

For now, the music will continue to play on

By Kevin Cassella
News Editor

For the time being, music in the dining centers will remain on. At its April 15 meeting, senate approved a motion stating the problem was identified and asked the university administration to keep playing the students' favorite tunes.

That action came after the senate committee investigating complaints about the music's offensiveness to some students presented results of a survey it conducted at the dining centers.

The majority of the students polled preferred to listen to rock music, with country music finishing in second place. Students preferring to eat with no music comprised less than 3 percent of the 1,307 responding to the survey.

"I think we have to look at the majority of the people who want it (the music)," said Jae Houtmann, chair of the committee.

Houtmann presented the motion to senate saying the present situation is probably a middle ground.

Mary Kay Schulte also spoke in favor of keeping music in the dining centers. Those who complained about the music didn't have the support they said they had, she said.

But the motion also had its opponents.

Robin Sahr, finance commissioner, said senate wasn't addressing the problem and wasn't willing to make any compromises.

"We can provide an alternative," he said.

Doug Mund said he understood that the students complaining about the music weren't willing to compromise.

Discussion on the issue began earlier this quarter when Steve Emery, a resident assistant at Johnson Hall, spoke at a senate meeting. He said some students found the contents of the lyrics offensive and that the music contained subliminal messages.

In addition with the survey results, the committee listed the current conditions existing in the dining centers.

At Residence Dining Center, Q-98 is played during all three meals. But students seated on the left side of the center can't hear the music during dinner and supper.

In West Dining Center, music is played at all times but there are areas where the music can't be heard. The center's staff alternates between the various radio stations. At the Twenty After, music is played at supper and on weekends.

Everything you always wanted to know about football and more

(NB)—A crash course for those interested in joining the Monday Morning Quarterback Club but know little or nothing about football is being offered by the SU Alumni Association during two sessions from 7 to 10 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday, May 1 and 2, at the New Field House.

Complicated terms such as "downs," "veer offense" and "blitz" will be explained. There will be information provided on all aspects of football including coaching, conditioning, game strategies, training and equipment.

Conducting the workshop will be head coach Don Morton along with Ken Ellett, strength coach; John Schueneman, athletic trainer; Dr.

Lee Christoferson, team physician; Jim Roberts equipment manager and Dr. Ade Sponberg, men's athletic director. Sue Morton will add some philosophy on being a coach's wife.

There will be tours and demonstrations of the weight room and training room, and Roberts will demonstrate how a player is suited up and will guide a tour through the locker room.

Participants in the crash course will have an opportunity to show off their newly-acquired football expertise during the annual spring scrimmage Saturday, May 5.

Interested persons should call the SU Alumni Association.

Television set will be added feature of Union

By Shelley Feist

In response to inquiries from a number of students, a television set will soon be a feature at the Union.

"The idea originated from various students, mainly off-campus students," said Brad Johnson, student president.

Students living on campus have access to television in their residence hall lounges, but off-campus students do not have access to television on weeknights when they are spending a lot of time on campus, he said.

The Union is the likely "home" for the television, since it is easily accessible to all students.

"Sometime in the past there was a TV room in the Union and it wasn't used that much," Johnson said.

At that time the TV room was located on the second floor of the Union where there were few people passing by.

Johnson says the television could be placed in the Music Listening Lounge if it was purchased now.

In order to put the television on the main floor of the Union, extra security precautions would have to be taken because of the greater number of people passing through.

"With a little extra work and added planning, it could go in the Alumni Lounge. It looks promising," Johnson said.

Once the television is in the Union, maintenance would become the responsibility of the Union staff.

Until some additional planning is done, the television's proposed home-to-be will be the Music Listening Lounge.

The proposed purchase will be paid for with student activity funds.

Four hundred dollars has been set as the limit for the purchase price of the television.

Members of student government and the Union Board are working together on the project.

Tuition surcharge may help fund terminals

(NB)—President L.D. Loftsgard led a contingent of administrators last Friday asking the State Board of Higher Education for permission to go to the State Emergency Commission for authority to spend excess funding from the $45 tuition surcharge currently in effect.

Some $500,000 in excess revenues is expected from the surcharge ordered by the 1983 Legislature to fund 11 temporary faculty appointments in the face of steadily increasing enrollments.

These have already been funded to the end of the biennium. While additional faculty are still needed, Dr. H. Ray Hoops, vice president of Academic Affairs, explained SU needs more permanent faculty positions from the next Legislature, not temporarily funded positions.

Loftsgard indicated the SU position at the February State Board meeting was that the $45 surcharge was no longer needed and should be dropped. The board decided to continue the surcharge through the 1984-85 academic year.

"We need State Board permission to go to the State Emergency Commission, where we will request authority to spend the some $500,000 that will come to NDSU as a result of the tuition surcharge by July 1, 1985. If we don't use the money it will simply go into the state's general fund."

Loftsgard and others indicated the money could be better used to seven new microcomputer classrooms in the seven SU colleges — classrooms exclusively dedicated to students.

Representing the Campus Committee on Computers, Dr. Mark G. Haugen of the Computer Center pointed out the campus currently has only one cluster of computers available for the use of all students.

Mayville State, Valley City and Minot State have larger systems dedicated for student use.

The board moved to delay a decision on the matter until its May 10 and 11 meeting at UND-Williston and asked for a report and recommendations from the board staff on the matter.

Enrollment projections put SU ahead of other schools

(NB)—Enrollment projections presented to the State Board of Higher Education April 12 indicate SU will outstrip the other state schools in enrollment between 1982 and 1987 by nearly 800 students.

While Minot projects a 220 student increase for the same period, and UND about 100, SU projects an increase of more than 1,000. All of the other schools projected decreases.

Total enrollments for the eight colleges and universities were expected to drop from 26,223 in the 1982-83 academic year to 25,546 in the 1983-84 academic year. The total enrollment is expected to move back up to 26,644 in 1986-1987.

Actual fall quarter enrollment for 1983-84 was 9,477 at SU with the projected increases showing 9,984 for 1984-85, moving to 10,150 in 1985-86, and finally, to 10,338 in 1986-1987.

Confusion over salaries concerns Loftsgard

Confusion over salary increases, particularly for classified employees, followed the April 13 announcement from Gov. Allen Olson that approximately half of the 10,000 state employees in the classified pay system will get pay raises of up to $60 a month May 1. This announcement came late every day the State Board of Higher Education approved payrolls at its meeting at NDSU without any knowledge of the governor's announcement and without those increases," Loftsgard said. More than half of all classified employees are in higher education.

While the governor's proposal will be discussed at the May 10-11 meeting of the State Board at Williston, it appears unlikely the board will be able to grant such an increase throughout higher education.

"We are still very optimistic that the Legislature will enact emergency pay raises effective Jan. 1 for all of higher education as it has in the past when those raises were so long overdue," Loftsgard said.

He indicated that some SU employees would be getting salary increases because of continuing efforts to upgrade classifications and for those faculty receiving promotions.

The governor's announcement would have affected all those employees below pay grade 29 ($2,300 a month), according to budget director Lee Stenehem.

He indicated the increases were recommended to keep state salaries in line with the marketplace. The increases were recommended as a result of the 1984 Salary and Fringe Benefit Survey conducted by the Central Personnel Division of the State Office of Management and Budget.

Loftsgard said the only thing certain at this time is that the higher education employees under our retirement systems will have an additional 2 percent of their retirement contribution picked up by the state July 1 as part of the "two plus two" increased retirement contribution approved by the Legislature for the 1983-85 biennium.

Whitewater rafting offered

(NB)—A six-day whitewater rafting trip down the Dolores River in Colorado is being planned for SU students, faculty and staff by the Union Outing Center May 28 to June 6.

The Dolores is the last of the free-running rivers in Colorado and has recently been dammed. This is the last season Dolores will be runnable.

The river runs through some gorgeous canyon scenery, provides exciting rapids and is a primitive area where the only people one sees is other rafters.

The cost is $240 based on a minimum of eight persons and includes six days on the river, qualified whitewater raft guides, food while on the river, all equipment including rafts, life jackets and camping gear and SU trip insurance and coordinator.

Transportation, food while on the road and personal gear such as sleeping bag are extra.

A $50 deposit is due May 1 with the balance to be paid by May 15.

As many of you will find in the letters to the editor, some people seem to think the Spectrum lacks pizzazz. I will agree with some of the papers, but I feel if they have a legitimate gripe to let us know. Not just what's wrong, but also specific suggestions they feel would improve the situation. Please communicate these ideas to us.

I am going to dedicate this column to the specific issues that concerned Mark Johnson and Jeff Fassett.

There are reasons for us running a certain stories. That reason is almost always student interest.

The Coors Beer boycott is a local issue concerning many college students who enjoy beer, or Coors specifically. The moped licensing was a public service announcement. If people own unregistered mopeds, they can get into quite a bit of trouble with the authorities.

The Aspartame controversy is just what it says it is — a controversy. There are hundreds of people who drink diet pop and most of them are interested in the possible health risks involved. I can't help it if you aren't a diet pop drinker.

The Fargo-Moorhead landfill story was another public service announcement. If you choose not to collect the Spectrums for the "journalistic novelty," why don't you contribute them to the yellow newspaper dumpsters around F-MI?!

The co-ed styles was a Looking Back column. Maybe it needs more explanation. The staff has decided, among others, that a column which digs up something from our morgue would bring a chuckle to many people. We found this article amusing, I'm sorry you didn't. Maybe you would like to come up to the office and find an article for next week that interests you.

Now to clear some things up with Fassett's letter. "Cavity Creeps to Battle Tooth Decay" is a headline and heads are meant to gain the reader's attention. It certainly got your attention, but you should have followed up with it and read the article. It was a public service feature that could have saved you money at the dentist on campus. Oh well, maybe you're rich.

Editorials are not necessarily for arguing, they are simply a viewpoint of one person. The point may agree, disagree or be neutral in any given situation. Letters to the editor need not be critical only, they can also be complimentary. Certainly not everything we do is bad is it?

As for no editorial on April 17, I happened to have a big test that week and just didn't have 50 hours in my day. Being in the college of engineering and architecture you should know about deadlines and work that never ends.

If you knew the Bloom County was three weeks old, why do you expect to read new strips in the Spectrum when you have obviously read them elsewhere?

We obviously don't know the same people because most of the comments I receive or pick up on have been quite complimentary. Brad Johnson, 1983-84 student body president, said the Spectrum is looking better now than it has in the last three and a half years. Julie Stillwell, previous editor, also has given the paper many compliments. I am sure there are just as many people out there with positive comments as there are people with negative comments.

Oh, by the way Mr. Fassett, if you haven't noticed, I am a female and I prefer to be called Miss or Ms. not Mister. Thank you.

What is the money for softball used for?

Where do our activity fees go? Obviously, it isn't spent on intramural softball because we pay a $20 fee to enter the league. What, specifically, is this $20 for?

Actually it costs $10 to enter the league and another $10 as "down payment". This $10 down payment is forfeited if your team fails to show up for two or more games. Why? Is it an inconvenience fee? The only people inconvenienced are the players from the team you were supposed to play. Do they get the money?

What is the original $10 for? It can't be for umpires, because we supply our own. I can't believe it's for equipment, because the garbage department supplies is at least 10 years old. The softballs they sometimes supply are cheap rubber, out-of-round rejects from a 1950's scrub league.

Last year more than 100 teams entered the league, again this year there are more than 100 teams, that amounts to more than $1000.

The champions are given a $5 t-shirt. Assuming a maximum of 19 players on the championship team, that amounts to $95.

What happens to the other $905 plus?

If you can supply some decent answers, put them in print.

Joel D. Nelson

are a few, is because the media makes such a big deal about them. They never tell you about the positive things like Rod Stewart donating all proceeds from the song "Do ya think I'm sexy" to UNICEF or the benefit concerts for Kampuchea Bangladesh, No-Nukes and the like. Do not label an entire style of music evil because of a few bad apples.

You know it really is too bad there isn't a station that plays everything, Christian, country and rock, because there is good Christian music and there is good country music. And if you don't like Q98 with breakfast, turn it to something softer like Y94 or KKFM. Please, though, don't turn off the music because of a small minority of people.

Finally I would like to quote something by Ozzy Osbourne.

"Crazy, but that's how it goes/Millions of people living as foes/Maybe, It's not too late/To learn how to love and forget how to hate."

Inadequate salaries are a serious concern

In case you didn't know it, SU is currently in the midst of a crisis — a crisis that is well under way and gathering momentum.

The problem of inadequate instructor salaries is one that just isn't going to go away. Salaries for all SU instructors have been frozen since 1983, and in some colleges, are currently running 20 percent to 30 percent below the national average for Ph.D. professors. Professors are leaving SU and taking jobs at other universities.

Now, professors leaving SU to work in industry is one thing, but the loss of instructors to other universities would seem to indicate that SU is becoming a second-rate educational institution. This has never been the case in the past and it seems a shame to let it happen now.

Is this really a crisis? It depends on whom you ask. The various department heads, instructors and college deans seem to think so, but students, if they are concerned, have, in the past, shown little interest in even acknowledging that a problem exists.

Unfortunately, a problem like this often is not taken seriously until it is too late. Once SU's talented instructors have left, the damage may be irreversible. The loss of quality education, whether students realize it or not, is a very real and very serious problem that won't disappear by ignoring it.

Students are really the only people who can change the present state of affairs, since faculty pleas to the State board of Higher Education are often labeled as "personal greed" and brushed off in the name of "trimming the fat out of higher education."

If you want to help, give Gov. Al Olson a call (if you have no time to write a letter) and let him know that his stand against higher education is lacking in intelligent reasoning.

Daniel R. Fettig
Senior, I.E

Spectrum could use a little pepping up

Boring. Boring, boring, boring. The SU Spectrum is B-O-R-I-N-G, BORING! I don't know whose fault it is. It is nothing new, but it is a serious situation. In a single issue I have read articles on these tantalizing topics:

1. The Coors beer boycott
2. Moped licensing
3. The Aspartame controversy
4. The Fargo-Moorhead Landfill
5. Co-ed styles

Oh, and each issue has one of those thought-provoking Opinion Polls, for example, "How do you think the boycott against Coors beer will affect sales in the tri-state area?" I have seriously considered collecting and saving each action-packed issue of the Spectrum for its journalistic novelty, as the most flaccid pieces of literature I've ever witnessed. The really incredible thing is, that it occurs not once, but two times every single week. Each Tuesday and Friday — Ah! Success. Another dud-filled paper.

Mark E. Johnson

P.S. Perhaps I've been too harsh. There is one good thing in each issue — Bloom County. I love it. Could you tell me what other publications subscribe to it?

Student dissatisfied with activity fee use

I have been wanting to write this letter for quite awhile but have never gotten around to it. I also thought that the editor would never allow it to be printed because of the criticisms of the staff, but now the time has come and I must unload all the thoughts I have been harboring.

We the students are facing another tuition increase in the fall, the same as in 1983. With the ever-increasing cost of higher education, I think the school could spend its money and our activity fees a little wiser.

First, let's do away with the so-called "campus security." Here is a prime example of waste. The "security" officers are little more than meter maids for the Fargo Police Department. Since the city, not the campus, is the beneficiary of all the parking tickets dished out by "Tim Lee's Campus Comedy," then the city police department should be the ones writing the citations.

You can't even call campus security after 5 p.m., you have to call the Fargo Police Department and then it will call security. If campus security is abolished, maybe we won't have another patrolman beat up by another 15-year-old kid and save the school another $19,000.

Secondly, this school paper could be done away with. I'll never forget seeing the headline, "Cavity Creeps to Battle Tooth Decay." Let's be serious; this is a university, not a nursery school. I believe most people on campus don't believe in the Easter Bunny, St. Nick or Cavity Creeps.

There once was a time when I looked forward to Tuesdays and Fridays because of the Spectrum, to catch up on what's happening in Bloom County or to find out what argument raged in the Editorial and Letters to the Editor. In the Tuesday April 17 issue, there was one Bloom County that was three weeks old and I looked, but failed to find an editorial.

Let's get with it, Spectrum It took less than five minutes to read all that was of interest in the Spectrum on the 17th. It used to take considerably longer.

The quality of the Spectrum has slipped immensely over the last two years. Not one person I have asked thinks the paper is worth the money that is pumped into it. Let's get rid of it or improve it. It's your choice, Mr. Editor.

Jeff Fassett

Speeding motorists are hazards to safety

This letter is to make readers aware of my concern for the lack of enforcing the pedestrian's right of way and enforcement of a speed limit on campus.

As I am going to my classes, I notice many cars that come to an intersection that never make a complete stop. Many motorists who drive through campus are going entirely too fast. If the driver ever had to stop quickly to avoid hitting someone, he or she would be hard pressed to do so.

I have seen many close calls around campus and I myself have come close to being hit by a car that has been traveling too fast.

Friday afternoon I was coming back from a meeting with my adviser. I was making my way across Campus Avenue when a driver in an SU truck was heading west and doing well over the speed limit. As I saw the truck coming, I assumed he would slow down, but he kept coming toward me. If I hadn't moved to my right, he would have hit me.

The reason I used this example is the driver of that truck works for the university and he knows, or should know, that pedestrians have the right-of-way. Still he didn't stop or slow down. As a worker for the university, he should know the speed limit on campus is 15 miles per hour.

Another example occurred at the intersection of Sudro Hall. I was approaching the intersection, the motorist that was coming didn't see me. The car came within 7 feet of hitting me. The car was going well over the speed limit and probably would not have stopped if I hadn't been there. I see things like this almost every day. So far, everyone this has happened to has been lucky, but one day someone may not be so lucky.

I am not saying that everybody

Not all rock lyrics have evil messages

This is a letter from the rest of us who eat at the RDC. There is a movement to turn off the music in the RDC, but hey, that is OK. They are doing it for our own good, because rock music contains secret messages that will subliminally corrupt and demoralize us.

We have two problems with this. We didn't think that a minority made the decisions in the United States. We just don't believe that we are being subliminally corrupted.

When this country was founded some 200 years ago, its entire set of ideas was based upon democracy, which says the majority rules.

Now if you count 60 (or even a hundred) people as a majority of the 500 or 600 people who eat at the RDC, then fine. They have already turned off one side, will we let them turn off both sides? Hopefully not, but let the majority of students decide, not some small isolated group.

As for the secret messages, that's nonsense. We can quote with anyone, lyric for lyric, just as many good lyrics as "evil" lyrics. Here are just a few examples. "The Good Book says it's better to give than to receive/I do my best to do my part/Nothin' in my pockets and nothin' up my sleeve/I keep my magic in my heart/Fight the good fight." (TRUMP) "And God gave me the gift of music/Music to share with the citizens of His good earth." (Charlie Daniels Band) The list goes on.

The reason you hear about the bad lyrics and yes, I'll admit there

Tattoo parlor offers means of personal expressions

By Cheryl Hankel

Men in the service and anchors have long been associated with tattoos, but now even Fargo has its own tattoo parlor.

Ardee Allen, tattoo artist at Skyn Works, said the 1980s is the time of a big tattoo boom. The individuals who get tattoos range from bikers to poets to nurses. About half of the people getting tattooed are female, according to Allen.

Allen said the client selects a design and the placement of the tattoo, then Allen cleans the skin, shaves the area, stencils in the design and does the tattoo.

The tattoo is applied with an electric gun that has needles inject ink under the skin. Allen said the process isn't very painful, she described it as a slight stinging vibration.

The cost for a typical 1-inch by 1-inch tattoo at Skyn Works is about $20. Cost varies with the design, sterilization techniques, the amount of time it takes, the number of colors in the design and the amount of detailing. The most popular design is a small rose, according to Allen.

"Tattoos are the most personal and powerful means of expression," Allen said. She said she has always liked art and tattooing provides a means of expressing her talent and allows others to express themselves through the designs they choose.

Allen studied tattoos on her own and then became an apprentice for another tattoo artist before opening the Skyn Works about one and a half years ago.

The Skyn Works is located at the corner of 4th Ave. N. and Roberts St. in the Mark Building. It is open weekdays from 5:30-10 p.m. and weekends from 2 to 10 p.m.

does this, but the people that do should be ticketed or warned that if they are caught they will pay a stiff fine. Over spring break, I went to Missoula, Mont., where they have a law that states if you are caught speeding or don't stop for a pedestrian, you are to be given a substantial fine of $500.

I think a law like this would be beneficial to the university. It would make it safer for all the people on campus and the drivers of the cars. The situation at present is unsafe for a handicapped person who may not be really alert to cross the streets. Even taking the case of a handicapped person out of the picture, it is still dangerous for anyone to cross the streets of campus.

I am not the only person who feels this situation is an accident just waiting to happen. Many people whom I have talked with feel it is a dangerous problem and one for which something must be done. I was talking with my English professor who nearly got hit this winter by a city bus crossing Campus Avenue. He also feels it is a problem that needs correcting.

I think the problem of speeding motorists should be studied closely and steps should be taken to improve this dangerous problem before someone is put in the hospital because of a careless motorist.

Dorothy Day houses provide needed shelter

By Beth Forkner

Eighty Dorothy Day houses exist in the United States because one woman believed that social justice and caring for one's neighbors was one of the most important things in life.

The Moorhead Dorothy Day House of Hospitality is just the latest in a string of houses set up across the country to feed and house destitute people. Dorothy Day believed our most important responsibility is to provide shelter for the homeless and destitute since they are less fortunate than most people.

Last year, Father Bill Mehrkens researched attitudes in the F-M community and found there was a need for such a shelter. Some funds were raised, some people pitched in and a house was opened on Dec. 2. The house, located at 714 8th St. S. in Moorhead, has room for 10 people living in double or single rooms. Most of the time it is fairly full, according to Bryan Quigley, one of the four staff members at the house.

The staff at the house usually does not know how many people will be there from day to day, since most of the guests announce their intentions of staying when they knock on the door asking for shelter. Sometimes there are referrals from the various social agencies in town, but usually guests just show up.

There is no screening of guests. The staff and board of the house feel anyone showing up there is in need, and their job is to alleviate the need. The house feeds and shelters transients for up to 30 days. Meals are cooked for the guests, dishes are washed and an atmosphere for socialization is provided.

The house depends on contributions from individuals and groups to maintain staying open. The federal assistance it receives is of surplus government food.

Contributions have not been regular as the staff would like, they are thinking of beginning fund-raising activities.

Staff members at the house do not get paid. What they do receive is room and board, and the experience. Only one of the staff members has an outside job. Two of the staff members go to school.

One of the goals of the house and board is to help destitute people find their rightful places in society. The ways they do this are to help them find jobs, to help them find the right social services for their needs, and to treat them as other human beings. This way, self-respect can be regained and they can begin rebuilding their lives.

There have not been many problems with the guests, Quigley explained. The house has fairly strict rules, relating to alcohol and smoking. There have been some abuses of this, but nothing too severe.

The Dorothy Day Houses are officially part of the Catholic Workers Movement, but are in reality not affiliated with any denominational group. They cut across religious and social lines, and all are run independently.

The staff at the house, in addition to providing socialization for its guests, also has events for the public. One of these is the meetings held Thursday nights at 7 p.m. Films are shown and conversation is shared. Quigley explained that the meetings have not been held every week, due to so many events taking place at both MSU and Concordia. He hopes the meetings will become bi-weekly after school is out.

Sooner Or Later You'll Get Responsibility Like This. In The Navy It's Sooner.

You're maneuvering 445 feet of guided missile frigate through the navigational hazards and non-stop traffic of one of the world's busiest ports.

But you'll dock safely. Because you know your equipment.

You know your men. And even when the responsibility weighs in at 3,600 tons... you're ready.

After four years of college, you're ready for more responsibility than most civilian jobs offer. Navy officers get the kind of job and responsibility they want, and they get it sooner.

Navy officers are part of the management team after 16 weeks. Instead of boot camp, officer candidates receive four months of leadership training. It's professional schooling designed to sharpen their technical and management skills.

Then, in their first assignment, Navy officers get management experience that could take years in private industry. And they earn the decision-making authority it takes to make that responsibility pay off.

As their management abilities grow, Navy officers can take advantage of advanced education and training in fields as varied as operations management, electronics, and systems analysis. In graduate school it would cost you thousands; in the Navy we pay you.

And the Navy pays well. The starting salary is $17,000 (more than most companies pay). And that's on top of a comprehensive benefits program that can include special duty pay. After four years, with regular promotions and pay increases, the salary is up to as much as $31,000.

If you qualify to be an officer in the Navy, chances are you have what it takes to succeed. The Navy just makes it happen faster.

Fargo Theater reopening offers film and stage entertainment

Classic film comedies, Big Band music, plus exciting song-and-dance numbers will highlight the grand reopening celebration of the Fargo Theater at 8:00 p.m. April 27 and 28.

After a decade of sponsoring silent movie night programs, the Red River Chapter of the American Theatre Organ Society will pay tribute to the Fargo Theater's nostalgic past with an evening of film and stage entertainment.

The Fargo Theater, the area's last remaining movie palace, was built in 1926 to showcase major silent films and vaudeville acts.

Recently, operation of the theater was taken over by the Fargo Theater Management Corporation, a non-profit organization dedicated to restoring the theater and preserving its use for the community.

The grand reopening celebration will include short comedies by three of the greatest stars of the silent screen era. Charlie Chaplin, as "The Little Tramp," will appear in his hilarious 1916 film "The Pawnshop." Harry Langdon, the naive, baby-faced kid, will be seen in Mack Sennett's "All Night Long" (1924) and daredevil comedian Harold Lloyd creates comic chaos at an amusement park in the 1923 laugh-riot "Number, Please."

Original scores for these wonderful vintage films will be performed on the Fargo Theater's Wurlitzer Pipe Organ by some of the region's most gifted musicians — Lloyd Collins, Lance Johnson and the incomparable Hildegarde.

Live on stage, The Harry Myers Big Band, a twenty-piece orchestra under the direction of James Ployhar, will recreate the sound of the swing era by featuring the music of such great bands as Glenn Miller, Tommy Dorsey, Benny Goodman and Duke Ellington. Also appearing in the show will be many musical soloists, including Grant Norman of the Red River Dance & Performing Company doing "Top Hat" from the Fred Astaire movie.

Boyd Christenson, Prairie Public Television personality who hosted the first ATOS movie night in 1974, will be the master of ceremonies for this gala, fun-filled event. Vintage automobiles, which will line the streets in front of the theater during the show, are being provided by the local chapter of the Horseless Carriage Club of America.

All seats for Silent Movie Night are general admission with tickets available evenings at the Fargo Theater box office; at Gypsy Red, downtown Fargo; Nels Vogel, Moorhead or by mail from P.O. Box 1228, Fargo, ND 58107. Admission is $4.50.

Backstage tours of the Fargo Theater will be offered on Saturday, April 28, between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and noon, and from 1 to 3 p.m.

CHART YOUR OWN COURSE

You can't ask for better navigator training than you can get from the United States Air Force. And you can't be better prepared to chart your own course for the future than through Air Force ROTC.

If you're a young person who can qualify for navigator training, you've got a good start. You can also compete for a scholarship that will provide financial assistance while you work on your degree.

After commissioning, your top-notch training will continue at Mather Air Force Base near Sacramento, where Air Force navigators are trained in the ultra-modern T-43 jet aircraft.

Following 33 weeks of intensive training, you'll be awarded the silver wings of an Air Force navigator. From there on, the sky's the limit.

Archie's West Unlimited provides place for exhibits

By Jane Banasik

If you've ever hoped to see a purple cow, there are two of them on display at Archie's West Unlimited on Highway 10 between Dilworth and Moorhead.

Sandi Dahl, whose artworks are currently showing there, said it's an honor to be asked to exhibit at Archie's.

Art critics say Archie's West Unlimited is one of the best in the nation, according to Dahl.

Bev Miller, Archie Miller's daughter and curator of the gallery, said they are constantly bombarded by artists asking for a showing.

"They need a place to exhibit, but there aren't that many places. Finding the room and the time is hard," she said.

Along with Dahl, the current exhibition at Archie's West includes the work of Ramon Kelley.

Kelley, a self-taught artist from Cheyenne, Wyo., concentrates on sensitive character studies in oil, acrylic, water color and charcoal.

Miller said you could call her father Kelley's private benefactor.

"My dad probably owns more of his paintings than anybody else in the country."

Most of the artworks featured at the gallery come in by invitation or are part of the family's collection.

Before Archie started the gallery and Archie's Place, he owned several lumber and hardware stores, three shoe stores and an ice cream shop.

"He's always been a retailer with an eye for pretty things," Miller said.

Ten years ago, he went to a Western art auction and bought one bronze sculpture. After that, Miller collected so many artworks that family members suggested he should have a secure place to store them.

Public response to the $5 million C.M. Russell show last summer was so enthusiastic that the gallery is trying to get his works back.

Notables such as Sen. Burdick have come to Archie's West. Burdick and his wife came to view the $850,000 painting her family donated to the C.M. Russell Art Gallery in Great Falls, Mont.

Miller said the gallery serves an educational purpose as well as being a place for art appreciation.

"Archie believes that there should be art for everyone," Miller said. Employees at Archie's Place are offended by the term "junk-man" often used to describe Archie Miller.

Pat Knapper, an employee at Archie's Place for 10 years, said Archie's Place, like the gallery, offers quality to the public.

"We carry a little bit of everything. We work hard at carrying the best quality for the money," Knapper said.

One of the problems of taking care of the artworks is preventing the public from touching pieces on display.

"Women are worse than kids or men for touching," Miller said.

"We've had a couple of bridles broken off the bronzes, and some even scratch at the paintings."

To resolve this problem, Archie plans to add a petting zoo to give the public more opportunities for petting.

Around 40,000 people have gone through the art gallery since its opening in 1982.

Fargo firm selected to work on new research lab

(NB)—The firm of Lightowler & Johnson Associates, Inc., Fargo, has been selected to negotiate the planning and design of a $16 million USDA sunflower and sugar beet research facility at SU, according to President L.D. Loftsgard.

The $800,000 contract for the planning study was included in the fiscal year 1984 agricultural appropriations bill signed by President Reagan last fall. Sen. Mark Andrews, (R-N.D.), who has been instrumental in bringing the facility to North Dakota, announced the selection of the Fargo firm.

Construction of the building is dependent on additional funding. Andrews indicated he would hope funding might be available as early as next year. Plans call for the facility to be constructed just west of the Cereal Technology building adjoining the joint SU-USDA headhouse and greenhouse complex.

Representatives of the Lightowler & Johnson firm will meet with USDA and SU officials to determine functional requirements and to write a program that will serve as a basis for the working design drawings and specifications, according to Andrews.

Dr. Claude Schmidt, USDA Metabolism and Radiation Research Laboratory director at SU, and Dr. Ross Wilkinson, associate dean of the College of Agriculture, head up a committee coordinating the project.

'Let the show begin!' Bison Brevities begin tonight

By Cheryl Anderson

"There's no business like show business" for those students involved in the 52nd production of Bison Brevities sponsored by Blue Key Honor fraternity. Brevities will be at 8:15 p.m. today and tomorrow and at 2:15 p.m. Sunday in Festival Concert Hall.

Bison Brevities is a tradition on campus; it's a diverse show with comedy and musical acts.

Frank Fabijanic and Tim Flakoll, SU students, are co-producers of Bison Brevities. This year there have been changes within Blue Key in the production of Brevities.

"Within Blue Key, we have a whole new system of directing the show as compared with the past," Fabijanic said.

In the past one person was chosen from Blue Key to direct the whole show. Now all the members are involved with Bison Brevities.

Another change within Blue Key is having a faculty member as master of ceremonies instead of a paid professional as in the past. Dr. Richard Hanson, chair of the child development and family relations department, will be master of ceremonies this year.

Fabijanic said getting students together to show some school spirit and have some fun in one goal of the Brevities. Another goal is to raise money for scholarships Blue Key awards each year.

The students who are performing in and producing Brevities work from three to four hours a day for four weeks.

Flakoll said when students participate in Brevities, they gain self-pride and the knowledge that they are helping others.

There are nine curtain acts and three production acts this year.

Awards are given each year to the best curtain act, production act, individual act and an award known as the judges' special goes to the judges' favorite act.

Bison men continue to perform well in spring season meets

By Bamson Fadipe

SU's Greg Rohde and Paul LeBlanc finished 1-2 in the 10,000-meter run during the University of Nebraska-Omaha Invitational in Omaha this past Friday. Rohde won with a time of 30:50.19, with LeBlanc recording his personal best time of 30:51.19.

The rest of the meet was cancelled due to heavy rain, but the Bison showed some excellent performances during the first day of the meet.

Bamson Fadipe won the triple jump with a leap of 50-1 followed by Vernon Taplin with a distance of 49-1½. Both Peter Wodrich and John Johnson finished fourth and fifth in the same event.

Another first-and second-place finish belongs to John Zimmerman and Tim Johnson in the steeplechase. Zimmerman's time was 9:27.88 and Johnson's was 9:33.73

Stacy Robinson and John Bodine scored a victory in their prelims in the 100-meter dash, but were unable to run the final because of the cancellation of the meet. Bodine raced to the finish line with a time of 10.59 and Robinson's time was 10.82.

Bison Brian Crouse finished in fourth place in the decathlon with 6,148 points.

Tom Leutz also competed in the decathlon in the Kansas Relays in Lawrence, Kan., this weekend. Leutz finished in third place with 7,428 points, setting a new school record and personal best. The mark also qualified him for NCAA Division II national championships.

Hahn and Puetz are chosen as intramural athletes of the week

By Mark Krueger

Deb Hahn and Matt Puetz have risen out of the battle trenches of intramural sports to become this week's athletes of the week.

Hahn said she likes the way the intramural program is set up, but wishes there could be better facilities. She said the program desperately needs more places in which activities can be held.

She has been active in intramurals for three years and participates in many of the sports that are offered throughout the year. She has been involved in co-rec softball, basketball, broomball, volleyball and in women's softball, basketball and volleyball.

Hahn said she likes the way the intramural program is set up, but wishes there could be better facilities. She said the program desperately needs more places in which activities can be held.

She said there are more than 100 softball teams in the intramural program, but only four fields are available for use.

"It's hard to fit everybody in and to get teams scheduled," she said.

Besides being active in intramurals, Hahn is also a member of the recreation club.

Puetz is a sophomore from Bismarck majoring in accounting. He has been active in intramurals for two years and has participated in several sports including men's football, basketball, track, broomball, volleyball and in co-rec football, broomball and volleyball.

Puetz said he gets a chance to be active in intramurals because he is the intramural chair at the ATO house.

"I like intramurals because it's something to do. It gives me a chance to get away from the regular studies of college. It also allows me to release any anxieties or frustrations that have built up," he said.

He said there's not much participation by the students and those who are directly involved in running the events.

"They (intramural organizers) should do more PR work," he added.

The SU men's and women's tennis teams are gearing up for the NCC conference tournament to be held Friday and Saturday in Grand Forks.

Coach Rick Nikunen has again put together a fine women's team, while the men continue to be competitive in the NCC. Currently the women are 5-2 in dual meets and the men are 3-9.

Nikunen said the favorite in the men's division is Northern Colorado, but he added that UND has a good shot at it this year.

"We're the defending champs in the women's division so I'd have to say we're the favorites going in, although UND is tough, so it's going to be a good tournament," he said.

Mary Zorich, a senior from Pipestone, Minn., has been the top individual player for the women this year. She is 5-3 in dual meets, two of her losses have been to players who have done well in national competition.

Nikunen said a recent injury has hurt his top doubles team.

"Maggie Merickel and Rochelle Fandel were having a great season until Rochelle ruptured a disc in her back. She is done for the season."

Nikunen will now have to juggle his lineup.

"I'll probably put Mary Zorich with Maggie. They played No. 1 doubles last year and finished eighth in the nation. That move won't hurt us too bad, except it takes away from the strength of our other doubles teams."

Going into the season Nikunen felt doubles would be the strength of the team, but he feels a little differently now.

"As it has turned out, we've had some trouble with consistency. It's a game that has so much more intensity than singles and we've had trouble maintaining that intensity."

In singles play Jackie Schwanberg, a sophomore from St. Cloud, Minn., has been playing well for the Bison.

"She only has two losses all year. She should get the No. 1 seed in the conference at No. 4 singles.

"Jaci Lien will move up to No. 3 singles replacing Fandel. Jaci is the defending conference champ at No.

3," Nikunen said.

Lien and Schwanberg make up the No. 2 doubles team, while Maureen Day and Jill Wachter are the No. 1 team.

"Our top men's player this year has been Bruce Rudrud at No. 3." He has a 5-7 dual record.

Todd Foster has been playing No. 1 for us. He is a good player, but has been playing out of position. He'd be a good two or three, but we just don't have anyone strong enough for No. 1 in this conference," Nikunen said.

"Northern Colorado and UND have their top two players nationally ranked. It's tough to compete with that," he said.

Despite the fact its record isn't that strong, Nikunen is pleased with what the team has done.

"The guys have worked hard and some have had to sacrifice individual wins and losses for the team. It's been a good learning experience for them."

Other members of the men's team are Doyle Anderson, Dave Pladson, Eric Folkelstad, Steve Bendrickson, Scott Butler and Don Sames.

Bison women to host their Softball Invitational today

Softball fans will be happy this weekend as the Bison women will be hosting the 7th Annual Softball Invitational today and tomorrow, with a total of 32 games planned overall.

Twelve teams will be competing for the tournament title, making it one of the largest softball tournaments in the area. The tournament is scheduled to take place at Lindenwood Park in Fargo.

The competition for this year's title will be stiff with three-time defending champion, University of Minnesota-Duluth among the front runners. Minnesota-Duluth could well be this year's tourney favorite as the Bulldogs are riding high on an 11-0 won/lost mark as they enter the tournament.

Mankato State, last year's runner-up, returns to this year's field of competitors. Six North Central Conference teams will be competing in the invitational with the 1983 NCC champion Augustana and runner-up Nebraska-Omaha among the challengers.

The Bison will need a strong first-day performance in order to advance to the championship bracket on Saturday. The Bison have been pooled with the University of Nebraska-Omaha, Southwest State and UMM-Morris and three wins on Friday would assure SU a spot in the championship bracket. A first-place finish this weekend would mark the first time ever that a Bison softball team would capture the invitational title.

Third-year coach Kathy Fredrickson has guided her 1984 squad to a 5-4 record so far and will be shooting to maintain a winning margin for the remainder of the season. As a team, the Bison are hitting .320 and are led by senior short-stop Mary King who is batting .500 on the season. King has hit two home runs this season and driven in nine runs.

This will be one of the best collegiate softball tournaments in the area and promises to give the NCC teams a sneak preview of the conference tournament to be held May 4 and 5.
