

VIEWING AREA

The two circular towers are a form of circulation throughout the various levels in the stadium, as well as a unique viewing space to watch the game of softball.

MAIN FIELD

The field is home to the Women's College World Series and will allow more fans into the stadium. The large media decks, spaced throughout the facility, will help showcase the tournament and reach more people across the country.

QUALITY FOR EQUALITY

Designing Quality for Equality. The project includes a redevelopment of the Women's College World Series located in Oklahoma City. The area will be converted into a sports entertainment district to advocate for women in sports, promote the sport of softball, and bring the community together.

1

ADVOCATE

Provide the basic necessities, and more, to give the female athletes a space they deserve to showcase their hard-work and talent.

2

PROMOTE

Bring attention to the game of softball through more media coverage and state of the art facilities.

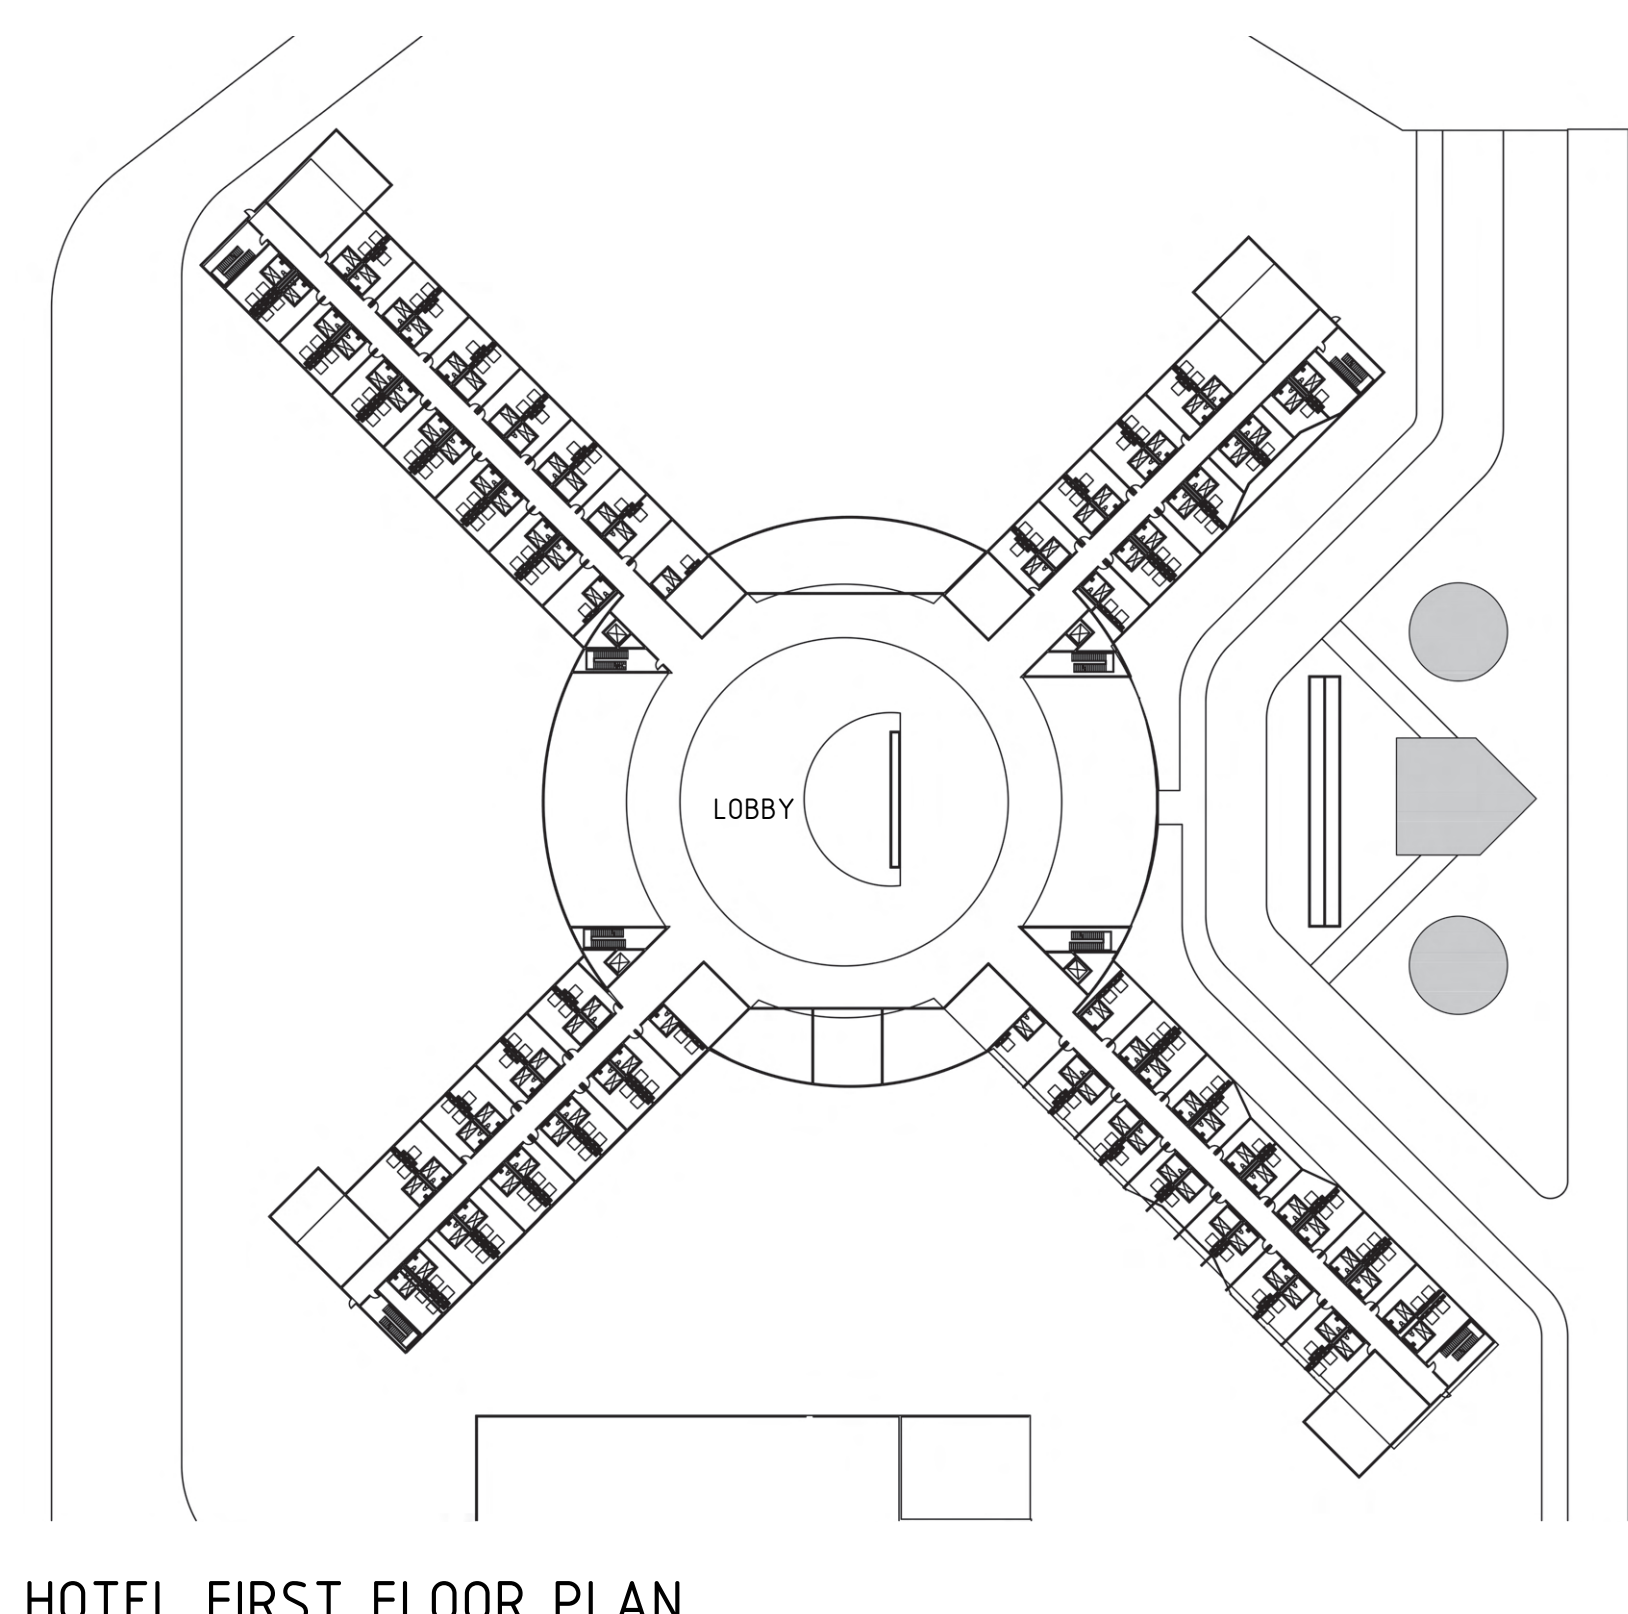

3

COMMUNITY

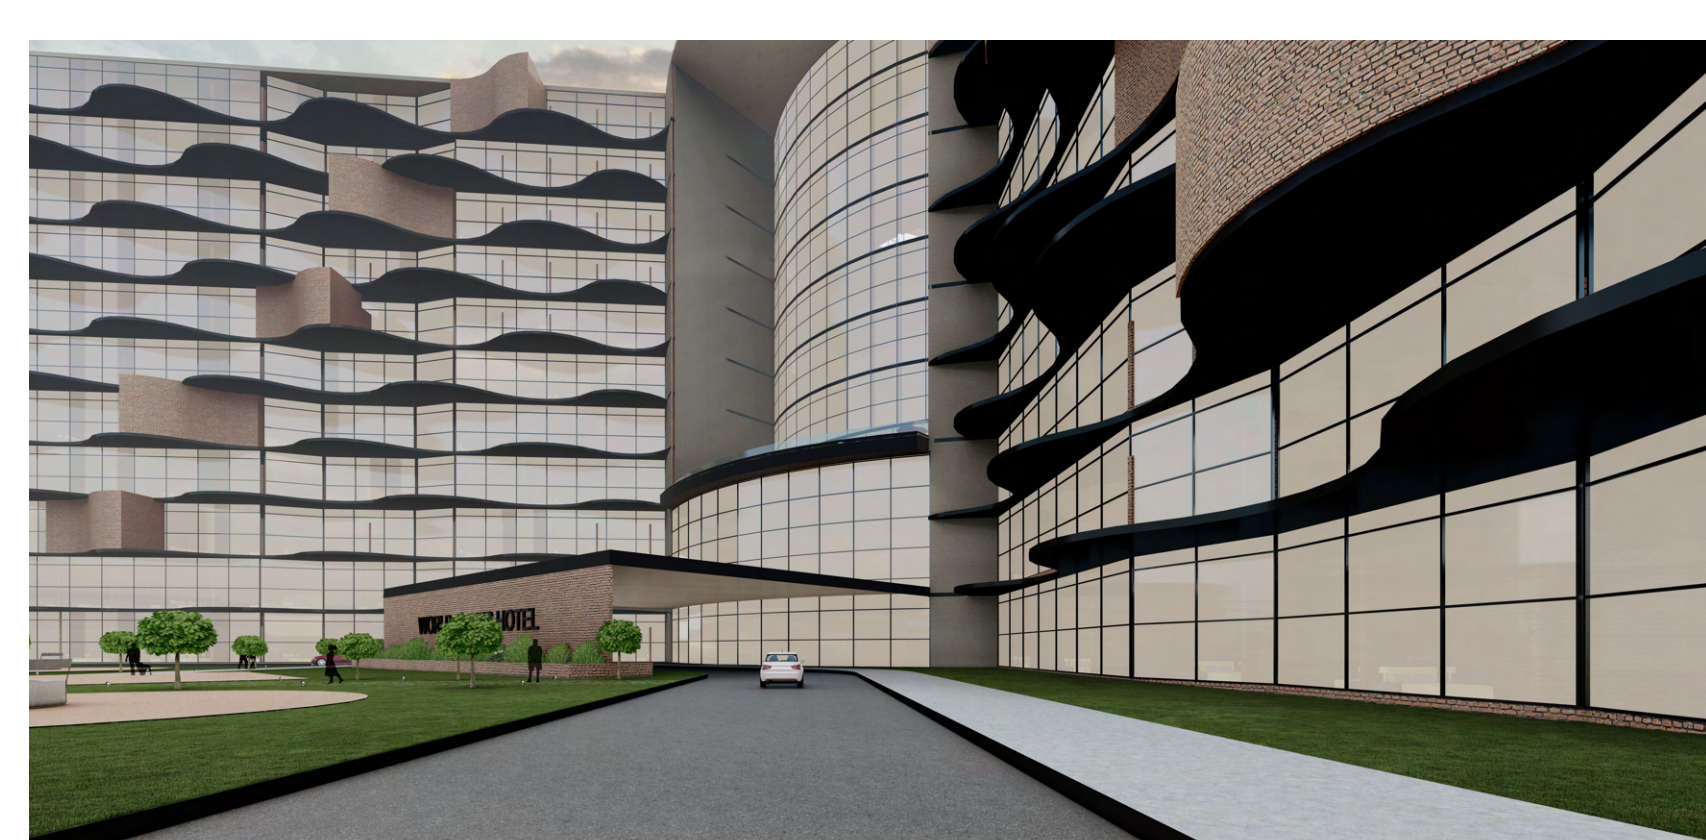

Creating a space that teams, officials, media, and fans will want to visit.

TRAINING FACILITY FLOOR PLAN

The training facility is a state of the art building that contains a full size turf field and multiple batting cages. The space is open to the public and will accommodate multiple teams during the Women's College World Series.

The first floor contains two large locker rooms, lifting station for athletes, storage room, and a medical training room. The athletes and coaches can take the underground tunnel, directly to the main field, for quick and easy access.

The second story loft has a cardio area, multiple team meeting rooms, and offices for workers and media directors. The officials and media staff have direct access to the main fields through a sky walk system.
