on Yes, bigger is better. If you the game to kill, do it right the time and do it big.

Especially if those commies really out there, waiting for make one false move.

But then maybe we have just manipulated by our own capital system. If the public can be convinced the enemy is closing in for the American industry can thrive weapons production.

I really tend to believe this. of us have never been to Russia read anything written by a Russian.

We are led by the noses by government. Since we believe in really a free country, our government must be telling us the truth right?

Oh sure, it lies about its own actions, but certainly not about the actions or ideals of others.

Believe what you wish, but if you simply sit there and put it out of your mind, convincing yourself it should be a worry reserved for the elected to do so, you are contributing to your own destruction.

Oh, and welcome back.

Dave Haaken

Dear President Reagan,

I am deeply concerned about the nuclear arms race. I have joined with other citizens and citizen groups in an intensive, long-term campaign to help bring an end to the nuclear arms race. I do not believe that enough is being done to obtain bilateral and verifiable international agreements to accomplish this goal.

Please let me know what additional steps you, as our nation's elected leader, are willing to take to respond to the ever-increasing concern of American citizens about the threat of nuclear war.

Sincerely,

LETTERS

So the new system is now with us, the system so praised and talked about, the wonderful system that would make registration a breeze. That's right, computer registration.

In the spring of 1982 I take my little blue sheet with my new NAID number and I register. They punch my new number into the computer and five minutes later I receive my new schedule on a computer print-out.

During the course of the summer I found myself to be a little low on cash. So I decide to take advantage of having my tuition deferred. Easy, right?

Wrong!! Coming back this fall I am greeted by some of my instructors saying "Why aren't you taking my class?" I reply that I am taking their class.

They then say to me that I'm not on their class list.

Puzzled by this fact, I go over to the registrar's office and am told that my registration has been cancelled by the business office because I did not turn in a deferment slip to the business office.

I now go over to the business office and by some freak of nature they forgot to send my deferment slip over to the registrar's office which is approximately a four-foot jaunt, hence, my registration has been cancelled.

After several exhausting trips between these two offices the business office heads say they are really sorry about the screw-up but I have to re-register, a process which involves going to all my teachers and picking up permission slips to get back into these classes.

If you owe the university something it wants it now, but if it owes you something forget it buddy!

Well sirs, in conclusion, if this is your almighty and wonderful registration system, and the example of the communication between the two offices then you can keep it.

Why can't I just be punched back in to the system? I think the new system should be looked at a little more closely.

Draft registration evaders may face less stiff penalty

By Rick Olson

The controversy surrounding peacetime draft registration continues. Many persons are opposed to registration and the draft itself on religious, personal and political beliefs.

Persons who have not registered for the draft and who are required to do so are subject to prosecution. Gary Anner, assistant U.S. attorney, said there are many different reasons why certain young men refuse to register, thus opening themselves to prosecution.

"Some people forget while others refuse to register on personal beliefs," Anner said.

Should a person be referred to the U.S. attorney's office locally, according to Anner, a procedure somewhat like the following will occur.

First, it would be handled like any other criminal case that comes to the local office's attention. Next, the report received by the investigating agency would be reviewed.

"If not enough information is presented we would ask the agency to investigate further," he said.

Anner said if enough information was available and if there was probable cause, the case would be presented to the grand jury.

The grand jury would study the case, then decide whether or not to issue an indictment, which is the formal charge against a person for a crime.

As of yet, no such cases have been presented to the Fargo U.S. attorney's office, according to Anner.

"The ultimate goal of the Justice Department is to have persons register and not to prosecute," he said. "We don't want to be hard-nosed about it."

The policy of the Justice Department is to give a person every opportunity to register before prosecution is commenced.

The maximum penalty, under federal law, is a fine of up to $10,000, a prison term of up to five years, or both.

A bill is currently pending in Congress which will reduce the criminal penalties if passed.

The bill would reduce the maximum penalty to a fine of $250 with no prison term. The legislation, introduced by Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., is currently pending action in a House Armed Services Subcommittee.

According to sources of Rep. Byron Dorgan, D-N.D., it is uncertain whether the bill will be acted upon during this session of Congress. Dorgan is currently studying the proposal.

What presidents eat

President Reagan's Favorite Macaroni and Cheese

- 1/2 lb. macaroni
- 1 t. butter
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 t. salt

- 1 t. dry mustard
- 3 C. grated cheese, sharp
- 1 C. milk

Boil macaroni in water until tender and drain thoroughly. Stir in butter and egg. Mix mustard and salt with 1 tablespoon hot water and add to milk. Add cheese leaving enough to sprinkle on top. Pour into buttered casserole, add milk, sprinkle with cheese. Bake at 350° for about 45 minutes or until custard is set and top is crusty.

Here they are, direct from the kitchens of Nancy Reagan herself.

We tried the macaroni and cheese recipe. It was excellent. You're on your own with the chicken.

When Ronald Reagan first took office the favorite recipe of the first family was something more tuned to the rich.

After complaints that while claiming to represent the poor of this nation he was eating too expensively, the recipe became macaroni and cheese.

It's difficult to imagine him serving this to visiting foreign officials. Maybe that's what the chicken recipe is for.

Baja California Chicken

- 8 boned chicken breasts
- Seasoning salt and pepper, to taste
- 2 cloves garlic, crushed

- 4 tablespoons olive oil
- 4 tablespoons tarragon vinegar
- 2/3 cup dry sherry

~~Sprinkle chicken with seasoning, salt and pepper. Crush garlic into oil and vinegar in a skillet. Saute chicken pieces until golden brown, turning frequently. Remove; place in a baking dish. Pour sherry over pieces and place in 350 degree oven for 10 minutes.~~

Yield: 8 servings.

With best wishes,

Nancy Reagan

Union plans campus ploy to protest dispute

District 65, a 35,000-member affiliate of the United Auto Workers, has launched a massive consumer pressure campaign aimed at sales of college textbooks produced by Prentice-Hall, the nation's largest publisher for the college market.

The union is urging consumers, including students and professors across the country, not to purchase the publisher's textbooks while the company continues to engage in repeated violations of its employees' rights to unionize.

Last January, in a rare move, the National Labor Relations Board issued an unfair labor practice complaint against the company after it illegally refused for 12 months to negotiate a contract covering typesetting and design employees represented by the union.

NLRB's Region 22, located in Newark, N.J., found the company had engaged in bad faith bargaining with its employees.

June 2, business and tax editors at Prentice-Hall's loose-leaf division were forced out on strike by the company's salary offer and denial of any benefit improvements. The editors, mostly lawyers, are paid about $6,000 a year less than editors working on competitors' products.

NLRB has issued unfair labor practice complaints against Prentice-Hall for anti-union activities in the two and a half years since the union began organizing at the company.

Charges ranged from unlawful threats of layoffs and plant shut-downs to discrimination against employees engaged in union activity.

"The action we're taking against Prentice-Hall is an all-out effort," said Bernice Krawczyk, director of the publishing division of District 65. "Our Union has a reputation for taking on blatantly anti-union companies head-on...and winning. We'll be leafletting on college campuses; we'll be in front of bookstores and we've contacted student groups and organized faculty, with members numbering more than 250,000."

With revenues last year of $390 million and record profits exceeding $33.5 million Prentice-Hall is one of the largest companies in the publishing industry.

Revenues from sales of college texts, the company's biggest money maker, exceeded $135 million in 1981.

New B.S. at SU approved in engineering physics

(NB)—A new Bachelor of Science in Engineering Physics at SU was approved recently by the State Board of Higher Education.

Some 20 students are expected to begin studies in the program this fall, according to Dr. Joseph Stanislaw, dean of the College of Engineering and Architecture.

Described by Stanislaw as a bona fide engineering program with emphasis in science, the program will be administered by the department of physics.

Plans call for Dr. Jim Glass, chairperson of the department of physics, to be named to a joint appointment in both the Colleges of Science and Mathematics, and Engineering and Architecture.

Stanislaw indicated the emphasis in the program would be on applied physics in the field of engineering. In addition to the students majoring in the program other engineering students would be taking some of the courses, particularly those in the area of materials sciences.

Three new courses will be initially added to the engineering curriculum and an appointment in the department of physics will be transferred to engineering.

According to Stanislaw, there is a critical need for scientists who can do basic and applied research as well as hardware or software design and development in the field of engineering.

N.D.'s Supreme Court to review cases at SU

The N.D. State Supreme Court has agreed to hear two cases on the SU campus Oct. 6.

This will be the first time the court has ever held a session at SU. In previous years, the court has held sessions at UND's School of Law in Grand Forks.

SU President L.D. Loftsgard wrote Chief Justice Ralph Erickstad in April, extending to the Court a special invitation for it to meet at SU during its 1981-82 term.

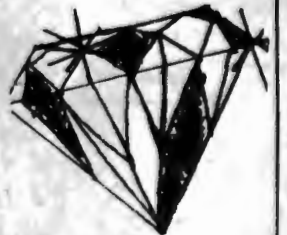

"We have numerous faculty members and students who would be most interested in having a first-hand opportunity to view the court at work," Loftsgard wrote.

"I'm also sure many Fargo-area citizens would take advantage of the opportunity to attend a locally-scheduled session of the Supreme Court."

Arrangements for the Court's visit to SU are being coordinated by Dr. Robert Wood, assistant professor of political science, and Richard Crockett, university attorney.

EVEN STRAIGHT A'S CAN'T HELP IF YOU FLUNK TUITION.

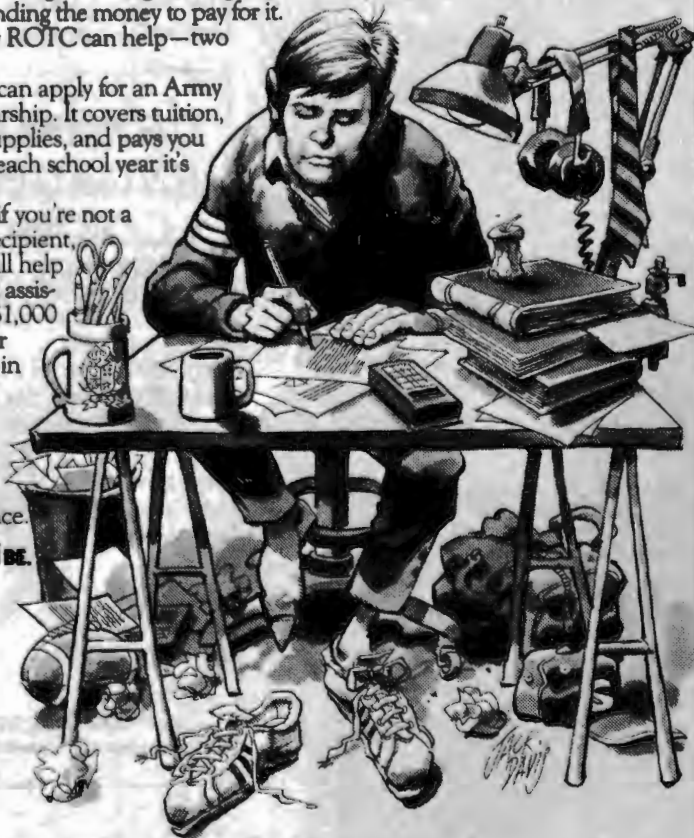

Today, the toughest thing about going to college is finding the money to pay for it. But Army ROTC can help—two ways!

First, you can apply for an Army ROTC scholarship. It covers tuition, books, and supplies, and pays you up to $1,000 each school year it's in effect.

But even if you're not a scholarship recipient, ROTC can still help with financial assistance—up to $1,000 a year for your last two years in the program.

For more information, contact your Professor of Military Science.

I see student loans are harder to get, and fees and tuition are going up.

Have any of our legislators ever helped give the students a break?

Yes, Tom Matchie's 1977 bill made it possible for non-resident students to get resident tuition rates after being here 1 year!

Tom's always working for students. I'm voting for Tom for the Senate on November, 2nd.

This calculator thinks business. The TI Student Business Analyst.™

If there's one thing undergrad business students have always needed, this is it: an affordable, business-oriented calculator. The Student Business Analyst. Its built-in business formulas let you perform complicated finance, accounting and statistical functions—the ones that usually require a lot of time and a stack of reference books, like present and future value calculations, amortizations and balloon payments.

It all means you spend less time calculating, and more time learning. One keystroke takes the place of many. The calculator is just part of the package. You also get a book that follows most business courses: the Business Analyst Guidebook. Business professors helped us write it, to help you get the most out of calculator and classroom. A powerful combination.

Think business. With the Student Business Analyst.

Festival Hall:

By Tammy Rowan

Returning students felt a certain tug at the heart when passing by the place where an old white barn-like structure once stood.

This structure, known as Festival Hall, was built in 1897 as a gymnasium and soon after became a theater with the addition of a stage. Since then it has been used as a classroom, rifle range and ROTC drill hall.

"To even start to name the renowned people who have performed on Festival Hall's fruitless," said physical plant director

In previous years the program has used a room for council meetings, student projects and a stock of donated books.

Unable to meet financial standards, the building was closed this summer.

Reinke said the Festival gives an added dimension to the university. Open Festival Hall from the inside looks gloomy before demolition begins.

Alumni of SU dance and remember the past at the farewell tribute to the building.

A new music building was plan-with intentions of replacing al Hall. Festival Concert Hall e new building received its from the demolished hall.

hough there are no large lechalls in the music building, are many smaller classrooms.
a decision to leave the concert inequipped for classroom use about with a realization that lecture classes are unable to students fair understanding of the material.

A parking lot is being constructed on the Festival Hall site with space for 56 cars. The lot will have parking meters instead of a booth because the Traffic Bureau feels not enough revenue will be generated to pay a full-time attendant.

Campus parking problems of finding space for visitors close to their destinations may find solutions with this new centrally-located lot.

The contract says the lot will be completed by October 16 but Reinke feels it can be finished within two weeks if there are no problems.

Part of Festival Hall was saved, that being the marquee sign.

Last wall of Festival Hall was the last wall to fall under the push of a bulldozer.

Local group offers deep thinking activities

By Carla Myhre

It is a natural instinct, a part of humanity, to check things out, expand one's horizons. It is inherent in us to keep exploring," according to Ralph Calabria of the Institute for Meditation and Research.

Fargo. He and Lee Timmerman, founders of IMR, hope to provide a center where such exploration can take place.

The Institute, which opened September 8 at 17 S. 8th Street, offers a program of classes, lectures and weekend coffeehouses.

What is the purpose of the Institute? IMR researches the physical, social and sacred sciences, and uses meditation to integrate these researches for the benefit of the individual and the international community," Calabria said.

The Western Society has traditionally used more on the physical and technical sciences than on the sacred or mystical sciences, and Westerners are therefore somewhat confused by meditation. "They're not quite sure what it is," Calabria said.

"Meditation is one of the sacred sciences that integrates the psyche. It integrates the three areas everyone is experiencing: person to self, person to infinite and person to person.

It is a harmonizing, a synchronizing of the many factors that make things flow harmoniously."

The ultimate goal of meditation is to be "totally in touch your diamond" or soul as we Westerners call it, Calabria said.

"There is a Jewish saying, 'Be still and know that I am God.' Meditation is an attuning with the source of energy" that lies at the center of all life.

It deals with the relationship of the person to the infinite. "It integrates the inner environment with the outer environment," he said.

The best way to learn to meditate effectively is through instruction. One can learn without formal teaching but it is not as effective or safe, Calabria said.

Anyone can learn to meditate, he said. The key is motivation, a desire to learn and explore.

Concentration and relaxation techniques are used in meditation. Other techniques include mantras (phrases or sounds said over and over), visualization and affirmation, Calabria said.

The Institute is also involved in a world peace project along with five other international meditation centers.

"People have basically lost hope of any one person or organization bringing about world peace," including the religions, Calabria said.

People often feel that in order to accept new beliefs they must become complete converts rejecting their old ways or beliefs.

But "it is possible to remain loyal and dedicated to your own spiritual path, yet share with others and have others share their own insights and blessings.

"We hope to show concretely that the different spiritual paths can work together." The concept can then be broadened to work in other social areas as well, he explained, with the hope that world peace and understanding will be achieved in the end.

Many research projects are being conducted at IMR. Calabria is doing research into specific gnostic texts, manuscripts recently uncovered.

The gnostics competed with Christianity to gain followers in early Christian times, he said. The books offer "a whole different view of Christ."

He is also researching Egyptian religions in which Judaism has its roots and he is looking intensely at Albert Einstein's theory of relativity among other projects.

There is a library and bookstore at the Institute, and crafts are offered for sale.

"We're trying to set up a model of integration (of the physical, social and sacred) at the center," he said, "a place where people can come, sit and drink coffee, not just come to meditate."

The program of classes offered will include beginning, intermediate and advanced meditation, self-healing, hatha yoga, nutrition and metaphysics, said Dane Johnson, publicity manager for the Institute.

Cost ranges from $45 to $85 per seven-week class. A 20-percent discount is offered to students and senior citizens. Calabria and Timmerman are the instructors.

In addition, free public lectures will be given at 7:30 p.m. every Tuesday beginning this evening. Projected titles include "The Miracle is You," "Bridging East and West," "Reverence for All Life" and "Christ Consciousness."

Activity will continue on weekends with a coffeehouse on Friday and Saturday nights. Unamplified folk music by local artists, snacks and coffee or soft drinks will be featured, Johnson said. All activities are open to the public.

Calabria, formerly of West Orange, N.J., joined forces with Lee Timmerman in 1975. In May 1980 they were recognized by Jain master Gurudev Shree Chitrabhanu as "High Masters...with a worldwide vision for aiding in the re-education of humanity," according to a press release.

The recognition by the master, Calabria said, was their "graduation," their certification, as others in the field would acknowledge.

Jain is one of the 11 major world religions. It is mainly an Indian religion but is found over the five continents.

"The master came here to bridge the gap between East and West," Johnson explained.

Though Westerners are often unaware of the fact, people called mystics are found in all 11 religions, Calabria noted. "A mystic is a person willing to explore the other dimension, more of reality.

"There are tremendous mysteries in this universe. I will challenge myself to explore and enjoy them."

Enrollment: And the kids just keep on coming

By Jean Wirtz

With the SU fall 1982 enrollment creeping toward the 9,000 mark, the housing and class scheduling situations are experiencing a slight squeeze.

"The increase in enrollment has definitely affected us," said Prakash Mathew, coordinator of Residential Life and Housing operation.

Off-campus housing such as the Graver Inn, Motel 75 and Econ-O-Inn have alleviated some of the pressure.

The Graver Inn, purchased in 1976, is owned by the SU Alumni Development Foundation. "This is the seventh year the Graver Inn has been demanded for housing," said Norm Seim, director of housing.

Temporary housing has been used 19 out of the past 20 years.

A 16-plex apartment building north of University Village is in the completion stages and will be ready for occupancy in October. "This is to relieve the demand on the residence halls," Seim said.

The two-bedroom apartments will each house four students. Requirements are that the student is single, has a minimum of 90 credits and is presently living in the residence halls.

The need for additional men or women's housing is the basis for determining entrance to the new complex.

The 16-plex apartment building may be used for married housing if the need arises.

"We are trying to accommodate as many students as possible," Seim said. "Something is better than nothing."

In conjunction with the housing shortage class scheduling difficulties arise.

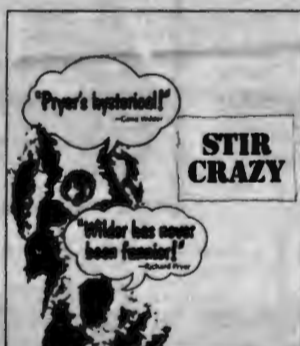

More sections of each class are being scheduled to alleviate crowded classrooms. As a result of more classes additional teachers are being hired.

Finding classrooms for the additional classes has proven difficult. "We scrounge classrooms," Burton Brandrud, SU registrar, said.

Mexican students caught in peso devaluation, costs rise too high

(CPS)—Mexican students at U.S. colleges and universities are being "severely affected" by the floundering Mexican economy and devaluation of the peso, and foreign student officers at some colleges fear many of their Mexican students won't even be able to come up with enough money to pay tuition this semester.

"A lot of people haven't been able to come back this year," said Rivas Raul, a Mexican student at the University of Texas-El Paso.

"Many of my friends just can't get the money," Raul continued. "The exchange rate from pesos to dollars used to be about 40 or 45 pesos to the dollar. Right now, on the black market, it's about 120 pesos to the dollar."

Things promise to get even worse. On September 2 Mexican President Lopez-Portillo, in an effort to keep the peso from losing more value, banned exchanging pesos for dollars for purposes of studying in foreign countries.

There were some 6700 Mexican nationals enrolled in the United States last year, according to the Institute for International Education. Numbers for the 1982-83 school year are not yet compiled but presumably all the Mexicans here are affected by the economic upheaval in some way.

While Raul has been able to pay tuition for this fall, he is already concerned about how he will make his remaining money stretch through the coming semester.

"I had some American money already, before the peso got so bad," he said. "But I need money to stay here. Everything has come from my parents, but I don't want to have to borrow any more from them. I don't think that's fair to my family."

It's mainly students like Raul, who depend on assistance from their families back in Mexico, who are being hurt the worst by Mexico's economic problems.

With inflation there hovering at 70 percent and unemployment exceeding 40 percent, many families simply couldn't afford to send money into the United States even before the ban on dollar exchanges.

"The students who are coming here with support from the Mexican government aren't getting hurt that badly," said Semon Horness, director of the international student office at the University of Arizona.

"It's really the middle-class students who are coming here at the sacrifice of their families who are suffering."

A day after Horness made his comment, the Mexican government cancelled all its scholarship programs, according to Paul Huntsberger at the University of New Mexico.

"We've had 30 or 40 students kicked off their scholarships," he mourns.

Huntsberger expects Mexican enrollment at New Mexico to drop by 50 percent. "We get about 25 new students each year. So far, we have 11."

At Arizona Horness still doesn't know how many students he'll lose to devaluation. He expects he won't have the 209 Mexicans enrolled there last spring.

"It costs $10,300 to attend the university for 12 months. When you figure in devaluation, that comes out to one million pesos."

"Unfortunately," he added, "there's not much we can do to help them. Our system does not permit us to do much for foreign students in the way of financial aid."

"I have talked to several students who aren't sure if they'll be able to afford to come this semester," said Carol Larotta, aid director at San Diego State.

"Of course the situation with the peso isn't helping them at all. Many have money but it's tied up in pesos and they can't afford to convert them right now."

At Texas-El Paso where many Mexican students commute to school across the border, the situation is especially severe.

"Last fall we had nearly 700 Mexican students," said Nancy Hamilton of the university news service. "A good many students commute, so they pay the non-resident fee of $738. Right now, that's a lot of pesos."

To help those students, the university set up a $10,000 loan fund and is allowing some to defer paying tuition.

Even those with less immediate money troubles are suffering, according to Enrique Martin-Del-Cambo of the Mexican consulate in Washington, D.C.

Financial aid merry-go-round may fling off riders

(CPS)—College officials and students predicted previous shortages of financial aid this fall.

What they've gotten instead are less severe shortages but even more grievous delays, confusion and anger over financial aid, a check of campuses across the country reveals.

The result is that, even as classes open, many students still don't know if they'll be able to afford to go to college this fall.

"I really don't know what to do," said Doug Haas, a second-year student at Community College of Denver.

Now two weeks into his fall semester, Haas is still waiting to find out if he's eligible for grant money and for getting his work-study position back.

"I guess I'll have to fall back on my dad if everything else fails," Haas said. "Either that or I'll have to drop out."

Northwestern University grad student James Finney "applied for a loan over a month ago and (I) haven't heard anything. As a matter of fact, I'm still waiting for an appointment just to see how much longer I'll have to wait."

Finney consequently doesn't know how to mold his class schedule because he doesn't know how many part-time jobs he'll have to get to muster Northwestern's $2600-a-quarter tuition. Moreover, "it means not going to school at all next quarter if it (aid) doesn't come through."

"For this fall's financial aid applicants, there's one word that's first and foremost in their vocabularies: confusion," summarized Bob Aaron of the American Council on Education in Washington, D.C.

Aaron and administrators at many campuses said students are confused about the amount of federal aid that's available.

If they know there's aid available they're confused because they can't get any from their campus aid offices which are still waiting for the U.S. Department of Education to send them paperwork that normally reaches campuses in April.

"The good news is that financial aid programs haven't been cut as severely as the Reagan administration planned," said Dennis Martin, assistant director of the National Association of Student Financial Aid Advisors.

"The bad news is, in terms of the application, administration and delivery processes, this has been the most confusing summer ever."

During the summer Congress finally allocated $1.3 billion in emergency funds to federal aid programs bringing the total to $3 billion, a four-percent decrease from last year's levels.

Specifically, Pell Grant funding was halved. Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant funding is down by 25 percent, State Student Incentive Grant and College Work-Study funding by four percent each and college Social Security by 45 percent. Fewer students, moreover, are eligible for Guaranteed Student Loans.

To make matters worse, Washington has delayed telling individual colleges just how much money they'll have to allocate to their students under the slashed programs.

Florida State University, for example, didn't get its "look-up tables" for determining how much it could offer in GSLs until mid-July, though it usually gets it in June, complains FSU's Ed Marsh.

"We haven't received our final allocation," said Michael Halloran, aid officer at the University of Southern California. "We anticipate losing about a half-million dollars in funding."

Martin said SEOG and College Work-Study awards, normally made in April, probably won't happen until late September this year.

Most schools, he added, are running about two months behind in awarding Pell Grants.

The result, said Northwestern's aid director Andre Bell, "is a fair amount of hysteria and confusion because of the delays from Washington. The whole process is terribly confused this year."

The reasons for the delay are subject to speculation.

Indeed, Sally Kirkgasler of the Department of Education called the delays in SEOG at College Work-Study awards "overestimated," and claimed Pell Grants are "ahead of schedule."

"As far as schools not knowing how much their appropriations are," she said, "we sent out tentative letters in April and in August schools were given the authority to draw on half that amount if they wanted to."

For the last two springs, Education Secretary Terrel Bell has withheld the publication of aid program guidelines as a lever to force congressional approval of President Reagan's proposed education cuts.

FSU's Marsh thinks the administration's current reluctance to give schools guidelines is a money-saving ploy.

As long as schools can't give out aid, the government doesn't have to spend any money. "We're more or less giving the federal government an interest-free loan for one or two months," Marsh said.

"Some are going ahead and granting tentative awards to students based on what they think will happen. Others are making temporary loans. Still others are admitting students and putting their tuition payments on hold until they know whether or not they will receive funding."

Florida State, for one, has created an emergency fund for students until the crisis is over.

"We've really stuck our necks out which really scares the hell out of us," Marsh said. "I just hope the feds come through."

Until they do, administrators say they have no useful advice to offer.

At Southern Methodist University, aid director Margaret Gregory has students "put in their applications, close their eyes and hope for the best."

Thundering Herd chalks up two victories

SU quarterback Mark Nellerhoe (10) and runningback Jeff Willis (27) follow the blocking of tackle Mike Whetstone (73) and runningback Dan Harris (36) for a small gain up the right side. Tackle Joe Buelt (93) defends for Northern Michigan.

By Kevin Christ

The Thundering Herd opened up the 1982 football season with a bang defeating the Wildcats of Northern Michigan 20-3 Sept. 4 picking up SU's 10th straight win at Dakotah field.

The Bison completely dominated the field on both offense and defense compiling 489 yards on total offense as compared to the Wildcat's 138.

NMU shutout the Herd in the last two meetings stomping the Bison in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., 38-0 last year and picking the Bison 10-0 at Dakotah field in 1980.

Last year the Bison had an astounding ground game and this year things look about the same. The big surprise was the Bison's ability to go to the air.

While SU running backs Dan Harris and Jeff Willis were piling up yardage on the ground, Bison quarterback Mark Nellerhoe fired away in the air for 140 yards including a touchdown pass to tight end Terry Baer.

Harris and Willis had big shoes to fill with the loss of last year's backs Mike Kasowski and Kevin Peters but Bison offensive backfield coach Ross Hjelseth was extremely pleased with Harris and Willis.

"We're basically a running team and we should have good backs," he said. "They both have the experience needed."

It's been said a football team's best offense is a good defense and SU's defense is no exception. The Herd's defensive unit stifled the Wildcats throughout the entire contest and did not allow the Cats to cross the goal line.

The only scoring done by NMU was a 42-yard field goal by Mario Ferretti in the fourth quarter.

The Bison had everything going for them right from the outset. Last year the Herd finished second in NCAA Division II ball.

This year school wasn't even in session yet and the Bison still managed to draw in an estimated 8,850 people. They also won the coin toss.

The Herd started the season with the ball on its own 30. After a first down the Bison picked up another first down on a Nellerhoe run, but he fumbled and the Bison had a turnover.

The Wildcats are blessed with two extremely gifted athletes on their offensive unit, quarterback Tom Bertoldi and fullback George Works.

Bertoldi was one of the top quarterbacks in the nation last year and Works was the leading scorer in the NCAA Division II.

It was no secret to Bison head coach Don Morton and the rest of his staff that NMU would come out passing and it did.

In the Wildcats' first offensive series Bertoldi passed five times and Works ran the ball once. Passing took its toll on the Wildcats though as SU's Tom Shockman ended the series by intercepting a pass tipped by teammate Barry Sorenson.

A few series later, NMU's Steve Hermesen returned a Phil Ostlie punt 33 yards to the Bison 31 yard line. On the first play of the series Shockman intercepted his second Bertoldi pass.

With the Bison driving on the next series Nellerhoe had one of his passes intercepted on the Wildcat eight, stopping what was probably the strongest SU drive on the game thus far.

The first quarter ended a couple minutes later with the game still deadlocked at zeros. So, what many fans had thought would be an NMU runaway turned into a good hard-fought struggle for both teams.

On the first series in the second quarter the Bison scored on a one-yard Nellerhoe run. The 10-play scoring drive began in the first quarter with the Herd on its own 20.

The very next series by NMU ended up with another Bertoldi interception, this time by SU free-safety Tom Van Voorhis.

The next score didn't occur until there were 14 seconds left in the first half when Bison place-kicker Mark Luedtke booted a 20-yard field goal.

Halftime ended with the Herd out in front 10-0.

Nellerhoe's third quarter touchdown pass to Baer and a Luedtke kick put the Bison ahead 17-0.

The Bison 47-yard line was as far as the Wildcats could advance the ball in the third quarter thanks to a stiff Bison defense and the foot of Ostlie.

Ostlie booted a 42-yard corner kick that went out of bounds on the Wildcat six-inch line and the two-yard line was as far as the ball was moved.

The Bison were going to attempt a 51-yard field goal but an illegal procedure penalty scratched that idea and Ostlie punted the ball out of bounds on the Wildcat six for yet another good corner kick.

Morton commented on Ostlie's punting.

"He did it all on his own," Morton said. "We haven't had time to work with him and for a freshman that's outstanding."

NMU moved the ball from the six all the way down to the SU 21 but Bertoldi was hotly pursued by SU linebacker Steve Garske and was nailed with an intentional grounding infraction moving the ball back to the 45.

Bertoldi bounced back with a third and 34, 21-yard pass setting the Wildcats up for Ferretti's field goal with 11:12 remaining.

The Bison scored on the next series via a 38-yard Luedtke field goal and the Herd held the advantage, winning 20-3.

Bertoldi was held to a 14-for-40 passing performance for only 138 yards. Even though it's only two yards less than Nellerhoe's yardage, Nellerhoe only threw the ball 15 times completing seven.

Bertoldi also finished the day with five intercepted passes as compared to one by Nellerhoe.

Other contributing factors to the Bison's win included a 21-12 first-down advantage by the Herd and a 13:44 time-of-possession advantage.

The only real bright spot in NMU's offensive attack was the 142-yard rushing performance by Works. Works also caught seven passes for 45 yards.

Baer compiled the most yardage in pass receiving with 63 yards on three receptions.

NMU sits with a 0-1 overall record and the Bison are now 2-0 overall with Saturday's 45-17 victory over Mankato.

The Bison travel to Grand Forks Saturday night to meet the Sioux of UND. The Sioux are also riding undefeated at 2-0. Game time is 1:30 p.m.

SU intramural program off and running for this year

By Tim Paulus

Intramural sports at SU begins again this fall.

Intramural means 'within the walls' or sports and competition within the confines of SU. At SU there is men's, women's, co-rec, faculty and special handicapped intramurals. Each offers its own sports depending on the season.

Certain sports can also be added if there is sufficient interest.

Tom Barnhart, director of Leisure Studies and Recreational Services said "If a group of students comes to me and shows interest in a sport not offered, I'll work on adding that sport. It really comes down to what students want and what we can offer."

A major change this year is a $10 refundable deposit required of each team for a forfeit fee.

If a team forfeits one game it loses $5 of the deposit. If a team forfeits two games it loses the deposit plus is expelled from the league.

"What we had in the past was one or two teams ruining it for the other 90 percent of the teams. Hopefully this will change that," Barnhart said.

Forfeits automatically result by using an ineligible player, arriving 10 minutes after starting time, bringing alcohol or any illegal substances to an IM event and failing to provide officials or scorekeepers.

The IM sports are divided into a points system, major, minor and intermediate divisions, depending on the particular sport.

The first place team in each division receives the maximum amount of points; 150 points major division; 100 points intermediate; and 50 points for minor division.

The last place team receives the minimum amount of points. The point system rewards both participation and success for a team.

The more teams a certain dorm or fraternity fields, the better chance of winning a point division.

Barnhart feels intramurals have a lot to offer. He points out the large number of students participating in IM activities, 3,000 for fall and winter.

There is also a growing number of women getting involved.

"IM give students a chance to socialize in an atmosphere other than the classroom," he said, "and of course there is the physical exercise and a diversion from the mental studying."

Barnhart came to SU seven years ago and said at that time there wasn't much of a program.

"Now I feel we have a very fine program and welcome any constructive criticism," he added.

"If there is anything wrong, it is that we need more funds. The student finance commission has been good but additional funding is going to be needed.

"One area where it's probably going to be used is to hire full-time directors. Our staff is students now."

For students interested in employment opportunities the department accepts many work-study students.

Also, water safety instructors are often needed to lifeguard. Applications from the general student population are taken on a first-come first-served basis but are always welcome.

In addition to intramurals there are sports clubs and open recreation. During open rec, equipment can be checked out at the main equipment room at the north end of the New Field House. The campus rec-line for 24-hour information is 237-8617.

SU's baseball scorecard may need help or no score

The 1983 SU baseball season gets underway tomorrow and Bison head coach George Ellis said he needs players.

Ellis said there will be a meeting at New Field House 4:30 p.m. tomorrow.

The meeting is a must for anyone who wishes to try out for the baseball squad as fall drills begin Sept. 20. The fall drills will continue for four weeks and cuts will be made at the end of the period.

"It's awful hard to make it if you don't come out in the fall," Ellis said, "It's hard for us to judge a player in the spring when we practice indoors."

The Bison begin a 41-game schedule at Texas Christian University March 16 after finishing 9-34 last year.

"When you're at 9-34, we're looking for anyone who thinks he can play ball," Ellis said.

"We've got 13 or 14 lettermen coming back and we're looking for help in a couple of different spots."

The Bison lost the starting services of outfielder Chuck Erickson, third baseman Tom Hedlund and pitcher Tim Green through graduation and shortstop Chip Devlin who transferred to a different school.

"There's no position on our team that's secure," Ellis said, "We've got some good kids. It's just a matter of finding out who can play the game."

Anyone who is interested in joining the Bison and playing collegiate baseball is asked to attend tomorrow's meeting. If there are complications in attending contact Ellis prior to the meeting at 237-8331.

Golf squad gears up for the initial putt, women may be included

By Joy Melby

SU's golf coach Dave Cornell has high hopes for the men's golf team this fall season.

"Last spring really didn't go too well for us but I expect everything to go well this fall," Cornell said.

He is looking forward to the fall season because of the competitive spirit and high potential of the team.

The Erv Kaiser Invitational, Sept. 16 and 17, hosted by MSU, will mark the beginning of the Bison golf season. It will be held at Oxbow Country Club, Hickson, N.D.

The schedule also includes the UND Invitational, Sept. 24 and 25;

Jamestown Invitational, Sept. 30 and Oct. 1; and NCAA Division II Conference, Oct. 7 through 9 at Sioux Falls, S.D.

"To do well at conference is our biggest goal," Cornell said. "The more tournament competition the better. Tournament experience can do nothing but help players," he said.

SU has no women's golf team. Cornell has no objections to women playing on the team as long as they can make the cut. However, he would have to check with the conference rules.

BEST STRIP
SINCE GARFIELD!?
OH MY! OH
MY MY MY!

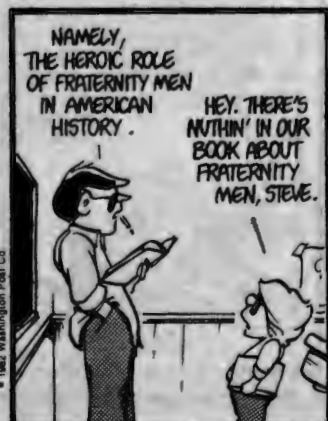

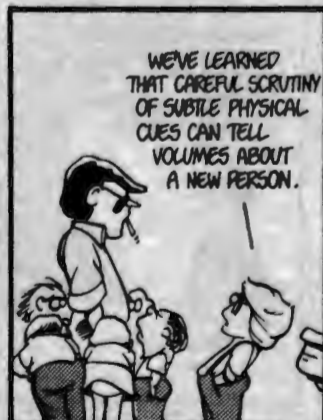

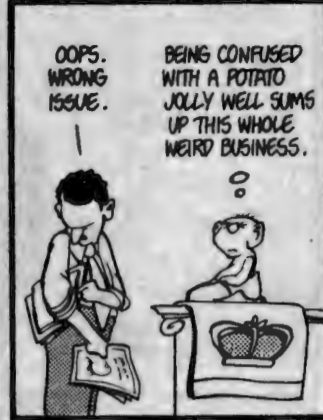

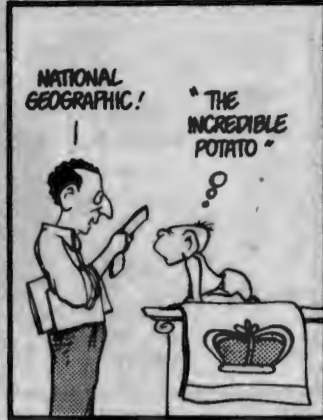

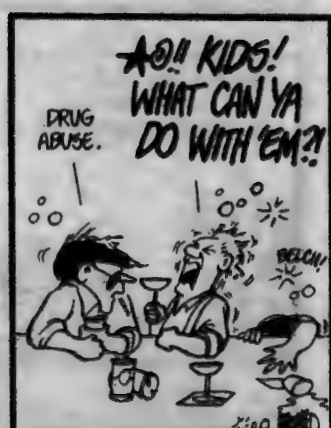

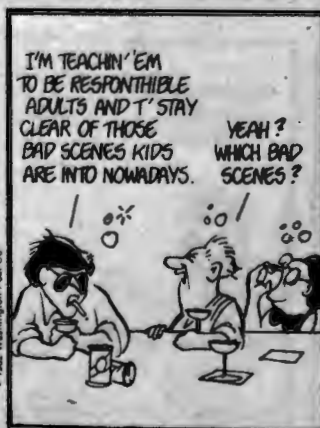

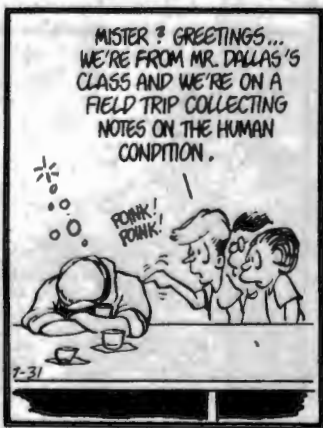

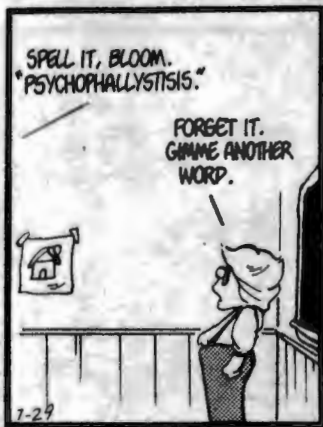

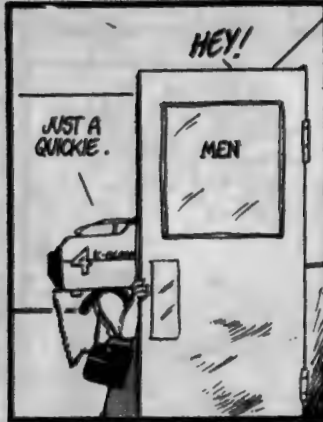

SENATOR? IT'S MILO BLOOM FOR K-BLOOM TV. HOW ABOUT AN INTERVIEW?
NO! BUG OFF!

NOTHIN'!

NO.

JUST A QUICKIE.

MEN

AND LASTLY... I'LL BE INTRODUCING A BILL TO LEGALIZE VOLUNTARY CHANTING IN OUR PUBIC SCHOOLS...

AWRIGHT! LET'S GET THIS STUFF SET UP PRONTO!

OH I'M JUST THE SOUND MAN. HERE... PUT THIS MICROPHONE ON, PLEASE.

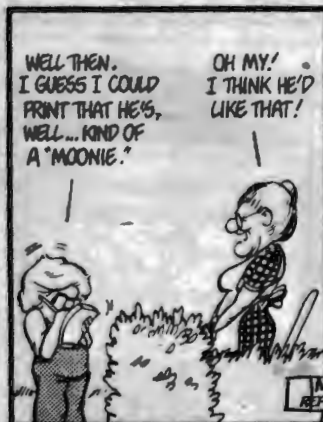

"NIGHTLINE." TED KOPPEL WOULD LIKE A WORD WITH YOU.

EXCUSE ME, MRS. BEDFELLOW. I'M DOING A MAJOR PROFILE ON THE SENATOR AND I'M LOOKING FOR SOME INSIGHTS INTO HIS CHARACTER... MAYBE A FEW DETAILS OF HIS PERSONAL LIFE....

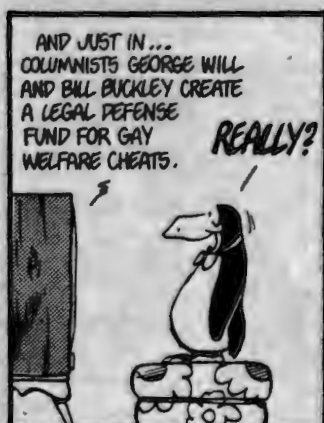

YES. THAT'S RIGHT.

OH MY! I THINK HE'D LIKE THAT!

GOOD EVENING. FRANK REYNOLDS HERE FOR ABC NEWS. TONIGHT'S TOP STORIES: THE U.S. ECONOMY RECOVERS... BANKS LEND MONEY FOR FREE.

REALLY?!

OKAY CREW... LOOKS LIKE WE'RE READY TO START SHOOTING MY FIRST FILM... "E.P. - THE EXTRA-TERRESTRIAL PENGUIN."

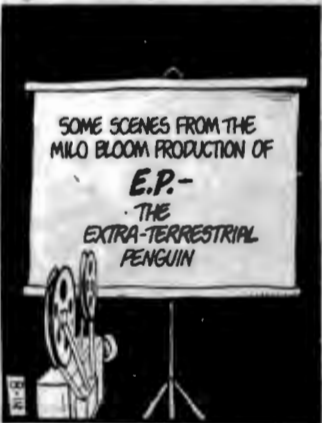

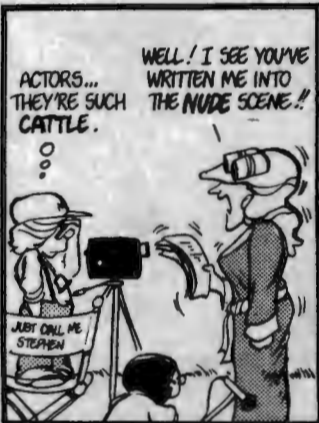

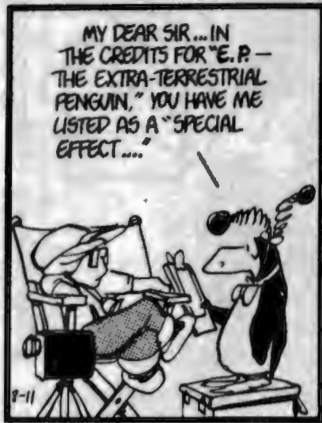

I'M BACK. LET'S GO.

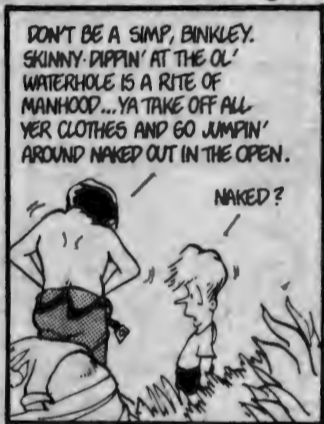

STEVEN SPIELBERG WOULD CALL THIS "LOW BUDGET."

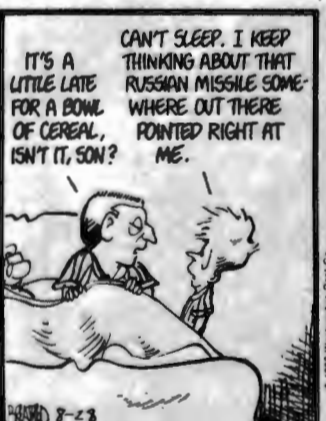

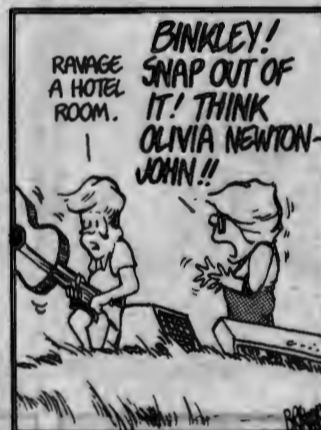

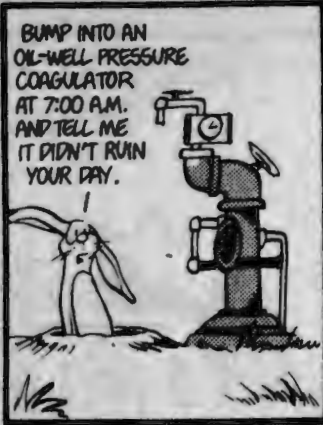

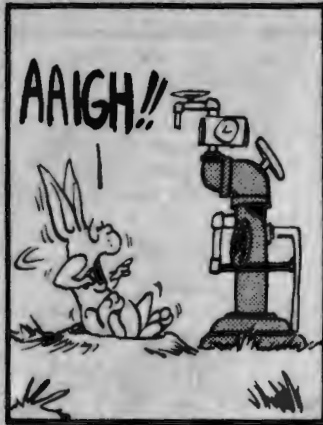

BUMP INTO AN OIL-WELL PRESSURE COAGULATOR AT 7:00 A.M. AND TELL ME IT DIDN'T RUIN YOUR DAY.

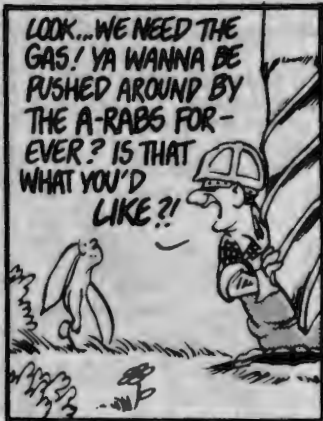

EXCUSE ME. WHAT DO YOU THINK YER DOING?

DRILLING FER CRUDE. WHAT'S IT LOOK LIKE?

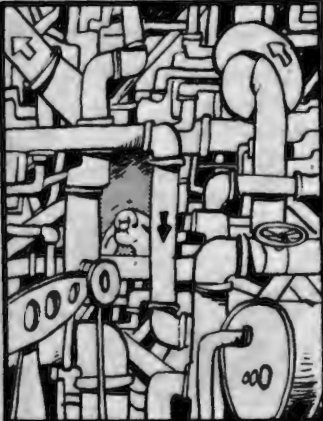

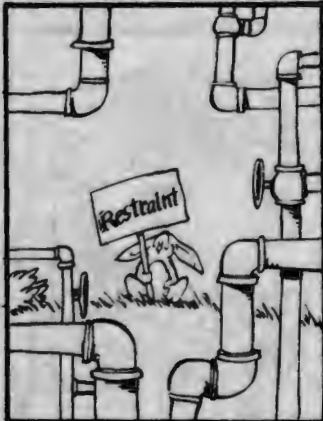

WELL IT LOOKS LIKE YER GONNA SHOVE THAT GOSH-AWFUL THING RIGHT THROUGH MY HOME, THAT'S WHAT.

LOOK...WE NEED THE GAS! YA WANNA BE PUSHED AROUND BY THE A-RABS FOREVER? IS THAT WHAT YOU'D LIKE?!

WHAT I'D LIKE, QUITE FRANKLY, IS FOR YOU TO TRY TO MISS MY BETAMAX. LET 'ER RIP!

DAD! WAKE UP! QUICK! DAD!

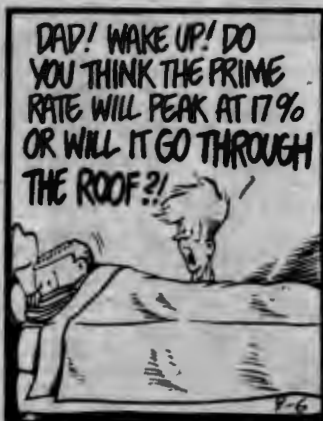

DAD! WILL BURT REYNOLDS EVER FIND "MISS RIGHT?" OR IS HE JUST TOO WILD AND FAST FOR ANY REAL STABILITY IN HIS LIFE?!

WELL? WHADDYA THINK?

YOU'VE GOT TO BE KIDDING. MY FEELINGS EXACTLY... HE'LL SETTLE DOWN SOMEDAY.

DAD! WAKE UP! DO YOU THINK THE PRIME RATE WILL PEAK AT 17% OR WILL IT GO THROUGH THE ROOF?!

NOPE. NOT TONIGHT. YER NOT GONNA KEEP ME UP WITH SOME STUPID, DUMB ANXIETY OF YOURS, SON.

SO UNLESS YOU CAN COME UP WITH SOMETHING THAT WE CAN BOTH WORRY ABOUT... JUST BUG OFF. GOT IT? GOT IT.

GOODNIGHT. YOU KNOW, OF COURSE, WE'RE GOING TO BE EATEN BY WORMS SOME-DAY, DON'T YOU?

MEANWHILE... OVER AT THE BLOOM BEACON...

BOSS... I'VE FOUND OUR NEW ENTERTAINMENT CRITIC.

HE'S A NATURAL. AND WHAT A VOCABULARY! GO ON... GIVE 'IM A TASTE, KID.

PRETTY GOOD. GOT ANY EXPERIENCE IN FILM, TELEVISION OR THEATRE? "FLOP." "A DISASTER." "TERMINALLY PUTRID."

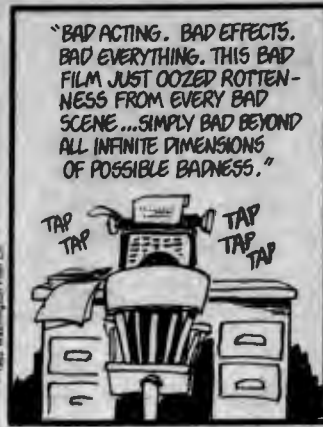

NO. GET THIS MAN A DESK!

"GEORGE PHBLAT'S NEW FILM, 'BENJI SAVES THE UNIVERSE,' HAS BROUGHT THE WORD 'BAD' TO NEW LEVELS OF BADNESS."

TAP TAP TAP

"BAD ACTING. BAD EFFECTS. BAD EVERYTHING. THIS BAD FILM JUST OZZED ROTTENNESS FROM EVERY BAD SCENE...SIMPLY BAD BEYOND ALL INFINITE DIMENSIONS OF POSSIBLE BADNESS."

TAP TAP TAP

"WELL MAYBE NOT THAT BAD, BUT LORD, IT WASN'T GOOD."

HELLO, SANDY DUNCAN SPEAKING.

HELLO MISS DUNCAN. I'M A TV CRITIC FOR THE BLOOM BEACON.

I THOUGHT I'D LET YOU IN ON THIS EARLY... I JUST SAW YOUR TV MOVIE... AND... OH, I FEEL JUST TERRIBLE ABOUT THIS...

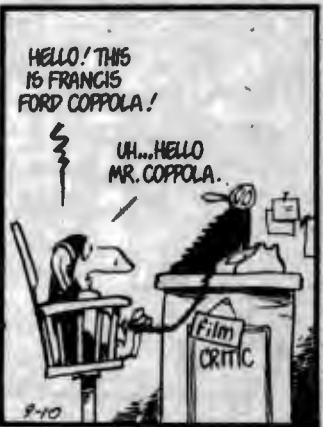

... BUT I'M ABOUT TO ABSOLUTELY TRASH YOUR PERFORMANCE IN TOMORROW'S COLUMN.

WHAT?!

OH GOSH... CAN I SEND YOU SOMETHING? FLOWERS? WHEAT THINS?

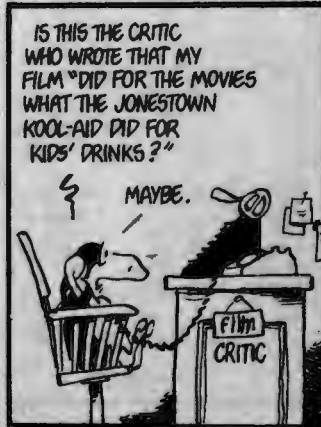

HELLO! THIS IS FRANCIS FORD COPPOLA!

UH...HELLO MR. COPPOLA.

IS THIS THE CRITIC WHO REVIEWED MY NEW FILM 'ONE FROM THE GUT' LAST TUESDAY?

MAYBE.

IS THIS THE CRITIC WHO WROTE THAT MY FILM 'DID FOR THE MOVIES WHAT THE JONESTOWN KOOL-AID DID FOR KIDS' DRINKS'?

MAYBE.

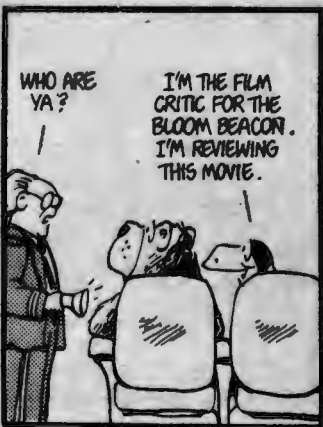

I'M COMIN' ON OVER WITH A BASEBALL BAT.

SO I WAS A LITTLE GRUMPY TUESDAY...

HEY...WHAT'S GOING ON UP HERE?

ABSOLUTELY NOTHING, SIR.

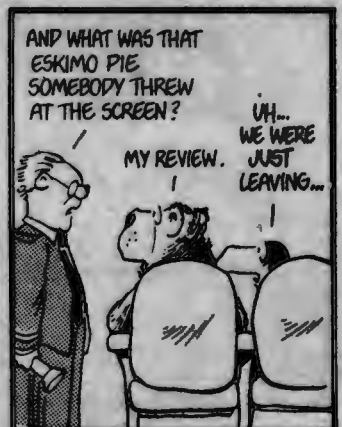

WHO ARE YA?

I'M THE FILM CRITIC FOR THE BLOOM BEACON. I'M REVIEWING THIS MOVIE.

REVIEWING?

YESSIR! WE'RE JUST SITTING HERE QUIETLY. REVIEWING.

AND WHAT WAS THAT ESKIMO PIE SOMEBODY THREW AT THE SCREEN?

MY REVIEW.

UH... WE WERE JUST LEAVING...

STEVE HONEY... I THINK YOU SHOULD GROW A MUSTACHE.

JUST EAT YOUR A-SH-? BURGER, QUICHE.

REALLY, BABY. A MUSTACHE WOULD DEFINITELY HELP YER LOOKS. I HONESTLY THINK THAT YOU WOULDN'T LOOK LIKE YOU HAVE SUCH A... A...

...WEENIE FACE." YOU KNOW.

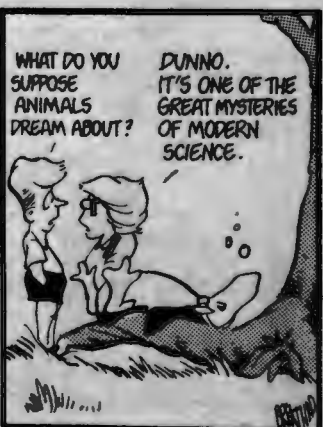

SO START GROWING ONE.

I HAVE FOR 16 1/4 MONTHS NOW.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH OPUS?

I THINK HE'S DREAMING. I'VE SEEN DOGS DO IT.

WHAT DO YOU SUPPOSE ANIMALS DREAM ABOUT?

DUNNO. IT'S ONE OF THE GREAT MYSTERIES OF MODERN SCIENCE.

OKAY! LET THE MIDGETS IN! WATCH OUT FOR THE AARDVARK IN THE SINK! HEY! DID DOLLY PARTON BRING IN THE RUBBER SOCKS YET?!

LET'S NOT GET INVOLVED IN THIS.
