GERMANS FROM RUSSIA

GRHC

HERITAGE COLLECTION

The Germans from Russia Heritage Collection (GRHC) at the NDSU Libraries in Fargo reaches out to prairie families and former Dakotans. In various ways, it affirms the heritage of the Germans from Russia as an important part of the northern plains culture.

In August and September, we traveled to North Dakota communities for videotaping and interviewing for future documentary projects. Persons filmed included Pauline Neher Diede, Hebron; Vi Kruckenberg Schielke and Arlene Kruckenberg Knutson, Beulah; Monsignor Joseph Senger, Orrin; Theresa Voller Wolf with her daughters, Diane and Marie, Strasburg; and Paul Welder, Linton.

GRHC will have an exhibit booth for the first time at the following Pride of Dakota Showcase events: November 9-10, State Fair Center, Minot; November 16-17, Alerus Center, Grand Forks; November 23-24, Centennial Hall, Fargo; December 7-8, Civic Center Exhibition Hall, Bismarck. The times are 10 am to 6 pm on Saturdays and from 12 noon to 5 pm on Sundays. Join us to purchase books, videotapes, maps, and cookbooks available.

Prairie Public's "Prairie Crosses, Prairie Voices: Iron Crosses of the Great Plains" is receiving a tremendous response from viewers. Be watching for this third documentary of PPTV's Germans from Russia series on other PBS stations in 2003.

Iron Crosses stand as sentinels on the prairie landscape, framed by vast expanses of grass and sky. Though they stand silent, behind each cross is a story. "Prairie Crosses, Prairie Voices" evokes these stories: memories of the Germans from Russia, a frugal and tenacious people whose blacksmiths used wagon-wheel rims and scrap metal to fashion markers for their dead.

"Prairie Crosses, Prairie Voices" explains the traditional iron art form that crossed continents and oceans, also survived famine and war - to be reborn on the Great Plains of North America.

Dr. Timothy J. Kloberdanz, writer and narrator, states; "The wrought iron grave crosses of the German-Russians - with their unbroken hearts of metal, brightly painted stars, endless circles, banner-waving angels, exquisitely-formed lilies, and rose blossoms that rust but never wilt - evoke the defiant spirit of their mortal makers."

The videotape, "Recipes from Grandma's Kitchen: Germans from Russia Food Traditions & Preparations", continues to be popular. The NDSU Libraries and the Germans from Russia Cultural Preservation Foundation has produced this videotape.

GRHC's newest published book is "Johnny Schmidt: Son of a Dakota Pioneer" by B.A. Bose. This is a powerful memoir of growing up in a pioneering family in South Dakota. The author shares stores of the early 1900s about blizzards, country weddings, Christmas, Easter, dry years, cream separator, farming, horsepower threshing, first automobiles and telephones, and prairie fires.

Already in GRHC's fifth printing: "German Food & Folkways: Heirloom Memories from Europe, South Russia & the Great Plains", by Rose Marie Gueldner, Anamoose, ND, is available at this website: library.ndsu.edu/grhc/order/cookbooks/gueldner.html or contact GRHC.

The award-winning documentary videotapes, "The Germans from Russia: Children of the Steppe, Children of the Prairie" (1999), and "Schmeckfest: Food Traditions of the Germans from Russia" (2000), draw much viewer interest. Each videotape includes bonus video footage not shown in the one-hour documentary. To purchase these videotapes, contact GRHC.

Next year's Journey to the Homeland Tour to Odessa, Ukraine and Stuttgart, Germany has been announced for May 20 - June 2, 2003. This tour includes visits to the former Bessarabian, Black Sea and Crimean German villages in southern Ukraine near the Black Sea. Dr. Harley Roth, San Jose, CA, writes of his May, 2002 tour experience: "It was a great trip. A trip that will impact my life forever. I made great friends, met wonderful people, ate great food, visited the most interesting places, formed the most endearing memories, and found my roots!"
